CARE: Sun, standard soil mix. Water as needed. Nasturtium prefers poor soil (no fertilizer) also cool nights. For annuals—Cobaea, Ipomoea, nasturtium, and Quamoclit—from seed, soak 24 hours in warm water. Buy 2-year-old clematis from nursery; prune only varieties that bloom on new wood; add 1 tablespoon lime per 5-inch pot; keep roots cool with mulch. Passion flower blooms in second year on new growth; cut back ⅓ in midwinter. Gloriosa climbing lily is a tuber and is treated like a bulb or corm, see below.

Living and entertaining Missoni style

An active family lifestyle that centers on impromptu gatherings, glorious food in a great glass room

Ottavio and Rosita Missoni, who gave the world The Missoni Look—wonderful freestyl clothes to put together in all their various stripes, colors, and blossomy prints—lead a free style life to match. Together with their children, Angela, Luca, and Vittorio, they hav created a beautiful house that's a gathering place for family and friends. At home (the built their house close to their handsome factory near Milan), the family gravitates to a airy room with three glass walls, opposite page and insert, furnished mainly with a parad of plants and flowers brought in and out with the progressing seasons. The only furnitur that lives in the room is the big oval table, today supplemented by two smaller tables, on for the vegetable buffet here, one for meats (see following page). "Sometimes we use th big table for the buffet and sit at small ones," says Rosita, "and sometimes we sit right a the same table with the food. It depends on how we feel." Chairs fold up and stack away to be pulled out as they are needed. On the vegetable buffet: Mistecanze, a salad of loca greens; tomatoes with mozzarella; Russian salad of fresh vegetables topped with eggs three different kinds of bread; and tarts made of collard greens and other good things

Missoni style

"I can cook my specialties with my eyes closed," says Rosita Missoni. In her white and steel kitchen, right, her sleeves rolled up under a sensible apron, she does some of her "needle-and-thread work": sewing up a roast veal stuffed with sweetbreads. Sunday is cookday: She does the roast, several kinds of pasta sauces, three kinds of cutlets Milanese—always in huge batches ("Our entertaining is spontaneous and impromptu—we expect unexpected guests"), and some vegetable pies that might last a few days, if not too many guests arrive for Sunday dinner.

The kitchen makes cooking a party in itself: The big work island contains a cook top, chopping block with its own bin for peelings, a little sink, plenty of work space, and implements arrayed handily on the exhaust grid overhead, and is usually surrounded by guests who can't resist the good-smelling goings-on. Behind the island, two wall ovens sandwiching a deep-freeze and refrigerator; to the left, a pair of dishwashers, sinks, and a stepladder for reaching up to the colanders, baskets, and serving bowls. Also in the kitchen, a table and banquettes for casual meals, storage for linens and china, and enough work space for several cooks to be concocting their delicacies at the same time.

Buffet
Veal, lamb, and pork cutlets Milanese
Prosciutto
Green tarts
Italian green salad
Russian salad
Tomatoes with mozzarella
Corn, wholemeal, and oiled and salted bread

Angela, left, making cookies that look like edible Missoni: First she flattens the dough into squares, then rolls them up. For checkerboard cookies, she bundles two or three light rolls with two or three dark, wraps them in another square, chills, slices, and bakes them. Spirals are light and dark squares rolled up together.

On the dining table, above left, Missoni roses on pitcher, glasses, dress-fabric tablecloth. Centerpiece is a bouquet of fresh crisp vegetables: various lettuces, celery, fennel, carrots, peppers, and radishes, all of which guests nibble on like rabbits in a garden. Some of the greens are from the Missonis' garden; others from the local outdoor market, to which farmers bring fruits and vegetables "so beautiful and so appealingly bundled you can't resist buying armfuls of everything." On the meat buffet table, above, Rosita's veal, lamb, and pork cutlets Milanese (to eat hot or cold), and a hug prosciutto to slice on the spot.

The house has no lack of places to eat: kitchen, terrace, at poolside, in the glass garden room—even out on the lawn, left, prepared for the picnic with low bamboo seats, Missoni-covered cushions. Rug is straw squares sewn together by Rosita herself into a marvelous patchwork. The picnic fare, from top: sausages and Parmesan; the wine basket between Tai and niece Betty; Tai's famous Vegetables al Forno (see below), bread, a cheese called provola, which means "try it," surrounded by olives; mini pizzas made in the crust of Italian bread, the center of which is toasted and turned into tomato and basil sandwiches; three kinds of fruit, and Angela's cookies.

At a poolside luncheon, below, Tai pours his luscious pasta-sciutta sauce over penne, a short, hollow pasta. On the table, a cold zucchini omelette, grated cheese.

Tai's turn in the kitchen, where he turns out a vegetable casserole he calls "Vegetables al Forno." Ingredients gathered, he slices potatoes, red onions, zucchini, an eggplant, tomatoes, and red, green or yellow peppers. He layers everything with salt, pepper, and olive oil, tops casserole with black olives, bakes forty minutes.

Experts' easy guide to music systems

How to have the right SOUND

"Sound affects your state of mind...Fix a room for good acoustics and your music system will sound marvelous—and you will live better and happier at home"
Dr. Amar G. Bose

Dr. Amar G. Bose—scientist and engineer, teacher of electrical engineering and acoustics at M.I.T., technical director and chairman of Bose Corporation, talks about the meaning of acoustics, the exciting research into psychoacoustics, and the way it affects our lives.

Hi-fi started in the late forties or fifties in an interesting but strange way. It was started by hobbyists—some people making loudspeakers, some making receivers or amplifiers, others making turntables. Many of them became specialists in making one kind of equipment, leading to today's tradition of component manufacturers. Today, engineering has evolved enough so that receivers from any reputable manufacturer sound, electronically, about the same. I would say there are now two parts of a hi-fi system that really make a difference in the sound—speakers and pickup cartridge. And to make improvements in these components, we have to study the relationship between measurements (frequency response, distortion, polar response, and so on) and perception. In other words, why bother to improve measurements if you, the consumer, can't hear the difference?

"We found that there was a difference when we looked at speakers. I used to play the violin, and found that when playing violin records, my hi-fi equipment sounded terrible—shrill and screechy—and yet the equipment measured well. So why did it measure well and sound terrible?

"Well, when you sit in a concert hall, about the same amount of sound comes to you from all sides. You'd expect more to come from the orchestra itself—from the direction of the stage—but it doesn't. Each instrument radiates sound in all directions, and only about 10 percent of it comes to you directly. All the rest comes from the multiple reflections around the hall. Furthermore, if you move around in that concert hall, you can still pick out the same sounds as you did when sitting down in the first place. That is why we have now come up with speakers that bounce the sound off the wall behind the speakers and then into the room, thus producing a high proportion of reflected sound. We call them Direct/Reflecting speak

"No science, however, can tell you what is the best hi-fi system. It's to you and your own hearing. What we are trying to do is close the between hi-fi hardware and the musical experience. This is where hu perceptions are so important. It's a field of study we call psychoacous For instance, here at M.I.T. we are studying the functioning and mode of the inner ear. Take the "cocktail party effect," for instance. If you a a party and someone is talking to you, and over in another part of the r a very interesting conversation is going on, then you can listen to distant conversation even though the noise in the room is a lot louder the level of the interesting conversation.

Now you can take into that room any microph and recorder and play back the recording on instrument you wish, but you won't get a repro tion of that interesting conversation—just noise. can your ears do it and not the microphone? It to do with the fact that you have two ears, and s reaches one ear before it reaches the other—this is because sound tr at about 1,000 feet per second, and your ear can select out and focu on these sound waves with amazing precision.

"Houses today are not necessarily the best acoustical environments people to live in—quite apart from hi-fi. For instance, sound can bo back off a wall causing a 'slap echo' of reverberating sound. What hap is that the sound bounces back and builds up on itself—rather like happens when you swing a jump rope very fast till it makes one loo you draw shades or a blind, making the surface (Continued on page

Here are six rooms, complete with furniture, with suggested locations for speakers. For more tips on installing speakers, see page 122.

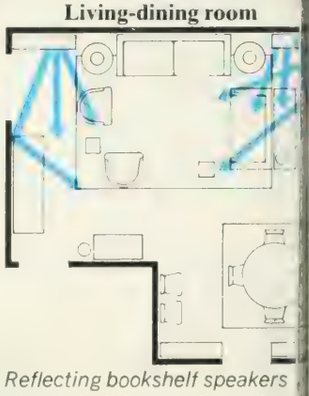
Living-dining room

Reflecting speakers hung about 7' off the floor each side of fireplace, so sound bounces off the fireplace into center of room.

Bedroom-living room

Two sets of stereo bookshelf speakers (or quad) on shelves 5' to 6' off floor on opposite walls, with best sound in the center.

Living-dining room



Reflecting bookshelf speakers about 4' off floor. Left-hand spe must be angled to direct high frequencies into room sin reflecting wall is absent.

n the right place

Relax. Hi-fi is no longer the electronic jungle you thought it was. Here are expert tips on buying and installing the best sound equipment for any room in the house—so easy you can do it yourself! By Caroline Seebohm

"When you buy a hi-fi system, you become not only part of the audience, but you also become part of the creative process. You have control over your music...rather like a conductor does" Mr. Bernard Mitchell

Mr. Bernard Mitchell, President of Pioneer Electronics, Vice President of the Institute of High Fidelity, and enthusiastic supporter of the New Jersey Symphony talks about high fidelity, changes in musical taste, and how you can become an orchestral conductor in your living room.

The normal definition of high fidelity is an instrument that has the capacity to reproduce frequencies from 20 cycles to 20,000 cycles, and reproduce them with so little distortion that it amounts to less than 1 percent of spurious sound —99 percent or more is perfect reproduction of the original program material.

"The frequency response of the human ear varies—everyone is different. But women generally hear better and are more sensitive to sound than men. (A woman will go to a concert and never complain about the volume, but if you turn up a hi-fi at home to that same volume, she'll want it turned down. She will notice shrill and harsh sounds much more than men.) The older you are, the smaller the frequency response you can hear. You have your best hearing when you are born. A twenty-year-old girl can hear perhaps 50 cycles up to 15,000 cycles—and that's super hearing.

"So why should a pickup cartridge, for instance, reproduce a tone of 20,000 cycles if you can't hear it? The answer to that is harmonics. You can't hear them, but you can feel them. They don't translate into your ear as sound, but you feel the ambiance. The importance of a good cartridge is that it will pick up these frequencies—if it can't do this, however wonderful your speakers are, they don't have the sound to work with.

"As far as the other components are concerned, it's a matter of taste. Some people want the sound of a hundred-piece orchestra in their living room. Others want only the sound of a small vocal group. You can adjust your speakers to any kind of music. For very big sounds, two pairs of stereo speakers or quadraphonic speakers can give you the expansion you need.

"Musical tastes, too, have changed enormously. People like to listen to one or two cuts on one side of a record, then change it. That is why manual turntables are now in vogue. (Also, stacking records and having them drop is not the best way of treating records, which are very sensitive.) That is also why tape recorders are becoming more and more popular—you can record just the parts of a record you like, and leave out the rest.

"In fact, when you buy a hi-fi system you become not only part of the audience, but you also become part of the creative process. You have control over your music —you can boost the treble, cut the bass, alter the contour of the music very much like the conductor does. And when you buy a tape recorder, you realize that if you don't like the way Tchaikovsky strung together the movements of Swan Lake, you can change them around! In short, you become recording engineer, technical director, and conductor all in your living room.

"We are now trying to build equipment that reproduces perfectly, and everybody who cares about music, and about the values of living, should be involved. When anthropologists go back and discover a new tribe, they find that even the most primitive people took sticks and stones and made music. People have a need for things that are beautiful in their lives, and music is as close to filling that need as anything else."

Golden rule about

let your ears be your guide. If you find a place where your speakers sound good, then that is the correct place for them. No one knows better than you.

Double guest room

...e speakers placed each side of ...e fireplace and closest to it work ...ell raised about 1' off the floor. ...e pair of speakers furthest away ...om the fireplace give best results ...tening in bed.

One room apartment

Bookshelf speakers in bookshelves 3' to 5' off the floor, with sound directed to table in center of room and sofa bed at far end.

Multi-purpose room

The pair of speakers at right angles to each other and closest together direct sound to the seating area. if you move them further apart along the walls, the sound spreads out more to the rest of the room.

Inventive new music equipment

How to buy and install it

Follow the simple guidelines below on components and fixing your room good acoustics—and you will have great music wherever you wan

How to buy speakers

1. There are two kinds of speakers —those that produce predominantly direct sound and those that produce a high proportion of reflected sound. Direct - radiating speakers beam the sound directly at you like the arc of a flashlight. Reflecting speakers bounce the sound off the walls behind and around the speaker, filling the room with indirect or reflected sound. Some people prefer the direct sound, others prefer more reflected sound. It's a question of taste (and budget—the best reflecting speakers are more expensive). Listen to both before you decide.

Direct-radiating speakers

Reflecting speakers

2. Speakers and the pickup cartridge are the two most important components in a hi-fi system. So if you are wondering where to spend any extra money, spend it on these two. Remember that without good speakers, however good the rest of your equipment is, you will not get the best sound possible.

3. If you know you want to put your speakers in a bookshelf, tell your dealer. Some reflecting speakers do not work well in this position, as the sound cannot bounce backwards properly (as you see in the sketch).

4. Test your speakers in the showroom at the same loudness. If the levels are different, the louder speaker—regardless of quality—will tend to sound better.

5. Try to listen to speakers side by side in a showroom. Once they are separated too far, the room's acoustics will affect the sound of each speaker differently. However, be wary of demonstrations in which the speaker is not positioned properly. Reflecting speakers especially need more space behind them than is available in some showrooms.

6. Specify if you want special outdoor speakers, which are waterproof. The sound is less accurate than for indoor speakers. (Of course you can use indoor speakers outside as long as they don't get rained on!)

Tips on installing speakers

1. When you bring home your speakers, put a long piece of wire on them so you can put them anywhere in your room until they sound right. Live with them in all sorts of places for two or three weeks until you find a place you like best. Remember the manual is only a guideline—all rooms are different, and so are all listeners.

2. If you have chosen direct-radiating speakers, it is important to establish where you will be doing the most listening in your room, since only then can you direct the sound most effectively. (Like aiming a flashlight, you want to be in the center of the arc of sound.) If you have chosen reflecting speakers, then your seating is not so critical since the speakers fill the whole room with indirect sound bounced off the w

3. The separation between the speakers should be between 4 15 feet. (Best results are obta with a separation of 6 to 12 f Also, the further you are from speakers, the wider they can spaced. A good rule is that the sp ers should be spaced as far a from each other as they are f you—making an equilateral angle. For direct-radiating speak you should aim the sound at area of the room where you wis listen; the center of this arc of so will be the optimum position. can also turn them towards you. flecting speakers should be p tioned according to the manufac er's instructions. Some reflec speakers must be positioned a from the wall so the sound bounce effectively off the walls hind them (as in diagram).

4. If the speakers are in a room a color television, do not place speakers closer than 3 feet to TV. All speakers are equip

1. Living room. Direct-radiating speakers beam sound to the seating area. Speakers should have a wall behind them for best results, so here you might have to turn up the bass control, or put two more speakers back to back, which will also extend sound into the next room.

2. Attic apartment. Direct-radiating speakers under window in slanting wall, fill room with sound. If you put speakers in a cavity, they should be enclosed at the top or bottom (or both) for best results. Remember not to put furniture in front of speakers, blocking sound. Rooms 1 and 2 designed by Martin Lipsitt.

3. Bedroom-library. Bookshelves house reflecting speakers. Other components go anywhere, but remember (1) a turntable should be quite close to amplifier or receiver to pick up sound before it fades, and (2) wires run between all components so must be easy to conceal.

4. Entertaining room. Four reflecting speakers are hung above the dancing area for best sound. When hanging them, position them no closer than 18 inches from the ceiling—and preferably on chains. Plants, cushions, firmly hanging blinds make for good acoustics. For more guidelines on acoustics, see page 151. Rooms 3 and 4 designed by Joseph D'Urso.

Tuner and amplifier always go together. They connect up with your turntable or tape deck, and the sound then arrives at your speakers. A receiver is a tuner and amplifier in one component. A compact contains them all. One advantage of buying components separately is that you can buy new ones as the technology improves — most makes are interchangeable. Check with your dealer before you buy.

A SMALL GREEN GARDEN WITH A LILAC WALK

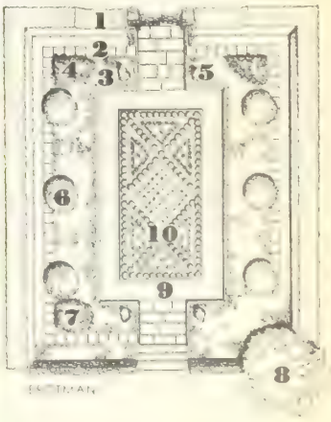
The very personal garden of Laura Bishop

Editor's note: This garden appears in House & Garden's 26 Easy Little Gardens (Viking, $15.95, Oct 1975), with other spare-time gardens tended by people with limited time, and unlimited imagination. Whatever your gardening interest, our new book about real people and real gardens—plus full-page plans and extended plant lists—can make your garden easier, prettier.

This jewel-box of a sunken garden is confined by a house, toolshed, and garage. Steps lead from a terrace through a gate to a swimming pool. Like nested green boxes, an evergreen yew hedge frames an evergreen vinca border, which frames evergreen boxwood. The crisscrossed boxwood, in a bed only 10 by 20 feet, frames flowers that can change with the Connecticut seasons. The green year-round geometry—leafy rectangles spheres, cones, circles—is softened in spring by a snow flurry of dogwood, rhododendron, and other white flowers, and a surprise. Six dwarf Korean lilac standards come into full bloom after the dogwood. The lilacs resemble lavender parasols. "Every time I step down in this garden," Laura Bishop says, "I am restored by its little bit of order in a disorderly world. Even weeding and grooming it is soothing. In a little garden, work is pleasant because there is not much of it." Because this formal garden was designed for minimal upkeep, it can be kept to perfection. Landscape architect: Eloise A. Ray.

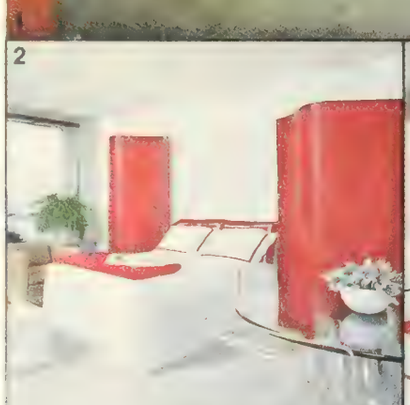
EMERICK BRONSON

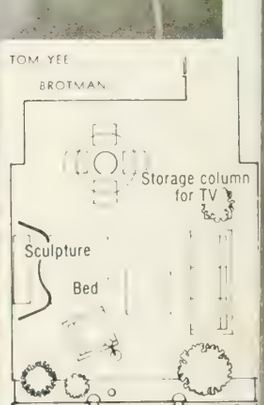
The garden gate repeats the pattern of the center bed, which has white and blue pansies in spring, deep pink geraniums, dusty miller, and gray santolina from summer to frost. Terrace, edged with pachysandra and rhododendrons, has a fountain wreathed with fine-leaved ivy and pots of white petunias. Plan: 1. Yew hedge (Taxus media hatfieldii). 2. Flagstone path. 3. Periwinkle, myrtle (Vinca minor). 4. Boule de Neige rhododendrons. 5. Dwarf Hinoki cypresses (Chamaecyparis obtusa compacta). 6. Lilac standards (Syringa palibiniana). 7. Japanese quince. 8. Dogwood. 9. Marble chip path. 10. Dwarf boxwood (Buxus sempervirens suffruticosa) and seasonal flowers.



Problem-solving storage

Bed and tv storage: A lacquered screen splits at center to reveal a fold-down bed; a revolving cabinet hides the TV by day.

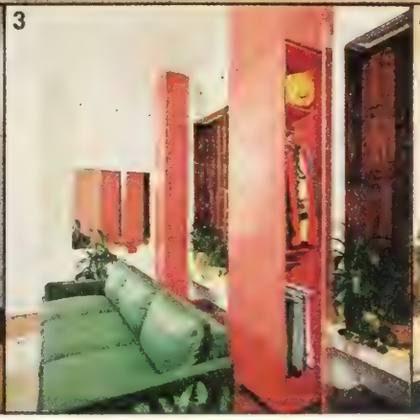




The simplest solution to where to sleep in a one-room apartment is usually a good-looking daybed that can double as a sofa. But not for architect Richard Henderson, who, though young, is old-fashioned enough to want the roominess of a double bed and a sofa. The answer? A wall-hung Murphy bed for which he designed a two-part screen of red-lacquered molded plywood (see plan) that rolls apart on casters to provide space for the bed, down. Across the room, the television is hidden in an orange-painted revolving cabinet kept face to the wall by day, whirled around at night so he can lie in bed and watch The Late Show.

1 The apartment by day. Screen closed, there is no sign of the presence of a bed.
2 Screen open, double bed down. To match the screen, red-bordered sheets by Paresi.
3 TV cabinet, orange-painted plywood face outward. Over sofa, painting by Henderson.
4 Cabinet reversed, TV screen facing bed. Shelves for books, a Boston fern for a hat.

Architectural storage: dramatic enclosure for a wall-hung bed; freestanding column cabinets that provide storage where there was none at all.



In an imaginative conquest of 18 by 22 feet of space, a Murphy bed is hidden, a great many possessions stored, and, at the same time, a handsome environment created. Architect Don Chapell concealed his wall-hung bed with what looks to be a Mayan bas-relief—actually a Styrofoam screen designed by Victor Belcic that parts in the middle to swing open on hinges. Six column-cabinets, screwed to the ceiling, hold everything from clothing to music to books (see plan), and even have a separate upper section for dead storage. Each column is painted a shade of coral, pretty at night when lighted by a ceiling festoon of incandescent reflector bulbs on dimmers, and augmented by a swag of tiny red bulbs that circles room.

1 The Mayan bas-relief bed enclosure in place. Very light, hung on hinges, it opens easily.
2 Enclosure open, bed down. 10-foot, 6-inch ceiling provides height for festoon lighting.
3 One of two clothing cabinets. Top section is for a variety of things not often used.
4 Opposite sofa, cabinet for record player, TV, records, liqueurs, and small luggage.

Problem-solving storage

Storage island designed as a space divider and a privacy screen—a new element in a not so new apartment. Housed in the island are a music system, television, a bar, books, and a closet.

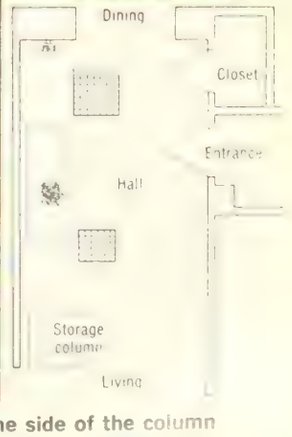
The extravagance of wasted space was remedied in this remodeled apartment with the addition of a good-looking storage unit built in the old, too big, little used foyer. Of dry wall construction, the island is painted in stripes of two shades of taupe, one with a high gloss, one with a matte finish. The use of doors is inventive: On one wall, a sliding door can shut off the hall to bedroom (see plan); on another, an accordian door opens for access to TV, music system, bar; on bedroom side, a swinging door closes off living room, reveals the island's bookcase. Closet in island has plain wood door. Designer: John F. Saladino.

1 The island with doors closed. Sliding door opposite pedestal opens to bedroom hall.
2 Living room side, accordion door open. TV rolls out, music and bar on inner wall.
3 Living room side of island. Sofa's leather pallet lifts for luggage storage below.
4 Dining alcove cater-corner from island. Mirrored wall to create illusion of space.

Electronic center for a family dedicated to music and movies olds all the equipment for these diversions, gives a marvelous decorative and rchitectural punch to a long, wide hall in a big old apartment.



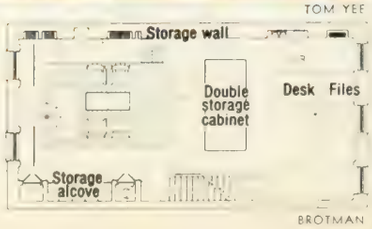
Lacquered a brilliant Chinese vermilion, the electronic center is a freestanding column banded with a strip of stainless steel—a metal plate that divides upper and lower storage compartments. There are doors on three sides; ventilating slits (this kind of machinery gets hot) on the fourth. Closed, the doors are invisible; open, they give the owners their choice of film projectors, reels of current movies, tape decks, tapes, a turntable, a tuner, records, and art books. One large, shallow compartment is backed with mirror and stocked with gloves and purses—"going out" gear. Designers: Norman Diekman and architect Lee Harris Pomeroy.

1 An open niche in one side of the column holds a little still life of objets d'art.
2 Same side, open. Projector and reels of film above, art books and recordings below.
3 Opposite side, half open. Tape deck, tuner, and record player on the steel plate.
4 Same side, all open. Old projector for the children, more film and tape storage.

A hobbyist's storage, since it must be tailored to the hobby, must often be highly individual. In this case, it is exactly that, with almost every storage element in it designed by the architect-owner.

TOM YEE

Complex, meticulous, beautifully ordered, this is storage designed to protect and display fabrics, some of them 1,000 years old, all of them from Peru. Their owner is architect William J. Conklin of Conklin & Rossant, who is also an archeologist, writer, and authority on ancient Peruvian textiles. The room is the living room-study in his 1862 New York house. One end is a sitting area, the other a work space. The entire fireplace wall (see plan, right) is a honeycomb of compartments and shelves designed to display his artifacts, to store them, to hold projectors and photographic slides—he flashes two at a time on the opposite bare white wall—plus containers for multicolored yarns and threads to keep the textiles in condition.



BROTMAN

1 Study-work area: Drafting table, microscope, floor file cases, white nylon umbrella lamps. 1862 recess refitted for books and music.
2 Textiles, exotically beautiful (most were once ponchos) are stretched on frames, hung in compartments. From time to time, they change.
3 Mr. Conklin on the library stepladder of his design. Sculptural, handsome, very heavy, it moves on ball bearings with a gentle push.
4 Blue plastic sunshades screen out ultraviolet rays, protect textiles, provide indoor "sky."
5 Opaque plastic horseshoe-shaped boxes have transparent tops and bottoms. Easy visibility.
6 Carpeting-topped floor file case holds textiles, makes a very handy table—even a bench.
7 For photographic equipment: clear plastic drums for carrousels clip on a wall frame, as do the wood cases for the two slide projectors.
8 Open on the file chest, a weaving repair kit. Transparent plastic cylinders (these are a commercial product) hold plans and drawings.
9 Instead of solid shelves, plastic poles installed at even intervals. They collect a minimum of dust. Zeppelin was a World War I toy.

Vacation house, warmed by sun power

Domed and bubble-eyed, with reflective panels and interior sun-storage tanks, Mike and Ellen Jantzen's vacation house in Illinois more than makes up for its surprising face by conserving two scarce resources: energy and money. Since the Jantzens did all the work themselves, their materials cost was just under $10,000—including all furniture, appliances, a driveway, and a simple, totally controllable solar heating-and-cooling system that can warm the house up to a hundred degrees when it's five above zero outdoors.

TOM YEE

The straightforward solar system works like this: On winter days, reflective Mylar-lined panels direct sun through transparent roof sections into heat-storage tanks beneath the bubble windows. After sundown, tanks are closed, then later opened to radiate their accumulated heat—and the roof-panels are closed to reflect heat back into the house. In summer, roof-panels are closed during the day, opened at night to let interior heat radiate out. The secret is insulation: Every surface that divides inside from outside, and even upstairs from downstairs, is carefully insulated for perfect temperature control that keeps the house warm for a full winter's night after a sunny day. The Jantzens also designed and built a sun-powered greenhouse and a solar sauna. Plans for all three buildings are available. To learn how to order, please see page 227.

Opposite page: Outside, the house is painted plywood and corrugated steel, domed with half a silo-top. A footbridge leads to the door. Above: Inside, colors lap up sun's heat. All furniture is multipurpose: Even under-window heat-storage tank becomes a padded seat.

sun-powered house, greenhouse, and sauna

Neither architect nor engineer, Mike Jantzen, who calls himself "an explorer in communications—and certainly a building is a form of communications," wanted to see if he could design a low-cost solar-heated house using local materials, unskilled labor (himself and his wife), and the simplest solar technology. He chose a direct-input system whereby solar energy is directed into two 16-cu.-ft. insulated steel tanks, 1, filled with water and antifreeze. Steel tubes conduct heat through solution. Closed lids form window banquettes.

All materials are the most utilitarian, least expensive available; resawn fir for walls, easy-upkeep vinyl-asbestos tiles on the floor, furniture, designed and built by the Jantzens, of painted plywood and Formica. Mike did the ceramic sculpture in the kitchen.

Mike worked without blueprints, mentally predesigning the house like a sculpture, then letting it take shape through intuition and logic. An inspiration: two 8-foot fluorescent tubes recessed behind ceiling beam, their light reflected by the Mylar roof panels into the living area when panels are closed, out onto the deck when panels are open on summer evenings. Flexible floor plan can be expanded by splitting it apart vertically, adding space between the two halves.

Port or Porto? Apéritif or after-dinner wine? Ruby or Tawny or White?

Some intriguing facts about port

EDITOR'S NOTE: Imitation is the reward of success, as the Porto Wine Institute, like many others, has discovered. It would now like its wine, made since 1746 only from grapes grown in a specified area of the Douro valley in Portugal, called Porto instead of the familiar Port to distinguish it from wines called port but made elsewhere usually from different grapes and by different methods. All genuine ports are labeled "product of Portugal," and wines bottled and shipped from Portugal must be labeled vinho do porto, but ports shipped in bulk to England and bottled there need not be and are not. Because of this inconsistency, calling Port Porto does not seem to clarify matters, so Henry McNulty writes appreciatively about it under its familiar name.

Port is the most sensuous of wines. Even the adjectives used to describe it are voluptuous, smooth, seductive, velvety—sexy words that slide self-indulgently off the tongue, while the wine itself slides richly over it. It is an old-fashioned beverage to be sipped slowly, to be sat over for half an hour, or an hour, in perfect relaxation after a superb meal. It is one of the world's noblest wines.

Or is it?

Some people think port, on the contrary, is a trendy modern drink to accompany wild schemes hatched over a conservative bottle of Directors Choice. Or that it should be treated disrespectfully like the French and Portuguese themselves do. Get tough with it, drink it cold, as an apéritif or on picnics.

This pleasant schizophrenia—is it reactionary or revolutionary?—about just what port's position is in life makes it, besides being delicious, a fascinating beverage.

Port starts as a rather purple, ordinary, harsh table wine. Port shippers' skill blends this unpromising liquid, fortified by a touch of grape brandy, into a mellow Ruby, delicate Tawny, or venerated Vintage, with beautiful, subdued colors, and containing wines that are often older than the people who drink them.

In 1703, the British, to spite the French with whom they happened to be at war, practically eliminated taxes on Portuguese wine. Trouble was the wine was barely drinkable and traveled badly. In desperation, some English business genius thought of preserving very ordinary Portuguese vinho by adding brandy to it.

Much to his surprise and the delight of his countrymen, the process also improved the wine amazingly, emphasized its natural fruitiness, and made it simpler t ship. In 1775, the vintage wa already so exceptional that th shippers sent it to England un blended, to be bottled sedimen and all, and become the first o the famous vintage ports that En glishmen have stashed for yea ever since in their cellars—ofte only to be drunk, after they fade away, by their sons.

The city of Oporto (simply "th port"), from which the wine g its name, is where port shippe operate. They keep their wines i luscious-smelling lodges across th river from the city. Many of th lodges are owned by people wit very Anglo-Saxon-sounding name

The not-so-accessible Beaulieu and how to find it.

There's a kind of community of Beaulieu-lovers who speak for us. Thus, there are always more people who want Beaulieu than there are bottles of our wine.

Won't you bear with us? As a matter of fact, this year we're fortunate enough to have a bit more to go around so there's a greater likelihood that Beaulieu is at your wine merchant. Of course, when you're dining out chances are you'll find us on the wine list at superlative restaurants.

Do remember that our beautiful Napa Valley vineyards are small, our grapes are pedigreed, and our Estate and Vintage-bottled wines are perhaps the most fastidious in the land. If it weren't so we'd surely be more accessible.

To get the best of the delicate flavor of herbs put them into the preparation only in the last few minutes of cooking. Prolonged cooking accounts for any unaromatic or bitter taste from herbs.

Hot vinegar removes freshly dried paint from windows.

Arrange all your canned foods alphabetically for convenience. (Do the same with your household cleaners, furniture polish, chemicals, and so on.) Mark the older cans with a crayon or marking pencil so that you'll use them first. The longer canned foods remain on your shelf, the more nutrients they lose. The recommended shelf stay is one year.

To dewax cucumbers as well as green peppers and rutabagas, soak for 5 minutes in a quart of tap water containing 10 to 15 drops of liquid detergent. Then wash with 1 tablespoonful of herbal or brown vinegar. Rinse in fresh tap water and rub off with a towel. Do not soak in salted water.

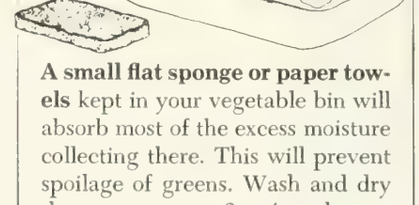
An aromatic vinegar helps the atmosphere of a smoke-laden room. One friend puts small bowls of it in the four corners of her living room when smokers congregate. Another friend uses a small dish of activated charcoal to remove postparty odors. Especially good for a poorly ventilated kitchen: set ¼ cup herb vinegar on the stove next to frying foods.



A small flat sponge or paper towels kept in your vegetable bin will absorb most of the excess moisture collecting there. This will prevent spoilage of greens. Wash and dry the sponges every 3 to 4 weeks.

If it's more lemon juice you want, soak the lemon in cold water before squeezing. Hot water or a heated oven may produce more juice, but the juice is inferior in taste and nutrients.

To clear a sink or basin drain, try using ½ cup salt followed by boiling water. A slow-draining sink or basin calls for 2 to 3 tablespoonfuls salt and ⅓ to ½ cup vinegar. Allow to rest a few minutes and follow with hot water. In 1 hour, treat again with salt.

You may make a wash of hot water and a little powdered mustard to remove lingering odors. (This wash is also good to remove stubborn odors from jars and bottles. Let stand for a few hours before again rinsing in hot water.)

Those cardboard rolls found in wax paper or foil make individual holders for long, sharp knives. Flatten the roll and close one end with staples or heavy thread. The knives are better protected—and so are you—and they're safely stored in a drawer.

If only a little lemon juice is needed, don't cut the fruit. Pierce with a skewer, squeeze out the required amount, and replace in the refrigerator. ■

Our Pinot Noir springs from the finest grapes of the 7th century.

There can be no doubt, Almadén Pinot Noir is a wine of rare nobility.

The incomparable grape that creates it is a true descendant of the original Pinot Noir grape that rose to prominence in Europe during the 7th century.

This classic yielded some of history's finest red wines. Deep, velvety-soft wines of unmatched balance and fruity grape aroma. The favorites of kings and conquerors.

And for the past century, it has flourished in the Almadén region of Northern California to produce Almadén Pinot Noir. A wine of historic grandeur.

Experience it and you will quickly realize one unchanging truth.

SQUASH WITH PRUNES AND NUTS

from The Country Seasons Cookbook by Gladys Manyan (Crown)

INGREDIENTS

- 3 cups cooked mashed butternut squash
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup honey or sugar
- ¼ teaspoon cardamon or other preferred spice
- 5-10 prunes (or dates) cut in bits
- ¼-½ cup chopped nuts
- orange juice, optional

METHOD

In a bowl combine all ingredients and mix well. Preheat oven to 350°. Pour mixture into a casserole, cover and bake about 30 minutes. If squash is dry, add a little orange juice. Serves 3-4.

PUMPKIN SOUP

from New Lessons in Gourmet Cooking (Hearthside Press) by Libby Hillman

INGREDIENTS

- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 onion, finely diced
- 2 ribs celery, finely diced
- 1 carrot, sliced
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 cup pumpkin, cooked and puréed
- 3 cups chicken broth
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon white pepper
- pinch of sugar
- ½ cup whipped cream or yoghurt

METHOD

Melt butter in a soup pot and sauté onion until golden brown. Add celery and carrot and cook for 1 minute. Remove pan from flame and blend in flour well. Add pumpkin and then gradually add broth and seasonings. Return pan to flame and bring soup to a boil, uncovered. Cover and simmer for 30 minutes. Purée in a blender.

When ready to serve, pour soup into 6 small pumpkins or soup pots and place 1 tablespoon whipped cream or yoghurt on each and broil for about 30 seconds. Cream will bubble and brown. Serve immediately. Serves 6.

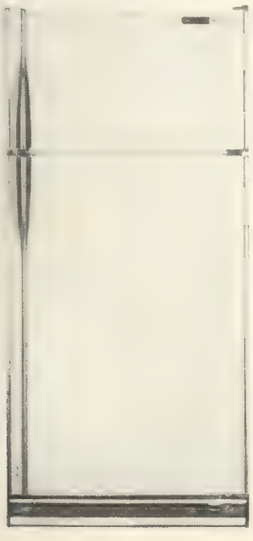
It sounds too good to be true, but it is true. Every Philco Cold Guard Refrigerator uses less electricity than comparable models from any manufacturer listed in the April 1975 AHAM Directory. So you'll save money. That's because only Philco refrigerators were actually reengineered to give you all three of these important energy saving features: double cavity Uni-Wall Liner with no seams or joints (patented process), Precision placement of insulation, Non-electric anti-condensation system.



Actual savings may vary depending upon climatic conditions, individual usage and electric rate changes. Savings shown are based on estimated residential electricity rates and consumption.

New Amana Touchmatic™ Radarange® MICROWAVE OVEN revolutionizes microwave cooking.

Model RR-6W

Makes microwave cooking simple as 1-2-3!

The Amana Touchmatic Radarange Microwave Oven makes it possible to get food from the freezer to the table, sizzling hot, with one setting at the beginning. It's as easy as 1-2-3!

You can set it to defrost and slow cook—or defrost and cook in combination. Put in a frozen roast. Touch the numbers for defrosting time and cooking time—and the solid state "computer" takes over. It will defrost the roast—then automatically wait for the temperature to even- and cook the roast. It's all automatic. Cooks everything with split second accuracy and tells you dinner's ready with a 'beep."

There's a digital clock on the control panel that displays the time of day in big, bright numbers. When you're cooking, this is a split second timer that displays the remaining cooking time. Then when cooking's done—it remembers, and displays the time of day again automatically.

The Amana Touchmatic Radarange Oven cooks everything in ¼ the usual time with 50% to 75% less electricity than a conventional electric range. For a demonstration, or more information, see your Amana Retailer, or write Ann McGregor, Dept. 529, Amana, Iowa 52203.

If it doesn't say Amana - it's not a Radarange MICROWAVE OVEN

Backed by a century-old tradition of fine craftsmanship.

VEAL CUTLET MILANESE

6 1-inch-thick veal cutlets, with bone
2 eggs, beaten
fine bread crumbs
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons oil salt lemon wedges

METHOD

Pound cutlets until about half the original thickness and nick edges to prevent curling during cooking. Dip cutlets in egg and then in bread crumbs. Fry in hot butter and oil (or just oil) over low flame until golden, about 10 minutes. Don't disturb during cooking or golden crust will break. Cook on second side for slightly less time. Serve with lemon wedges. Serves 6.

GREEN TART

INGREDIENTS FOR PASTRY

½ cup flour
1 egg
2 tablespoons olive oil
1 teaspoon yeast
1 teaspoon salt

METHOD FOR PASTRY

Mix all ingredients and roll out thinly. Place a few drops of oil in a 12-inch baking dish and spread evenly. Cut pastry with a pastry wheel so edges are uniform and will extend about 1 inch beyond pan's edge. Place in pan.

Facts about port

and this is scarcely odd because the beverage was more or less invented by the British.

Vintage port is made from the grapes of a single year, unblended, and the year must be exceptional. Vintage stays in casks only two or three years, so it has no time to throw a crust before bottling, thus it needs to be decanted. In the bottle, it goes on maturing and improving for fifteen to twenty years. Port, by the way, keeps for as many as six months once it is opened, so you needn't feel you have to gulp it all down immediately.

There are old ways of drinking port, and new. The new ways include drinking it as an apéritif, following the lead of the Portuguese themselves and of the French (who now drink more port than the British do). Then yo can blast off into space-aged mixe drink ideas like a Revolution—tw parts Ruby Port, 1 part vodka, i a tall glass, with ice and a splas of soda.

A more capitalistic way to drin port is in a Portcola—three part any cola drink, 1 part Ruby Port garnished with cherries, pineappl chunks, ice. And a mixture of por and lemonade made with sod water is a great cooler at a tenni party. The same is true of Ruby i a tall glass with ice, soda wate and a slice of orange.

The most sensuous of all port is Vintage, which should be treate with the respect due its years Only four vintage years were de clared by most growers in th port vineyards during the te years 1960 to 1970, for example

NOW—CREATE YOUR OWN BETSY ROSS AFGHAN

a breathtakingly beautiful afghan inspired by the first Stars and Stripes. Measures an impressive 39″ x 68″

INCREDIBLY EASY-TO-USE LOOM CREATES THE FLORETS ONE RIGHT AFTER THE OTHER IN MINUTES!

Complete Kit Includes Everything You Need

Special Bicentennial Price: Only $17.76

New Simplified Technique Gives Fast, Flawless Results—
Even If You're A Beginner, You Can Complete This Afghan In Just A Few Weeks!

Imagine the enormous satisfaction of creating this magnificent heirloom quality afghan all by yourself! It's so handsome, so impressive that no one will believe how quickly and easily you did it. What's the secret? A small, simple, circular loom. All you do is wind your yarn around it, then pop off a perfect circle of red or white. Each one is exactly the width of a stripe on the flag. Crochet them together with a simple chain stitch and watch how fast those 13 stripes grow! The bright blue field, easily worked in single crochet, provides a vivid background for the circle of 13 white stars—each representing one of the original 13 colonies. The fine quality Orlon Sayelle yarns (included) are washable, mothproof and will not fade.

YOUR OWN BICENTENNIAL CREATION

What could be more fitting than to mark the bicentennial with your own labor of love? This Betsy Ross Afghan is appropriately emblazoned with America's first Stars and Stripes, the very same design that Betsy herself stitched so proudly and painstakingly. Obviously, this is not just another needlework project, but rather a valued possession that will serve as a constant reminder of our country's priceless heritage. It might well become a precious heirloom within your own family—one that your children and grandchildren will cherish through the years to come.

A DECORATIVE TREASURE

Just visualize how that brilliant red, white and blue combination will bring your room to life. The generous 39″ x 68″ size lets you display the afghan on a bed or drape it over a sofa. Or go all out and mount it as a striking wall hanging. If you're partial to early American or traditional decor, the flag theme is a natural. And those zingy colors and bold design could be the making of a contemporary scheme!

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF SPARE TIME

Even if you work on it only in your spare time, this new simplified technique lets you complete the entire afghan over a short three or four weeks period. It's actually fun, and so easy that you can work as you watch television or visit with friends. Before you know it, your Betsy Ross Afghan will be finished—ready to display, to enjoy, to dazzle your friends!

DON'T DELAY—SUPPLIES WILL GO FAST AT THIS SPECIAL PRICE!

This is a remarkable offer—comparable afghan kits are selling in stores right now for substantially higher prices. So don't risk disappointment—send your order in now. You'll receive a complete kit including enough red, white and blue Orlon Sayelle yarn to complete the full 39″ x 68″ afghan, the circular loom (which can also be used to create ponchos, sweaters, baby sets, place mats and much more) and complete easy to follow instructions—all for just $17.76. Full money back guarantee if you aren't absolutely delighted.

smoother, and more elegant than a Ruby, with a nutty flavor. A twenty-year-old tawny is for connoisseurs—rare and lovely sipping. Late bottled port is comparatively young but kept longer in casks than Ruby, five to six years, before bottling. Because this gives it time to throw its sediment, it does not need decanting, so is easier to serve.

Crusted port is nonvintage; it can be a blend of wines of different years or of several vineyards but treated like vintage. There is also White Port, made with white grapes and, as usual with white wines, separated immediately upon pressing from the skins, contact with which, white or black, gives wine its color. White Port is usually drier than Ruby or Tawny. Cold, it makes a wonderful apéritif, or with ice and soda water, a fine long drink.

A great British port connoisseur, George Delaforce, used to say that the best time to drink the stuff is "Now!" In his late seventies, he played golf and court tennis, worked three days a week, and did all this on a diet of Tawny, which he claimed must always be drunk either at cellar temperature or chilled. Among the ports he recommends are Harvey's Director's Bin, Cockburn's Special Reserve, Croft Distinction, Fonseca 30-Year-Old, Martinez Directors Reserve, and, of course, Delaforce's His Eminence's Choice.

If you want your port mixed, the simplest Port Cocktail is 2 jiggers port, 1 dash cognac, stir with ice, strain into a glass, and squeeze an orange peel over the top. Nearly as easy is a Devil—1 part port, 1 part dry vermouth, a dash or so lemon juice. Stir with ice, strain into a glass. A Port Flip uses 2 jiggers Ruby, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon powdered sugar. Shake well with ice, strain into a glass, add nutmeg on top, if you like it.

And before you retire in general, or to bed in particular, try drinking a good dollop of Tawny Port in a tumbler, filled with cold milk, and see how fast that gets you to sleep. For a warm nightcap to entertain several friends on a cold evening, try the Negus: 2 bottles Ruby, grated peel of 1 lemon, juice of 2 lemons, several cloves, a sm stick of cinnamon. Add a quart boiling water.

AMERICAN PORT

(a footnote from José Wilson)

Although the United States pr duces infinitely more "port" wi than does Portugal, general speaking the similarities end ther for port depends for its excellen on the grape varieties used ar the manner in which it is made ar aged. As long as it carries a lab of origin, such as California po New York State port, or simp American port, our regulatio allow any grapes to be used, i cluding the labrusca or rais varieties. The cheaper ports, to may be made by a shortcut meth that involves "baking" the fortifi wine in heated tanks, or leaving in contact with oak chips. Suc ports tend to be sweet, heav fruity, bland, and cloying. Late though, a limited amount of exce lent California port has been ap pearing, since the premium wine ies like Paul Masson, The Christia Brothers, and Almadén plante the original Portuguese grape var eties. These often bear the variet name or the word Tinta on th label, rather than the customar generic "Ruby" and "Tawny. Many connoisseurs consider a outstanding American port to b that made by the small Fickli Vineyard in the San Joaquin valle of California from the finest Dour grapes—Tinta Cão, Tinta Madeira Touriga, Souzão, and Alvarelhão Ficklin follows the Douro techni ques, ages the port for four year in small casks before bottling i and binning it for further aging Ficklin has a Tinta Port, a solera blend of all its vintages since th first in 1948 plus limited bottling of vintage ports, which can b bought only from the winery. ■

RECIPE CORRECTION

The crust for the Blueberry-Raspberry Galette from Suzanne Taylor appearing in our August issue page 59, should read:

INGREDIENTS

- 1 cup flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 6 tablespoons butter
- 1 egg yolk
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon water

METHOD

Sift flour with salt and sugar and work in the remaining ingredients. Chill. Pat dough out until ⅛-inch thick and fits a 12-inch galette pan (shallow fluted pan). Chill.

regular surfaces are more ef- ve at dispersing sound than a area—so within limits, the things in your room (pictures, shelves, curtains, alcoves, the better the acoustics. en you go into an empty house, rooms echo with sound rico- ng back and forth.)

arallel walls, or a hard flat ng and a parquet floor, create es and can make for harsh d. Rectangular or square ns often have this problem, so ou have this shape room, try ng something absorbent on the llel surfaces—rugs, curtains, , for instance. But do it in hes—two totally absorbent ng surfaces also create poor id—wall-to-wall carpeting and stic tile ceiling, for instance. ombinaiton of absorbing things reflecting things is best for your speakers—scatter rugs with a hard ceiling, for instance.

3. If your sound is not very bright (too few high frequencies), then perhaps your speakers are directing the sound into something very absorbent such as a heavy curtain or upholstered chair (the heavier the material, the more absorbent).

4. If you want more bass sound, try your speakers near a corner of the room, or on the floor. (Walls and floors are mirror surfaces for sound, and since bass sound goes out in all directions, these positions double the bass sound.) Or move them away from openings such as doorways or windows, since these allow bass to escape.

5. If the sound is too boomy (too much bass), move your speakers away from corners or the floor, and use upholstered furniture or curtains to absorb the sound.

6. If there is too much treble (high frequencies), remember that high frequencies are quite easily absorbed and diffused by objects in a room. So put small objects around the room, irregular in shape preferably, such as sculpture or lamps. Avoid concave shapes, which act like a lens, making the sound reverberate too much (as in the dome in the Capitol, or bay windows, for instance). Or add patches of curtain or cork in the area near the speakers.

How to buy hi-fi equipment

1. Decide what components you want to buy. You can see from the plan how the various components fit together. The advantage of buying separate components, rather than an all-in-one compact, is that most components are interchangeable (check this with your dealer), so as your budget increases and components improve, you can buy new ones as time goes on, continually improving your sound system.

2. Find a good dealer. This is easier to say than to do, but one guideline is—if the dealer talks in such a way that he confuses you, then he is not right for you and you must find one who talks in a way you understand. (Companies are trying to train dealers to do this.)

3. Set a budget. Put a ceiling on it, and buy within that range, remembering that the speakers and the cartridge are the most important components in any hi-fi system.

4. Take in one of your own records that you know well, and play it in the showroom. That will give you some indication of the accuracy of the sound.

5. Buy what will be most useful. If you are hesitating between records and tapes, remember that (a) records are much easier to handle and (b) there's a much bigger repertoire on record than on tape. Tape, on the other hand, gives you longer listening time, allows you to select what you want to listen to, and, if in cassette form, is easily portable.

6. A small room (10 by 12) needs less power. Power is expressed in watts, and receivers, for instance, vary from 15 watts to 100 watts per channel. Tell your dealer the size of your room. Note that the only advantage of more power is that it lets you play louder without distortion in the sound.

Tips on care and storage

1. Keep records clean—most cleaning equipment now on the market (velvet pads, anti-static brushes) is very effective. (And in this way, the stylus keeps clean.)

2. Never play a record twice in a row—let it sit for an hour before

light and life."

"To make a multipurpose room look good, simplify," suggests designer William Hodgins. "Make the architectural elements as simple as possible, so that the room, although used for sitting, dining, and a kitchen, for instance, has a uniform look. Let the furniture do the work."

"If you have a living room and a family room divided by a wall," says designer Tom Britt, "rip it out, opening up the space. To make irregular proportions more uniform, stain floors in a huge parquet pattern of black, brown, and beige, giving a contemporary, unified look."

"You can design a room, and, if you move, take it with you," advise designers Ed Zajac and Richard Callahan. "Use color and upholstery. Shiny tomato-colored walls, for example, and no curtains, just Roman shades in orange colors. Lots of upholstered furniture covered in beige quilted linen, with bright-colored pillows–everything slipcovered. Use paintings for accents, with long contemporary picture lighting as the only lighting in the room."

"Take a space 11 feet square— how can you seat eight people?" asks designer Jay Spectre. "How can you use it as a sitting room and a small party room? Well, it's simple. Eliminate all clutter. Use overscaled banquettes against the walls, the same color or fabric as the walls. Use one color throughout the room, with a color accent of flowers, or black or white. Have only indirect lighting. Bare essentials–surfaces for drinks and ashtrays, a table that opens with trays inside for dining, a table that opens up for games."

"When in doubt, take out" is designer Jay Steffy's advice.

"If your room lacks character, cope with first things first–architectural detail and quality," says designer Albert Hadley of Parish-Hadley.

To turn an old dark house into a light, family environment, eliminate, first of all, carvings, moldings, and walls," advises designer Louis Bramante. "Paint everything white, and use mirrors for more space. Add arches for an illusion of coolness. And here's a kitchen flexibility tip: Have two refrigerators, one near the door into the garden for fruit and drinks."

If you are thinking of an indoor pool for exercise all year, make it like any other room in the house, suggests designer Patrick Maas of Est-Est. "Make windows low enough so you can see outside when you're in the pool, and use an indoor/outdoor carpet that's practical and doesn't skid. Grow plants here–it makes a perfect greenhouse–and make it even more roomlike with pictures and sculpture, using only picture lights for lighting."

"When you plan a room, start with the lighting, throughout the house," say designers Robert Denning and Vincent Fourcade. "If you use shaded lamps on the walls to begin with, there's no need to clutter the room with tables everywhere–it makes for simplicity."

"If you have a large family, here's a solution to where they all wash," says architect Kenneth Lange, of Elder, Angell & Lange. "Create an interior central compartment–an inside area accessible from all the children's bedrooms, containing tub, shower, several sinks and toilets. Put skylights in for natural light and ventilation." (For Mr. Lange's common-sense solution to the George Wests' family dining room/kitchen, see page 97.)

"To make a room work as an office, dining, and living room, use movable banquettes for entertaining and an informal conference area," suggests designer Melvin Dwork. "Put a heavy-duty plywood tabletop over a cocktail table to enlarge it into a dining table. For additional seating, use folding canvas chairs that store in a closet with the tabletop." ■

irregular, the sound can't bounce back directly and the echo stops. But many rooms are shaped in rectangles and cubes so this problem often occurs.

"Ultimately I'd like to see this problem confronted by architects —for instance, designing walls slightly closer at one end than the other, or slightly slanted, to avoid the sound bouncing back on itself. The reason why this is so important is not for the hi-fi. It's for your own living. When you live in a house with bad acoustics, it builds tension. Sound affects your state of mind. Good sound makes life more pleasant—it's a wonderful feeling, for instance, sitting in the Vienna Opera House. Fix a room for good acoustics and your music system will sound marvelous—and you will live better and happier at home. ■

The Lazy Way to Lose Weight Fast

'Most Men and Women Are Too Busy Dieting To Ever Get Slim'

I used to starve myself and exercise to lose weight. Every day — even on weekends.

But I didn't start to lose a lot of weight until I ate more — and stopped exercising.

Quite by accident I stumbled on the real secret of fast and permanent weight loss.

And, I'm going to ask you to send me 10 dollars for the secret, even though its only a few minutes worth of reading material. I hope to make it so appealing that you'd be crazy not to do it.

What difference does it make if it takes you only a few minutes to learn the secret — if it works?

And suppose, I'm so sure my Lazy Way to Lose Weight Fast will work for you too — that I'll make you an ironclad, no-risk guarantee? Here it is.

I won't even cash your check for 14 days — until you've lost the weight you want to lose.

If my secret weight loss plan doesn't take off your pounds and inches faster than anything you've ever tried, send the plan back. Your uncashed check will be returned that very day.

Sorry but I can't send the plan and bill you later, or send it C.O.D. That takes too much bookkeeping and it's a bother. And anyway, I'm about to give you what you've wanted all your life — a foolproof method of fast weight loss that's guaranteed to work.

Frankly I'm not sure of the technical reasons that my weight loss plan makes ugly fat disappear into thin air. It just does. It's a simple new way of eating and thinking.

I'm the living, breathing, happy, 100-pounds-lighter proof that my plan really works. It works for women too. A friend of mine who tried my plan lost 17 pounds and 3 dress sizes. She looks terrific . . . and eats more than ever and never exercises either.

Now, that may sound like a boast, but I want to assure you that sending me 10 dollars for my secret . . . which I'll hold until you are slim . . . is the wisest thing you've ever done.

Because, if you are anything like me you've spent half your life starving, the other half feeling guilty about eating. Never again, I promise!

For years I struggled and sweated to lose weight. I tried everything — fad diets — jogging — aerobics — went to diet doctors — took pills — read dozens of so-called miracle-diet books. Nothing worked for me.

Then I discovered the real secret of losing weight and keeping it off — The Lazy Way. I did better in the first two weeks than I had the whole two years before.

It's a pleasure to wake up in the morning and look in the mirror. I've got a whole new wardrobe — my sex life is better than ever — I feel younger than I did at 20.

And I'll show you just how I did it — The Lazy Way — a secret I've shared with my wife and just a few close friends until now.

When you follow my simple, A-B-C weight loss plan, I'll guarantee that . . .

If you're a man you'll never again lack zest and energy to do things and go places . . . never again put extra strain on heart, arteries and lungs . . . never again feel embarrassed when you go swimming because of your spare tire. If you're a woman you'll never again have to avoid looking in the mirror . . . never again look ten years older than you really are . . . never again have to spend extra money for large size clothing . . . never again see that look in your husband's eyes because you are overweight.

And, perhaps most important of all . . . whether you are young or old . . . man or woman . . . 10 pounds overweight or 100 pounds overweight like I was . . . The Lazy Way to Lose Weight Fast MUST work for you or it won't cost you a single penny.

It doesn't take willpower. You never feel hungry because you can eat a great deal of food. Before it seemed everything I ate turned to fat — now everything I eat turns to energy. The weight comes off so fast you don't have a chance to quit.

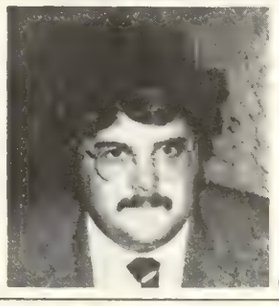
It doesn't take exercise. You don't have to move a muscle — your changed metabolism does the work for you.

What does it take to lose all the weight you want to lose? Trust. Just enough trust to read my plan twice and put it into practice. When you do that, nothing more or less, the results will amaze you. I'll guarantee that.

A very smart doctor once told me: "Most men and women are too busy dieting to ever get slim."

Don't waste the best, years of your life as a fat person to find out that he was right.

Prove it to yourself when you complete and mail the coupon now. Don't take my word for it, try it. If I'm wrong, you've lost just a few minutes and a 10 cent stamp but what if I'm right?



Certified Statement

"These photos of Mr. Lynn are unretouched. I have known him for over 10 years. I remember when he weighed 260 pounds. I certify that this morning he weighed just 174 pounds."

Chris, you may be crazy, but I suppose I've nothing to lose. Send me The Lazy Way to Lose Weight Fast. But don't cash my check or money order until I lose weight — 14 days after I mail it.

If I return your plan — for any reason — within that time, return my uncashed check or money order to me. On that basis, here's my ten dollars. 4J—626

The Incredible Giant Ti Plant

IMPORTED FROM HAWAII

Guaranteed to grow or free replacement.

In Hawaii the Giant Ti Plant grows up to 12 feet tall. You can grow yours from 1 to 8 feet...and higher. With lush leaves up to 2 feet long. Hawaiian legend says the Giant Ti brings the greatest blessings to those who raise them. It tells us of one woman who actually became a millionaire. The legend also contains the story of a Hawaiian fisherman who lived to the ripe old age of 123. Maybe the Giant will bring blessings to you. The Incredible Giant Ti grows from a log in sun or shade. Put the Giant in water and, magically, it sprouts. Then place it in a pot. The larger the pot, the larger the Giant Ti. Available in both red or green leaves It makes a unique gift. For friends Or for yourself.

We guarantee your complete satisfaction in every respect ... or your money back!

Every year folks write to tell us how pleased their friends are with gifts from Harry and David. Our "secret"? It's the personal touch that's part of every gift we make. Harry and I grow our own fruit, bake our own cakes, put up our own preserves — even make our own baskets. If you could see the care with which our gifts are put together, you'd know why the quality is guaranteed.

Every one of our gifts is custom-made and packed by hand. Folks who won't settle for less know they can rely on Harry and me for gifts that are in perfect taste — and delivered to the right place, at the right time, in perfect condition. We guarantee it: you, and those to whom you send Harry and David gifts, must be completely satisfied in every respect, or we will promptly send a replacement gift or refund your money, whichever you prefer.

We do all the wrapping, addressing, even ship with your personal greetings at no extra cost — and get your gifts in the mail at the right time, whether it's one gift or 1,000. And you'll enjoy a wonderful carefree Christmas — basking in showers of thanks for months to come!

EASY TO ORDER Use the order blanks at right, or just send us your list. Enclose check or money order (no C.O.D.'s please). Tell us how to sign your greetings for each gift. All prices include delivery.

Medical, Nutritional Experts Warn You:

Don't CRASH Diet!*

It can destroy your figure, beauty and sex appeal!

Here's a simple, medically-approved, university-tested slimming plan that has you losing inches and pounds in days—without fad diets, dangerous drugs or pills! No need to give up the foods you love... and, best of all, once you have slimmed down, you can stay slim, firm and shapely. We Guarantee It!

Our "5-Minute Figure-Shaping Plan" is for busy, intelligent people, who understand the hazards of diet fads and "effortless exercises."

With our plan, all you do is lie on your back and do one "5" Minute Exercise twice a day, whenever it's convenient, even while watching TV. Instantly, you start speeding up your metabolism, burning off fat, releasing excess water, using up extra calories, stimulating your well-being and helping to curb your appetite without appetite suppressants.

We also suggest a temporary 20% food reduction, without giving up any of the foods you love — eat ice cream, cake, pasta — whatever. (It's all in the guide).

The slimming action of our "5" Minute Exerciser concentrates on your waistline, hips, legs and flabby arms—where fat accumulates quickest, to give you that aging look.

While crash or fad diets cause some temporary weight loss, they also burn off much muscle tissue — which can cause your skin to wrinkle, neckline tissue to deteriorate and leave you feeling fatigued.

Our plan stimulates active tissue growth, through the use of our "5" Minute Exerciser, which firms and shapes your figure. When combined with your temporary 20% food reduction, greater fat losses are quickly achieved, making you look years lovelier as you slim. Because our plan is easy and fun to follow — you love staying with it, and without any further food reduction, you remain slim and shapely, not regaining those inches and pounds you lost, saying "goodbye" at last to the "gain and weight loss roller-coaster" cycle.

* Why Fad Diets Are Dangerous–

If you hope to slim down, firm-up and beautify your figure through dieting alone...FORGET IT!

Doctors and nutritional experts warn that fad diets — even fasting — will do absolutely nothing to firm and shape you up. In fact, they caution: Unless you diet under proper medical supervision, you can actually destroy your figure, beauty and sex appeal! You may even seriously damage your health.

Even under medical supervision, dieting alone will do nothing to firm or shape you up. Our simple "5" Minute Exerciser, used twice daily, is the safe, natural way to firm and beautify your figure, while you eat sensibly.

*The Sad Truth About Diet Fads:

Formula Diets can be a serious health hazard. Low carbohydrate, skim milk and banana diets — among others — have been severely criticised by many doctors, because they often fail to supply your body with nutrients it needs. This deficiency may cause calcium and iron depletion, dehydration, weakness, nausea or even kidney problems. And diets do nothing to firm and shape your figure!

The Yo-Yo Syndrome comes from crash dieting. You lose a few pounds for a short time — giving up the foods you love, counting calories and staying hungry. But, it's too great a price to pay for a few pounds you can't see. So, because there are no firming and figure-shaping results, you go back to eating, and quickly gain back the little weight you lost. This "up and down" cycle is repeated with some people every time a new diet comes out!

It has a negative effect on your metabolism—aging your body and skin — and can be more dangerous to your health than staying fat! And, of course, no fad diet can firm up your figure!

Pills and drugs intended to suppress appetite have been reported to have undesirable mental and physical effects. In addition, some may become habit-forming. And, they do nothing to bring back a trimmer figure!

Diuretics drain water and potassium from your body—which can cause dehydration, nausea, weakness and drowsiness. Dangerous for diabetics. They do nothing to firm and shape your body!

HCG Shots, which supposedly enable a person to subsist on 500 calories per day, allow too narrow a variety of foods to provide adequate nutrients. The low carbohydrate levels of this diet can promote Ketosis and other problems. Does nothing to firm and shape your figure!

Sauna Wraps, inflated belts, rubber suits and so-called "effortless exercisers" have been proven to have no slimming value. You may sweat off a few pounds of water — but, within a few hours you'll drink it all back. Does nothing to shape you up!

Isn't it foolish to risk the hazards of fad diets and effortless exercise "gimmicks" when our "5" Minute Body Shaper Plan works so safely and effectively to reduce unwanted inches and pounds the natural way....firming and trimming your figure and improving your health and energy without depriving you of a single food you love?

Here Are The Six Reasons:

...why our plan SLIMS, FIRMS AND SHAPES your figure so fast you look years slimmer in 14 days, without resorting to dangerous diets, drugs or pills.

1) It concentrates its slimming and firming action on your fatty areas — waist, hips, upper thighs and arms — that give you an "aging look". Because it works most of your muscles gracefully at one time —not body part by body part — the plan stimulates faster slimming action to help you start fashioning a more youthful-looking figure in 14 days.

2) Simple to use...No disrobing. Attach to any doorknob, stretch out comfortably on the floor. Do one "5" Minute continuous, rhythmic, enjoyable exercise twice daily—whenever you have the time (even while watching TV).

3) Designed to slim fatty problem areas. Choose from four different "5" Minute Exercises — each created to help slim down the problem fatty deposit areas of your body in 14 days.

4) No rigid dieting. We suggest you temporarily eat 20% less until you reach your normal weight — without giving up any of the foods you love. Eat ice cream, cake, pasta...whatever! (It's all in the Guide).

5) Safer....and saves time. No more exhausting workouts at the gym. This simple "5" Minute Plan you do at home, leaves you refreshed.

6) Weighs about 10 ounces. Fits any wallet-size case. Stores anywhere. Travels with you — so you never have to miss a slimming session.

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED!!

Within five days after starting our plan, you notice a new surge of energy, feel healthier, more alert. You see inches and pounds disappearing. Every day thereafter, you see your figure shaping up more... your bustline firming...waistline, hips, legs slimming down. After 14 days your figure looks years lovelier...with more youthful sex appeal. And, as long as you stay with our "5" Minute Exercises and follow our instructions, you'll stay slim, firm and shapely without gaining back those inches and pounds. We guarantee it...or return the plan within 14 days for a prompt refund of your $9.98. No questions asked!

Simply here are the facts:

1. MOLYBDENUM VANADIUM STEEL (very expensive) makes our knives razor sharp. You will cut slices so thin you'll see through them. Carve a roast wafer thin. Cut a soft spongy tomato to perfection. Slice an onion so close that you'll read the small logo on the blade while in the onion.

2. MOLYBDENUM VANADIUM STEEL makes our gourmet knives virtually indestructible. Please, please don't sharpen our knives . . . Experts say our edges will Never Ever have to be sharpened the old way. Simply rub them over any china plate and the razor honed blades will be restored. It is reported that no other knife in the world whose edge is so perfect can be restored so easily. Metallurgists say they won't bend, dull, rust or lose their hardness ever.

3. MOLYBDENUM VANADIUM STEEL makes these knives durable and tough. Cut through big bones easily and effortlessly. No job too tough. Glide through big turkeys. Tough but flexible cuts slices close to bone and then cuts bone in half cleanly.

4. Beautifully designed set of 4 with handsome rosewood handles. Magnificent in attractive design and practical in every way. 14¼" carver, 12¾" cleaver, 10¾" Cook's knife and 8" parer. Stunning rosewood handles are impervious to grease and oil and safety bonded to the blades. You'll be proud to display these knives.

5. *OUR GUARANTEE. We have a super fantastic product at a great price and we are willing to guarantee these gourmet knives unconditionally. If you don't agree that our knives are the best cutlery offer anywhere return them for full purchase price anytime. Not ten days, not thirty days, not even ten years. Return them anytime for full refund. Save our unconditional guarantee and maybe your great grandchildren can refund your sets. We're not worried because even three or four generations from now these knives will be razor sharp, free of rust and as beautiful and practical as they are today.

6. OUR PRICE. Simply our price is $9.98. Yes, you could pay up to forty dollars more to get gourmet knives of this quality.

SUPPLIES ARE LIMITED

We promise to rush your order if you order now. We must let you know that supplies are truly limited and at our truly remarkably low price these gourmet sets are sure to go fast.

Razor sharp and pricise, the Total Edge Knives cut meat, onions, luncheon meats, vegetables, cheese-anything-paper thin.

On ordinary knife, edge is just a fraction of total surface. On the Total Edge Knives, the entire blade is the cutting edge.

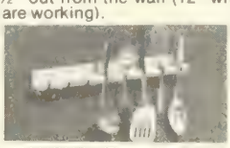
In the Kitchen Bred

3 practical and stylish kitchen organizers created by a canny Vermont craftsman. At home in any home, contemporary or traditional

HIGH AND DRY. Each dowel on this unique kitchen towel rack is made of birch wood, because birch resists moisture. Lift one out of its slot and it extends to hold a towel, yet rests firmly in its sturdy groove. When not in use, the dowels hang down and out of the way. The base is made of maple for strength and long life. 8" long, 2" high, 3½" out from the wall (12" when the dowels are working).



HAPPY HANGUP. The ultimate rack to keep 8 utensils handy, right where you need them. Holds metal, plastic, rubber and wooden items, with or without hooks. 18" long, 2" high, 2½" deep BLADE AID. If your knives lead a dull life chipping away at each other in a drawer, this handsome rack keeps them apart but together. Holds all sizes, from meat cleaver to paring knife, with a graduated slot for blades of varying thickness. A designer's masterpiece, it can be mounted on any vertical surface. 18" long, 3" high, 2¼" out from the wall.

All three products have a natural finish and come with hardwood plugs to conceal installation screws.

Please send me ___ Towel Rack(s), ___ Utensil Rack(s), ___ Knife Rack(s) all at $9.95 each plus $1.75 for postage and handling for each item.

Hawaiian "Good Luck"

ti plant

Guaranteed to grow!

The native Hawaiians believe the Ti Plant has a mystical voodoo power. The leaves were worn to dispel evil. It is planted to bring GOOD LUCK, LONG LIFE and LASTING LOVE. The Ti Plant has been used for medicine, candy, food, alcoholic drinks, and the sexy Hula Skirt.

The Ti Plant grows out of a log — so fast that you can almost see it grow! All you do is put the Ti log in water and watch it grow! When it sprouts, put it in a pot. The bigger the pot, the bigger it will grow . . . from one to six feet tall. You can have the size you want. Grow it in sun or shade — it blossoms! The Hawaiian Ti Plant makes an ideal gift. Send good luck to your friends and loved ones.

Choice of red or green leaves; guaranteed to grow or free replacement!

H. L. Hubbell Introduces...
The new lite-line of "Furniture that grows"
Plants live and grow naturally in a contemporary setting

No more need for artificial plants and flowers. Now the 'sun' shines at the flip of a switch. That's right... not just fine quality furniture, but add to that Sylvania Gro-Lux Lighting mounted on the reflective under-surface of each shelf... and you have proper light for normal plant growth.

Dull corners come alive . . . dark rooms burst with new life... and with our modular design you can grow from a small table to a multi-shelf unit. Each piece is quality wood construction with water and stain resistant surface.

A showplace for nature's beauty... and all backed by a half-century of reputable furniture production with the H. L. Hubbell name.

GINSENG

Aphrodisiac? Rejuvenator?

THE GINSENG PLANT WILL MAKE THE WORLD'S GREATEST CONVERSATION PIECE FOR YOUR HOME OR OFFICE!

The Chinese claim one sage who used Ginseng lived 250 YEARS and had 24 WIVES. Wars have been fought over Ginseng and the roots have been sold for their WEIGHT IN GOLD.

No proven medicinal value, but millions use Ginseng as a divine cure for all that brings health and happiness.

All you do is put the seed bearing root in a pot, follow the easy instructions, watch it grow, and watch the myth come alive!

It makes a divine gift: Send one to a friend or a loved one.

Grow Your Own
Egyptian Beauty Plant

Guaranteed to grow!

The life-juices of the Beauty Plant have been used as a skin moistener and beautifier since the first Pharaoh of Egypt. It was said to be the Secret of Cleopatra's Beauty. It is the secret ingredient of many lotions today!

You can actually use the Beauty Plant to sooth burns and sun burn. Just break off a leaf and rub the clear life juices on your burn. It feels so good! Keep your Beauty Plant in the kitchen for Natural first-aid.

It grows from a small rosette. It's easy. All you do is put it in a pot — water it once a week and watch it grow . . . up to two feet tall. The bigger the pot, the bigger it gets. Comes with easy instructions. It blossoms with spikes of large red flowers that last and last.

It makes a beautiful gift. Send Beauty to a friend. Guaranteed to Grow!

If tweezing your brows and applying eye makeup makes you frantic . . . Fret no more!!!

A noted eye doctor was approached by a woman who complained that without her glasses she can't see what she is doing, and with her glasses she can't do what she is seeing. Knowing that no available magnifying mirror can give a strong image without distortion, the doctor hand-ground prescription lenses and silvered them to provide a distortion-free focusing mirror. Our optically perfect "Magic Focus" standing mirror has a flexible, brass, "goose-neck" arm for hands-free grooming. White frame and base blend with every decor. To tuck in your purse for quick touch-ups, order our lovely white & gold compact (not shown). It's double faced, with plain and Magic Focus mirrors. With either model, you'll see clearly and sharply WITHOUT YOUR GLASSES regardless of your prescription or need for bifocals. A necessity for contact lens wearers. Cost of 4" diameter standing Mirror is $14.95 plus $1.50 postage. Compact is $5.00; 2 for $9.50. Add 50¢ postage. You'll be amazed with the results. Satisfaction guaranteed.

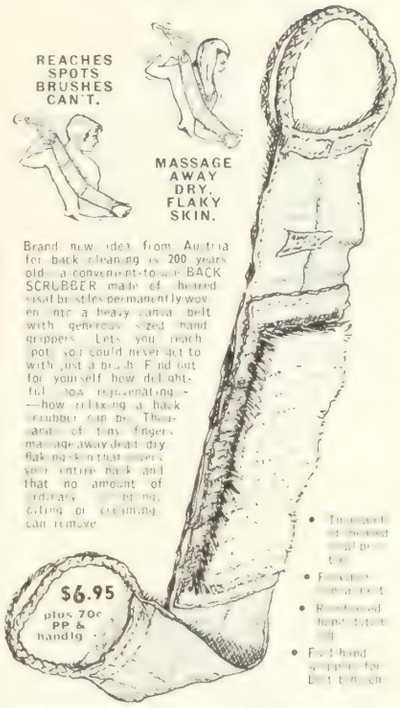
Introducing

THE AUSTRIAN BACK SCRUBBER



Brand new idea from Austria for back cleaning is 200 years old... a convenient-to-use BACK SCRUBBER made of heated sisal bristles permanently woven into a heavy canvas belt with generous sized hand grippers. Lets you reach spots you could never get to with just a brush. Find out for yourself how delightful new rejuvenating — how relaxing a back scrubber can be. Thousands of tiny fingers massage away dead dry flaking skin that covers your entire back and that no amount of showers, bathing, oiling or creaming can remove.

- The secret of luxurious all over glow
- Fascinating new sensation
- Recommended home beauty aid
- Feel hand grippers for best results

Used daily in shower or bath quickly helps to soften even toughest resistant hard skin of elbows, knees, back of ankles and feet. Your body's natural health giving circulating red blooded vitality is restored. Scaly outer skin at pore openings is washed away, cleared of these distinding impurities. Pores once again function as nature intended. Helps clear blackheads and surface scales and pimples as skin texture shows marked improvement.

SUPPLY LIMITED

The Austrian Back Scrubber has been used by European health resorts for years—you know how they pamper their clients. Be good to your skin. Easy to use in shower or bath, handy 20" x 4½".

Visit New York City, the year-round vacation spot where you will find pleasures to suit all tastes.

Charleston, S.C.

...for a family vacation at any time.

There was a time when Charleston offered only timeless charm, graceful architecture and beautiful gardens. Now you'll find 300 years of history and fun. Family excitement like the animal forest at Charles Towne Landing; two nationally significant forts, Sumter and Moultrie, with musket and cannon demonstrations; water and land tours, museums, colonial homes, plantations and stableyards. You'll enjoy the area's clean, white beaches, fresh water lakes and championship golf courses. This year, bring the entire family. For complete information and color brochure write

BING & GRØNDAHL

Copenhagen porcelain since 1853

It took us 80 years to bring this to you.

Bing and Grøndahl introduced the world's first porcelain Christmas plate in 1895. The 1975 Christmas plate marks a family tradition that has continued through four generations.

This year's motif, Christmas at the Old Watermill brings you the old world charm of a moonlit Christmas eve. This beautiful porcelain relief in blue underglaze is 7 inches in diameter with a pierced back for hanging.

The Christmas plate is prized as a collector's item. The original plate made in 1895 is now valued at $3,000.00. "Christmas at the Old Watermill" comes gift boxed and is priced at $27.50. For the location of your nearest Bing and Grøndahl dealer write us at 225 5th Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10010.

Finding the things you need for year-round gardening

One gardener's catalogue list, fringed tulips, landscape service, bottle brush shrub, gifts from the garden, Bicentennial bulbs

Where to find the things you need

Everything H. Peter Loewer (page 114) says about gardening, indoors or out, is based on his own direct experience. To assist his eager mind and clever hands, Mr. Loewer counts on suppliers of high-quality seeds, bulbs, plants, and equipment for keeping his garden up to snuff. For the clamp-on Reef Flower Pot Stake Holder shown on page 114, he sends to the manufacturer, Northville Botanical Products Division, Reef Manufacturing Company, 7 Mile Rd., P.O. Box B, Northville, Mich. 48167. Since the stake holders come in a variety of sizes, it would be wise to write for a complete price list before ordering. For pots, trellises, odds and ends of equipment, Mr. Loewer goes to Mellinger's, Inc., 2310 West South Range Rd., North Lima, Ohio 44452. His native wild plants come from Gardens of the Blue Ridge, Ashford, McDowell County, N.C. 2860 Trowels, baskets, and other dow to-earth items, including book come from Walter F. Nicke, Bo 677G, Hudson, N.Y. 12534. Ar for seeds, bulbs, and plants, co mon or rare. Mr. Loewer sends George W. Park Seed Co., Inc P.O. Box 31, Greenwood, S.C 29647. Marvelous to relate, all these mail-order firms follow th old-time practice of sending the catalogues, free, to anyone wh asks for them.

MALAK CINEMA

The tulip with the fringe on top

It's time to plan for spring-flowering bulbs. The o nary run of tulips and daffodils is marvelous enou of course, but most of us like something a bit dif ent once in a while. For the spring of 1976 the so thing different might well be one of the new fring tulips. An offshoot of the much-loved cottage tuli these have petals that are actually fringed, rat than ruffled and cut, as in the familiar parrot tuli A generous handful of varieties is available for pla ing in the fall of 1975, listed separately in most ca logues. One of the best is Burgundy Lace, left, wh has a glowing wine-red color, stands about 20 inc high, and flowers at the same time as plain-peta cottage varieties. A good source of supply is De Ja Bulbs, South Hamilton, Mass. 01982. The De Ja catalogue is priced at $1 for newcomers, will be s free to steady customers.

Mail-order landscape design

Most homeowners would like to have professionally designed landscaping. Often, however they are discouraged by not knowing quite how to find a suitable landscape architect or by living so far from population centers that a professional's traveling expenses could add up to staggering amounts. So a mail-order landscape service would seem to be the answer, except that there hasn't been any such thing. Most professionals have felt that the mail-order business was not worth bothering with, or have simply not known how to go about doing the job. Now, The City Gardener, in New York City, has set up just that kind of service, and has a stable of trained people to fill their clients' needs. Initial recommendations, prepared to fit th basic needs of clients' property, are made for the fe of $25. Detailed plants, based on building measur ments and property boundaries, cost from $200 u depending on the size of the area and amount of deta required in the design. As might be inferred from i name, The City Gardener has a special expertise i rooftop, terrace, and backyard gardens but is prepare to deal with properties of any size. The City Gardene is at 121 E. 17th Street, New York, N.Y. 10003. A an offbeat but truly practical Christmas gift, a pack aged landscape plan from these professionals might b just the thing for newlyweds or new homeowner wer clusters like fuzzy white tlebrushes stud the branches othergilla in spring.

Dr. Fothergill's Bottlebrush

Named for Dr. John Fothergill, one of the notables who shared the scientific limelight with Benjamin Franklin in the 18th century, Fothergilla is one of the most distinctive shrubs that are native to North America. There are three species, of which F. monticola, left, has the most to commend it. The flower clusters are like 2-inch-high white bottle brushes, covering the branches in May. Native to the Carolinas, fothergilla is hardy as far north as Boston, Mass. It is not fussy about soil, grows to be as much as 10 or 12 feet high, and has an open branching habit with leaves that color brightly in fall of the year. Like many worthwhile native plants, fothergilla is generally ignored by nurserymen, so you'll have to place a special order to get it, but it's worth the effort.

ndelion wine d other goodies wise gardener is one who has ned to live with wildlings. Not the weeds are allowed to take —they are simply kept in their e. This may be on the compost , chopped up as a mulch be- en garden rows, or, as in the of dandelions, turned into ething quite different and un- ected, like wine. Two imagina- gardeners, Joan Scobey and ma Myers, have made up a list of uses for plants and plant products of all kinds, cultivated and weedy, under the title Gifts from Your Garden (Bobbs-Merrill, $8.95). This handsomely illustrated book tells how to prepare, package, and present a great variety of plant products, from dried flowers to catnip pads and the aforementioned dandelion wine. With today's emphasis on homecrafts, and Christmas just around the corner, this is as timely a book as could be wished for at the end of an outdoor growing season.

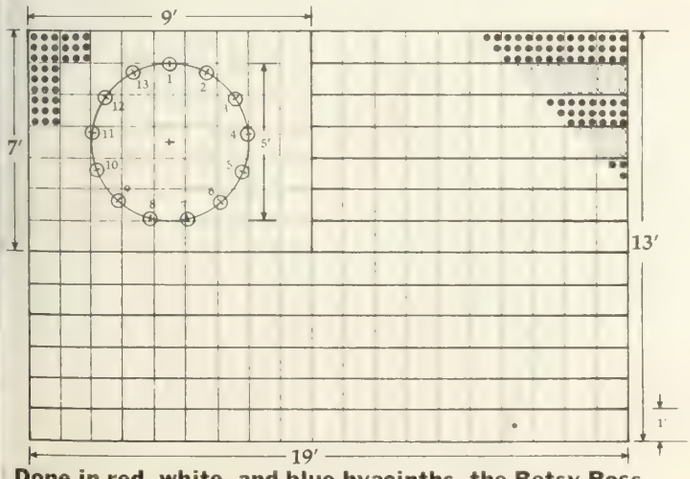
Bulbs for the Bicentennial it too splashy for your front yard, perhaps, but an American flag in red, te, and blue hyacinths would seem appropriate for the Bicentennial ing of 1976. This could be a worthwhile project for a garden club, to be nted in some highly visible public area. The Betsy Ross flag in the dia- m will give a much better effect with its 13 stars than the somewhat ttered 50 stars of today's flag. This design, and others on the Bicenten- theme, are included in a folder put out by the Dutch Bulb Growers ociation. It may be consulted at the shop of your local bulb dealer, who also be prepared to give helpful advice about bulbs for local conditions.



Done in red, white, and blue hyacinths, the Betsy Ross flag will make a flowery opener for the Bicentennial.

Linda J. Artel and Kathleen Weaver and published by the San Francisco Community Press, the just published second edition is $8 postpaid to individuals, $10 to organizations, from Reel Research, P.O. Box 6037, Albany, Cal. 94706.

For information on 8mm. as well, the guide that's considered definitive is Feature Films on 8mm. and 16mm., edited by James L. Limbacher (R. R. Bowker, about $17 postpaid). It doesn't give rental prices but does give, among other facts, the distributor of each film whom you can write for further information. A large library might have a copy in the reference section.

The excellent Guidebook to Film by Ronald Gottesman and Harry M. Guduld (Holt, Rinehart & Winston, $3.95) lists not only distributors but reviews a number of their catalogues, lists where to rent equipment and buy supplies across the country, film schools, museums, archives, bookstores, publishers, services, festivals, awards, articles, dissertations on film, and so forth.

Some 16mm. movie rental catalogues to send for—Please note: When more than one branch is listed, write to the one nearest you. In addition to the rental fee you usually pay insured special delivery postage both ways, sometimes a small fee for damage insurance.

Argosy Film Service rents films such as Cat Ballou, The April Fools ($55 each), Cool Hand Luke, Rachel, Rachel ($50 each), as well as comedy and sports films, cartoons, even some gardening films with time-lapse color photography. It also rents 16mm. projectors for $10 a day. 1939 Central St., Evanston, Ill. 60201. Free catalogue.

Association-Sterling Films rents full-length features (about $35-$65 each) plus short art, music, educational, and sports documentaries (about $6.50-$27.50 each). And Sierra Club films each for $5 handling plus a contribution to the Sierra Club. 866 Third Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022, with branches in Atlanta, Ga., Dallas, Tex., Dublin, Cal., La Grange, Ill., Littleton, Mass., Minneapolis, Minn., Oakmont, Pa., Portland, Ore., Ridgefield, N.J., and Sun Valley, Cal. Free catalogues.

Audio Brandon Films, Inc. has two colossal catalogues, general and international, of 16mm. film rentals. The international 1976-77 catalogue has an especially large selection of foreign film and silents. 34 MacQuesten Parkway, South, Mount Vernon, N.Y. 10550, with branches in Brookfield, Ill., Dallas, Tex., Los Angeles and Oakland, Cal. These catalogues plus supplements, separate Walt Disney and "Transylvanian" horror film catalogues, are all free.

Budget Films, Inc. rents everything in 16mm. from a five-minute Mary Pickford short ($3) to The Yellow Submarine ($125). Most major American stars appear several times, and there are some interesting documentaries, plus silents, musicals, westerns, vintage and current cartoons. 4590 Santa Monica Blvd., Los Angeles, Cal. 90029. Free catalogue and supplement.

Canyon Cinema, Inc. is a filmmakers' cooperative "open to any filmmaker with a film of any kind," and the catalogue is a mixed bag. Most films are 16mm., shorter than 20 minutes, less than $20 per showing. Some films are also available for sale. Catalogue is $2, "Canyon Cinemanews" bimonthly newsletter and supplement is $3 a year. Room 220, Industrial Center Bldg., Sausalito, Cal. 94965.

Cinema Concepts, Inc. sells features and shorts from the twenties on. The Blue Angel with subtitles, for example, sells for $190. Most of its 1,000-plus titles are for standard or Super 8mm. films, some are 16mm. Super-8-with-sound features run about $15-30, without sound about half that. Silents—Chaplin, Keaton, Lloyd, The Keystone Cops—and comedies from Abbott and Costello, The Little Rascals, to Bob Hope and Mae West. Plus science fiction, horror, sports, circus films, and cartoons. Dept. HG, 91 Main St., Chester, Conn. 06412. Free catalogue.

Contemporary/McGraw-Hill Films has a small rental selection, but it includes good foreign films, documentaries, and silents as well as American features. For example, Ivan the Terrible is $70 for both parts, Bonnie and Clyde is $75. Princeton Rd., Hightstown, N.J. 08520, with branches in Evanston, Ill., and San Francisco, Cal. Free catalogue.

Creative Film Society, "dedicated to . . . film as an art form," rents mostly short 16mm. films with inventive, experimental leanings, has some old features plus some silents, W. C. Fields, Abbott and Costello, Betty Boop cartoons. Some films are also for sale. Catalogue is $1 from the Society at 7237 Canby Ave., Reseda, Cal. 91335.

Dance Films Association, Inc. has an extensive catalogue of dance films—on classic, modern, and foreign dance—in all rental and sale price ranges. The catalogue is $6.50 postpaid for nonmembers of the Association, $5.50 postpaid for members. (Outside U.S. add $2 for additional postage.) Membership in Dance Films Association—concurrent with membership in Dance Society—includes ten meetings with guest speakers and films a year, is $15 a year or, for a student, $10 a year. Room 2201, 250 W. 57th St., New York, N.Y. 10019.

Films Incorporated has over 3000 16mm. films in its general rental catalogue, with big box-office hits and really recent films, among them Chinatown, The Great Gatsby, The Godfather. High-demand films aren't priced in the catalogue—you must write separately. Most films, however, are priced. For example, Cries and Whispers and 2001: A Space Odyssey are $350 each, Play It Again, Sam, Butch Cassidy and The Sundance Kid, and Harry and Tonto, $250 each. 440 Park Ave. South, New York, N.Y. 10016, with other branches in Atlanta, Ga., Hollywood, Cal., and Wilmette, Ill. General catalogue $2, other specialized catalogues available.

Kit Parker Films has a 16mm. rental catalogue that's medium in size but strong in early cinema, back to a short silent made in 1895 by the Lumière brothers ($5)! Chaplin, Keaton, Lloyd, plus longer classics such as The Blue Angel ($25), Grand Illusion, and Rules of the Game ($35 each), documentaries, and humor. P.O. Box 227, Carmel Valley, Cal. 93924. Catalogue and supplements are free.

Pyramid Films rents and sells short 16mm. features, documentaries, and educational films that look absolutely four-star and very today. Free catalogue includes films on psychology, sports, travel, plus animated, kinetic-art, and "cine-poetic" films. Box 1048, Santa Monica, Cal. 90406.

Sportlite Films rents and sells 16mm. films on memorable championships—the Super Bowl, NBA, World Series, Davis Cup, Indianapolis 500. Plus sports newsreels, travel, and instructional films. Most 16mm. films (catalogue $1) rent for $25-$100. Sportlite also sells Super 8 films (catalogues 90c) with sound or silent with subtitles. 20 North Wacker Dr., Chicago, Ill. 60606.

Swank Motion Pictures, Inc. has a very large popular selection [of] 16mm. rental features, includi[ng] The Way We Were and Americ[an] Graffiti ($175 each), Godsp[ell] ($125), Elvira Madigan, Oliv[er], and Lawrence of Arabia ($1[50] each), plus old favorites like C[asa]blanca ($60) and Georgy ([Girl]) ($37.50). And silents, thirties a[nd] forties classics, foreign, Walt Di[s]ney films. 201 South Jeffers[on] Ave., St. Louis, Mo. 63166, wi[th] branches in Braintree, Mass.; G[len] Ellyn, Ill.; Hempstead, N.Y.; Houston, Tex. Free catalogue.

United Films has an incredib[le] variety of 16mm. films for ren[t]—The Graduate and Bonnie and Clyde, for example, are $75 eac[h]. Plus Chaplin, Keaton, Laurel & Hardy shorts (from $5 or $7.[50] each), children's cinema-plays such as The Adventures of Tom Sawyer ($30), Alice's Adventures in Wonderland ($52.50), c[ar]toons. Many mystery, horror, s[ci]ence fiction films. 1425 South Main, Tulsa, Okla. 74119. Fr[ee] catalogue.

months at the time—is all documented here in one room or another. And it's anything but a musty experience to see every last case and painting. There's an entire whale's skeleton, a step-by-step description of catching a whale, done with a simple text and photographs and drawings. I particularly loved a room hung with figureheads—a very special New England art—and learned once again how to tell a bark from a schooner or a brig by the rigging and the number of masts. There are also several 18th-century room set-ups showing New Bedford family life, which seemed to center around large fireplaces in rooms with low-beamed ceilings. There are fantastic postcards to buy and send. Near the museum are antique shops dealing in scrimshaw, some of it modern, so ask, and nautical antiques. Looking around and under and behind in low-overhead shops such as these often yields a find. Lupo's, a tavern within walking distance of the museum, caters to local people and $1.75 buys chowder, a fish dish, vegetable, and dessert. Down on the Wharf, another restaurant, Louie's, hosts many visitors.

Ask at Louie's how to get to the ferry that runs over to Martha's Vineyard and back every day. For most people, though, the Vineyard along with Cape Cod and Nantucket make an adventure of their own and I longingly reserved it for another time. ■ looking one of California's most famous stretches of beach. Open since 1974, it is a reconstruction of a villa near Pompeii, which was buried by Mount Vesuvius in 79 A.D. It was this summer, however, that this large, cool, leisurely villa so appropriate to the almost Italian climate of southern California began to look as though it had always been there. The gardens surrounding the villa have grown up enough to resemble their early counterparts. Olive, peach, pear, and pomegranate trees provide shade and the scent of blossoms and fruit. Various herbs, artichokes, asparagus, asters, and zinnias provide the same mix of food and pleasure that they must have in the first century. Though there are some special shows at the museum, it is the permanent collections—Greek and Roman sculpture that spans the period several centuries before and after Christ, Italian Renaissance and Dutch baroque painting, and marvelous 18th-century French furniture—that draws people. To go, call (213) 454-6541 for reservations, since there is limited parking, or write the J. Paul Getty Museum, 17985 Pacific Coast Highway, Malibu, Cal. 90265. ■

How YOU Can Win At Least One Sweepstakes or Lottery Prize - Guaranteed!

by Gerald Pope

Yes! Here is the most powerful Guarantee ever offered. You MUST win at least one Sweepstakes or Lottery Prize in 1975 using my guaranteed methods — or they are YOURS ABSOLUTELY FREE!

If YOU want to know EXACTLY how to win BIG MONEY and hundreds of other terrific prizes in Sweepstakes and Lotteries — without risking a single red cent — take a few minutes to read this.

First, to prove to you beyond the shadow of a doubt that people just like you — men, women and even children — win BIG prizes in Sweepstakes and Lotteries — here are some real life examples. Their stories can be your story — soon!

- John Clindaniel won $100,000 in a Sweepstakes sponsored by a magazine subscription service. He was only 15 years old when he won!
- R. L. Pelson won 42 prizes in 18 months, including 3 TV's, kitchen appliances, cameras, a tape recorder, a bicycle, and many more.
- Rose Ann Sutton won $1,000,000 (that's right — a million dollars) in a state lottery. Mrs. Sutton is a grandmother.
- Doug Berstler, a 36-year-old real estate man won the New Jersey state lottery nine time in two years — his total of prizes was $220,000.
- Benjamin Kruger won $10,000 in the Philip Morris Tobacco Sweepstakes.
- John Douglas won $20,000 in the Pennsylvania lottery.

In fact, thirty people who have won a million dollars each have started an exclusive club — the Millionaires Club — to discuss the problems of winning all that money. (Don't you wish that you had such problems?)

And NOW, I'll GUARANTEE to show YOU how to be a winner — even if you've never won anything in your life before — even if you've always considered yourself unlucky — even if you've already entered dozens of Sweepstakes and Lotteries and never won a dime.

You must ask yourself: "How can you make a guarantee that says I must win at least one Sweepstakes or Lottery prize?" The answer is simple. I can make this guarantee because Lady Luck has very little to do with winning Sweepstakes and Lottery prizes. Winning is a matter of cutting down the odds!

As soon as I discovered this proven fact — and when I counted up how much money OTHER PEOPLE were winning — I set out to find out exactly how to cut down the odds!

I found the answers! Some by trial and error. Some by reading stories in the newspapers and magazines about the biggest winners. Some by writing letters to the companies that judge winners in Sweepstakes and Lotteries.

I went to the local library and dug out everything I could find. I bought every book I could find on gambling and games of chance. I even wrote to every state to find out about their lotteries.

I spent a lot of money to get the answers, let me assure you. Much more money than I had planned.

And now I've written down everything I've learned — all the tips, guidance and advice — the systems and methods of the experts and the big winners. I've had a local printer here in Tulsa do up copies of the book — nothing fancy — just the facts and materials you need to become a Prizewinner! I call the brand new book: "How YOU Can Win Sweepstakes and Lotteries!"

Now, let me tell you some of the things you'll find in this book. Here's what the Sweepstakes Section tells you: How to Make Sweepstakes Profitable — Do's and Don'ts About Sweepstakes — How to Put the Law of Averages to Work for You — How to Read and Follow the Rules — Shortcuts to Save You Time and Effort — Secrets for Success from Sweepstakes Winners — How to Keep Up on All New Sweepstakes and Lotteries — How YOU Can Become a Big Winner!

And here's what the Lottery Section tells you: All the States Where Legal Lotteries are Held — Rules and Pay-Offs of Each State Lottery — How to Enter Out-Of-State Lotteries — Secrets and Tips from Big Winners — Guidance from Multiple Repeat Winners — Lotteries in Other Countries!

Most important of all, I've put everything in my book in simple, everyday language. Since I'm not much of a writer myself, I've hired a terrific editor to do the job for me. It came out just about perfect.

Another thing. Don't think that CASH PRIZES are the only thing you'll be able to win once you've read my book and followed my step-by-step methods and instructions.

Every year thousands upon thousands of smaller prizes are carried home by winners. Wouldn't you have liked to win one of these prizes: a Waring Blender — a Winchester Rifle — perfumes — lingerie — records — a Kodak Super-8 Movie Camera and Projector — a 14-K gold charm bracelet — a G.E. transistor radio — even a year's supply of bacon?

All these (and thousands more) were given away last year!

The list of prizes that you can win could go on forever. But there's one thing I'd like to make perfectly clear — if you don't have the step-by-step methods and secrets of the experts that you'll find in my book — your chances of winning are pretty slim. You really won't have a prayer!

And the ONLY way to get your copy of my book is to order it NOW, by mail. It's not for sale at any bookstore or newsstand in the world — at any price.

YOU GET 3 FREE BONUS EXTRAS WHEN YOU ORDER RIGHT AWAY

Yes! When you order your guaranteed copy of "How YOU Can Win Sweepstakes and Lotteries," you'll get 3 FREE BONUS EXTRAS as a gift:

- Free Bonus #1: New Sweepstakes and Lotteries come out all the time that you can enter — and WIN! The best of all new Sweepstakes and Lotteries are included in a monthly report called the "How To News." Your first gift is a FREE three month subscription to this newsletter!
- Free Bonus #2: "How YOU Can Win at Bingo!" Here is a terrific EXTRA FREE BONUS for everyone who plays Bingo. It includes the winning secrets of dozens of experts!
- Free Bonus #3: "Worldwide Lottery News" — a rundown of dozens of BIG MONEY Sweepstakes, Lotteries and Soccer Pools — including the world-famous Irish Sweepstakes. Complete names and addresses from around the world — with rules and regulations for American citizens!

YOUR DOUBLE GUARANTEE!

So, let me say once again — the ONLY way to get your guaranteed copy of my book: "How YOU Can Win Sweepstakes and Lotteries" (and all the FREE BONUS EXTRAS listed above) is to order it now by mail. In fact, you might be interested to know that the book has been Registered and Copyrighted with the U.S. Government so that the information within it cannot be stolen or copied.

And, you can order your copy without a single worry in the world because you are completely protected by an ironclad, 100% no-risk, Double Guarantee of satisfaction.

1. If you don't like the book when it arrives — for any reason under the sun — send it back for a full and immediate refund of your money with absolutely no questions asked.
2. Or, keep and use the book (and the 3 FREE BONUS EXTRAS) for a full year. You are still protected. You MUST WIN at least one Sweepstakes or Lottery prize during the year — or you may return the book next year. You still get every penny of your money back without quibble or question. Isn't that the fairest guarantee you've ever seen?

Although "How YOU Can Win Sweepstakes and Lotteries" (and the 3 FREE BONUS EXTRAS) may well mean thousands of dollars to you and your family — the price of the book is only $10 — not the $25 or $50 you might expect to pay. To get your guaranteed copy of the book:

1. Print your name and address on the Prizewinner's coupon below.
2. Attach just $10 cash, check or money order.
3. Mail to Prize Headquarters at Lincoln Press, 4444 So. Sheridan, Tulsa, Ok. 74145.

Let me repeat — it makes no difference if you've never won anything before — YOUR time for winning has come.

Start cashing in right now. Send for your copy of "How YOU Can Win Sweepstakes and Lotteries" as soon as you can — TODAY if at all possible.

Please remember — when you use the coupon below — you won't have to sit back and watch OTHER PEOPLE win all those wonderful prizes. It's YOUR turn now!

KitchenAid Disposers Can Get You Out Of This Jam.

Only the KitchenAid stainless steel disposer unjams itself at the touch of a button. The unique Wham Jam Breaker button.

Press it and wham! Stubborn jams disappear!

But you won't have to use this unique feature very often. Because the KitchenAid disposer is very hard to jam in the first place. It has the most powerful motor in any home disposer. And it chews up things many other disposers can't handle.

For extra assurance, the KitchenAid disposer is warranted for five years. If it should fail during the first year, it will be repaired without charge. During the next four years, you'd be charged for labor only.

See your KitchenAid disposer dealer. He's in the Yellow Pages under "Dishwashers." Or send the coupon.

SUSAN WOOD, DAVID MASSEY

ON THE COVER: If ever there was a symbol of hospitality, it's the big kitchen table, here updated in a gleaming white-and-gray-tiled kitchen. The great work island contains a sink for washing vegetables, power sockets for blender and mixers, and acres of work surface that doubles as eating space. Kitchen chairs are ersatz tractor seats in turquoise blue. Apart from open shelves above and below the cooking area, there is no storage in the kitchen. Instead, there's an adjacent 6-foot larder where, according to designer John Stephanidis, "everything from tinned foods to dinner plates can be located with a sweeping glance."

Blooming much too enthusiastically to ever fool a bee, the needlepoint flower pillows available at Bergdorf Goodman (for a better look, see page 116) were designed by Lou Gartner, who has plenty more ideas where these came from. Lots of them have been gathered in his second book, More Needlepoint Designs, just published by Morrow. A House & Garden book, $16.95.

1975 Christmas Ornament • Limited Edition

Christmas Child

From the Collector Series portraying the authentic works of Sister Berta Hummel at $4. each Continuing a tradition of charm, Schmid proudly presents the lovely work of Sister Berta Hummel. In this second in an exclusive series of collectible Christmas ornaments, measuring 3⅜" in diameter, Sister Berta Hummel softly portrays the sublime innocence of childhood with her delicate rendition of the "Christmas Child". Mrs. Viktoria Hummel, the late artist's mother and legal heir, has chosen and authorized this subject for the 1975 Christmas Ornament. It is taken from an original work created by Sister Berta Hummel as a gift for her aunt before she entered the Convent and it is an early example of her abiding love for children. This endearing creation is also the subject for our 1975 Christmas Plate, Christmas Bell, Child's Cup and Christmas Music Box. See this entire collection at the fine stores listed or write Schmid Brothers, Inc., 55 Pacella Park Drive, Randolph, Massachusetts 02368.

LA-Z-BOY® IS STILL MAKING THEM LIKE THEY USED TO

How many times have you heard that expression — they're not making them like they used to. And it's true. Back in the good old days you could get your dollar's worth. You could count on quality. Somebody cared.

Somebody still does. La-Z-Boy. We've been crafting chairs with quality and pride in workmanship all along. And we'll never stop. Take our La-Z-Rocker®, for example. It swivels. It rocks. It turns easily on a specially designed mechanism. It gives you all you could ask for in comfort.

It's built to last. It's made with the very finest materials — like fine fabrics of DuPont Nylon. So the next time you think they're not making them like they used to, think again. And remember La-Z-Boy, The Chair People.™

Electric car—new quiet way to get around

There you are in your new car, driving the children to school. It's a bit of a squeeze, because the car only has two seats, but the children manage. You stop at a stop light, and the driver next to you looks over a little oddly: there's no motor noise. The man riding the bicycle behind you gives a wave: he appreciates the fact that not a single fume is issuing from your exhaust pipe. In fact, you don't have an exhaust pipe. You drop the children off, and decide to pick up groceries on the way home. It's parallel parking. There's room for three of your cars, or one standard car. As you drive off again you pass the gas station and your family car repair shop. You haven't stopped at either of them since you got your car. You probably won't until the car wears out—say, in ten or twelve years. You pull into the garage and check the voltsmeter: You've driven about 25 miles and batteries work best at full charge. So you get out the cord and plug the car into the standard wall socket. Didn't we mention it? The car's electric.

"It's the car of the future for a very substantial portion of commuters," says Congressman Mike McCormack, sponsor of HR8800, a bill that passed the House this fall by a five to one majority and that would provide $160 million over the next five years for research, development, and demonstration of electric vehicles. "I can see millions of electric cars on the streets of our cities. They're quieter, they're easier to maintain, and they produce no pollution. If we assume they'll be used as second cars driving 20 miles per day, and there are 10 million of them, that's a savings of half a billion barrels of oil a day, 3 percent of our consumption, more than the entire production of the Alaska pipeline."

This year, the Electric Vehicle Council estimates that—not counting electric trucks, vans, product-movers, fork-lifts, or golf carts—about 2,500 electric passenger vehicles were produced and sold, and another 700 to 800 people put together their versions in their own garages.

An electric car runs on energy stored in batt recharged regularly from ordinary household tric current. It can be expected to go betwee and 60 miles per hour, depending on the desig the car, its size, its weight, (Continued on page

At Wedgwood, we believe some things are best done the old way. Which is why we're still making china by hand.

The pattern you see here is Columbia Enamelled. Each of the many colors in the highly decorated motif is carefully painted on by a skilled artisan. (The same person who begins a plate sees it through to the end. In this way, each brush-stroke on that plate has the same weight and feeling to it.) Then the trim is brushed on—by hand, of course.

There's a reason for all this beyond tradition, and it is, quite simply, that a pattern such as our Columbia Enamelled cannot be reproduced in any other way. The result of this painstaking care is, we're sure you'll agree, as worth the effort today as it was nearly a century ago.

Columbia Enamelled costs $55 for a 3-piece place-setting. Which might ordinarily seem a bit expensive. But, as you by now can surely see, there's nothing ordinary about it.

The new excitement in Montreal

Montreal: a southern city in a northern land

by Sandra Oddo

It takes time and fortuitous accident and talented people and a lot of history to cause a city to flower from a mere collection of population into something truly cosmopolitan, something with texture, with lights and nightlife, with art and architecture, with restaurants, with an atmosphere of its own that makes it peculiarly itself. There are only a few such cities on the North American continent—and Montreal is one.

Its flavor? A city of paradoxes restlessly at home with one another. A southern city in a northern country. A seaport nearly a thousand miles from the sea. An island that includes a mountain. Explored in 1535, years before the Pilgrims reached Plymouth Rock, settled only a little afterward in 1642—but the Plymouth Rock settlement is gone, and the old Montreal still exists, just down the hill from the glass and steel towers of the new. A city with subways and footpaths. A city where French, Scots, and Englishmen have crowded in on one another without relinquishing any of their original cultures or languages while they've acquired a coating of Canada. A place where two languages are spoken so interchangeably that a mother may say to her three-year-old child "Q'est-ce que tu veux? No, you can't have any candy." A foreign city closer to New York than Chicago is, closer to Chicago than New York is.

And how do Montrealers resolve all this? With festivals. The most obvious to the rest of the world was Expo '67, one of the most successful of all the North American world's fairs. A lot of it is still there. Next year, the 1976 World Olympics will be held in Montreal, July 17 to August 1. But it's hard to find Montreal at any time of the year without a celebration of some sort going on, from seasons of symphony to impromptu dances held in parks the size of pocket handkerchiefs.

The animals leave Lafontaine Park's Garden of Wonders in winter, for example—and anybody in Montreal can tell you that you can't just let them go alone. So there is an annual winter festival in Angrignon Park, winter quarters, with snow sculptures, an ice palace, and lit-up trees. In summer, the Botanical Gardens have outdoor gardens to tour by foot or by miniature train. In winter, the conservatories have floral exhibitions, which this year will feature Lebanon, with Lebanese dancers. The Planetarium lights up with "The Star of the Magi." There are a hundred public rinks for skating (155 more for hockey and broomball). There is night life, music, and ballet.

Perhaps it's the long dark winters that make Montrealers so merry, laughing in the face of adversity. But like New Yorkers, and others who inhabit places where the living isn't particularly easy, they are patient and kind to tourists.

What to see: In any new city, I strongly recommend doing the tourist thing right away: Take a bus. It orients you, and it gives you an idea of where you'd like to spend the rest of your time. Montreal has several sightseeing bus companies, some connected with hotels, all easily accessible. Most leave from Dominion Square and you can buy tickets either at the information booth on the square, or at hotel lobbies, or from the bus guide. Basically there are three kinds of tours—around the town (about $5); around the island, the Old Fort, the St. Lawrence Seaway, and the Indian Reservation (about $6); or around the Montreal night spots (about $15).

Offbeat Cruises This Month and Next

It's lure enough for most of us that a big, comfortable cruise ship with big staterooms and sundecks and marvelous food should steam through sunny Caribbean waters stopping at the most famous island resorts. If in addition to this, you'd like to learn the basics of Italian cooking in ten days, take the Costa Line's Federico C., which leaves Port Everglades on November 29. On board, an Italian chef reigns in the kitchen and after dinner shows you how to make what was on the menu that night. At the end of the cruise he sends you home with a cookbook of the recipes you've mastered. Rates start at $520. Call (212) 682-3505.

Movies are an afterdinner staple of every ship at sea, but now not only can you see some of the best films ever made but also the actors and actresses who starred June Allyson, Rock Hudson, Peter Lawford, Debbie Reynolds, and Cornel Wilde are all on board as well as some well known critics for Holland America's ten day cruise

The secrets of a radiant smile

Latest discoveries about tooth care with 5 tips for healthy teeth and gums from specialist Dr. Irwin D. Mandel

By Caroline Seebohm

A radiant smile may be the reflection of the inner you, but the wonderful white teeth that go with it are a reflection of nothing else except good, lifelong tooth care. It's the part we see that we care most about—the hopefully white part, made of enamel, the hardest substance of the body. Most people now know that tooth care does not just mean clean white teeth, it also means healthy gums. But do we really need them?

"If one supports the theory that teeth grew in an evolutionary fashion in response to need, then it would follow that our teeth would now be growing less important, as our diet changes," says Dr. Irwin D. Mandel, Professor of Dentistry and director of the Division of Preventive Dentistry, Columbia University School of Dental and Oral Surgery. "But the closest one may come to this is the observation that there seem to be more people born with missing wisdom teeth today. The latest figures suggest that up to 17 percent of the population may have missing wisdom teeth. This may be because we don't need them—we do our chewing with our first and second molars.

"In fact wisdom teeth are perhaps nature's gift of a third set of teeth, the first set being our baby teeth, the second set growing at about age six, so that at age twelve we have twenty-eight adult teeth, with four more to fill in the back spaces even later—the wisdom teeth. The reason why we have two sets is because of the growth of the human head—had we been born with a full complement of adult teeth, there would be no room for anything else! Lower forms, such as sharks grow constant sets of successive teeth."

There are two basic threats to the shining white teeth we all admire so—dental decay and pyorrhea (gum disease, also known as gingivitis). Dental decay deals with the destruction of the teeth, pyorrhea with the destruction of the gums. Yet they have one thing in common. Both come about as the result of the action of clumps of bacteria known as plaque. "In the case of dental decay, the plaque that we are interested in is on the inside surface of these clumps of bacteria facing the tooth," explains Dr. Mandel. "In gum disease we are concerned with the outer surface where a variety of toxic substances are formed, which can cause inflammation and break down gum tissue. This plaque also becomes hardened and calcifies to form tartar or calculus, also accelerating gum disease."

The average seventeen-year-old American has 8.7 filled, decayed, or missing teeth, according to the National Institute of Dental Research. Tooth decay afflicts at least 95 percent of Americans, most of them children and young adults. If you are past thirty-five, the teeth you lose will most likely be lost to gum disease. In short, it's time to join the fight against plaque—and if you do succeed, even partially, then there is a great chance that you can save your teeth from further damage and can flash that radiant smile well into old age.

The big question to be asked our preventive dentistry specialist, Dr. Mandel, is:

HOW TO BEAT PLAQUE

1. Identify plaque. "Do this by staining your teeth with one of the disclosing tablets now in drugstores (you can get red or green ones). This is important, because unless you know where it is, you cannot try to remove it by brushing. Chew the tablet or rinse your mouth with it, and you will see stains left on your teeth—this is where the plaque is. Now, when you brush your teeth, you can check to see if you are removing the stains. If there are no stains, you have succeeded!"

2. Brush properly. "The major weapon in plaque removal is still the toothbrush. The revolution, however, has been that the brush is now seen primarily not as a method to make teeth look white but as an efficient plaque remover. Much plaque concentrates around the gum line of the tooth, so brushing, to be effective, must have the bristles along the gum line at an angle. [See the pictures for the correct way to brush.] There are now multitufted, soft nylon bristle brushes with rounded tips, so that when you angle the brush to remove the plaque from along the gum line, you are not damaging the gum tissue. These are the best buy. Choose a handle that you can move around your mouth comfortably—if you have a small mouth, you must use a smaller brush and handle. Even a children's one is often recommended."

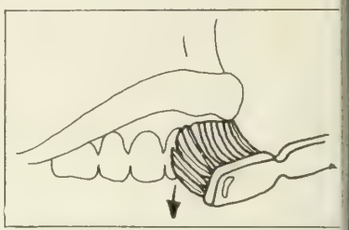
1 Apply the toothbrush to the outside tooth surfaces at about a 45-degree angle directed toward the area where teeth and gum meet. Press so as to slide the bristles against the teeth at the gum line. (The tufts of the bristles should divide to "straddle" the gum line.)

2 In this position, move the brush back and forth with short (half-a-tooth wide) strokes several times, using a gentle "scrubbing" motion. Brush the outer surfaces of all your teeth in this method, keeping the bristles angled against the gum line. Use the same method for the inside of the teeth.

3 For the front teeth, brush the inside surfaces of the upper and lower jaws by tilting the brush vertically and making several gentle up-and-down strokes with the front part of the brush as well as side-to-side motions. (These instructions are currently recommended by the American Dental Association to remove plaque.)



Kit to help you get a quick checkup at home

Four pieces of equipment are vital to help you keep your teeth and gums healthy—and now you can buy them in one package and take them home to use: (1) the toothbrush—multitufted rounded nylon bristles for effective brushing and safe gum massage; (2) the dental floss—unwaxed floss to clean between teeth where plaque gathers and the brush can't reach; (3) the dye tablet—coats the plaque red to identify it; and (4) the mouth mirror—to examine your mouth for dye stains in hard to-reach places. Complete home check-up kit by Butler, $2.49 at drugstores.

Join The Literary Guild.
Get any 4 books for $1.

Here's how The Literary Guild works:

After your membership is accepted and you get your 4 books for $1, you only have to buy four more books during your membership. Then you can cancel anytime you want.

So, choose 4 books (or sets) now and send in the coupon. Pay $1—plus a charge for shipping and handling. If, after 10 days, you decide you don't want the books, send them back and we'll cancel your membership.

About every four weeks (14 times a year) you'll get the Literary Guild magazine. Free. Each issue will offer dozens of books covering a wide range of subjects, all at up to 40% off publishers' prices.

If you want the main selection featured in the magazine, do nothing and it will be shipped to you automatically. If you would like an alternate, or no book at all, tell us so on the convenient form always provided and return it to us by the date specified.

This date is designed to allow you at least 10 days for making your decision. If you do not receive the form in time to respond in 10 days and receive an unwanted selection, you may return it at our expense. There will be a small shipping and handling charge on all books ordered.

The Guild offers its own complete, hardbound editions, sometimes altered in size to fit special presses and save members even more.

NOTE: First number listed beside each book is the order number. All prices quoted are for publishers' editions.

Do You Know the Secret of Looking as Young as You Can?

You may think you do. You watch what you eat. You try to get enough sleep. You've even started exercising and wouldn't dream of going to bed without doing fifteen minutes of calisthenics. Good for you. But even so, all these efforts to keep you looking as young as possible just aren't enough if you don't take proper care of your complexion.

Don't wait another moment to join the younger-looking women who share the secret benefits of a unique beauty fluid. From Paris to Australia and beyond, these women enjoy the quickly apparent rewards of a skin-loving liquid that helps them to look their youngest. How? By soothing away dryness, that unwelcome dryness that so often makes aging little lines and wrinkles all too noticeable. This remarkable fluid is found in drugstores in the United States, where it is known as Oil of Olay beauty lotion.

You will be astonished how quickly and completely the beauty fluid penetrates your skin's all-too-visible surface as you soothe it on your face and neck. Simply look in your mirror to discover how the wealth of pure moisture, along with tropical oils and other emollients, brings a renewed lustre and glow to your complexion. Your skin feels softer and smoother almost from the instant you apply Oil of Olay, and the difference can scarcely pass unobserved.

Devoted users make the complexion-cherishing fluid a vital part of their beauty ritual at least twice each day. In the morning, as a marvelous makeup base (there's never a greasy afterfeel) that lets cosmetics stay fresh for hours. Again just before bedtime, so skin can sleep in a moisty climate through quiet nocturnal hours. Any other time your skin feels dry and you want to increase its moisture content is a good time for Oil of Olay.

Oil of Olay works with nature in a mysterious way to help maintain your skin's oil-moisture balance, essential if you're to look just as young as you can. The beauty fluid works almost exactly like your skin's own moisture in combatting the dryness that can make you look older than you like. It even helps keep your own natural moisture within the skin, helping to maintain your more youthful looking complexion.

Your friends and family will never know how you achieved the change in your appearance unless you tell. At first you may want to guard this precious new knowledge. But eventually Oil of Olay will probably become a secret too special to keep to yourself.

Beauty Secret

If you wear makeup only when you go out, don't let your face go untended at home. Let Oil of Olay® be a constant part of your morning grooming. You'll enjoy the way your skin looks and feels.

"Plastic sealants are very new and are only being used on back teeth. We know over 80 percent of sealants will last for three years and definitely reduce decay"

3. Use fluoride. "The various applications of fluoride can really protect the teeth and gums from much potential damage. Fluoride in drinking water, for instance, can become part of the blood stream and find its way into the bones and teeth, with a resulting 60 percent reduction in tooth decay. Fluoride has been the savior when it comes to teeth, counteracting the damage done by sugar and the accumulation of plaque. Fluoride toothpaste can produce a 20 percent reduction in decay. In addition, dentists can prescribe mouthwashes and a new fluoride gel in a plastic tray that is placed against the tooth. This new process can be done at home once a day or week with excellent results, especially with children or adults with a high incidence of tooth decay.

"The plastic tray is probably the most effective anti-decay procedure we have today—the results suggest about 85 percent reduction. You build so much fluoride into the tooth's surface that you build its resistance, something of particular value in an area where the water is not fluoridated. [Less than half the population enjoys fluoride in drinking water. A lot of cities still turn it down, although for thirty years it has been observed and found effective.]

"Pure fluoride, however, cannot be purchased over the counter, though the FDA is reevaluating it. For now, your dentist must prescribe any of the applications using fluoride—except of course, fluoride in toothpaste—such as mouthwashes, tablets, chewable lozenges, and the plastic tray."

4. Watch your diet. "An adequate diet is essential in order to provide the optimum resistance of the teeth and gums to disease. Some practitioners claim that a higher dose of calcium, phosphorus, vitamins C, A, and D, is more advantageous for tooth and gum health. This is very controversial, and for every study that claims this, ten prove that it makes no difference. Research in this field is currently being carried out all over the country. At the moment, I would advise that people not experiment with megavitamins until more evidence can be collected.

"The thing that everyone is agreed upon, however, is that too much sugar and carbohydrates is definitely bad, and that reducing the intake of sugar will reduce the amount of plaque and acid in the mouth."

5. Use floss. "The value of floss is that it reaches where the toothbrush can't reach—between the teeth especially near the gum line. Break off about 18 inches of floss and wind the ends round your middle fingers. Use your thumbs and forefingers with an inch of floss between them to guide the floss between your teeth. Hold the floss tightly and use a gentle sawing motion to insert it between the teeth, then work it up and down against the side of the tooth. Repeat this on all your teeth. Floss should never be snapped or forced between teeth and into gum margins." (Some dentists recommend unwaxed floss because it does not slide off the teeth, thus can scrape the plaque off more easily. Ask what your own dentist advises.)

OTHER AIDS

Plastic sealants. "The idea is that coating the surface of the tooth with plastic will protect the enamel against decay. The only coatings used now are placed on the biting surfaces of the back teeth, and are indeed of some benefit in preventing plaque, as these areas are hard to reach with brushes, and especially in young people, these teeth are prone to decay. However, we have only been using them for up to three years—so we have no information yet on long term use. Over 80 percent of sealants will last three years and reduce decay, that is as much as we know."

Electric toothbrushes. "This makes little difference, because if you brush in a hurry, you brush in just as much of a hurry with the electric brush. Where it can be of benefit is for people who have difficulties holding a small brush or making hand movements, such as arthritics."

Mouth hygiene equipment. "This equipment washes out toxic materials; so it can rinse out effectively places that are hard to reach with the brush, especially if you have gum disease."

Chewing gum. "Regular chewing gum has approximately a teaspoon of sugar in it, so that is bad. But there is also an increase in salivary stimulation because of the chewing, which cleans out the mouth—so if you only use it occasionally the cleansing can balance out the sugar. It is when it's used as candy that it can be harmful. Sugar-free gums are of course far preferable."

BEAUTY AND HEALTH PRODUCTS NEW THIS MONTH IN THE STORES

Speaking of beautiful teeth (see page 18) CASWELL-MASSEY is a wonderful source for the most beautiful health and beauty tools, as well as being the oldest pharmacy in America. There are two new natural bristle toothbrushes to choose from, with either short or long bristles in medium or hard strengths. These are of extra-large and sumptuous design, imported from England, and have natural bone handles. How to tell whose is whose? Red, blue, or green incised stripes on the back of each let each member of the family choose his own. $5 each, to order through the famous illustrated Caswell-Massey catalogue or pick one up at their store at 518 Lexington Avenue, New York City.

You're an individualist looking toward evening and holiday sparkles . . . Here's a way to make your make-up really you with a softly colorful collection by FRANCES DENNEY: the "Nightingale Look." Warm your skin tone with Amber Light Incandescent Makeup No. 20—candlelight makes this rosy-bronze make-up look rich and healthy. Blend two Incandescent Cheek Paints, Sultry Sienna and Sassy Cerise, over cheekbones to the temples. For eyes, make your own colors—in the crease and on the lid blend Pottery with Shimmery Silver; for the brow bone blend Lemon with Shimmery Silver. These are from the seven-color set of Eye Polishes. If you wish, a smudge of black eyeliner and lots of Healthy Lash Protein Mascara. Two shades for lips—Sienna Frost over Coralight Cream with an outline of Tawny Lip Liner.

Intensive lubrication and constant moisturizing . . . that's the formula that really helps very dry skin. Ultra Feminine II Radiant Action Night Cream and Radiant Action Moisturizer by HELENA RUBINSTEIN do both these jobs with an added extra—they give a fresh pink glow to the skin and a sensation of warmth that resembles increased circulation. Used together, the cream and under-make-up lotion combat flakiness, improve hydration and elasticity, and soften skin. (Neither product contains hormones—for that, there is Ultra Feminine Cream that many women have been using for years.) Some of us who try the cream or lotion may not feel that tingly, warming sensation. No matter. They do their stuff. Night Cream, 2 ounces, $5; Moisturizer, 2 ounces, $4.50. At Lord & Taylor.

Should you have the good fortune to get away from it all for a week or more, there's a new TRAVELER STACK of necessary beauty sundries to toss in your bag that makes up for those ounces of bottles, tubes, et al. that are so space consuming! At base is a half-ounce of make-up remover, on which are stacked quarter-ounces each of hand cream, eye and throat cream, moisturizer, and deep-pore cleanser. The whole package is a cylinder of movable stacks—4 inches high, weighing perhaps 3 ounces. All for $10 from GEORGETTE KLINGER. Order from Georgette Klinger at 501 Madison Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10022.

What's a little larger than a postage stamp that can save you the money spent on make-up mistakes? Samples, of course. Lip colors, make-up bases, cheek rouges, even eye make-up come in small, try-before-you-buy plastic punchouts that are free at MERLE NORMAN COSMETIC STUDIOS all over the country. There's a generous amount of color in each one so it's easy to keep au courant with the latest fashion shades. There are Studios in Woodbridge and Willowbrook Shopping Malls in New Jersey or write to Merle Norman Cosmetic Studio, 9130 Bellanca Ave., Los Angeles, Cal. 90045.

Baking powder and cornstarch—two naturals put together for a brand new underarm deodorant from ARM & HAMMER. The Baking Soda Deodorant in a dry spray, both scented and unscented, is effective because of its natural properties. Cornstarch is superior to talc for absorbing wetness; baking soda has long been known as a first rate deodorizer. The two are blended with an emollient to keep them put. In 4-, 7-, and 13-ounce sizes; $1.29, $1.89, $2.89 at supermarkets, drugstores everywhere.

Quality. The endangered species.

This country may be in danger. We could be losing something we can't afford to lose.

Once, when a man produced a product it was the best he could possibly make. He stood behind it with pride. He lived a simple idea: Do it right or don't do it at all. Nobody told him that. No government agency dictated it. And it built a standard of living for all the world to aim at.

Now that idea is threatened. Today that pride in workmanship, in the quality of things, is in danger of slowly slipping away.

However, there are companies, actually many companies, that are working harder today than ever before to preserve quality in everything they make.

We feel that Whirlpool Corporation is such a company. And we feel it so strongly that we have dedicated our entire company to the preservation of quality. And that means more than just making quality dishwashers, dryers, automatic washers, refrigerators, freezers, ranges, compactors and air conditioners. We mean quality in everything we do.

That's why in 1967 we initiated our Cool Line service. Toll-free help that's available to you anytime. Just call with any questions or problems you might have concerning any Whirlpool appliance. The number is 800-253-1301. In Michigan, 800-632-2243.

That's why we have a Quality Control Department that assures you of appliances you can count on. Day in and day out.

That's why we have a simplified letter warranty that's easy to understand, easy to use.

That's why we have Whirlpool Tech-Care service. A franchised service network which means all the help you ever need is usually no more than minutes away.

Yes, quality may be endangered in many places. But at Whirlpool we simply won't let it die. It's too important.

And it means too much to all of us.

Parties with punch

. . . or with soup, tea, shrubs, and other delicious beverages, and tempting things to eat with them

By Mary Moon Hemingwa

Have you ever considered having what I like to think of as a "potable" party? I mean a party where the liquid refreshment is the thing. These parties provide one of the most pleasant and easiest ways of entertaining—simplicity of service, no seating arrangements to worry over, easy come-and-go timing, comfortably geared to so many age groups left out of the usual party swing. Potable parties can take place anytime from morning to midnight for a few friends or for a crowd.

As Christmas draws near, for instance, why not have a morning card-addressing party, gathering friends together to get their cards ready, and having a light collation as refreshment: Morning drinks: Russian chocolate (half coffee, half chocolate) with a side bowl of whipped cream; orange coffee (orange extract or orange rind brewed with the coffee); tomato or clam broth. Morning morsels: Baby brioches, tiny buttered biscuits, bite-size French toast made with a cookie cutter and kept warm on a hot tray or candle-warmer dish, fruit-cake fingers.

Hold a holiday decoration workshop, the workers bringing materials of all kinds and while they nourish their creative spirits, you nourish them with great soups and super breads and a choice of compounded butters.

A soup's-on party is a warm way to welcome the harried shopper at holiday time, too. Have a lunchtime stop-in from noon to two, perhaps. Or have it at suppertime for the benefit of tree trimmers, carolers, or your neighbors.

Hearty soups: Have a choice of thick and thin corn chowder rich in bacon bits and fried onion; easy crème Chantilly (purée of spinach mixed with equal parts of canned pea soup, seasoned with mint, thinned with cream); egg-drop soup afloat with crab meat bits and green peas, or stracciatella, avgolemono, Mexican puchero (South-of-the-Border stockpot with everything in it).

Super breads and butters: As accompaniments to soups, serve herb bread with chive butter; salt-rising bread and olive butter; pumpe nickel and anchovy butter (grea with chowders and bisques), cara way with mustard butter; eg bread with duxelles butter (espe cially good with vegetable soups

Tea is still one of the most re freshing of all beverages and tea time a singularly refreshing time o day. Unless it's to be a high, hig affair, tea parties are usually smal quiet, sit-down parties long o good conversation and tea an just enough finger food to set o the brew. For a change, offer variety of teas, made possible b the numbers of fine ones no available in tea-bag form—or us a metal tea ball or spoon for indi vidual brewings. Choose amon hyson, gunpowder, Lapsang-sou chong, jasmine, Constant Com ment, herb teas, rose hip tea. Yo can, if you wish, spark them u with rum, cloved lemons, coars sugar.

Teatime treats: Cheese straws Benne wafers, lace cookies, smok nuts, lemon drops, and fudge.

P.M. parties with punch hav been part of the social whirl sinc before the Middle Ages. Punch i a Hindu word and the use of th punch bowl an Indian custom which the British took over wit delight and disseminated through out the world. When serving punch, it's wise to have one sweet one drier to satisfy different pal ates. If the punch is to be cold, b sure it really is by chilling it over night if possible, or at least chilling the base ingredients. If hot, keep i hot in the kitchen and serve jus enough at one time to retain th heat.

Punch party list: A Marlin Spik (equal parts of dark or light run and cranberry juice), dear to clip per-ship crews and a great switch from the usual holiday creamy concoctions. Claret Punch—th wine plus brandy, curaçao, sherry sugar, lemon juice, and soda wate mixed to taste. Hot Rum Punch— Jamaica rum flavored with ½ cup brandy, half a glass of triple sec the rinds of ½ lemon and ½ orange, plus 4 cups of boiling wa ter. Cold Rum Punch—dark rum

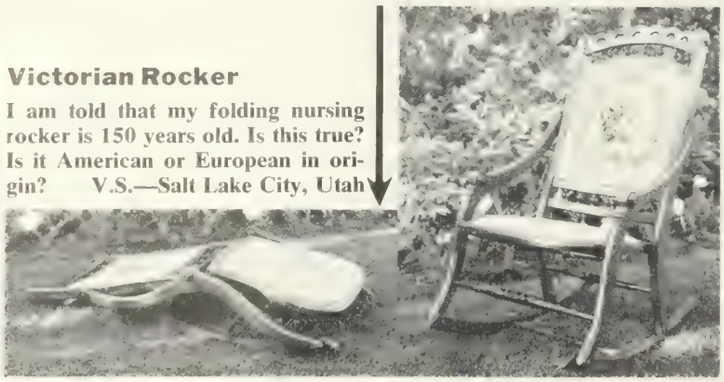
Victorian Rocker

I am told that my folding nursing rocker is 150 years old. Is this true? Is it American or European in origin? V.S.—Salt Lake City, Utah



Judging from the snapshots, your Victorian folding rocking chair was made in America about the 1870s, when folding chairs were widely popular. Indeed, so great was their popularity, that stationary chairs were often made to look as if they could be folded.

Thorwaldsen Sculpture

Can you identify this ceramic plaque, which is part of the cresting of a gilt wood wall mirror?

P.N.—Santa Fe, N. Mex.

Your carving is a reproduction of an extensively exploited marble plaque by the Danish sculptor, Albert Thorwaldsen (1770-1844), entitled "Day: Aurora with the Genius of Light." The companion sculpture is entitled "Night with Her Children, Sleep and Death." Both were modeled in 1815.

Chippendale Style Supper Table

Can you tell me for what purpose this table was used? Does this kind of table have a particular name?

B.B.—Whitemarsh, Pa.

This distinctive type of Chippendale style tilt-top table with the top divided into compartments, usually 8 or 10, was introduced in England about 1740 to 1750. It held cups and saucers, or small plates, for an informal meal or supper, hence its name—supper table.

French Cameo Glass

My thick glass vase has the signature "Zalli" on it. Are you able to date it for me and tell me who made it? B.B.—Stoughton, Mass.

Your French cameo glass vase was made about 1910 in the glassworks of Emile Gallé (not Zalli), 1846-1904, the man of greatest importance in the renaissance of glassmaking in France. Gallé turned to nature for his inspiration and, no doubt, the Lorraine forests and fields are the subjects for this imaginative design. (Continued on page 36)

American Coffeepot

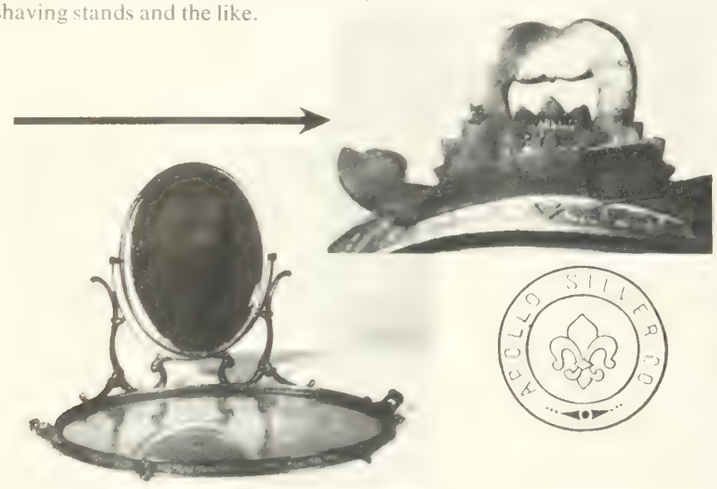
On my coffeepot is "Pairpoint Mfg. Co." but the design is very Asiatic. Why did an American company make this style coffeepot? D.L.K.—Kansas City, Kans.

The craze for Turkish, Moorish ,and other Near Eastern exotica ran like a forest fire through American homes of the 1890s. The Pairpoint Manufacturing Company of New Bedford, Mass., had in mind the savor of rich mocha coffee and the romantic homemaker when it fashioned your plated silver coffeepot.

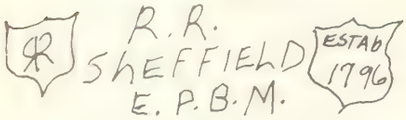
New York Dressing Mirror

I am enclosing some snapshots of my mirror and a drawing of the mark that's on it in the hopes that with them you can identify the maker and tell me when it was made. R.S.—Shaw, Miss.

The Apollo Silver Company of New York City made your plated gold dressing mirror with stand about the turn of the 20th century. Before 1899, it merged with Bernard Rice's Sons, who continued to use the Apollo mark. Apollo specialized in plated silver mirrors, dresser sets, shaving stands and the like.



Sheffield Teapot



These marks appear on my Sheffield teapot. Can you tell me something of its background? What was its base metal? R.E.H.—Pleasanton, Cal.

Your teapot was made by the English Victorian silverplater Richard Richardson, who started the Cornwall Works at Sheffield in 1796. E.P.B.M. indicates the teapot was electroplated on Britannia metal, which is similar to pewter and was sometimes used in place of nickel or white metal. For this reason, when the plated silver on a piece of hollowware wears off and exposes the Britannia metal base, it is often thought to be pewter.

YESTERDAY TODAY AND TOMORROW

"All electric-vehicle people agree that the primary use will be for in-town trips or commuting. Meantime, the owner is still a bit of a dashing adventurer" and the number of batteries it carries. You can drive one from 30 to 120 miles—again, the distance depends on all those variables—before it will need a recharge. For most electric cars, a full recharge will take from eight to ten hours if you have 110 volt current in your house, about half that time if your current is 220. But the full charging time is rarely necessary because it's unlikely that you'd let the car run completely down before recharging.

Electric cars conserve petroleum because the power they use is generated somewhere else—and central electric generators are somewhat more efficient than car engines, and can control their pollution more effectively. Electricity from wind, water, nuclear, and coal-fired plants works just as well as electricity from oil-fired plants. Most electric cars can be expected to recharge overnight, when generators are operating anyway, often producing more power than is used—and rates are lower.

A full recharge for an eight-battery car costs about 25¢ when rates are 3½¢ per kilowatt hour. If you go twenty-five miles on it, that's a cent a mile.

If you buy an electric car, you can expect it to cost either about $3,000 or about $7,000. You can expect it to be either radical in looks or conventional. It will carry either two passengers or four passengers, operating either with a rheostat (a dial offering a range of fixed speeds) or with a conventional transmission.

Does that all sound rather either/or? It reflects the two philosophies currently at work in electric-car circles. One—the $7,000 one—holds that Americans will not give up personal transportation, personal comfort enroute, and the freedom to make long trips at high speeds no matter what the price of gasoline, and therefore that electric vehicles must match and perhaps surpass what's possible for a gasoline-driven car. The other—the $3,000 one—holds that the time has come for a complete change, that Americans are tired of superwaste, will welcome something small and functional in design, and aren't all that addicted to ultra-high speeds. Therefore electric vehicles can be designed from the ground up to fit their assets and limitations.

Electric vehicles do have limitations. For every pound you put on or in the car, you lose a little speed or range, and the batteries are heavy, and not terribly efficient. The cars don't like hills at all. Cold affects them. If they're light enough to be inexpensive, chances are they're not terribly comfortable. If they're heavy enough to be comfortable, chances are they're expensive. "Put it this way," says James Norberg of ESB, a leading battery manufacturer active in electric vehicle research. "When automobiles first came out there were three contenders, steam, electric, or internal combustion. Two of them, steam and electric, dropped out, so all of the money and all of the research, eighty years of it, went to internal combustion. Now we have to pick up the old technologies of steam and electric and go on."

Research is underway, for instance, under federal grants and also in private industry, to improve batteries. Longterm solutions may be high temperature batteries using things like lithium/sulphur, according to Dr. John Hartman, department head of General Motors' Electrochemical Research Laboratory.

All electric vehicle people agree that the primary use will be in-town trips or commuting (95 percent of all automobile trips are less than 40 miles in length, according to the U.S. Department of Transportation). For businesses, the electric delivery truck is already a valuable asset. There are more than 100,000 of them on the road in England, where oil is even more precious than it is here, for instance. And the U.S. Post Office has just put 350 Electrucks, manufactured by AM General, to work around Los Angeles.

Meantime, the owner of an electric passenger car is still a bit of a dashing adventurer. People nudge, gather in crowds, and question the driver. He is a member of a tight camaraderie, drawn to events like the 1975 Mount Washington Alternative Vehicle Regatta—its symbol was a turtle—in which about 20 electric, steam, methane, and flywheel-driven vehicles crept to the top of Mount Washington, held by the rules and by physical law to speeds less than 20 miles per hour. He's one of the 20,000 subscribers to the quarterly Electric Vehicle News. He's a pest about licensing regulations (one state requires all cars to have gas tanks—even if they're not gas driven). And he's having fun.

A lot of the rest of the world, with less petroleum, is more accustomed to electric cars. Italian, English, Dutch, French, Belgian, Japanese, South African, Brazilian, and Swedish companies make them. Now, some Americans are tiptoing into electric car production.

The largest present producer is Sebring-Vanguard of Sebring, Fla. Its CitiCar carries two passengers in a body made of the same material as professional football helmets, with a roll cage on an aluminum chassis. It has six or eight 6-volt batteries, isinglass curtains you can fold right down, a cruising speed of 38 miles per hour with a range of 50 miles before recharging. It weighs 1250 pounds, and costs less than $3,000. Thirteen hundred CitiCars were produced in the first nine months of this year for 100 distributors, says marketing manager Robert M. Stone.

Elcar is a bouncy little fiberglass box manufactured in Italy to U.S. specifications and distributed by the Elcar Corp. of Elkhart, Ind. It carries two passengers, has eight batteries, a speed of 35 miles per hour and a range of 50 miles. It costs about $3400. Elcar will also sell you just the chassis, for $1700, so you can build your own car. Early in 1976 the company will begin its own production, a four-passenger hatchback with a 40 mile-per-hour speed.

The Electric Fuel Propulsion Corporation is converting Fisher bodies into electric luxury cars—but they're not for sale. "I wanted to be different," says president Robert R. Aronson, "so they're only for leasing." The car, called a Transformer I, has patented lead/cobalt batteries that can be recharged in 45 minutes, a 65 mile-per-hour top speed and a range of 100 miles, leases for $300-$400 a month. He manufactures one a week now.

Electric Vehicle Associates also converts a luxury car, this one European. It has a 58 mile-per-hour speed, a 60 mile range, room for four or five passengers and sixteen special lead/acid batteries. It costs $8500. Three cars have been made so far, to order. The company is geared for twenty-two a month.

B & Z's Electra King looks like something you might expect ten clowns to pile out of. But it's been making them since 1961, now at a rate of about one a week. They come in three or four-wheel styles, can go from 15 to 35 miles per hour depending on the choice of motor, can turn around in 12 feet, sell for between $2200 and $3200. The 18 mile-per-hour model is the most popular. "That's as fast as you can go downtown anyway," says B & Z owner Robert E. McCoy. "And they don't produce any smog at all—unless you smoke."

C. H. Waterman converts a Dutch four-passenger car to an electric with a 45 mile-per-hour speed and a 60 mile range. It carries four passengers and even with batteries, he says, weighs less than the average compact. It costs about $6000. Six have been sold; he has plans for several hundred next year. "It sounds like a refrigerator motor when it's running," says Mr. Waterman.

Linear Alpha electrifies Dodge vans and Pintos to order. The van has a top speed of 60 miles per hour, a range of 30 miles. The Pinto "Thunderbolt 240" can go 55 miles per hour, has a 40-mile range, costs $7896.

Corbin-Gentry sells motorcycle accessories, electric motorcycles—and a kit to turn your old VW into an electric bug. The basic package—it comes in a flexible number of varieties—has a 45 mile-per-hour speed, a 30-35 mile range, can be used on any rear-engine Volkswagen from beetle to bus, and costs about $1250. The motor is the heart: a retooled, rebuilt 12-14 horsepower jet engine starter generator. Thirty or forty kits have been sold since late May, and Corbin-Gentry has "enough" jet starters left, says sales manager Al Simmons.

And then there are the prototypes, handsome cars that nobody's offering for sale yet. But they may, any minute now.

Robert S. McKee of McKee Engineering, racing car designer (fifty of them since 1961) and electric enthusiast, has built the McKee Electric Commuter Car for ESB, the battery-makers, and he has copied it for himself. It has a top speed of 60 miles per hour, a range of 75 or 80 miles, room for two passengers, and a racy 8 horsepower engine. He's building four more this year.

Wayne Goldman of Electric Vehicle Engineering has experimented with electric vehicles for use everywhere from coal mines to resorts. Now he is planning to produce a highway-rated vehicle named the Laser next year, a four-passenger station wagon to sell for $6500, that will go 35 miles per hour for about a hundred miles. "Right now," he says, "it's a cross between a novelty and a thinking man's market."

And the Copper Development Association, which specializes in making new technologies available to consumers of brass and copper, has designed and built the Copper Electric Town Car, with a top speed of 55 miles per hour and a range (at 40 miles per hour) of 120 miles. It went to Washington last spring, one of eighteen electric vehicles demonstrated at technical briefings for legislators and others involved with energy and transportation. (Continued on page 144)

"You can get lost in the underground shopping center of Montreal . . . make definite plans to do it"

ototype of the buses that will be ed during the Olympics. The ndows are intended to echo the ympic logo with its five inter- cked circles topped by the styl- ed arches of a Montreal "M." ere's what I learned:

Montreal is Canada's largest ty, its financial headquarters ,000 banks), its garment center 0 percent of Canadian clothing ade there), its major seaport with cilities for 200 ships at a time. It is 28 radio stations and 7 color levision channels. It has 900 iles of streets, and every one is ashed every day, May to Oc- ber. Five thousand big concrete anters full of flowers are carted it every May to beautify the city, id carted back into greenhouses very October. Five thousand trees planters go along, and when the ees get too big, they're planted in e parks. Any blank building wall in be the prize in a competition nong students in the city's art hools. They may submit designs the city council. If okayed, a ank wall gets a newly painted ork of art.

The islands of Expo '67, now Man and His World"—it sounds etter in French: Terre des Hom- es—were made with the dirt dug om the subway system.

No building can be higher than ie Montreal mountain, 700 feet, r about 50 stories. The Stock Ex- hange, at 47 stories, is Montreal's ighest building. The Merchandise Mart, its biggest—the world's sec- nd biggest commercial building.

Benjamin Franklin founded the Montreal Gazette in 1776, while ie U.S. army was occupying the ity. The Cavelier de la Salle left om here to explore the Missis- ppi; so did the Sieur de la Veren- rye, first European to see the Rocky Mountains. Citizen Grey- olon du Luth canoed off from the uai to found Duluth; la Mothe- Cadillac left to found Detroit. Two rothers Le Moyne went farther, o open up Louisiana. A lot of the United States started in Montreal.

The Old City has been subject o eleven years of intensive official reservation and restoration work. t is now an area of great charm nd vivid life—crafts, antiques, estaurants, and atmosphere, well vorth a daylong walking tour. There is the church of Notre- Dame, designed by an American rchitect in 1824, with stained glass scenes from Montreal history n windows along the nave. Next door, the St. Sulpice Seminary, built in 1685. The seminary has gardens, the church has a museum. The Place Jacques-Cartier, asphalt stripped from its original cobblestones, is now full of young people and artists, and lined with small cafés. The Château de Ramezay, built in 1705, was headquarters for the American occupation of Montreal in 1775, and is now a historic and numismatic museum. There's the harborside Nôtre-Dame-de-Bonsecours, built in 1772, oldest church in Montreal, and its museum. The Youville Stables, which never housed horses, now house offices and a restaurant.

Like Old Montreal, the rest of the sightseer's Montreal seems to occur in chunks. These four were my favorites: the subway (Metro) system, the Place des Arts, Mont Royal itself, Terre des Hommes.

The Metro: The system is less than ten years old, and it is beautiful. Every station is different, and each of the twenty-six is a gem of urban design. Glass-walled trains run on rubber wheels, so quietly you can talk in a whisper. For 35¢ you can ride from one end of the city to the other.

In the downtown area there is a whole underground city adjoining the Metro. I'm told there may be five miles of underground streets and 500 shops, but I couldn't find a map—"out of date," "not complete," "what?". The sections of the buried city don't always connect, and it's quite possible to get lost down there. In fact, I'd make definite plans to do it. The shops are interesting, the "streets" full of surprises, and whenever you get tired of being lost, there's somebody nearby who will be happy to help you find yourself—an information clerk, a policeman, a shop person, or as in our case, a friendly passerby who solved our puzzlement at a highly unusual wildcat Metro strike by driving us out to the Ile St. Hélène himself.

The Place des Arts: If you're familiar with Lincoln Center in New York, or the Music Center in Los Angeles, the Place des Arts may not be a surprise. But I have a thing for wide, windswept plazas and monumental buildings, and Canadians seem to have a thing for flowers everywhere. The combination is irresistible. There are guided tours Tuesdays and Thursdays 1 to 4 p.m. And there are performances, theatre in French and English, music of all persuasions, festivals, recitals, lectures, dance. Check the seasonal Calendar of Events, available from any tourist-information source.

Mont Royal: Soon after Montreal was founded a serious flood threatened to wash it away again. Maisonneuve, the founder, vowed he'd carry a cross on his back to the top of the 700-foot mountain, if only it would stop raining. It did. He did. And so there is still a cross on the summit, now outlined in electric light. From the park surrounding the cross it seems possible to see as far as Saskatchewan. There's skiing, sled-riding, and skating in winter, an art center, a wax museum with scenes from Canadian history, the Université de Montréal, and St. Joseph's Oratory where a Christmas exposition of religious art is held.

Terre des Hommes: Twenty-five pavilions still are there. The huge geodesic dome that was the U.S. Pavilion is now a powerful exhibition built around the environment, called the Biosphere. There are pavilions for humor, for weaponry, for fine arts, for history. China, Czechoslovakia, India, Iran, the USSR, and Yugoslavia, among others, have displays in their old Expo '67 pavilions. There are restaurants and sidewalk-side snack stands, special events and entertainment, the monorail, a stadium for sports or concerts, swimming pools, places to picnic. And there's La Ronde, one of the pleasantest of amusement parks, with some rides safe enough for toddlers and others that are enough to inspire terror in teen-agers. Pavilions are open from 10 AM to 8:30 PM every day; La Ronde runs from noon to 2:30 AM in the summer. A visa ($3 for one day, $5 for the season) purchased at the Metro stop will admit you to all the pavilions. Admission to La Ronde is 50¢ for adults, 25¢ for youths. Children under 8 years, free.

Also on the island is the Parc Hélène-de-Champlain, with a restaurant, an old fort, another stadium and a theatre where a Christmas spectacle, in French, is presented from Dec. 11 to Jan. 3.

Where to stay: Montreal is full of hotels, up to its ears in hotels, and still building hotels. Six opened this year. There will be more than 90,000 rooms available for the 1976 Olympics. And in spite of that, it's not safe to go without a reservation, because all those hotels are usually 90 percent full.

The Public Relations Department of Montreal puts out a Guide to Montreal Hotels in which they're rated by class, with prices and amenities noted. If you prefer less formal lodgings, there is also a guide to tourist houses. And a special bureau, Héquo 76 (201 est, Rue Crémazie, Montreal, Que., Canada, H2M, 1L2), has been set up to deal with accommodations during the Olympics. The big hotels are mostly in midtown, convenient to stay in. Here are a few:

The Berkeley is dark wood and brown leather and quiet. Its restaurant has a good reputation, a pleasant sidewalk cafe for breakfast.

The Bonaventure, a penthouse complete with running stream and goldfish, on top of the Merchandise Mart, was new for Expo, is architecturally exciting, fun.

The Château Champlain towers over the Place du Canada with spectacular views through semi-circular windows toward the St. Lawrence or toward Mont Royal. A razzle-dazzle nightclub.

The Queen Elizabeth is busy, red and gold with crystal and high ceilings, 21 stories, some of them in the 17th century, some in the 21st century. Good restaurants.

The Ritz-Carlton is black and gold and shiny brass, a doorman with white gloves, quiet elegance —and a reputation as one of the world's great hotels. Its restaurants, particularly Le Café de Paris, have earned suitably understated "excellents" in all categories. Ducks swim on a tiny garden pond. In summer you can dine there.

The Sheraton-Mt. Royal is a crossroads, comings and goings, shopping and eating all happening at once with an air of suppressed excitement around its large and intricately laidout ground floor.

The Windsor, facing Dominion Square, is what you thought hotels were when you were a child, a little staid, a little mysterious, with wrought-iron staircases and wood-paneled elevators, and tall old room doors with big brass keys.

A triangular hotel tower built by Concordia Estates, The Hôtel La Cité, the Inn on the Park, the Château Mirabel, and the Holiday Inn Dominion Square, the Méridien Montréal, all new, open in 1976.

Restaurants. Ah, restaurants. Montreal is an eating city the likes of New York, of New Orleans, of Mom got a whale of an idea from Martin-Senour® Paints.

This is my room. I think it's neat. Mom painted it all from a big picture she got from a Martin-Senour Paint man. You could get one, too. Mom said it was easy 'cause the picture shows you just how to do it.

She even let me help pick the colors. There are about a zillion colors on the Martin-Senour color chart.

I really like my room now. Mom got a whale of a good idea from Martin-Senour Paints. And I've got a whale of a good Mom.

n Francisco. Maybe better, be-use even in the lesser places, the stairs joints, the corners not entioned in any tourist guide, it's rd to go wrong. There's that little stairs Italian place, Pepe's, just Peel Street from Dominion uare. We went for lunch because ee days of fancy eating can give e an old-fashioned yearning for late of spaghetti and some garlic ead. Instead we found home ade gnocci and exquisite squid, aping portions, modest prices, endly service, and a crowd of aching Montreal office workers.

The City of Montreal public re-ions department puts out a help-l free guide classifying restau-nts by the nationality of their isine and by price—less than $4, , $8, or more per person. There's ning Out in Montreal (Montreal ar, $2.95) as well as a fairly com-ete listing in Current Events/ tualités-Montreal (75¢. Town blishers, 1010 St. Catherine St. est, Montreal, Que., H3B 3R3). cornered four or five knowledge-le Montrealers and got them to ake check marks and I tried me. Here are those we noticed.

Everybody checked Les Filles Du Roy. It's on the oldest street in one of the oldest houses of Montreal, a series of rooms, old wooden tables, waitresses in the 17th century dress of the King's Daughters, convent-reared girls sent out as brides to French-Canadian pioneers. On the theory that it's best to eat native, we tried to order French-Canadian tourtiére (pork pie), pattes de cochon (pig's feet), fèves au lard (broad beans). All but the fèves had already been eaten up. The food was good but not exciting, but the service and the atmosphere made up for it.

Le St. Amable is also in old Montreal, through a tiny door in a tiny street just off the Place Jacques Cartier. The place is tiny too—best to make reservations—but the cuisine is superb. Pheasant that isn't an affectation, odd combinations like cucumber stuffed with salmon mousse, interesting vegetables. They tend to look askance at children, even well-behaved ones whose gourmet credentials (had they asked) are reasonably in order.

Don't eat anything but fish at Desjardins. If the fish is Canadian—Gaspé salmon, for instance or Arctic char—even better. The place is pleasant, reasonable, undemanding. But the fish is good.

There's a nice cold lunch plate at La Portage, in the Hotel Bonaventure. Eat it perhaps after a stroll along the roof top stream.

Places I didn't try, but would like to: A l'Amphitryon, new in an old house. Dining Out says both food and decor are "excellent." A la Catalogne, French cuisine in the old city, ending with a maple mousse. The Beaver Club in the Queen Elizabeth hotel, named for a club that has been in existence since fur-trapping days, with the trappings of the frontier, and nice attention to detail. Seafood at the Bluenose Inn. Snails in fourteen ways at l'Escargot. Left Bank sorts of lunches at the Club des Moustachus, A la Crêpe Bretonne, or Chez Grand'mère. Late suppers (well, at least until 11) at Chez Martin. A steak at Gibby's in the restored Youville Stables. Once, maybe, through the Festin du Gouverneur at the Old Fort on Île Sainte-Hélène, where there's programmed gaiety most nights. A sampling from the wine cellars of the government-run Hélène-de-Champlain, reputed to be the best in North America. Bistro-style service and food said to be superb at Les Halles. Provincial France, Chez la Mère Michel. And why didn't I get just a little out of the city to Chez Bardet, the Auberge Handfield, or La Saulaie, lauded in places like Gourmet magazine?

Shopping: Canada is an important part of the British Commonwealth—which means that British products from all over the world can be found here in abundance, and often less expensively than elsewhere. Crown Derby, Waterford glass, or Irish linen, it's there. Canada is also the home of the Hudson's Bay Company, whose striped blankets once were traded for beaver pelts. They're still being sold, edges ticked in black to show how many pelts each is worth.

Craft life is active and interesting. The most original work I saw was in the shop of the Canadian Guild of Crafts, 2025 Peel Street. It also had a first-class collection of Eskimo art for sale.

Typical products of the country tend to be gastronomic, and so well-known that the city map

Do you need an interior designer?

How do you find one? How do you work with one? What can one do for you?

To a lot of people, the world of the interior designer is one of esoteric mystery. A person who specializes in the insides of buildings—what does he do? These days, interior design is no longer just a matter of rearranging the furniture. In fact, interior designers do for the inside roughly what the architect—the exterior designer—does for the building itself: They fit it to the needs and wishes of the people who live there. They use experience and training to make it beautiful as well as functional.

There comes a time when just about anyone who is going to make a substantial investment in furnishing or decorating a house could benefit from the services of an interior designer. To know what you like in decorating often isn't enough. The right interior designer can save you time, can bring to your attention products, fabrics, furniture, ideas you might not otherwise have thought of, or to which you might not have had access. As middle man between you and the source of your new furnishings he can handle details and expedite delivery. Certainly it makes sense to consider the use of a designer if you are contemplating a big project—but there is really no bottom limit to the size of the project, if you feel you could benefit from a designer's services. Designers do rooms or pieces of rooms as well as buildings. There is probably a designer for just about anything you might want to do. For instance, if you intend to buy just one really good sofa for the next ten or fifteen years, a designer might save you from an expensive mistake—and the process of consulting one isn't difficult.

Where do you find one? There are always the Yellow Pages—and that's not a bad idea for starters. Friends, good retail stores, magazines, manufacturers of furniture you admire are other possible sources of information. Some 12,000 interior designers belong to the largest professional organization, the American Society of Interior Designers. Known as ASID, it was formed just this January by a merger between the American Institute of Interior Designers and the National Society of Interior Designers. One of its functions is to provide lists of members, by area. Write to the national headquarters, 730 Fifth Ave., New York, N.Y. 10019.

The members of the ASID all have met certain minimum standards for education, for experience, and for professional practices—standards that the organization will try to tighten every year. And members subscribe to a court-tested code of ethics designed to protect the client—you—and the profession. Reputable designers expect clients to ask for examples of their work and for credit and experience references.

Once you've found a designer, or found several, how do you pick the one whose work will please your taste? Partly by his previous work, and partly—because many designers are very versatile—by something as simple as chemistry: Do you like him or her? If you can't make him understand you in the first twenty minutes, perhaps you should look further. The initial interview, during which you try to come to a working arrangement, is generally without cost to you, though you should ask whether there will be a fee when you call.

How can you make the designer understand? He'll ask questions, but you should be prepared to be quite explicit and quite communicative. What is the project? What are the limitations in time, money, materials? What do you like? How do you plan to use the space? Do you live casually, actively, serenely, energetically? What do you dislike? What has to be incorporated; where does the designer have a free hand? All are important.

If you get along and you decide to work together, what can a designer do? Whatever you want him to. You might want an hour's or a day's consultation. He might help you to the point of specifying exactly what you want and naming the sources, while you do the shopping. Or he can give you renderings, and swatches, and samples for approval, in your own house if you choose, while you take charge of the execution. Or he can do everything, while you okay every step. You and the designer pick the method that suits you both best, usually at the initial interview.

The fee the designer charges will reflect the size of the project and the amount of time he is like to spend, and he will give you estimate ahead of time. Designe may also work for salaries, co missions, through sale of ret merchandise, or—a fairly n possibility for large steady clie —for retainers. A reputable d signer will be glad to tell you e actly how his fee is set.

Interior design, as a professio has come a long way since the da when it was the province of othe wise-unoccupied friends with knack for making rooms look pr ty. Today, designers may be e pected to know everything fro basic electrical wiring and buildi stress patterns to the proper mai tenance of a variety of synthe fabrics, the quirks in the new kinetic art forms, or the findings the latest environmental stud More and more, they work close with architects to create interi environments that can be mo than just rooms.

Among the professional pr grams sponsored by the Americ Society of Interior Designers a design competitions, awards giv for environmental improveme through design, fellowships f teachers of design, research faci ties, expert assistance in restorati and preservation for civic and h toric organizations, and—perha the most important goal—a natio wide campaign for legal qualific tions for designers.

ASID would like to see stat issue licenses for interior desig just as states license architects doctors or teachers or engineers. the meantime, through the N tional Council on Interior Desi Qualification (formed with seve other professional groups), it offe a tough technical exam to anyo who wants to take it. Those w pass are well-qualified to call the selves professional designers.

Through the Foundation f Interior Design Education a Research (FIDER), establish with the Interior Design Educat Council, ASID offers a volunta provisional accreditation plan f schools of interior design in c leges and junior colleges, to gu antee a certain standard of prof sional training to the more th 6,000 students now enrolled design programs.

It's all part of a continuing eff to upgrade standards of inter design. The object has been make finding your interior designr easier and safer. ■

A NEW LOOK FOR AMERICAN MAN-MADE LANDSCAPES

Exciting ideas and designs showing how you can help add to the beauty of your community

By Caroline Seebohm

In Portsmouth, N.H., Arco gas station owner Louis Dow has surrounded his pumps with brick walls. A 20-foot internally lit sign has been replaced with a small block print sign. The new brick walls hide the pumps, and Mr. Dow has also installed planters and new discreet lighting.

In Bellows Falls, Vt., a visual master plan to change the traffic-congested square area into a pretty, tree-shaded, pedestrian-oriented shopping area has been funded through the Vermont Natural Resources Council, and a local townscape improvement committee is now campaigning for federal funds to do the project.

In Exeter, N.H., businessman Donald Robie has bought up some old buildings at the entrance to the town and is restoring them to their original character with appropriate building materials and small wooden signs. The town has working drawings for a new Town Hall Common that connects the bandstand back to the handsome Georgian Town Hall.

In Billerica, Mass., Billerica House of Correction prison officers, inspired by a slide show on murals, are planning a project for prisoners to paint murals on the walls of their prison.

At the gateway to Harvard University, a focus of bright color has been provided by the planting of row of crimson-leaved barberry enclosing a mound of red salvia and on one side, a weeping purpl beech—all done by volunteers a a "plant-in."

The driving force behind thes dramatic efforts to transform th visual environment is Ronald Le Fleming, founder and director o Vision, Inc., a nonprofit publi foundation dedicated to the con servation of visual quality i America.

"We want to make people mor visually sensitive to where the live," he says. "We believe Ameri cans can develop more feeling fo townscape—the relationship be tween buildings in a street, th rhythms of chimneys, roofs spaces, the textures and colors tha

Tribute to an American patriot

The State of Maryland's leading citizen during the American Revolution and for many years after it was undoubtedly Charles Carroll of Carrollton. He was the last surviving signer of the Declaration of Independence, reputedly the richest man in America at the time, and unquestionably one of the foremost figures in American history. Yet, except by historians, he seems to be remembered more for his money than what he did for his country. And he did a great deal. He was a member from the Maryland Delegation to the Continental Congress, a member of the Maryland Revolutionary Convention, a member of the Maryland Committee of Correspondence, a delegate to the 2nd Continental Congress, and on August 2, 1776, he signed the Declaration of Independence. He also helped to found the American Colonization Society, the Bank of North America, the C & O Canal Company, and the B & O Railroad Company (he laid the cornerstone).

As a long overdue tribute to this canny, talented, and patriotic man, The Baltimore Museum of Art, in conjunction with the Maryland Historical Society and the Peale Museum, is presenting a major exhibition running from September 30 to December 1 of this year. The exhibit will consist of silver, porcelain, furniture, memorabilia, documents, manuscripts, and portraits of Carroll and his family who were immortalized by some thirty painters including Sir Joshua Reynolds, Gilbert Stuart, and Thomas Sully. The Carrolls obviously did not give their custom to the itinerant painters of the day Among the lenders to the exhib tion are Queen Elizabeth II, th 8th Duke of Wellington, and th Metropolitan Museum of Ar These are arbiters of taste, so is a very worthwhile show.

make up a whole. It is vital to preserve our townscapes, with their fine examples of architecture and craftsmanship, because they are our landline to the ordered harmony of the past. Also, we want to restore 'a sense of turf,' which people feel protective about or responsible for."

When you next go out into town or into the countryside, start looking, really looking, with fresh eyes, at the man-made environment. No, not the beautiful green trees, the well-tilled fields, the forested slopes—the natural landscape that we have been responding to and trying to protect from encroaching civilization—but the buildings, the road signs, the lighting, the billboards, the utility wires. Notice how they relate to their surroundings. You will be amazed!

"People are concerned about other kinds of pollution—water, air, noise—but what about visual pollution?" asks Mr. Fleming. "Some time ago I went to Saratoga, N.Y., for a weekend's racing. I'd read all about Saratoga. I knew it was a great 19th-century watering place with an elegant main street, beautiful hotels, filigree gingerbread architecture, and magnificent elm trees. Well, when I arrived, it had all gone. The Grand Union Hotel, gone—replaced by the Grand Union Shopping Center. Even the elm trees were stumps. I felt an enormous sense of personal loss. And I found out, too, that some of it could have been saved—that there were other choices along the way."

Vision, Inc. is trying to see that such a loss is never repeated. The organization consists of Noré Winter, chief townscape designer, James F. Hunnewell Jr., designer, and a handful of dedicated architects and historians, all working out of Mr. Fleming's house in Cambridge, Mass. They are supported by various sources such as the Rockefeller Family Fund, National Endowment for the Arts and Humanities, Audubon Society, and America the Beautiful Fund, as well as local organizations such as Chambers of Commerce and town governments.

Mr. Fleming has found that by personally approaching the heads of corporations such as Exxon, McDonalds, Holiday Inn, and other national franchises, and expressing the growing popular concern for visual quality, it is possible to encourage managements to redesign, remove, reduce, conceal, or renovate standard corporate installations. Atlantic Richfield cooperated in Portsmouth, N.H., for instance, and paid for gas station improvements, and the American Petroleum Institute is showing interest in a Vision proposal to upgrade the visual quality of a few selected towns that are celebrating the Bicentennial by means of redesigning, landscaping, and relighting their gas stations.

Vision can also advise about new gas station design. For instance, a new commission has been set up on Cape Cod to organize a nine-town historic district along the old King's Highway, Route 6A, from Eastham to Sandwich. The members of the commission are already being besieged by oil companies wanting to put stations along this route, and they have no criteria for judging the oil companies' requests. So Mr. Fleming has sent them pictures of good-looking gas stations and signs as guidelines for the commission.

In the cities and towns of America, Vision has also been very successful. In Portsmouth, for instance, a magnificent old city with a rich collection of 18th- and 19th-century architecture, they have completed design work for a Visual Environment Plan, jointly sponsored by the local business community and private foundations. Vision's team has made recommendations for restoring old façades, reorganizing and designing public and private signs, planting trees, building recreation areas, beautifying parking lots, and improving lighting.

The team presented its visual guidelines to the people of Portsmouth at what was called a "design clinic," which encourages the financial community to express some commitment to the project right from the start, and brings the townspeople and Vision together. At this first clinic ever held, the businessmen, naturally, asked some hard questions: "What if I'm the only one to agree to the new plan?" "I've just installed a new store sign. Must it be taken down?" "Is the city going to help?" But basically, they sensed the vision Decorating a home will never be this easy again.

Remember your doll house? It was a dream world where everything was possible. And it wasn't important that the draperies didn't match the rugs. Or that the tiny rocking chair didn't go with the miniature dressing table.

But today your doll house is gone. Your childhood dreams have become realities. And making a decorating mistake could be very expensive.

Still, a little girl's dream never dies. And at your Ethan Allen Gallery we respect the little girl that lives on in every woman. That's why we make decorating a home as uncomplicated as possible.

Which is why you'll find that we have no salesmen. Only expert Home Planners who are trained to help you avoid making costly decorating mistakes. And all of the furniture that you see is expertly arranged in beautifully decorated rooms. So our Home Planners can give you a better idea of how the sofa or desk or lamp you fall in love with in the Gallery will work with the furniture you have at home.

And our Home Planners can help you choose from the wide selection of draperies, carpets, upholstery and wallpaper found in the Home Fashion Center. And it's quite a convenience—like having many different stores under one roof.

And finally, when you visit our Gallery, we will give you the new Ethan Allen Treasury of American Traditional Interiors. Its 408 pages show the vast Ethan Allen collection and hundreds of full color decorating ideas. You can get it free (no purchase required) at our Gallery or by sending $7.50 to Box 1066, Danbury, Connecticut 06810.

So visit our Ethan Allen Gallery. And with the help of our trained Home Planners you'll be able to make a little girl's dream come true.

(In high or low humidity areas, actual savings may be more or less.)

It sounds too good to be true, but it is true. Every Philco Cold Guard Refrigerator uses less electricity than comparable models from any manufacturer listed in the April 1975 AHAM Directory, with their electric anti-condensation heaters on at least 50% of the time. So you'll save money. That's because only Philco refrigerators were actually re-engineered to give you all three of these important energy saving features: double cavity Uni-Wall Liner with no seams or joints (patented process), precision placement of insulation, completely non-electric anti-condensation system.

Actual savings may vary depending upon climatic conditions, individual usage and electric rate changes. Savings shown are based on estimated residential electricity rates and consumption.

A LIMITED WARRANTY TO CONSUMERS ★ Good Housekeeping PROMISES REPLACEMENT OR REFUND IF DEFECTIVE

Savings, based on rates in effect from May through August 1975, represent maximum economies available on current performance of Cold Guard Model RD19F8 Code 120 compared with the energy consumption of comparable size and type models of three leading brands as listed in the April 1975 Directory of Certified Refrigerators and Freezers published by the Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers (AHAM). Comparisons show that Model RD19F8 uses 31% to 45% less electricity — comparisons for competitive models with anti-condensation heaters are based on average maximum/minimum energy consumption.

Donald Dawkins rejects pulleys 1/1000th-inch out of round. After all, who wants a grandfather clock that gains two minutes every month?

Dawkins, master machinist, supervises the production of every one of the 166 metal parts made on this machine for a Herschede grandfather clock.

He knows the peculiar ways of machining brass and steel, as a chef knows the limits of butter and flour.

In an age of mass-produced mediocrity, Dawkins is something of a rarity. He insists upon, and gets, perfection from the machinists who tend lathes under his demanding eye.

The two words he hates most are "good enough". Clockmaking is no profession for the slovenly.

Herschede is the only American clockmaker manufacturing movements for grandfather clocks. Others import cheap movements from abroad. We trust Don Dawkins because we know how meticulous his standards are.

Herschede

You can see all of the meticulously crafted Herschede clocks, from $4400 on down, by sending 50 cents for a color catalog to the Herschede Hall Clock Company, Starkville, Mississippi 39759. A division of Arnold Industries.

model is about $11.95. Table model about $13.95 or, with vacuum clamp, about $15.95. At housewares departments and stores across the country.

Frosting for the table without the fuss afterward of laundering —scalloped monogrammed place mats of clear acrylic. The three-initial monogram is a classic print with center initial larger and bolder than other two. 20 by 14 inches each. Set of four (#55-P4DT) is $31.15 from The Horchow Collection.

Go fish—A big fish-shaped bowl that makes a witty fishbowl, terrarium, bouillabaisse server, or still life when filled with shells. $20 plus postage (4 lbs.). from Hutzler's.

Sterling silver salt and pepper shakers that are reproductions of the "sand" shakers used by Washington at Mount Vernon are utterly modern with unadorned square bases, round necks and caps. 1⅝ inches high. The pair is $51 gift-wrapped. From Shreve, Crump & Low.

A New Year's resolution for fresh fruit juice—A good-looking electric citrus juicer—sleek, compact, and bright white—has two plastic reamers, one large for grapefruit, another small for lemons and limes. With slotted strainer, spout. All juicing parts dishwasher-safe. "Juice-O-Matic" by Rival is about $21.95 (excluding postage) at housewares departments and stores across the country.

A decorative rattan bedtray deliberately toasted to various shades of brown is a natural for winter breakfasts in bed. It looks like a tortoise crossed with a basket and is a handsome hybrid indeed. $22.50 from Sakowitz. The catalogue is $1, which is refundable with first order.

A miniature baker's rack in white-painted wrought iron just 10 by 16 inches in area and 52 inches high makes a marvelous focal spot for plants and collectables. $66.25 from Higbee's (Gift Dept.).

To wrap a bed, sheets in pretty pastel candy stripes. "Holiday Stripe," of no-iron cotton and polyester. We particularly liked the blues-on-white (French blue and baby blue, with baby blue cuff) and pinks-on-white (two rosy pinks, the lighter repeated on the cuff) combinations. Also in avocado and lime, gold and yellow, and bright red and blue, all on white. By Thomaston Mills. Twin-sized sheet is about $4, full-sized about $5, and pillowcases about $- per pair at Abraham & Straus.

A new pattern for the bath towels inspired by an American Indian blanket—beige with a zig zag of sun yellow, tans, and browns, with short fringe on the top and bottom. Great for a natural-toned or masculine bath or the beach. Called "Tahoe," all cotton. Bath, $3 each; hand, $2 each; and washcloth, $1 each (excluding postage). By Dundee Mills. At The Emporium.

If authentic American Colonial is your decorating spirit, there are hundreds of Williamsburg reproductions in the beautiful reference book-catalogue of the Craft House at Colonial Williamsburg. Lavish for $2.95, it's full of furniture, fabrics, wall coverings, accessories, tableware, presents, plus color samples of Williamsburg paints. Irresistible bird prints, reproductions of 18th-century ones by Mark Catesby, have a subtle primitive charm. Each 18 by 24 inches with margins. Unframed, $12.95 each or $24.45 per pair. Framed in black with gold-leaf trim, $38 each or $73 per pair.

THE SWISS MIX MASTER.

Most people think only a master chef can create an intriguing new cocktail or dessert. But the Swiss can easily make anybody a Master.

They've blended their great Swiss chocolate and succulent cherries into a most mixable liqueur. Imported Cheri-Suisse.

Try our recipes as a start. Then invent any number of pleasurable drinks and desserts on your own. The possibilities are as endless as your imagination.

1. CHERI-SUISSE FONDUE. In saucepan, melt 2 tbls. butter, 12 oz. semi-sweet chocolate. Blend ½ cup Cheri-Suisse. Keep warm over low heat. Dip fruit or cake squares, or use as ice cream topping.

2. STRAIGHT UP.

3. SUISSE TEQUILA. Shake with ice, 1 oz. Tequila, ¾ oz. Cheri-Suisse, 3 oz. milk. Pour into Old Fashioned glass over ice.

4. CHERI-SUISSE ROMANOFF. Drain jar (14-16 oz.) pitted dark cherries. Whip 1 cup heavy cream with 2 tbls. Cheri-Suisse. Fold into 1 pt. softened vanilla ice cream. Fold in cherries and 2 more tbls. Cheri-Suisse. Serves 8.

5. CHERI-SUISSE MIST. Pour 2 oz. Cheri-Suisse over crushed ice in champagne glass. Serve with short straws.

Heaven for the chocolate hound, a "chocolate" set of a French Pilleruyt porcelain-soufflé mold, four ramekins, cake tester, grater, and "chocolate" booklet. $15 plus postage (4 lbs. 5 oz.). Both from The Broadway.

The menagerie cast-iron pot rack is a handmade reproduction of a 17th-century Dutch Crown design with cast iron silhouettes of a rooster, bear, deer, and panther. Four pot-hanging hooks (extra hooks to order). About 12 inches in diameter, 12 inches high, it's $62 including insurance; without animal silhouettes, $37. Allow one month delivery. By blacksmith Stephen W. Parker. Illustrated catalogue $1.

Easy sew-it-yourself kits for economical outdoor gear are the answer for skiers, campers, or even if you're interested only in making lightweight luggage, down pillows, or comforters. Frostline makes kits for these and every conceivable sewable "outdoor" thing—sleeping bags, pack and bike bags, children's clothes, even tents! Each kit includes whatever is necessary—precut fabric pieces (no fussing with cutting out pattern), goose down in easy-stuffing packets, zipper, knitted cuffs, grommets with grommet-setting tool if need be, even thread. Each step in construction is illustrated. Free catalogue.

Charming new needlepoint designs by Erica Wilson make marvelous presents to give or make to give. Magazine racks come in three designs—Betsy Ross Mouse, Grandpa Mouse reading his newspaper, and a waterfront sailboat scene. Each with yarns is $33.50; design-it-yourself rack without yarns is $19.50. A man's evening cummerbund bordered in black Ultrasuede with an Art Deco design to do in "silver," "gold," and black cotton thread (included), $51; design-it-yourself cummerbund without thread, $31. From Erica Wilson Needle Works.

For men, hard-working gift solutions

An inexpensive gift for businessmen is a pocket-sized, cordless rotary shaver. Designed for touch-ups, it runs on a penlight battery (included), is 4 inches tall, 2½ ounces. Replacement blade assembly about $1.50. "The Li'l Shaver" is $8.75 from Gifts For Men.

If it's a silvery tablesetting and good meat, why not silver-toned steak knives to match—"Beefeater" knives are each one-piece stainless steel; a set of six is about $6 of eight about $85. All by W.I Case & Sons Cutlery and availab at housewares departments ar stores across the country. Pric don't include postage.

Wishes come true—investment presents

Ring in the New Year with a grandfather clock you'll get pleasure from for years and years. There's something so delightfully tangible about time when you can see clockworks working, so all's-right-with-the-world to hear chimes every quarter hour. Pearl Clocks have Black Forest chain-wound, weight-driven movements, brass weight shells and pendulum bobs, and eight Westminster chime rods each. In oak, pine, pecan, and cherry, with handrubbed, distressed finishes. "The Old Bedford," for example, is American Colonial inspired with a bro arch pediment and finial on bonnet, arched door and bo overlay panels. 72 inches tal cherry veneer, about $300 no cluding shipping. For the nearest you write Pearl Clo P.O. Box 6290, Pearl, Miss. 39

A gift of music really "gather round and be merry," a Christmas present that can l lifetime is a precision-made pi A particularly good value is a K ball piano, and there's a wide ra of spinets, consoles, and gr pianos to choose from. For de nearest you write Kimball Pian Organ, P.O. Box 460, Jasper, 47546.

Perhaps the most fabulous p ent of all, a specially commissio reinterpretation in 18-karat gr gold of the 2nd-century bro "Flying Horse of Kansu" made such a stir at museums year. 11 inches long, 7¼ inc high, with hollow body and b solid legs. About $25,000. Sub to prior sale. From Sakowitz. ■ en (2½ to 3 lbs.) is $8.80 from Sakowitz. Allow 2 weeks' delivery time. After January 1st smoked sausage, country ribs, turkey, duck, and geese will also be available. For price list write Menuchah Farms SmokeHouse.

Travel finds! Easy-packing suitcases that are easy on clothes—Basically garment bags that zip up into easy-to-carry suitcases, these come in some of the subtlest vinyl colors we've seen. The underseater "CarryOn" holds one or two suits or dresses on your hangers, is about $55. The "CarryAll" holds four or five hangers' worth, plus shirts, blouses, and such, that you pack in the fold-up insert that goes in just before you zip up the bag; about $75. "SidePak" totebag, about $40. (Prices do not include shipping.) In blue, brown, white, or tan, each with a cushiony handle and webbing in a darker shade of the same color. From the new Travel Bureau line by Samsonite.

For someone who seems to have everything

The ultimate guest book must be a blank book with cork cover and pages (about sixty of them). It'd be equally smashing as a commonplace book, handwritten collection of poems, or an album for sepia photographs. 6½ by 5 inches, $36.75 from Sakowitz.

A leather letter portfolio, 9½ by 7 inches, from England that folds up to become a lap desk is $62. If you're at the end of your lasso a "10-gallon" wine jug. It's only 40 ounces in capacity but it's got a miniature ten-gallon hat for the chrome stopper. $22. Both from Sakowitz.

A pewter platter inscribed with The Declaration of Independence, including signatures, 15 inches in diameter, by Towle, is $60 plus postage (5 lbs.) from Jordan Marsh.

Great for car picnics at football games and the like, four individual placesetting trays sectioned off for sandwiches, potato chips, salad, dessert, what have you. Each 15-by-12-inch tray has its own plastic utensils, glass (and a "hole" to hold it steady), cover. Trays stack and strap for traveling. "Pac-A-Pic" is $35 plus postage (12 lbs.) from Abercrombie & Fitch (9th floor).

If you love smooth, expressive handwriting, you'll love Mont Blanc fountain pens. Two distinctive models—especially generous in size—that exude European good looks are the "Diplomat 149" marks where they are: maple sugar, cider, blueberries, homemade bread, cheese, chocolate.

More information: Montreal could never be called stingy with its tourist information. Write to any of the principal tourist bureaus and you will be inundated.

Department of Public Relations, City of Montreal, City Hall, Montreal, Canada.

The Tourist Information Division, Department of Tourism, Hunting and Fishing, Parliament Bldgs., Quebec, Can. G1A 1R4 (or, 2, place Ville-Marie, Montreal).

How to get there: Air Canada, Allegheny, Delta, Eastern, Nordair, and C.P. Air all fly in to Montreal. Pilgrim, a commuter airliner based in Connecticut, has just initiated non-stop service.

Amtrak has one-train-a-day service from New York City. From other parts of the U.S., make connections with Canadian National or Canadian Pacific Railways.

You can get there by Greyhound bus.

The "Lowell Thomas Discoverer," a Midwest Cruises ship, sails every other Saturday, May through September, from Chicago up Lake Michigan, through the Mackinac Straits, Lakes Erie and Ontario, and down the St. Lawrence Seaway to Montreal, stopping along the way. Alternate Saturday sailings from Montreal. Midwest Cruises, 6101 North Keystone, Indianapolis, Ind. 46220.

If you are driving, the main route north is the Northway, Interstate 87 through the Adirondack Mountains of New York State. Montreal is just 25 miles north of the New York border, 385 miles from New York City.

The border crossing is perfunctory—we had proof-of-citizenship with us, but it was never requested—and the customs agents are pleasant. Changing money is rarely a problem. Summer temperatures are in the 70s; in January it's 10 to 23 degrees, and there is almost always snow.

"It is vital to preserve our townscapes, our landline to the ordered harmony of the past" and appreciated it.

"Portsmouth has just had its 350th anniversary, when more people than ever came to this city," says City Planning Director A. Robert Thorenson. "I think we ought to make the effort and show off the best points we have." Other local support came from leading businessmen such as Harold and Sam Jarvis, owners of Jarvis restaurant. They have replaced a large marquee with a small gold-lettered sign and put up several flower boxes. Three wrought-iron pieces from the 19th century were discovered under the marquee.

"To make the area attractive, you have to be attractive yourself," says Harold Jarvis. "I finally realized how garish that 1930s' façade looked after examining a picture of what the building looked like in 1895. I was amazed at how many people went out of their way to compliment me on the new look," he adds. Fired by the Vision people's enthusiasm, the people of Portsmouth are rediscovering the beauty and harmony of their town and are on their way to creating a new sense of identity, combining past and present, in a prospering community. "I've never seen the town look this way before," is what you hear these days in Portsmouth.

Similar projects have been initiated in Exeter, N.H., and Bellows Falls, Vt., where the Vermont Natural Resources Council, a statewide conservation organization, is sponsoring demonstration townscape conservation projects. Seward Weber, its executive director, says, "It's the first time that a conservation organization like ours, which has historically been occupied with the interests of the natural environment, is stepping into a new role—conservation of the man-made environment—which is just as important." Vision is also working on projects for York, Maine, Oyster Bay and Great Neck, N.Y., Warren, R.I. and as far across the country as Oregon and Arizona.

The Bicentennial is now upon us, and much attention is being paid to the restoration of old buildings, the marking of historic sites, and the celebration of the role of early towns. This commemoration is a perfect opportunity to bring in new visual standards for the man-made environment. "The visual environment is really an indicator of the care in society," says Mr. Fleming. "It's demonstrating the act of love. And if you look at it that way, it takes on much greater importance. If you begin to plant trees, to enhance the places where people live, you're giving them a sense of hope—flowers and trees are evidence that a society cares. If you can get people involved with their land and their houses, the strength from that caring will help them in the larger struggles. The good will is there waiting to be harvested."

What you can do to help improve the visual quality around you

1. Become more visually sensitive to your surroundings. Notice the position of roadside and town signs. Do they conceal an old building? Notice parking lots or gas stations. Could flowers be planted there? Might a row of trees or a low wall improve them? Look at the lighting. Could less neon and more soft floodlighting improve the look of your town at night?
2. Find out whether your town or city has a Design Review Board—a local panel that sets up criteria for scale, use of materials, siting, signing, landscaping, and lighting. About 3,000 cities and towns—a small number, but growing rapidly—now have some form of design review. Has yours?
3. Encourage your community to conserve the beauty of the townscape. Have a visual consciousness-raising session. Local pressure can instigate Visual Environment Projects such as the one in Portsmouth, or visual consultations such as that in York, Me. These are examples of what can be done.
4. Have a "plant-in" as Ronald Lee Fleming did in Cambridge or Lady Bird Johnson did in Washington. Find an ugly area and plant daffodils. The transformation will delight everyone and encourage more ideas—and the daffodils return each year!
5. Write to Ronald Lee Fleming at Vision, Inc., 2 Hubbard Park, Cambridge, Mass. 02138, for advice. He and his staff will be happy to suggest methods to enhance visual quality and prevent visual pollution in your area. (The team has a slide show, with "before" and "after" examples of design review, which travels all over the country, and could come to your town.) ■

When a set of this bronze cutlery came in for photography, everyone who saw it felt as I did, that its warmth and understated lustre looked classical and infinitely more expensive than the actual price"

ıd then Sheila Black, well-respected journalist for 20 years and Home Editor of the influential p peoples' paper The Times, went on to tell her readers that she had bought some place-settings for herself. ke 10,000 other British people, she had fallen under the irresistible spell of this exquisite solid bronze cutlery.

Bronze is one of the earliest and most beautiful alloys known to Man. durable is it that bronze swords, shrines and statues have been found in ins of cities that were old two thousand years before Christ – and of such auty and craftsmanship that could only be the result of yet another ousand years of experience. In the West, the art of bronze is almost dead. ıe costs are too high . . . the craftsmen are few. This is true of almost every ıntry in the world except one. And that country is Thailand. Here, her st ancient ethnic art of working in bronze not only survives, but flourishes. ıd it is in Thailand, with the most beautiful cutlery and tableware we offer e, that a new bronze age has dawned.

AUTY AND UTILITY – THESE ARE THE NIQUE QUALITIES OF BRONZE

l the tableware and cutlery we offer here is hand cast solid onze. This means NO plating to wear thin or wear rough. In fact the knives will take a sharper edge than ıinless steel. But it is for its exquisite and unique beauty at you would wish to own this lovely tableware – a warm auty that comes from its delicately balanced proportions constituent metals. Bronze has increased in value in leaps ıd bounds over the past ten years. For this reason alone in ese inflationary times, this solid bronzeware must be an vestment. But the main increase must come from the trinsic craftsmanship involved. We already know that such tlery would cost several times more if produced in Europe equally skilled craftsmen. We are direct importers. For is reason and because we offer it direct to you – with NO holesale or retail profits and low overheads, we are able to fer a unique one-placesetting-a-month delivery plan with a price increase pledge made possible only by careful ng term production planning.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THIS THREE POINT 'NO INCREASE' PLAN

1. Examine one full five piece place-setting in your own home before finally making up your mind.
2. Collect as many more place-settings as you wish at the rate of one a month without financial strain and with our guarantee that we will NOT increase the price.

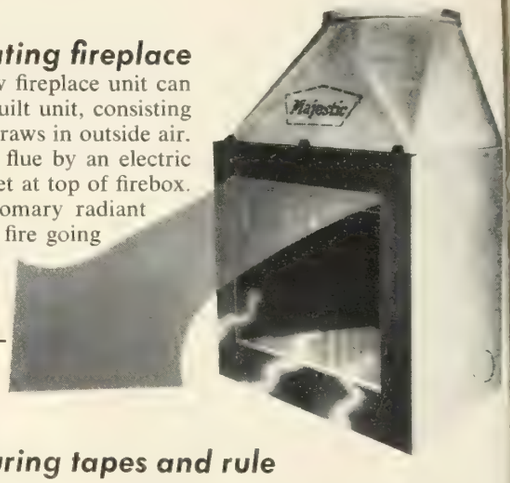
HOME IMPROVEMENT IDEAS FOR

The House Fixer

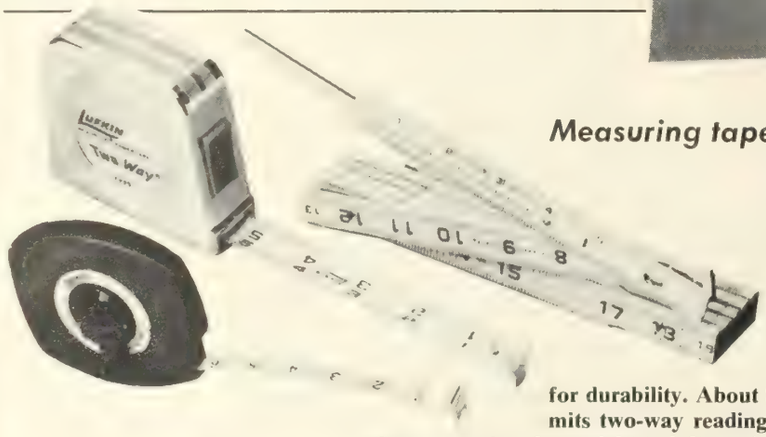
By Will Morris

New heat-circulating fireplace

Instead of wasting heat by sending it up the chimney, this new fireplace unit can project warmed air into a room. The wood-burning, factory-built unit, consisting of a triple walled steel firebox and flue, has an air intake that draws in outside air. With the fireplace lighted, air is circulated around firebox and flue by an electric blower fan, warmed, and expelled into the room via an air outlet at top of firebox. With the warm-air outlet closed, the fireplace produces customary radiant heat from the fireplace. Opened by a pull chain, and with the fire going and blower fan on, the fireplace delivers warm-air heat. By installing ducts and grilles the heat can be circulated to adjoining rooms as well. The Majestic Co., Huntington, Ind. 46750.



Measuring tapes and rule

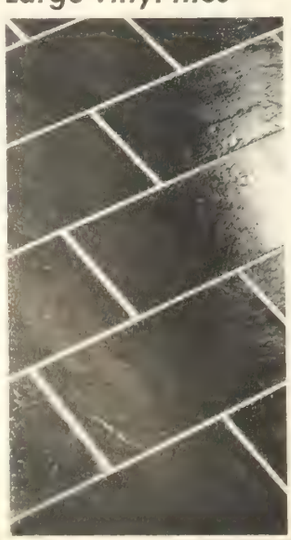


Essential for any accurate do-it-yourself work is a good measuring tape or rule. These three fill any need. The 6-foot wood rule, top, has a narrow 6-inch brass extension that pulls out. It will take measurements in tight areas the wider rule can't reach. The wood rule has its markings embedded in the wood with a clear epoxy coating for durability. About $6. The 25-foot steel tape, center, permits two-way reading of measurements—from left to right along one edge, from right to left on the other. This tape has a locking device to hold it open at any place; it glides back into the chrome case when released. About $9. A 100-foot-long steel tape, bottom, is bright yellow in a plastic case. An end hook holds it open while you are measuring; a foldaway handle permits easy rewinding. About $8. Lufkin, Box 728, Apex, N.C. 27502.

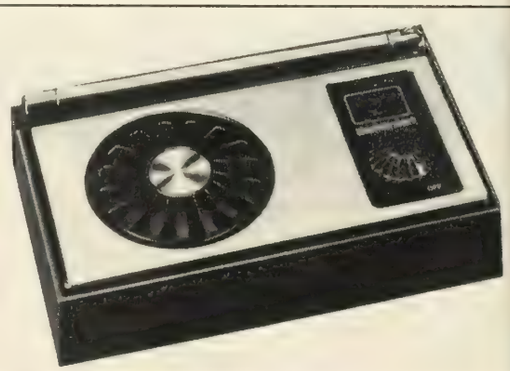
Wallpaper remover

To take off old wallpaper more easily, a new stripper, Dif, combines a wetting agent and solvents with enzyme action. The solution tends to soften or liquefy inks in a paper, keeps the paper wetter longer and thus permits the enzymes to dissolve the paste holding the paper. To use it, a bottle of the stripper is mixed with a 2-gallon bucket of hot tap water (140° F) and an accompanying packet of powder. It is applied with sponges or sponge mops or a garden pressure sprayer. To remove washable, vinyl, foil-laminated or painted papers, sandpaper or abrade them first. A 1-pint-6-ounce bottle, sufficient for a 24-by-15-foot room, is $3.49. A booklet How to Remove Old Wallpaper is free from the manufacturer, William Zinsser & Co., Inc., 39 Belmont Drive, Somerset, N.J. 08873.

Large vinyl tiles



Tiles in 18-by-12-inch rectangles and 18-inch squares are solid vinyl in a Barre slate pattern. Copied from real slate, they have its figuration and character. Unlike the square tiles, the rectangular shape can be laid in a variety of patterns, as brick can—random, basketweave, herringbone, ashlar—and comes in plum, blue, green, and red. Nonporous, they resist stains and grease and are fire resistant as well. $2 to $2.15 per square foot installed. Kentile Floors, 58 Second Ave., Brooklyn, N.Y. 11215.



Weather alert radio

A radio, equipped with a siren to warn you of possible hurricanes, tornadoes, threatening snow or thunderstorms, is new security equipment. Triggered by a signal from the local U.S. Weather Service transmitter, it sets off a siren to alert you, followed by a broadcast report on the emergency, and a follow-up siren blast. The radio, which can receive within 40 to 50 miles of a transmitter, gets continuous weather reports, is adaptable to boat or car. An antenna kit (optional) extends reception to 80 miles. The 3-by-5-by-1¼-inch unit has a 2¼-inch-high speaker, comes in a hard wearing styrene case, and is solid state. Paper? Paint?

Before you put the work into fixing up a room, shouldn't you take the time to choose the best wall covering?

You could come unglued putting up wallpaper.
Wallpaper's okay for some rooms. Except perhaps in the playroom where you'll have trouble removing the crayon marks from the walls. Or in the bathroom where there's the problem of peeling. (Of course, you can always glue it back.)

And when wallpaper tears you can patch it, if you can just find a piece to match. And then there's the problem of putting up wallpaper. To say nothing of what happens when you redecorate and try to take it down.

The thing that's wrong with painting is repainting.
Now, a freshly painted room looks great. But if you have an older home you've probably already noticed that paint does nothing to solve the problems in the walls. Cracks or lumps are just as prominent after you paint as they were before.

t? Or Masonite® paneling?

And the sooner you paint a room the sooner you'll ave to paint it again. If you're going to do it your-lf, be prepared to spend a lot of time to do it right.

emember, kids are hard on walls.

hey like to write on walls. And bounce balls off walls. nd leave handprints around windows and doors. So hy not give them walls that are as tough as the tough-st kid on the block.

That's the kind of toughness you'll find in Masonite rand hardboard paneling. And ou'll find a lot more.

he advantages of wood—ithout the imperfections.

Masonite brand paneling is nade from wood. And it gives ou the richly textured, three-limensional beauty of wood. ncluding woods that have ecome so rare they're almost navailable at any price. Mason-te hardboard insulates like vood too—against heat, cold nd noise. But unlike wood, Masonite brand paneling loesn't have knotholes, cracks r other imperfections.

You can finish a room once nd for all.

Once it's up, you're in great shape. Our hard Royalcote® inish takes a lot of punishment. Crayons wipe off. Footballs bounce off. And the timeless beauty of the look of wood never goes out of style.

You can put Masonite brand paneling up yourself, too. All you need are regular woodworking tools, and the ability to measure and cut straight.

No paneling can offer you as much as Masonite brand paneling.

There are over 60 different Masonite panel designs. Some have smooth, glossy finishes; some have textures. Some give you a subtle, warm background for a room. Others make a dramatic accent. There are traditional wood colors, and contemporary yellows, blues, greens and reds.

So you shouldn't have a problem finding exactly what you want.

Don't put up with ordinary walls. Put up Masonite brand paneling.

No other wall covering can add so much lasting beauty to your home. And your Masonite dealer can give you the information to help you put your Masonite brand paneling up yourself. You'll find him in the Yellow Pages, under paneling.

When you ask for Masonite paneling, make sure you get the Masonite brand.

A HOMEMADE HOLIDAY

GIVING OF YOURSELF

Parties, people, presents, plans.
November tumbles headlong toward the holidays.
Gifts to give. What? To whom?
The most thoughtful, the most joyous and rewarding thing is to give of your time and your talents.
This issue is full of people who love to do it, and know how.
Famous chefs who gave a wedding party for a colleague's daughter, page 96.
People who spend their time year-round in the kitchen, cooking for Christmas, page 89.
Hosts and hostesses who decorate in different ways for hospitality, page 100.
People who have discovered ways to entertain without effort, page 99.
Presents to buy, to grow, to make, page 110.
All are ways to approach winter celebrations with originality and excitement—and to save money while you're doing it.
It takes time to give of yourself. Sometimes it takes a lot of work. The person who receives your gift knows. But you, who expressed your thought with the work of your hands, who made it valuable beyond price, may receive even more.

For the doing has inspired in you the love that is the true spirit of Christmas.

The law of living is giving
The nature of nature is giving
The clouds are giving rain
Trees are giving fruit
Earth is giving grain
Sun is giving warmth
Moon and stars are giving light
With gifts of nature's giving, we are living
To complete the cycle of living and giving
Let us give from our mind, hands and heart
To the world

GIVING WITH A PERSONAL TOUCH

Parties and presents are best and most remembered when they come from your own heart and hands

FROM ME, TO YOU

The air has a nip and the nights are sharp with stars and family and friends are suddenly warm in your thoughts. The Spirit of Christmas possesses you. You want to go off to the kitchen to work with bowl and wooden spoon, hands and imagination, to make something that is a gift of yourself.

"I make classics like fruitcake," says Françoise Barton, "and then I'll make a surprise, something different every year." Most of her gifts are edible, because she is fascinated with food and with cooking, but she also makes cosmetics, moisturizing creams with lots of vitamin E, perfumes, and sachets. "It doesn't take that much time," she says. "It can't. I have three young children." She loves to do it, and she always makes more than she really plans to give because, when she and her husband are invited to holiday parties, she likes to take a gift along. In fact, she is so wrapped up in Christmas that she teaches it, gifts to give and ways to present them, in her kitchen in California. When all the presents are piled under the tree, Mrs. Barton believes, friends ought to be able to tell which come from her. These presented here, far left, are special. The ceramic pots were designed for her by sculptor Franklyn Phillips.

Terrine Maison, tied up with twine and gingham, a long laurel leaf on top. Honey Bourbon Fruitcake baked in balls for generous, aromatic slices. Green Apple Chutney in a ceramic crock with a big cork. Recipes on page 131.

ENTERTAINING FRIENDS INFORMALLY

The sun is shining everywhere.
You are at the weekend house—and you want to give an impromptu party.
You invite friends
as you run into them, and then you organize so well that the dinner seems effortless.

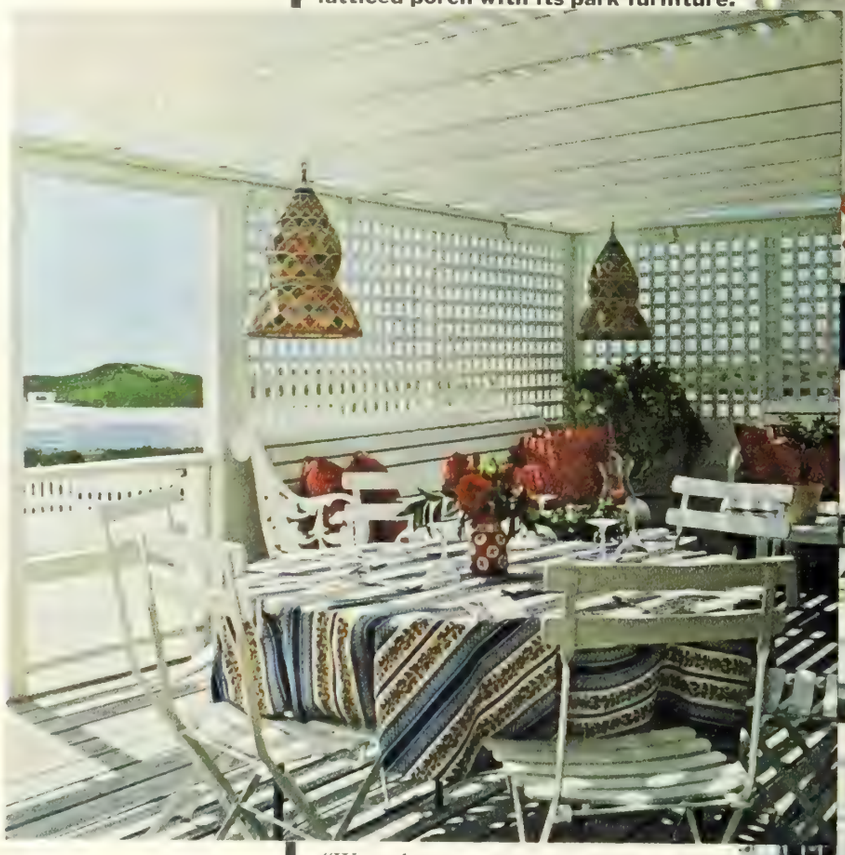
Through a picket fence from beach to house. Often lunch is served on the latticed porch with its park furniture.



"We ask guests to come at seven so they'll get here by seven thirty," says Audrey Wilder, wife of film writer-director Billy Wilder. "We prefer parties of fourteen or six. If it's fourteen, I cook simple dishes and serve buffet style. If it's six, I get more complicated." This party included songwriter Sammy Cahn and his wife Tita, playwright Leonard Gershe, a regular in the Wilder kitchen, Dick and Dolly Martin, neighbor Jack Lemmon, Dinah Shore, actress Marti Stevens, novelist Irwin Shaw, Mrs. Wilder's brother Stratton Young. She served one of her specialties, hot chicken mustard (recipe, page 131), with cold lamb, shrimp, and melons, herring, red potatoes, lentil and red onion salad, wurst salad, kasha. "For a good party, you have to be totally prepared," she says. In cap and apron, she cooks everything ahead, singing old jazz along with the radio as she works. "I'm a Scorpio, and they work very hard when they love the people they're with." Guests wear anything that is comfortable. Food is served from the kitchen bar. Afterward everyone may sing around a small piano, on wheels so it can be played anywhere.

HENRY CLARKE

"First you take a huge pot," says Françoise Barton, shown on the preceding page with one of the double handful of wooden spoons she keeps in a crock on her kitchen counter, ready to stir anything. A lot of her instructions start that way. This, for green apple chutney, continues: Slice 6 cups of unpeeled green pippin apples. Chop 2 lemons and 2 limes, rinds and all, 2 green tomatoes, 2 large onions, and 3 tamarinds (optional) into small pieces. Put them into the pot, with 4 cloves garlic, 2 cups cider vinegar, 1½ cups sugar, 4 teaspoons fresh grated gingerroot, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon crushed dried red pepper. Cook it all slowly for nearly 2 hours, until it is thick and mushy. The pots, above, that Mrs. Barton put her chutney in this year, and her Terrine Maison, were made by Franklyn Phillips. But frequently she will design what she wants, find a student ceramicist, and ask him to make 30 or 40 for her. For the balls of fruitcake, she prefers baskets and napkins.

As a beach house should be, the Wilders' is easy, practical, and bright, full of small pieces of their travels. Table, benches, and hutch bar came from the Paris flea market. Lamps are painted camel hide from Pakistan. Mrs. Wilder buys inexpensive wine glasses by the gross, to use with stacks of plain white plates, and glass bowls that let the colors of food show through. Her mother made the tablecloths. The roses on the table, left, are some she "stole" from Jack Lemmon's garden next door.

Guests scatter through the house, talking before dinner. "The food's getting cold and I'm getting hot," announces Mrs. Wilder. "I don't use placecards, I just let my guests mix."

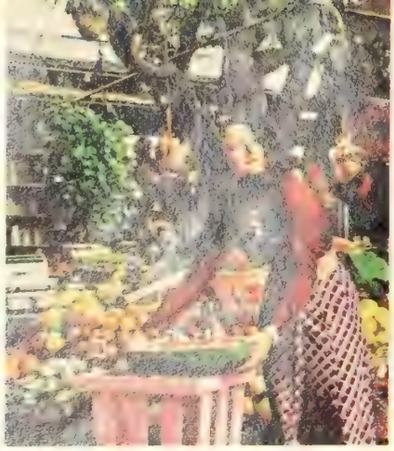
A very personal Christmas card

HANDMADE BY YOU

BEADLE

It doesn't take much. Some cardboard, some construction paper, a pair of scissors, a little paste, something from the sewing basket—and imagination. Robert Webb used a star fish on a Tiffany card. Sheldon Ginns made triangles into a bendable Christmas tree with paper fasteners. John Noblett used bonded onionskin paper to snip a pop-out tree. Then he cut "Merry Christmas" up and put it into an envelope. It took 2 minutes. Shirley Day spent an hour turning blue and yellow grosgrain ribbon and 4-ply paper into a woven star, gluing each strand with rubber cement. Mrs. Eugene Kennedy Jr. made construction paper into a house and a painted tree with a star, added yarn for a wreath. With a postcard, paint samples, Isabel Worsley made a snowscape, sent her heart. The crayoned tree is artist Anthony Tortora's. Veva Crozer's tree is gingham, felt, Bristol board. Martha Reid made felt dots against a blue sky. Jock Truman signed Tarot cards.

Giving with a personal touch



The space is tiny but the parties you want to give there are big—ten to twenty friends you really feel should know each other. You meet to share an evening and, perhaps, an unusual little feast.

FOR OLD AND NEW FRIENDS TO MEET the balls of fruitcake, she prefers baskets and napkins.

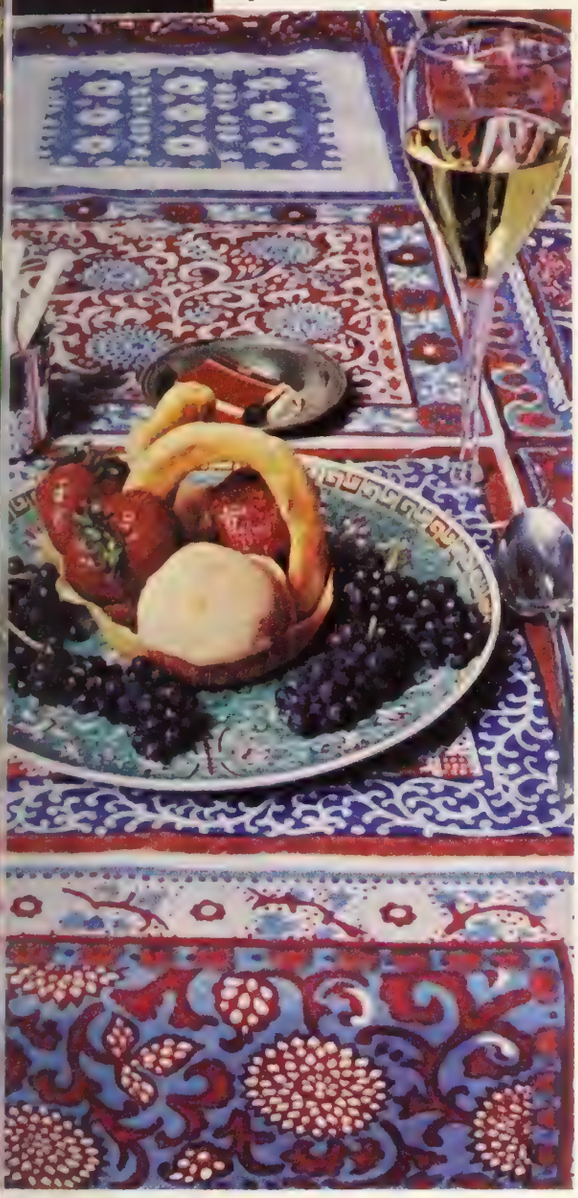
FANCIFUL BREAD FOR GUESTS

Who says it's only a roll? Not Judy Glazer, who turns dough into grapes, or pea pods, or sheaves of wheat—bread sculpture.

The recipe is Bolillo Dough (page 140). Method is painstaking and needs patience. But worth it. Work with a quarter at a time, refrigerating the rest as you work. Roll it out 1/8-inch thick, cut circles with #7 pastry tube and pinch them into balls. Cut rough 2-inch triangle, notch edges to make leaf. Cut 6-inch slivers for stems. Place leaf on greased baking sheet, twist 2 stems and lay on leaf. Arrange 32 balls below them in three layers to simulate grape cluster. Cover, let rise. Glaze, then bake at 375° for 30 minutes.

Guests at this party included producer Nicholas Dunne, critic Harold Clurman, Kiki and Anthony Kiser, screenwriter Juleen Compt John and Evans Frankenheimer, a Gil and Susan Shiva—some of them shown above, looking crowded and convivial.

The meal begins at the Los Angeles Farmers' Market, where film producer Bokara Legendre finds the freshest, prettiest fruit and the best possible ingredients for her Lamb and Fruit Tagine—Moroccan, to go with the African flavor of her apartment—and her Senegalese Soup (recipes are on page 131). A lot of preparation takes place on the dining room table because the kitchen isn't big enough. With the lamb goes pilaf, green salad with fresh basil, pita (that flat Middle Eastern bread with a pocket inside), feta, and Brie cheese. To eat it—"I'm very calculating about the people I ask to my parties," says Miss Legendre. "Only friends who I feel would interest one another. I make a great point of introducing them."



rt is lemon sherbet, put into pastry baskets with trawberries and surrounded with grapes. Service et—that's the lamb, above center—but seating nal, complete with placecards. When the guests vn around the batik-spread table they will find enegalese soup in their clear glass bowls.

LITTLE FEAST

Unusual Christmas cookies, cakes, cheese spreads, preserves, all the makings of a hospitable Christmas are marvelous gifts

FROM YOUR KITCHEN

"If you have to wrap it at all," says Mrs. Von Welanetz, "wrap it in clear celophane and tie it up with a pretty ribbon." She designed her own labels to accompany gifts, and frequently include recipes. Baskets and pots are part of the present.

Holidays are a year-round preoccupation for cookbook authors Paul and Diana von Welanetz. It started seven years ago when Mrs. von Welanetz gave up smoking. "I had to do something with my hands." Crafts evolved into cooking, then into teaching, and finally into a special winter course in producing edible presents. Their book, Gourmet Gifts, will be published next year. They have some favorite tricks to satisfy Mr. von Welanetz's demand—he's an artist—that the eye be feasted, too: French confiture jars or small white soufflé dishes are good for giving Christmas Pepper Jelly (recipes, page 131). Seal jams with paraffin, stretch wet parchment across top: when dry, you can write messages. Make things that need aging—like fruitcake or crocked fruit—or that freeze or keep. That way, by Christmas, your work is over. Above, a bookcaseful of gifts from the von Welanetz kitchen.

A FRIENDLY BUFFET

A favorite buffet choice of menu is an old French pot-au-feu, varied according to season and whim, served with its own broth in a separate dish, with condiments, and a selection of desserts. "If my cooking is a little spontaneously rustic—because I don't know how to do fancy dishes," she says, "I take particular care that it should be beautiful." She scours the market for interesting and unusual breads, far right, and she chooses cheese for shape as well as flavor. With pot-au-feu (recipe on page 131), a young Beaujolais goes well.

TO GIVE A GIFT OF SUMMER

Preserving the scents and tastes and sights of other seasons to pass them on—a gift of you that warms in winter.

Jefferson the cat has friends he's never seen. But he gives them presents anyway, catnip mice, chewy rag bones, patchwork self-portraits. His owner, Mrs. Eugene Kennedy Jr., makes them. She also makes jam from the beach plums and wild grapes she gathers in summer, and chutney and pickles—and sachets from lavender dried and stored. She packs them in jars found during summer antique-shop rambles, or home-sewed bags that open and close so they can be refilled. She lines, and paints flowers on, baskets to match flowered gifts of sheets. And she makes breakfast sets so friends can sit in bed and dream of the sun.

JAM, SACHET

Containers are as important as the gifts. For sachet bags with enclosed drawstrings, Mrs. Kennedy makes two buttonholes about 5 inches from one end of a long strip of fabric. She folds fabric in half and sews sides to make a bag, then she turns over 3 inches of the top as a facing sewed with two lines of stitching, one below buttonholes, one above. Drawstring is threaded in one buttonhole, around bag, out the other, and lavender is spooned in. Recipes, page 131.

When a great chef celebrates the marriage of his daughter, it is the perfect opportunity for a super feast. Pierre Franey, a Vice President at Howard Johnson's, one time chef of the famous Pavillon restaurant in New York, and co-author with Craig Claiborne of The New York Times Sunday Magazine food page, recently gave his elder daughter, Claudia, in marriage to Richard Jensen. Six of his closest friends, five of whom also happen to be great chefs and the sixth The New York Times food editor, volunteered to help. Contributing chefs were: Jean Vergnes, owner, and Jean-Louis Todeschini, chef, of Le Cirque, Jacques Pepin, chef, teacher, and author of A French Chef Cooks at Home, Jean-Jacques Paimblanc and Raymond Bruballa, who are chefs and colleagues of Pierre Franey at Howard Johnson's. Friend and colleague Craig Claiborne provided the inspiration and his super kitchen plus the pretty beachside setting where one-hundred-and-seventy guests joined in the celebration with a superb, never to be forgotten feast. Recipes appear on page 136.

1, Raymond Bruballa decorates galantines and pâtés in the cool of the wine cellar; 2, Jean-Jacques Paimblanc sifts sugar onto strawberries, sprinkles them with Kirsch and Grand Marnier; 3, Ellie Giobbi arranges zinnias for the buffet; 4, tables arranged with pink tablecloths, pale blue napkins, and a flowery centerpiece; 5, a parade of chefs set up the buffet; 6, Salmon Gravlaks with Mustard Sauce; below, 7, Burgundian Meat Pies with a puff pastry crust; 8, the buffet set with Mussels Vinaigrette, Head Cheese Salad, Galatine of Duck; 9, guests gathering for the wedding; 10, Claudia cuts the cake made by the Culinary Institute of America and decorated by Albert Kumin; 11, illustrated by painter Ed Giobbi, the menu and chef's signatures provide mementos for the guest book; 12, the wedding party walks down the poolside aisle to a ceremony on the cliffs.

If you don't like to give parties, what you can do about it

By Beverly Russell

Someone you want to impress is coming to dinner. You've set the menu, you've invited some appropriate guests. The dishes you plan to serve are recipes you've practiced to perfection. But the night before the party you dream that the meat cooked to a frazzle, the vegetables were mushy, in short, the evening turned into a fiasco.

There's nothing unusual about this sort of fantasy. As host or hostess, you are bound to experience a little apprehension before a party. After all, your competence is at stake, your ability as a cook, as a go-between among people who are probably strangers, and maker of festive feelings is being tested. The success of the evening is on your shoulders. And your own self-evaluation is under scrutiny as well.

"There is a fear of the unknown, the stranger. Entertaining can become an emotional threat," adds sociologist Dr. Freda Adler. "For every host and hostess there is a big challenge to do well."

The more you entertain, though, the less likely you are to experience party nerves. "It's like practicing the piano," says psychologist Dr. Florence Denmark. "The more you do, the more expert you become. A pianist doesn't expect to start by playing a concert, but gradually builds up to it, learning simple pieces well, to gain confidence. Entertaining is much the same thing. If you want to entertain in a more formal, elaborate way than you're used to, practice by inviting people you know. Build up your confidence and polish your techniques first, and then branch out."

It may sound surprising, but if you are a little on edge it can actually help the party to be a success. Says Dr. Joel Davitz, psychologist and professor at Columbia University: "It's very well established that in many situations we function most effectively with mild tension. The hostess will be a little bit more up, more exciting, more attractive, alert, and attentive. Guests catch these vibrations and it leads to stimulation all around." The great thing is not to let a little tension escalate into a lot of anxiety. Learn to cope with some and make it work positively. "If you reach for a tranquilizer," adds Dr. Davitz, "then everything will become bland."

"If you are a little on edge, it can actually help the party to be a success"

Great hosts and hostesses are made, not born. To become a model of poise, charm, and self-confidence like Woody Allen, read on.

You will want to rehearse recipes and have everything organized as far ahead as possible. And in addition, preparation in terms of knowing your guests will help you appear calm and relaxed as they start walking through the door. "You must do some homework, know the people, their interests, and who suits whom," Dr. Adler points out. "It's your job to see everybody relates well. A good host or hostess should be actively engaged in trying to build interpersonal relationships, so people take off on their own. If you have invited guests you don't know well, it helps to find out their interests, so you have something to talk about to make them feel comfortable."

Before the party, relaxation exercises can promote serenity, too. Take your mind off things and change "set" by deep breathing, or "even singing," suggests Dr. Harold Cook who with Dr. Davitz wrote the new book 60 Seconds to Mind Expansion (Random House; $5.95). Progressive relaxation is good, too, say these psychologists.

Pauses in party conversation are perfectly natural, though we've been conditioned into believing that they indicate boredom, or a sign that guests are not enjoying themselves. Silence is not necessarily negative, it can be quite profound, move people closer. Dr. Robert Tyson believes: "A pause can be refreshing, comfortable, far from awkward." Rely on free association to speed you over a lull in conversation. Look around, let your mind take in the surroundings, look at guests, colors, objects. The mind is never blank. There is always something there if you just wait a moment. "Why be scared," says Dr. Tyson, "of saying to your neighbor, 'it's nice to be with you because I feel comfortable with you'?"

Of course, some conversations should be avoided if the interaction is to thrive. On Dr. Tyson's list: "Deadly earnest and prolonged talk about how terrible something is. We all know such conditions exist and deal with them as best we can, but if it's Saturday evening, who wants t spend time talking about them? If you want to rationalize, it keeps you in good mental health t switch to other topics, then you handle the seric situations better when you have to." Also to be avoided he suggests: "shop" talk, mention of c airports, and travel ("everybody gets mileage a they're safe things to communicate about, but

How to find party help ☆

By Paula Rice Jackson

The first place to look for help is "The Grapevine"—ask your friends whom they depend on. If they don't know here are some good suggestions for other sources to tap.

For cooks with credentials, check local cooking schools. Teachers and students at these schools are sometimes willing to take on small and not-so-small catering jobs for dinner parties and buffets. Almost every large city in America has a weekly magazine named after it, New York in New York, Los Angeles in Los Angeles, and Louisville in Louisville, for example, that are filled with ads from people who wish to help serve, cook, plan, clean up, whatever during parties.

or anything else happens unexpectedly, there's no point in trying to cover up such mistakes. Surrender to them. "When something goes drastically wrong in the kitchen, the disaster can turn out to be the hit of the evening," Dr. Davitz insists. "Imperfection makes for intimacy. There may be no dessert, but you've given the guests something that is to be cherished more, a sharing of some human quality. When you let guests backstage, and tell them what really happened, it's never so bad."

The experienced host or hostess will have "life-savers" on hand to cope with unfortunate circumstances. If not a back-up supply of frozen foods, then he or she will know exactly where to take guests if the situation suddenly calls for eating out. And make it a lively experience.

One aspect of party-giving is that a hostess with a party on her mind is likely to pass along tension to her husband or a partner. If he picks up on it, it may produce irritability between the couple. "Watch out for a few days before the event," adds Dr. Davitz. "It's possible for tension and frustration to be rechanneled and result in a fight. Very often the row may be over something that's unrelated to the dinner party and ordinarily a topic that wouldn't cause an argument."

The solution is to share doubts, talk them through and as far as possible, entertain as a team. Do some of the tension-breaking exercises together. Enjoy the relaxation that results. Let it all be fun. As long as you can maintain a sense of humor, the party's bound to be a success.

How to give a personal party in a public place

By Mary Moon Hemingway

★ Are you planning a party in a public place? Why not? It's convenient, different, and can be most satisfactory. Give it all the personal cachet of an at-home affair, however, and enjoy the advantages of professional expertise and service for added éclat. Good diplomatic relations, good communications with the management are vital. Consult with the powers that be far enough in advance to make clear just what kind of a party you wish to hold, exactly where and how and how much you are willing to spend. Keep in mind it's your prerogative to determine the ambiance to the last detail. Yours are the telling touches.

Take flowers: Most restaurants and clubs are glad to have you bring your own arrangements or to cooperate in providing flowers in keeping with your own ideas. Try for real garden combinations, avoiding stiff, floral clichés and set your mark on the party.

See to the table: Discuss the appointments with the headwaiter, picking the color of the table linen, choosing glasses, china, and silver that most please you, should you have the choice. Many places let you provide your own, particularly when you are a fairly regular client. Consider your location with care. If separate, small rooms are available by all means avail yourself of the privacy. No matter, insist on a location far from the crowded area.

Have your own menu: It's wise to choose a set meal beforehand, less confusion, more like home. Let the headwaiter guide you and take time to talk with the chef. It's his vocation and pride to provide. Many good public dining places are glad to hand inscribe or print personal menus including not only food and wines but the date, place, occasion, the names of the hosts and guests too, if you wish.

Be sure to have place cards: Use full names formally, not only to facilitate seating, but to give an expert headwaiter the chance to address your guests by name. Conversely, know the names of those who will serve you that you may return the compliment.

Plan the drinks: When possible serve the cocktails away from the table, in a quiet corner of the bar or at the end of a private dining room. You might want to have drinks at home, then go to a club or restaurant. No matter where, it's sensible to set the limits of drinks beforehand so that when the time has come the headwaiter may unobtrusively signal the help to proceed with the first course. Consult with the wine steward or headwaiter about the wines and the number of bottles to be served. Liqueurs may be offered with after-dinner coffee but again it's smoother and smarter to set the variety and quantity in advance. When you are in control, the party is really yours.

Paying and tipping: Discuss all fees and tips beforehand. Parties may be paid for in advance, charged or billed on credit cards. In any event avoid the public flurry (Continued on page 249)

How to give a party if you don't have time to cook

By José Wilson

Parties are no longer expected to be the full-scale productions they once were. Now it is acceptable, even fashionable, to have nothing but chili or choucroute garnie with a simple dessert. One West Coast hostess started a trend when she sent as a dinner invitation the menu she was having—homemade minestrone with grated Parmesan cheese and bread, followed by cheese and fruit and a rich but uncomplicated dessert.

Nor need you spend much time cooking. With the proliferation of imaginative catering services, the increasing number of restaurants that boost their business with a take-out menu, the fast-food chains and street stands that make hamburgers, barbecued ribs, fried chicken, fish 'n chips, pizza, souvlakia, tacos, and submarine sandwiches to go, a phone call is all it takes to give an instant party. Gather a collection of the catering and take-out menus from your neighborhood caterers and restaurants and you are all set. To make the party more personal, add some easy-to-assemble touches of your own in the salad and dessert department.

There are loads of places where you can get instant-party foods. Investigate the ethnic groceries and bakeries in your town for sausages, hams, cheeses, olives, pickles, mustards, tortillas, chiles, and chile sauces, stuffed grape leaves, offbeat fruits and vegetables, and freshly made pasta, pâté, breads, cakes, pastries, and cookies. Check the delicatessen counters for cold meats, roast chicken and turkey, smoked fish, and ready-mixed salads. Stock (Continued on page 145)

Decorating for hospitality

with rooms that give you a lift, pretty tables, food that is delicious to see and to eat

"When we are guests," say Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Canovas, "we lunch or dine with not only a knife and fork, but our eyes too. If what we see—the food itself, the table, the dining room, the apartment or house—gives us a sense of beautiful well-being, we are so delighted that we often eat too much. And why not? We have been made happy."

Guests of the Canovases may expect the same pleasure. Their hosts live in an apartment in Paris organized for three children and easy entertaining. And decorated with some of the handsome fabrics, wall and floor coverings Mr. Canovas designs. In the living room, left, white carpeting with a little motif of interlocked squares runs wall to wall. (The same pattern carpets the foyer, but on a red background to make for a change of pace.) White-on-white cotton is stretched on the walls, then quilted as over-curtains for glass curtains of white cotton printed in red shamrocks. "It is a quiet room, which women love. It doesn't eat up their dresses. But it is not anemic, nor is it fixed. [See plan.] Guests move the chairs about as they like, which we like."

NEIL LONDON

For the family, the library (inset, far left) is the heart of the house. Wall fabric of tea-leaf brown, a red sofa of silk shantung, 19th-century English landscapes, books in steel and glass étagères. The bar (below) is off the living room. Red and white cotton everywhere and 18th-century portraits.

DAVID MASSEY

INSPIRE GUESTS WITH A GARDEN ON THE TABLE

"My wife always does the flowers, for which she has a truly charming talent. 'Planting her garden,' she calls it. Instead of a single centerpiece, she arranges little Japanese pots in a cluster, then fills each one with only one kind of flower—freesia, narcissi, tulips, whatever is at its peak—and when she is finished, she does indeed have a garden. 'Rather Chinese,' she says, and certainly not like those Victorian set pieces that look as though they were wearing corsets. The bronze flatware and service plates we got in Thailand, the blue and white plates are Japanese. We have some Sèvres, but use it only for venerable aunts and uncles. We must. They gave it to us."

"I love the chintz," says Mrs. Canovas, "but it needed something to keep it from being, well, sugary? 'Black,' said my husband, and black it is. Black-lacquered Queen Anne chairs [far left], and some Chinese paintings on glass."

The Canovases travel a great deal, looking for new or ancient design motifs, bibelots, new recipes. Although they were brought up on French haute cuisine, they are not at all chauvinistic about it, and are as fond of chile con carne as a Texan. Their menus, consequently, are apt to be cosmopolitan, and for a big buffet, left, the food may not be French at all, but Italian or Chinese or Indonesian. "We cover the table with red-and-white-striped cotton—very sturdy," Mr. Canovas explains, "and people help themselves, then eat where they like. There are extra chairs and little folding tables, and when everyone is arranged, we look like a restaurant. Somehow, we can manage sixty people. And sometimes we are only four, and then I cook tagliatelle with white truffles. Like all pasta, it is impatient. It must be tossed and eaten at once, and I toss fastest for four, no more. For a formal dinner, we can have twelve at most, although six are better. Then the table [far left] is left bare because its top is so pretty—a painted onyx, bone, and green tortoise shell. And that is how we live. Rarely, if we can help it, big cocktail parties, and we entertain ourselves at breakfast, when we have very special guests, our children."

With her passion for flowers, Mrs. Canovas chose a chintz of her husband's design, a chinoiserie in pinks, jade, and blues (called Leonor, after one of the daughters, it is available in this country at Brunschwig & Fils), and covered not only the walls, but a built-in sideboard. She also has a pot garden that makes its home in a planter, below, along with about-to-blossom branches of flowering fruit trees.

Decorating for hospitality

SHARE THE JOY

by making your special interest the focus for decorating, table settings, and the food you serve

The house is a historic restoration in Connecticut. Its date is 1715. Inside it, a surprise—a spectacular collection of Oriental art gathered by the owners, Mr. and Mrs. Martin C. Cole. Outside and inside, the feeling is wonderfully hospitable. Original plank floors and pine paneling, and fireplaces in every room, make for warmth and coziness. The Oriental collection is a delight for guests. The room on this page was known as the "common" or "keeping" room in the old days—a small sitting room where guests assemble for drinks. Its theme is Oriental blue and white. In winter, the Coles eat here, too, alone—the room is flexible enough to work as well for two as for ten. (See the floor plan.)

SHARE THE JOY OF COLLECTING

This classic American house is surrounded by lawns and great trees, some of them two to three hundred years old. There is also a terrace, perfect for summer parties, where Mrs. Cole usually serves a barbecue meal. After an indoor dinner, guests have coffee in the living room, right, its ivory and coral colors very flattering to people. (Every room in the house has its own colors, inspired by Oriental porcelain.) There is a working fireplace in this room, as in the dining room, for cozy evenings with family or friends. The Coromandel screen is especially fine—and very rare. Made of black lacquer and untarnishable bronze, it shows a courtyard scene, with ladies watching their children at play.

On the round glass-topped table, right, a large vase in Oriental coral ground pattern. Also on the table, an Oriental Export formal tea service. The wood carved chair is old Chinese—one of a pair. Silk-upholstered sofa, textured wool rug. Below, stone Kwan-yin head, 1644 (Ch'ing dynasty), with examples of Chinese "rouge" and green and yellow figures, all holding flowers fresh from the garden.

The dining room is the heart of the Coles' entertaining. "We usually invite eight for dinner," says Mrs. Cole. "Our parties take place when the flowers are so beautiful. During these months, we entertain at least once a week." Mrs. Cole keeps a running cutting garden for these occasions, specializing in roses, peonies, and chrysanthemums. She chooses her table settings according to which flowers are in peak bloom, using a plain white organdy tablecloth over the one in the picture, left. This makes a perfect background for whatever Oriental pieces she uses to decorate the table. The practical glass top fits over a vivid print cloth. "We serve quite simple food," says Mrs. Cole. "But once in a while we'll do a full Chinese meal, according to Chinese custom, serving one dish at a time, with soup, rice and noodles at the end." A sample menu would be winter melon soup to start, with steamed dumplings. Then a course each of green snow peas with sliced pork; stewed chicken with chestnuts; fried beef with oyster sauce; Heung So duck with bamboo shoots and salted cabbage; clear soup with mushrooms; steamed fish; fried rice, noodles with pork and celery; almond jelly with cocktail fruits, for dessert.

18th-century crystal fingerbowls, left, with Chinese china and covered bowl as centerpiece. Blanc de Chine libation and birthday cups hold flowers; jade and coral fruits also decorate the table. Below: 19th-century English chairs. On the mantel, important Tang pieces—a court lady and three musical figures. At each end, papier-mâché Japanese cats.

ACCENT THE CASUAL

with home cooking, kitchen gatherings, rooms full of big comfortable furniture

Like an entertaining magnet, this roomy old house exudes such vitality and warmth that friends just can't stay away. The owners and their four children love it that way: "There's never really formal entertaining, but the house always seems to be full of people." Designer Louis Bromante worked closely with the owner, a decorator herself, to rejuvenate the house, mostly with white paint and a good editing eye. In the sun room, above, people meet after tennis—or have a drink before an evening party. The 7-foot vinyl lounges designed by Mr. Bromante are impervious to nearly any liquid, as is the stone floor that came with the house. Most gatherings start in the kitchen. "Guests drive right past the front entrance and around to the kitchen door." Their greeting is the glassed-in flower room beyond the archway through which everyone pours to see what's cooking and small gatherings may end with lunch or dinner in the kitchen. For big buffets, the focus is the steel and glass table in the dining room, with homemade lasagne, chicken cacciatore, veal scallopine, vegetables Italian style. For dessert, lots of Italian pastries, strawberries, zabaglione, and a basket of cookies.

For people who get a kick out o

Gasps of delight, squeals of glee, arms thrown around your neck in utter joy—that's the kind of reaction you want from the presents you give. To practically guarantee it, just do a little pre-shopping homework: Think hard about each person on your list; make notes of specific needs and wants; make it your goal to fulfill that masked desire. The reward is knowing you've made someone happy. And isn't that the whole point after all?

All in the spirit of play—a small game room pulled together by one fabric working as wallpaper and upholstery on tables and banquettes. Interior design by MAC II. Brunschwig & Fils's batik-looking Java cotton print of blue and indigo on a caramel background is the versatile fabric used. Henry B. Urban upholstered the banquettes with it—so for two full tables of bridge only four more chairs are needed! Luis Perez, after doing the walls, cut off the cream border and used it around the windows, on table legs and to cover pots on lacquered wood tables. Breuer natural wood and cane chairs. Sisal rug.

Fresh ideas from five architects

planned for reasonable cost and upkeep

BY BEVERLY RUS

The modern garden grows in a new way. It is practical, liberating, and needs a minimum of maintenance. To throw a fresh thought on the subject, we asked five leading architects concerned with total planning to give us their ideas. Eac came up with a different point of view. Here are the results, which will interest and inspire anyone trying to coordinate house and landsca

Apple orchard garden

TOM YEE

For a couple with two children who wanted a low-cost, easy-upkeep weekend and vacation place, Stanley Tigerman built what he calls a "Hot Dog house" (see House & Garden, September, 1975) in the prairie 100 miles north of Chicago. The couple bought 9 acres. The property has a hill and falls away about 20 feet to a pond and stream beyond. The house was built at this brink point and the back land is always going to remain wild and natural.

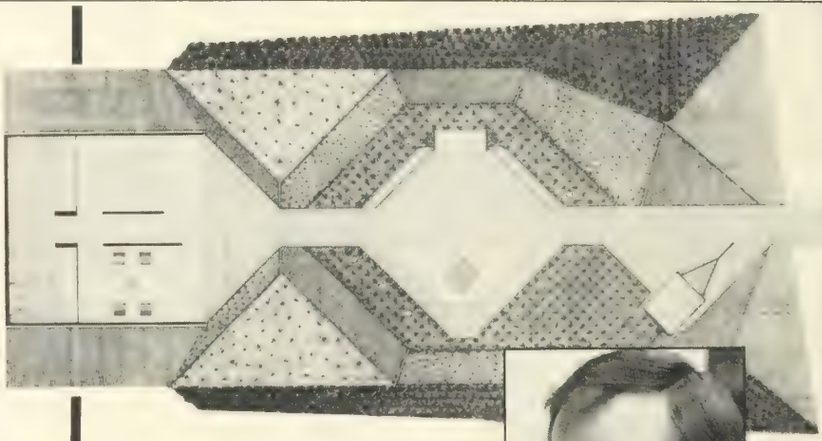
The front of the property is flat as a table. And here the garden Mr. Tigerman proposes is a very simple idea. "Just an apple orchard, a very beautiful, romantic piece of geometry. The house needs protection and screening from a high speed road. Even in winter, because of the orchard, it will be impossible to see the building from the road. The house is like a stage, and the trees will sit there in front of it like an audience."

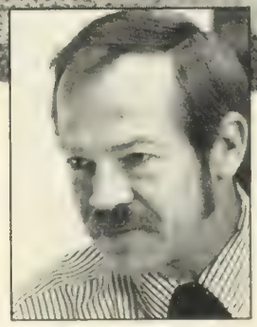
Mr. Tigerman particularly likes the idea of creating this formalized planting in front of a very contemporary house.

"The precision relates to modern architecture," he says, "yet there is a feeling of freedom and change in this garden. The trees flower, they bring birds, apples fall and return to earth." He anticipates the trees—all one variety—planted 30 feet apart, ultimately (Continued on page 144)

Stanley Tigerman

"There is nothing nicer than natural land not made into anything. So when you're outside, you're in the country."





"Earth shaping creates a haven where nature does all the gardening . . . A garden should be a place where you can live. It needs furnishing and lighting, too."

William Morgan

Sculptured earth garden

The house architect William Morgan built for his own family (House & Garden, December, 1973) is on a dune facing the Atlantic in Florida. Winds and hurricanes threaten this particular coastline, so the garden must be well protected. And because the sun beats down and there is lots of glare, shade and shelter are important.

TOM YEE

The earth garden he has designed dips deep into the sand on the sea side of the house. Dunes were shaped to create necessary wind breaks, and to hold them in place, planted with yuccas and short rugged palmettos, native to the area. "These berms shelter the house from neighbors, yet they are not walls or fences in the formal sense," he points out. In the bottom of the hollowed out space, a sea of blue juniper makes ground cover. Over this, cedar walkways and decking provide space for picnicking, entertaining, sunbathing, and boat parking. All the planting on the dune berms is seaside material—ice plant, gaillardia, (Continued on page 144)

"They are generally people on the run,

"With the increasing inflation and the very real desire to become more self-sufficient, I think it's time to consider growing vegetables for their beauty as well as their utility."

Paul Rudolph

Architectural vegetable garden

The corner site for this house on the New Jersey shore is quite a small space, 175 by 150 feet. To give the illusion of privacy, architect Paul Rudolph raised the building above the ground by 6 feet, so you cannot look in as you walk on the street. The limited outdoor space around the house has been divided into three parts. One is a motor court. Another is a walled reflecting pool, adjoining the children's rooms on the lower level, a playground for youngsters, a sun trap but cooled in summer by breezes.

"The third space, a terrace on the level with the center floor of the house should be the exact opposite of these other two open areas—full of very green and growing things," explained Mr. Rudolph. What he proposes is a vegetable garden, "planted for beauty as well as utility." All vegetables are to be treated from the visual point of view, in terms of the scale of the leaves, the height of the plants, how they look and change from season to season.

"The planting," adds Mr. Rudolph firmly, "should become as much a part of the total design of the house as the garage." An (Continued on page 144)

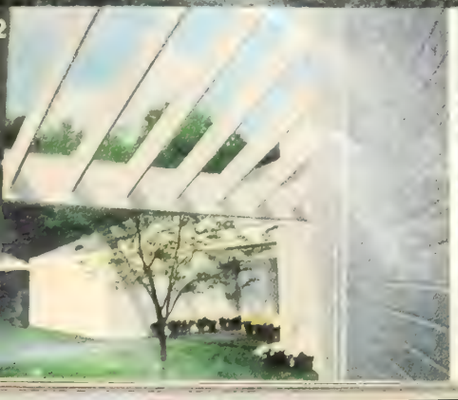
"A garden has to feel comfortab!e with the architecture and be one that the peop!e feel comfortable using."

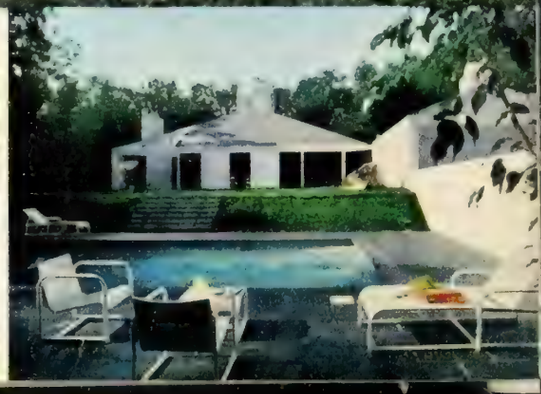
Hugh Newell Jacobsen

Building a large house on a hill in New England that runs for 1000 feet down to the sea, Hugh Jacobsen devised an unobtrusive design that "wouldn't jump out of the landscape." Seven pavilions interlock to give the family all the space they need. They are built on flat podium, carved out of the hill. When it came to the garden, Mr. Jacobsen wanted to continue the variety of sensory experiences felt inside the house—slate floor, shaggy rugs, the cascade of water from an interior courtyard fountain—so he carpeted the level ground around the house with Kentucky bluegrass, which is very crisp and bright and green. "It's a high sensuous experience to step outside through warm puddles in summer rain onto that soft delicious grass.' There is nothing to soften the hard edge where the house meets the ground. To give color, a cutting garden, a great big patch of flowers running at an angle relating to the house, (Continued on page 144)

3 PAVILIONS FOR

A house divided for a family of six with separate areas for living, entertaining, and sleeping, where every room has access to the outdoors





LIVING

Central pavilion contains living and dining rooms, kitchen, library, and screened porch, all surrounding a central tree-filled atrium. In the sleeping pavilion, five bedrooms are buffered from playroom by closets and on left side, angled exterior walls and triangles of space. Pavilions are joined by 6-foot passageways of glass. Building facts, page 249.

For a family with four grown and teen-aged children and a houseful of dogs and cats, three white pavilions on a wooded area scooped out of a Maryland mountainside provide just what they asked for: privacy from people (including, at times, each other), and intimacy with the rest of the world. Behind the solid brick façades, the pavilions—one for living and entertaining, one primarily for sleeping, the smallest for garage and laundry—are divided along their diagonals to form triangular spaces separated from one another and from the outside world largely by glass and space—and two open onto central skylit "courtyards" under ceilings that peak 22 feet up.

In countryside as rugged as this, architect Hugh Newell Jacobsen had to keep the elements in mind. All doors (sliding glass doors, which stand in for windows throughout the house) are recessed under deep overhangs to protect them from snow, sun, and wind; some are positioned along the buildings' 45-degree diagonals under triangles of exposed rafters that let sunlight filter through. Inside, these acute angles form corners for the piano or for bathrooms. More shallowly recessed doors add enough depth to the walls for closets and built-in cupboards.

1. The four Plexiglas faces of 8-foot-high skylight cupolas slant steeply toward the compass's cardinal points to admit the most light, shed winter snows. House's brick walls direct runoff along mortar patterns to help prevent streaking. "Slate" roof is really asbestos shingles. 2. Sunscreens of exposed rafters admit light to deeply recessed glass doors. Beyond, the front entrance. 3. Screened porch has snow-supporting structural screening in ceiling, fiberglass screens in sliding panels. 4. Pool, set down a carved-out embankment away from the house, is surrounded by the same slate that paves almost the entire house.

Two great skylit rooms

Inside, you think you're outside: Full-grown trees thrive in slate-paved spaces that go on and on, continuing through glass on all sides to the woods beyond. In the living room, sitting area is defined by a white wool rug on which three sofas covered in Indian handwoven cotton are grouped around fireplace.

In living room, 1 and 2 Mr. Jacobsen designed the practically nonexistent Plexiglas tables (thinly topped with glass to prevent scratching) that back up to the sofas. Painting at left by Tom Downing from Pyramid Galleries. Flush doors open to reveal bar, 1. In the family's more private pavilion, playroom, 3, has pool and Ping-Pong tables, facilities for showing home movies, and under the skylight, a circular conversation group covered with stretch velour. Black dots in the skylight are the bottoms of canned lights that stand in for sunshine at night. Throughout house are similar downlights, some slashed to light-wash walls. Those great graphics are the state flags of Maryland and Colorado.
4. Piano stands deep in a living-room angle. Painting above fireplace by Gabor Petterdi. 5. Dining room is furnished with heirlooms including grandfather's clock, its wooden back replaced with Plexiglas, standing against glass wall. 6. On screened porch off living room and library, Brown Jordan furniture. 7. Kitchen is divided on the diagonal: half for dining, half for cooking. Cooking side has vinyl floor, slant-cut butcher-block work island (see plan on preceding page). 8. The house's only window: a single acrylic sheet rimmed with mirrors.

THE HEALTH PRESCRIPTION OF A LIFETIME

Even before the energy crisis, the average American walked about 3,000 miles a year, according to the Sole Leather Council. Today, with everybody's heightened awareness about heart conditions, weight-watching, circulatory problems, and, equally important, the need to save money, more and more people are taking to their feet. Podiatrists in big cities across the country are noticing the trend, reports Dr. Norman Klombers, Director of Professional Services for the Podiatry Society, State of New York. Could it be that walking is about to become a new American tradition?

"Walking is natural, painless, and biological," says Mrs. Ruth Goode, coauthor of The Magic of Walking (a Fireside book by Simon & Schuster). "People are going back to more organic foods and more natural ways of living, trying to relate themselves more and more to their biological inheritance—and walking is man's natural transportation."

"Walking is one of the finest exercises you can have," declares podiatrist Dr. Elizabeth Roberts, author of On Your Feet (Rodale Press) and Professor Emeritus at the New York College of Podiatric Medicine, "because when you walk, you're bringing into play your entire body. It's not just muscles, it's circulation and metabolic change. There's no single activity that gives more benefit to the body than walking."

"A cardiologist is looking for two things," explains Dr. Albert A. Kattus, Chairman of the Exercise Committee, American Heart Association, and Professor of Medicine (division of cardiology), University of California at Los Angeles. "One, exercises that are safe for people with heart disease to do; and two, ways to encourage people to adopt habits of activity that may forestall the possibility of heart disease. To my mind, walking is the ideal exercise for both situations."

Greta Garbo's walks are her religion. When Lilli Palmer once collected her off Onassis's giant yacht, she complained, "It is too small! I cannot go for my walks!" Rose Kennedy still walks 3 or 4 miles a day. Here, our special walking experts give their prescriptions for getting the most out of walking, and show why becoming a walker could be the best thing you ever did for the rest of your life.

Why walking is good for you

According to medical experts, walking does following things:

1. Provides good physical exercise for e part of the body.
2. Tones the heart muscle.
3. Improves circulation.
4. Keeps calories under control.
5. Aids digestion.
6. Relaxes nervous tension.
7. Helps you sleep.

How a walk can keep your heart healthy aron Sussman, co-author f 'The Magic of Walking'.

"The beauty of walking is that it is measurable," says cardiologist Dr. Kattus. "You can measure a mile, and how long it takes to walk it. For heart patients, this is vital. We do a multistage walking test on a treadmill to establish how much exercise people with heart disease can take without risk, and then start them on a walking program taking into account the workload he or she can tolerate—gradually increasing it over time. The trouble with bicycling is that it is too easy on the level, and too hard on uphill, for heart patients. Jogging and running are also totally different kinds of exercise that require skill, training, and experience.

"For a normal healthy person, with no symptoms of heart trouble, the 4-mile-per-hour walking test is quite easy. But the problem with many people is that they do not walk nearly enough in their daily lives. At Los Angeles airport, there are even (Continued on page 145)

How to put your best foot forwar

"The ideal way to walk is on the outer borders of your feet with your feet pointing straight ahead," explains podiatrist Dr. Roberts. "You should put the weight first on the heel, then along the outer border of the foot and then across the toes, ending with the big one. Your shoe will often tell if you are walking correctly. If the outer border of the heel and the inner border of the sole are worn down, that's wrong. It should be the outer border that is worn, all the way round.

Podiatrist Dr. Roberts walking to work.

"For walking, wear the lowest heel you can comfortably wear. For women used to wearing high heels all their lives, a very low heel may not be comfortable. Open toes will be more comfortable for many women than closed toes, particularly if you throw your weight forward a lot. Open toes and open heels are often the easiest to walk in, if you are not walking over rough terrain.

"Do not worry about ankle support. Podiatrists have long since learned that the stability of the ankle is the result of the stability of the foot. Sprained ankles are often due to a person not walking properly. Big shoes and boots are necessary mainly for protection against hard country.

"Choose leather or fabric that allows your feet to breathe and is flexible. Plastics, patent leathers, and reptile are difficult to wear and tire the foot as they have no 'give.' Soles should be leather or ripple or crepe rubber as long as they are flexible.

"Sneakers are very good for walking as long as there is some cushioning in the heel against walking surfaces. But if you arch support, do not expect it in the arch raise built into s ers. Arch supports must be p in a shoe according to the in ual need. Negative heel (where the heel is lower tha sole) have certain advantag space for toes, a wide shank, heel, lightness, and flexibility people who are not accustom walking in them will find very tiring, because of the pu the leg muscles. Manufact now recommed that custo wear the shoes for just a few h every day to get used to th (Dr. Nathaniel Gould, chief o pedic surgeon at Brockton pital, Mass., and former presi of the American Orthopedic Society, Inc., has done exter tests on these shoes with his leagues, and they have concl that they are twice as tirin sneakers in the long run. Th fect is as though you are cons ly walking uphill. But some may all the same find them satisfactory—it's a personal ter. (Continued on page ou don't have to have fields or wild flowers or ks to enjoy walking," says Mrs. Ruth Goode, hor and passionate walker. "Walking on city eets has its own special joy. You become isitive to where it is comfortable to walk cording to the weather. For instance, I find it the East Side of New York City is cooler in the West Side in the morning and the verse is true in the afternoon. If there's a wind owing, it may be colder and windier on the est Side. You learn where the sun hits and here it is in shadow. Walking downtown in the ntertime along Central Park West is a light—the sun is full on you, while the East de is bleak and in shadow. You discover these things as the seasons change.

"The best walking tip I can think of is: Lengthen your stride. Everything seems to fall into place then. All those tight back muscles let go, shoulders drop, neck loosens, head comes up, and that top-heavy upper body leans at just the right angle to make each step almost automatic, without effort. And it all happens when you let your legs swing from the hip to take the longer stride. Hard-pressed executive types, both sexes, should particularly take note of this. I've seen men dutifully walk home from their offices, clutching their attaché cases full of work still to be done—but they walk so stiffly and tensely that one wonders if the walk is doing them any good. If they would only lengthen the stride—begin by measuring steps according to the cracks in the pavement—it really works.

"It's what you're doing in your head also that's so great in walking. You're shedding other things, making a transition from where you've come from to where you're going to be. Walking gives you time to get there in your head. That's invaluable, because we're assaulted with so many things that we have to do, that we want to do, that we undertake to (Continued on page 145)

DESSERT

THE GAIETY OF CHAMPAGNE

Champagne with dessert makes dinner a celebration. It's laughter, it's frivolous, it's fun! The magic of the potion is the bubbles. Connoisseurs tell us to keep the bubbles sparkling by serving champagne in a narrow glass. The champagne flute allows the bubbles to stream airily upward, making it light and delicate. Waiting for the festivities to begin, a cluster of champagne flutes available now.

THE GLEAM OF SILVER

Dessert spoons and forks are the most versatile, movable members of a place setting, holding to no etiquette but your own good sense. The fork can double for salad and the spoon for soup. They can be placed at each side of a dinner plate, above it—or served right on the dessert plate when it's brought to the table.

If dessert is a smile, make it one that lingers, and make it a feast for the eye. No need for elaborate productions—a great dessert can be as simple as bright red strawberries in a basket with fresh grape leaves or whole peeled peaches in a compote with champagne. "What is important," says Maurice Moore-Betty, who created the six tempting desserts here, "is that dessert be chosen with care. A luscious trifle that might follow a light entrée would be too rich after a heavy casserole. The crème brûlée for example would be a refreshing contrast to a dinner of artichokes, a zesty saltimbocca with a purée of fresh peas, and an endive and julienne of beet harlequin salad."

Mr. Moore-Betty has this to say to calorie counters: "A dessert may be made with liberal lashings of cream and sugar but divided among a number of guests it really is not that much per person. So enjoy dessert and cut out something else the next day."

lemon juice, orange bitters, and soda water. It's wise to have a mild punch as well, when you're serving a rather potent one. For fruited brews try to use fresh or frozen juices in place of canned ones, which tend to be too sweet. Avoid rainbow recipes, more readable than potable, and usually a mad mixture of spirits and sherbets.

Punch party nibbles: Salted nuts, miniature uniced cupcakes, buttered fruit-bread sandwiches, shrimp chips, quiche tartlets.

Switchels, shrubs, or soft drinks are a must for any party because not everyone likes or drinks alcoholic beverages. "Switchel" is a Yankee word meaning water seasoned to taste and meant to be served as a thirst-quencher. Homemade, honest-to-goodness lemonade is the epitome of a switchel and good in cold weather as well as hot. A shrub may be alcoholic, but more generally it is a fruit juice with vinegar compound spooned into water and iced. Raspberry shrub is delicious and can be used in a children's punch as well as an adult cooler. Any time of the year iced coffee with lemon rind, soda water with bitters, or bouillon-on-the-rocks are satisfying quenchers.

Ever since coffee was brought from the Moslem world to Europe in the 17th century, it has become almost a way of life for a lot of us, so why not celebrate a coffee break party after dinner or as a late afternoon New Year's pick-me-up party?

Coffee combinations: Espresso with a choice of flavor twists—lemon zest, orange slices, whipped cream. Cointreau, brandy, Kahlua, anisette can be mixed in with coffee for a heady, different demitasse—each guest adding his own choice. Have a coffee bar where different coffees can be concocted: Café Brûlot, Café Diable, Irish coffee, Viennese coffee, cappucino.

Coffee accompaniments: Fancy chocolates, Florentine cookie gaufrettes, apple wedges, pe quarters, a soft cheese, a ha cheese, a blue cheese, curried nut

What's better than a wine party Not a complicated tasting of mar wines, but just a judicious choic of white and red wine and a dr and sweet sherry. Buy America and try some of our unusually goo wines, particularly if you live in wine region. Michigan sherry good. New York State's Bully Hi vineyard, the only one which bo tles only its own yield with noth ing added or imported, has som fine wines. Almadén Gewurztra miner is a splendid wine. Whe possible, ask your local wine mer chant for advice rather than rely ing on the hit and miss metho

With wine: Cheeses, of course, an do try some good American one —Tillamook, Vermont Cabot o Crowley, Monterey Jack, Lieder kranz, Wisconsin Cheddar an Swiss, any local specialties. O make your own Liptauer or bee cheese.

Cheese supports: Soft pretzels bagels, small split crusty rolls black bread, water biscuits, brea sticks.

Children's parties are not all bal loons, ice cream scoops, and cake Put on a soda fountain party with plenty of aprons for everyone plenty of blenders (beg, borrow or improvise), lots of vanilla and chocolate ice cream, and all sorts of fixings. The simplest soda—and no special equipment needed—can be made with seltzer, ice cream, and flavorings. My childhood homemade favorites were either a Black Cow (root beer and vanilla ice cream) or a Boston Cooler (ginger ale with any ice cream). Let the children do as much of the making as they can. Messy but satisfying. Have lots of adult help ready. Building your own milkshake is exciting for children, too, and makes a memorable party. ■

A bread garland for your cheese

Take a Brie or any round cheese and ring it with a braided wreath of crusty bread. Perfect for a buffet where guests can cut a wedge themselves, it can also be served easily as a cheese course for dinner. For a light lunch, ring the bread around a crab meat salad, a salmon mousse, a decorated pâté. With it serve a decanter of wine—this one, Almadén's new Barbera.

pounds lamb, cubed tomatoes, chopped teaspoons salt teaspoon pepper bay leaves sley, chopped teaspoon ginger, grated cup dry white wine cup plumped raisins cup dried peach halves cup dried apricot halves
8-ounce package prunes teaspoon coriander teaspoon turmeric
¼ cup brandy
2 tablespoons honey
½-1 cup pine nuts
garnish: slices of hard-cooked eggs and fresh parsley

METHOD

In an enormous frying pan sauté onions in oil until lightly brown. Remove onions from pan and add lamb cubes and brown them in the oil. Add to the pan onions, tomatoes, salt, pepper, bay leaves, parsley, and ginger and mix together gently. Add white wine, raisins, peaches, apricots, prunes, coriander, turmeric, brandy and honey to the mixture and mix together. Add pine nuts and stir.

Transfer mixture to a large crockery or ceramic pot, cover and bake in a 350° oven for 1 hour. Dish can be precooked for ½ hour and then put back in oven for ½ hour before serving. Do not cook more than 1 hour.

POT-AU-FEU

INGREDIENTS

5¼ pounds rump roast, boned
1 small round steak (to flavor broth) bones for broth (leftover bones, soup bones or short ribs)
10 cups salted water plus 1½ cups cold water
28 whole carrots, cleaned
14 whole turnips, cleaned
28 leeks, cleaned
2 large onions, each spiked with a clove
2 stalks celery bouquet garni (fresh basil, thyme, bay leaf tied together in a piece of cheesecloth)

METHOD

In a large, deep, heavy pot place meat and bones, and cover with salted water and bring to the boil. Reduce to a simmer and cook, uncovered, for 1-2 hours. Skim surface 2-3 times by adding the cold water to bring foam to the surface.

Add carrots, turnips, leeks, onions, celery, and bouquet garni to pot and cook very gently for 3 more hours, covered. Strain off the broth and de-fat with paper napkins laid on the surface. Reduce broth by ⅓ and discard onion and celery.

Arrange meat on a large platter and surround with vegetables. Pour strained broth into a stoneware bowl. Serves 14. Can be prepared ahead and refrigerated for 8 days.

If you wish, add a chicken or some sausage or both with the vegetables; include fresh or dried beans, cooked separately and added at the last minute, or any in-season vegetable; accompany it with a puréed tomato sauce.

chicken broth made with 2 Knorr Cubes
Dijon mustard
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup heavy cream
¼ teaspoon white pepper
½ teaspoon salt
paprika

METHOD

Poach chicken in the chicken broth (broth should barely cover chicken) for about 20 minutes. Drain chicken pieces and allow to cool.

Preheat oven to 350°. Place chicken in flat baking dish, spread pieces with mustard.

In a saucepan melt butter and add flour and cook a few minutes, but do not allow mixture to brown. Add cream and heat through, stirring constantly. Add pepper and salt and cook the sauce until it thickens slightly. Pour sauce over chicken and add a dash of paprika for color. Bake for 15 minutes, or until sauce is bubbling and chicken is warm through. Serves 6.

YEAR-ROUND STRAWBERRY PRESERVES

from Gifts from the Kitchen
by Diana and Paul von Welanetz

INGREDIENTS

- 3 10-ounce packages frozen sliced strawberries, thawed
- ¼ cup water
- 1 1¾-ounce package Sure-Jell powdered pectin
- 6 cups sugar
- ⅓ cup Grand Marnier, kirsch, Cointreau, or Triple Sec
- 3 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
- paraffin

METHOD

In a large kettle combine strawberries, water and pectin and bring the mixture to a boil, stirring occasionally. Boil for 1 minute and stir in the sugar, and bring to a full, rolling boil that cannot be stirred down. Boil hard for another minute. Remove the pan from the heat and stir in the liqueur and lemon juice. Allow to stand for 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Skim off the foam. Pour the preserves into 6 ½-pint hot, sterilized glasses and seal at once with paraffin. Jam may be stored in the refrigerator without being sealed in jars for about 1 month. It will keep 6 months sealed.

CHRISTMAS PEPPER JELLY

from Gifts from the Kitchen
by Diana and Paul von Welanetz

INGREDIENTS

- 1 cup green bell pepper, seeded and chopped
- ¼ cup canned jalapeño pepper, rinsed and seeded
- 1½ cups apple cider vinegar
- 6 cups sugar
- ½ cup red bell pepper, seeded and finely diced
- 1 bottle Certo
- 8-9 drops green food color
- paraffin

METHOD

In a blender add green pepper, jalapeños and ½ cup vinegar and blend until smooth. Pour mixture into a 4-quart saucepan. Rinse the blender container with the remaining vinegar and add it to the green peppers. Stir in the sugar and red peppers and bring mixture to a hard boil that cannot be stirred down. Remove pan from heat and let stand for 5 minutes. Skim the foam carefully off the top, leaving as many of the red pepper pieces as you can. Stir in the Certo and green food color. Pour immediately into containers or into sterilized jars and seal with melted paraffin. Makes about 7 cups. This will keep for a month if covered with plastic wrap in the refrigerator. It may be stored indefinitely in a cool place if sealed in sterilized jars.

HONEY BOURBON FRUITCAKE

from Françoise Barton

INGREDIENTS

- 1 pound candied citron, cut into small pieces
- 1 pound candied or dried apricots, cut into small pieces
- ½ pound dates, cut into small pieces
- 4 ounces candied lemon peel
- 4 ounces candied orange peel
- 1½ pounds raisins
- 1 pound currants
- 4 ounces walnuts, chopped
- 1½ cups whole wheat flour
- 1½ cups white flour
- 2 teaspoons baking soda
- 3 cups honey
- 1 cup butter, melted
- ½ cup bourbon
- 3 teaspoons cardamom seed, ground
- 2 teaspoons ginger, grated
- 2 teaspoons cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon cloves, ground
- 6 whole eggs
- ½ cup currant jelly

METHOD

In a large bowl mix chopped fruits, raisins, currants, and walnuts. Sift flours and soda over fruits and mix in honey, butter, and bourbon. Thoroughly mix in spices. In a separate bowl beat eggs and jelly together and add to fruit mixture.

Mix until all fruits are coated with batter. Divide batter into parts, place on double, greased squares of foil, gather up edges to form balls. Place in ½ inch of water to cook. Make sure open edges of foil are above water line. Bake at 300° for 2-2½ hours depending on size of balls.

TERRINE MAISON

from Françoise Barton

INGREDIENTS

- 2½ pounds pork—½ fat, ½ lean—ground
- 1½ pounds liver, ground
- ½ pound beef or veal, ground
- 7 tablespoons butter
- ⅓ cup shallots or scallions, chopped
- ½ teaspoon garlic, chopped
- ½ pound whole chicken livers
- ¼ cup cognac
- 3 tablespoons whipping cream
- 2 teaspoons lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 egg, lightly beaten
- ½ teaspoon allspice
- 1½ tablespoons salt
- 1 tablespoon pepper, freshly ground
- ½ teaspoon cayenne pepper, or less to taste
- ½ pound fresh pork fat or bacon cut in thin strips

METHOD

Combine ground meat in a large bowl. In a skillet, melt 5 tablespoons butter and brown together the shallots or scallions and garlic. Add mixture to the meat and mix well.

In the same skillet melt remaining butter and brown livers gently. Remove livers from pan. Reserve.

Deglaze skillet with the cognac and add this to the ground meats.

Add cream, lemon juice, flour, egg, and spices to the ground meats.

Preheat oven to 350°. In a 2-quart mold or terrine pan, lay thin strips of pork fat or bacon and fill ½ of terrine with the ground meat. Then lay the chicken livers in the center and cover with the remaining meat. Cover the top with more strips of fat.

Cover and bake in ½-inch of water for 2 hours.

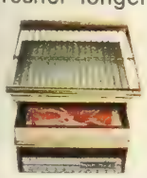
Model ESRF-16
16.0 Cubic Foot
(with optional ice maker)

Buy an Amana Energy Saving Refrigerator

This Amana Energy Saving Refrigerator costs less to operate than any other comparable refrigerator you can buy. That's really important today. And with electric costs skyrocketing, it's going to be increasingly critical in the future. But you can do something . . . now!

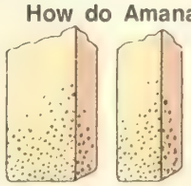
You can buy this energy saving Amana ESRF-16—the fully featured refrigerator-freezer that uses just a little more electricity than a 100 watt lightbulb per day. What does that mean in dollars? In New York, where electric rates are relatively high, this Amana Energy Saving Refrigerator would cut up to $100* a year off your electric bill. Your Amana Retailer will figure the exact amount you can save in your area.

But here's the best part. You don't give up any Amana special features. You get the exclusive Amana "refrigerator-within-a-refrigerator" meat keeper with its own temperature control that keeps meat fresher longer . . . because super cold air surrounds the outside without drying the meat. You also get Amana adjustable cantilever shelves. Even an optional ice maker you can add now or later. And, of course, the freezer is completely Free-O'-Frost.



*Compared to other refrigerators of comparable size and features.

How do Amana Energy Saving Refrigerators save so much electricity? It's easy to understand. Amana uses more foam insulation than has ever been used in a home refrigerator. Almost twice the insulating value of conventionally insulated refrigerators. This keeps the heat out . . . the cold in. So it doesn't run as much. And that keeps the electric bills down.



AMANA SIDEWALL 3" FOAM

TYPICAL SIDEWALL 1¾" FOAM

There's also a 3-position Energy Saver Control you can adjust to your home's humidity. And Magna-seal gaskets which seal the doors tight to prevent energy wasting leakage.

The Amana ESR-16 saves even more energy. The 15.6 cubic foot Amana ESR-16 uses as little electricity as a 75 watt lightbulb per day.

Amana Energy Saving Refrigerators—built to save money on your electric bill today. And to save more and more as electric costs go higher and higher.

These Amana Energy Saving Refrigerators are truly the refrigerator-freezers of the future—ready for you to own today! For more information see your Amana Retailer or write Ann McGregor, Dept. 528 Amana, Iowa 52203.

When the name of the game is saving energy . . . the name of the refrigerator is Amana.

Only a fine grape can produce a fine wine.

We grow our grapes in the valley of the Paicines mountain vineyards near San Juan Bautista.

It's here they mature and ripen in the warm California sun and slowly, gently cool down in the evening breezes from the Pacific Ocean.

Here, in the valley of the Paicines mountain vineyards, nature has provided Almadén with an ideal weather balance for growing fine wine grapes.

Possibly no one else takes such loving care in raising grapes as we do. To us, they're our children.

When you try your first sip of Almadén Pinot Noir, you'll understand why only a fine grape can produce a fine wine.

MUSSELS VINAIGRETTE

INGREDIENTS

- 5 pounds small mussels, cleaned, well-scrubbed
- ½ cup white wine vinegar
- 2 sprigs thyme
- 1 bay leaf
- ground black pepper
- 1½ cups red onion, chopped
- ⅓ cup parsley, chopped
- ¾ cup peanut, vegetable, or corn oil

METHOD

Place the mussels in a kettle and add ¼ cup vinegar, thyme, and bay leaf. Cover and steam until they open, 5 to 10 minutes. Drain. Empty the warm mussels into a large serving dish or mixing bowl. Toss with the remaining ingredients including the remaining quarter cup of vinegar. Serves 12 or more.

MUSTARD SAUCE

INGREDIENTS

- 1½ cups imported prepared Dijon or Dusseldorf mustard
- 4 teaspoons dry mustard
- ¾ cup sugar
- ½ cup white vinegar
- 1⅓ cup peanut, vegetable, or corn oil
- 1 cup dill, chopped
- salt to taste

METHOD

Place the prepared mustard, dry mustard, and sugar in a mixing bowl and blend well. Add the vinegar, stirring. Gradually add the oil, beating rapidly with a wire whisk. When blended and smooth, add the dill and salt to taste. Yield: about 3 cups.

CUCUMBER SALAD WITH DILL

INGREDIENTS

- 20 or more cucumbers (3 quarts), peeled and thinly sliced
- ¾ cup plus 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1¾ cups white vinegar
- salt to taste
- ½ cup dill, finely chopped

METHOD

Place cucumbers in a large mixing bowl and add ¾ cup sugar and 1¼ cups vinegar; add salt to taste. Mix well and let stand. The cucumbers will give up a good deal of liquid. Refrigerate 1 hour or so and drain.

Add remaining sugar and vinegar and more salt to taste. Add dill, toss. Yield: 60 or more servings.

HEAD CHEESE SALAD

INGREDIENTS

- 4 pounds boneless pork shoulder
- ½ teaspoon saltpeter (see note)
- 2 tablespoons salt
- 4½ pounds pork rind (available in pork stores in metropolitan areas)

The General Electric Potscrubber II™ dishwasher.

POTS UNRETOUCHED

It will help you out of some tough scrapes.
Before you put in your baked-on pots and pans, just tip off the larger scraps. There's no pre-rinsing or pre-scraping at all. A Soft Food Disposer pulverizes the remaining scraps and flushes them away.

And the GE Potscrubber II Dishwasher will clean them thoroughly, even with a full load.

It can even save you energy.
GE has a Rinse and Hold Cycle that rinses loose soil from partial loads and lets you postpone turning on your dishwasher till you have a full load.

Besides this, the Potscrubber II Dishwasher has a Power Saver Drying Option. When you press the "Heat Off" button, the dishes dry naturally by their residual heat.

A few words about sound and space.
The Potscrubber II Dishwasher is remarkably quiet, thanks to its glass fiber insulation.

It's also got a door opening that's a full 3½ inches larger than some competitive models. Even with all its space, it will fit right in where your old dishwasher was.

And because you sometimes have very tall glasses to wash in the top rack or very large platters to wash in the bottom one, there's a Dial-A-Level* Rack which can be adjusted up or down.

GE Servicemen don't like to keep a lady waiting.
When you buy GE, you get Customer Care* Service. Our pledge that wherever you are, or go, in the 48 contiguous states, you'll find a qualified GE serviceman nearby. Should you ever need one.

Accept Good Housekeeping's "strict editorial judgment" for Potscrubber II dishwasher performance.
They gave it their Consumers' "Limited Warranty Seal."

And take advantage of a special limited time offer. This historic pewter plate free when you buy your 950 or 1050 Potscrubber II from your GE dealer.
9¾ inches in diameter, a bicentennial collector's item, a limited edition registered by serial number with International Silver Company. With a retail value of $75.

PEKING ORANGES

INGREDIENTS
- 4 large navel oranges
- 1 cup water
- 2 cups sugar
- pinch of cream of tartar
- ¼ cup orange Curaçao or other orange-flavored liqueur

METHOD

Peel the oranges leaving white pith on the oranges. Cut peel into very fine julienne strips. In a saucepan, heat the water and dissolve sugar in it. Add cream of tartar and orange peel. Bring to a boil and simmer until thick. Be careful not to overcook or the syrup will caramelize. Take off fire and add liqueur. Chill.

Peel oranges again with a sharp knife removing all white pith. Slice in rounds. Arrange on a pretty dish and spoon syrup and julienned orange peel over orange slices. Serves 4-6.

SWEETMEATS

INGREDIENTS
- 1 cup butter
- 2 cups plus 2 tablespoons flour
- 3 cups dark brown sugar
- 4 eggs, beaten
- 1 cup coconut, grated
- 2 cups pecans, chopped
- granulated sugar

METHOD

Heat oven to 375°. For the base, cream the butter, 2 cups flour and 2 cups brown sugar together until soft. Spread out carefully with fingers on a 15-by-10-inch baking sheet and bake for 15 minutes. For the topping, mix carefully the remaining brown sugar, eggs, 2 tablespoons flour, coconut, and pecans. Pour this over the previously baked layer on the baking sheet and bake for 20 minutes. Remove from oven and sprinkle immediately with sugar. Cut biscuits while still warm. If they are not to be eaten right away, store them in an airtight tin. Makes about 3 dozen biscuits.

GLAZED GRAPES

INGREDIENTS
- 2 cups sugar
- 1 cup boiling water
- small bunches of white grapes with stems
- vegetable oil

TOM YEE

Maurice Moore-Betty prepares desserts in his kitchen where he teaches, cooks for friends, and works on books; his latest, Mary Poppins in the Kitchen, a cookbook and story written with author P. L. Travers.

METHOD

In a saucepan dissolve sugar in the boiling water. Just before a candy thermometer reaches 290° (hard crack stage) remove pan from heat as it will continue to cook and reach this stage in a few seconds.

Select small bunches of white grapes that are free of blemishes and have tight skins (no holes). Hold stem end with tongs and dip into hot syrup, coat thoroughly, and drain. Allow to cool on a lightly oiled cookie sheet. Grapes can be made 2-3 hours before serving.

POACHED PEARS BOURGOGNE

INGREDIENTS
- 6 small Bartlett pears, not too ripe
- juice of 1 lemon
- water
- 2 cups red burgundy
- 2 cups sugar
- 2 sticks cinnamon
- 4 whole cloves
- mint leaves

METHOD

Peel the pears leaving the stems intact. Cut a slice from the bottom so they will stand upright. Add lemon juice to 1 quart of water and as the pears are peeled put them into this mixture until needed. In a large saucepan combine wine, sugar, cinnamon, cloves and enough water to cover pears. Cover and simmer gently for 30 minutes to infuse. Add pears and poach until tender, about ½ hour. Length of time will depend upon the ripeness of the fruit. Cool in the poaching syrup. To serve, drain and decorate with fresh mint leaves. Serves 6.

CREME BRULEE

INGREDIENTS
- 4 egg yolks
- ¼ cup granulated sugar
- 1¾ cups heavy cream
- praline powder or light brown sugar

METHOD

In a mixing bowl beat the egg yolks and add sugar gradually; beat for 3 or 4 minutes. In a heavy saucepan heat the cream to almost boiling. Add cream to the egg yolk mixture a little at a time so that the yolks warm gradually. Pour back into the saucepan and set over low heat. Stir slowly until it thickens and the back of a wooden spoon is coated. Be sure to stir the bottom and sides of the pan. Remove from heat and beat until it cools to prevent a skin from forming. Pour into four ¾-cup ramekins and chill in refrigerator. Custard may be made the day before and stored in refrigerator overnight. Up to 2 hours before serving, sprinkle with praline powder or sugar and run under the broiler until the sugar melts, being careful that sugar does not burn. Serves 4.

MINCE PIES

INGREDIENTS
- 1 recipe all-purpose short pas (see below)
- 4 tablespoons dark rum
- 1½ cups good commercial mincemeat
- 1 egg yolk
- 1 tablespoon water
- superfine sugar

METHOD

Heat oven to 375°. Roll out pas to about ⅛ inch thick. Mark 6 cles larger than 4-inch tartlet t Fit them into tins pressing eve into corner leaving surplus ha ing over the sides. Prick all o with fork. Press foil neatly i pastry cases to prevent pas from rising. Bake for 15 minut Remove from oven and trim ed with sharp knife. Mix rum w mincemeat and spoon into she Mound slightly. Stamp out rounds of pastry with a tartlet t Fold in half and place on top mincemeat so that half the tart covered, scalloped edge to sc loped edge. Blend egg with wa and brush on pastry top. A delicious crusty wreath rings a Brie for a great new look to bread cheese. Cut them together in easy-to-serve wedges. Bake two wreaths a round pâté, wine, and a green salad and you have great quick foo cocktails or a buffet.

Crusty bread wreaths to circl a cheese or pâté

These beautiful crusty bread wreaths can be used to circle a variety of party foods and give a festive look to any holiday buffet. Made from Bolillos, a Mexican dough that makes a crusty, crunchy bread, the wreaths can be used to circle cheeses, from Brie to Edam; pâtés and mousses of chicken, liver, or salmon, or even a bountiful mound of sliced hot sausage to make the most irresistible party food.

Judy Glazer, who teaches bread- and pastry-making from her kitchen in Dallas, fashions these wreaths with the skill of an artist, which, incidentally, she is. She also makes exquisite bread rolls, a bunch of grapes (see page 92), a clutch of asparagus, a little mound of peas in their pods. These breads can be made ahead and frozen to serve later or allowed to dry out and varnished for holiday ornaments.

BOLILLOS

(Mexican hard-roll dough)

INGREDIENTS

- 2 cups water
- 1½ tablespoons sugar
- 1 tablespoon sea salt
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 rounded tablespoon dry yeast
- 6 cups or 29-30 ounces unsifted, unbleached, hard wheat flour, weighed
- 1 teaspoon cornstarch dissolved in ½ cup water

METHOD

In a small saucepan combine water, sugar, and salt and stir to dissolve. Add butter and heat mixture slowly to 115° on a thermometer. Pour mixture into a mixing bowl, add yeast, and allow to stand a few minutes until bubbly. Stir to dissolve yeast completely. Add flour to bowl and knead for about 10 minutes or until dough is velvety smooth. Grease a large bowl, add dough and turn dough over to grease top. Cover with plastic wrap and let rise in a warm place until dough has almost doubled in size (about 1½ hours).

METHOD FOR MAKING WREATHS

Punch dough down to release air bubbles and turn out onto a floured board. Cut off a lump of dough weighing 34 ounces; reserve remaining dough for making bow. Divide dough into 3 equal pieces. Form these into balls, cover, and let rest on board for 10 minutes. Roll the balls into 3 strips, about ½ inch in diameter, and 4½ feet long, using palms of hands on table or countertop. Braid strips together.

Grease 14-inch-long baking sheet and place in the center a round 8-inch baking pan greased on the outside. Place braided dough on sheet encircling pan. Trim ends as neatly as possible. Use a drop of water to stick together.

To make bow: Roll out 4 o of dough into a strip 28 inche and ½ inch in diameter, shap bow, and roll ¼ ounce of into a strip 6 inches long, thick, and ½ inch wide. Wra tightly around the middle bow and shape and punc ends together securely. Plac bow on the wreath to cove joined ends.

Cover and allow to rise almost doubled in size, abo minutes.

In a saucepan dissolve starch-water mixture and he boiling. Cool mixture slightly brush wreath with glaze.

Bake in a 375° oven for 3 minutes or until it is golden b and sounds hollow when tap (If a very crisp bread is des fill a shallow pan with boilin ter and place it on a lower sh the oven.) Cool wreath on a rack.

To freeze, wrap the brea curely in either plastic or foil heat in a 350° oven for 20 min then brush the bread with wat

CHICKEN LIVER MOUSSE

(from Donald Bruce White, a caterer in New York)

INGREDIENTS

- 1 pound chicken livers
- butter
- ½ medium onion, minced
- 1 clove garlic, crushed
- 1 ounce Madeira

1. Judy Glazer, left, oils pans and cookie sheets with a pastry brush before baking wreaths. 2. Carefully weighed, measured, and rolled-out dough is braided on the counter. 3. The braid is wrapped around a pan on a cookie sheet to hold its shape correct during baking; the edges joined secure with a little water. 4. With an artist brush, Mrs. Glazer glazes wreath.

These bread wreaths freeze beautifully wrapped well in plastic and then in foil. Reheat straight from the freezer in a 350° oven for 20 minutes

COLD SALMON MOUSSE WITH DILL

from Judy Glazer

1 tablespoon gelatin
¼ cup dry vermouth
¾ cup chicken stock
4 cups cooked salmon, chilled
2 teaspoons tomato paste
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 teaspoon paprika
1½ teaspoons sea salt
1 tablespoon lemon juice
dash of Tabasco ½ cup heavy cream, lightly whipped dill mayonnaise
fresh dill

METHOD

Oil a round stainless steel mold 6-8 inches in diameter. In a bowl soften gelatin in wine for 5 minutes.

In a small saucepan bring chicken stock to simmer, stir in softened gelatin, and cook 1-2 minutes until dissolved. Add mixture to the container of a blender; add salmon and blend until mixture is a smooth purée. Pour purée into bowl and add tomato paste, onion, paprika, sea salt, lemon juice and Tabasco, and set bowl in a larger bowl filled with ice and water. Stir mixture until it starts to thicken and fold in cream. Pour into mold, cover with plastic wrap, and refrigerate for at least 2 hours or until firm. Unmold on platter and place wreath on top. Serve with dill mayonnaise and fresh dill. ■

There are many ways to make a Bloody Mary. But there's only one way to make a Bloody Thomas.

A teaspoon of lemon juice. Or was it a tablespoon? A dash of this. Or was it a dash of that? The Bloody Mary. It has as many tastes as it has recipes.

But the Bloody Thomas. Ah, the Bloody Thomas. Easy to make. Zesty to taste. 3 parts of Snap-E-Tom®, the Mexican tomato cocktail made with green chiles and other good things. And one part vodka. Ice and stir, of course.

And then that first, cold, spicy sip. And you'll know why there's only one way to make a Bloody Thomas and only one way to describe it's taste. Delicious.

How to find party help

vices. Columbia College, Fordham University in New York; Harvard College in Cambridge, and Boston University; Stanford in Palo Alto and UCLA and USC in Los Angeles all have bartending services. There is usually no fee for using these services for acquiring help and fees are paid directly to the students working for you. A minimum number of hours at a flat rate, then an hourly rate after that is the custom.

Don't overlook the teen-aged children of friends. They may be delighted to help on a professional level during a party. Parking cars, supervising young children, serving, cleaning up—there are many things they could do. In many areas, off-duty policemen can be hired to handle parking.

In addition to helping you choose the flowers for your party, many florists will come to your house and arrange the table and room decorations. Some will design the entire party, and set it up. Your decorator is a fine source of ideas and advice, and many decorators like to plan parties.

Party planners and party rental services can be an enormous help with the physical aspects of getting ready for a large party—they are the best people to advise you about the quantity of tables, chairs, glasses, china, flatware, linens, serving pieces, and trays you'll need to serve everyone comfortably. Asking for and receiving accurate, conservative advice is the first most important service you pay for so don't be shy. You don't want to run out of anything, neither do you want substantial waste.

Professional party organizer Sean Driscoll, a partner with Christopher Idone of Glorious Food, offers these suggestions:

"For dinner parties or buffets of from 16 to 40 people we prefer to cook the main course in the kitchen of the home where the party is being given. An immaculate kitchen and a relatively empty refrigerator are the two best things that help us get started the evening of the party. Canapés, first course of soup or salad, and dessert we bring. We recommend wines and sources for flowers but most party givers prefer to choose their own. The most valuable advice? Trust your caterer and relax. There are no crises when proper planning and timing, which is, after all, our business, go into a party."

Do you want a butler? He may be a tremendous source of managerial help during a really large party—one where there may be well over 150 guests. Not only does he undertake the allocation of coats, furs, hats, presents, and packages, he is technically in charge of the rest of the staff you may have acquired for the party. How much easier it is to have one person to report to you and to oversee and direct the help. This is especially important where cocktails are served—the butler's traditional domain being in this area. Catering services do not always have a butler's service as a regular part of their staff though they can usually get one who works effectively with their own staff. Butlers' services are also advertised as "Situations Wanted" in newspapers, too.

How about a major housecleaning before a party? Include the garden, the lawns, the silver polishing, window washing, and ironing the linens—at a party you want everything to sparkle! A day or two's worth of professional housecleaning could save you hours. There are many house and apartment cleaning companies listed in the Yellow Pages and advertised in local city magazines and newspapers, who specialize in "One Day Clean Sweep" operations that would make your party place gleam. Or contact a maid service for lighter work—ironing or polishing. $80 a day for a team of two men or women is not unusual. ■

The new Early American collection from Case gives you a beautiful feeling of the good old days. And it lets you enjoy the same painstaking craftsmanship that Case has been putting into knives for more than a century.

For example, we put at least 75 hand operations in each one of Case's nine Early Americans. Notice how the tang extends the full length of the handle for extra strength. And how the handles are natural walnut for natural beauty, impregnated with acrylic to resist grease and moisture absorption.

And how the blades are glaze-finished surgical steel with edges as sharp as the edges we used to put on our straight razors.

The apple orchard garden calls for some pruning and spraying, otherwise little in the way of maintenance. And, of course, it's fruitful. The family not only enjoys a marvelous cycle of changes, they can get involved in picking the fruit, eating it raw, and creating delicious things to eat with produce from their own yard.

"Any wind-driven sand on the decks can simply be swept below into the juniper bed," adds Mr. Morgan. "Everything had to be practical. The bed also provides a natural point for lighting, so we can enjoy the garden at night."

Earth gardens can be dug in almost any territory. They do require space though—for instance 10 feet of flat land is needed to make a 5-foot peak. And care should be taken if any trees exist in the area—oaks for example are very affected by changes of grade near their bases.

Cost: Trees, planting, earth moving $1000. Decking: $687 for wood and nails (construction done by the family). Seaside plants cost nothing, taken from the beach and transplanted.

Michael Graves:
"There are times," continues Mr. Graves, "when you want to have the sense of being protected and not being out in the wilderness, and other moments when just the opposite is true. A garden should respond to both moods."

The fastest people can walk is 4½ miles iour, and that is not making a demand. But 2 or 3 miles like every day will counteract the ers of a sedentary life.

f you have no time to walk much, or nowhere to walk, try walking upstairs instead. thing to keep moving! Re- iber that walking uses up calories, too. Here are some examples, taking a person who walks 3½ miles per hour—a good, brisk walking pace—

1 hamburger [350 calories] takes 60 minutes to walk off; 1 glass of beer [113 calories] takes 22 minutes; 1 large apple [100 calories] takes 19 minutes; 1 fried egg [110 calories] takes 21 minutes; 1 malted milk shake [502 calories] takes 95 minutes!

And remember, if you don't walk, these calories will simply pile up. Incorporate walking into your daily life. Your heart will reap the benefit."

S ON BUYING GOOD LKING SHOES

Buy your shoes with the under- nding that, provided you keep shoes clean, you can get your ney back if they are not com- table. ("Any responsible shoe re will agree to this," says Dr. berts.) Take the shoes home, put them on, cover them with a shoe bag or big socks and walk about in them indoors for a couple of hours. That's the only good way to test their comfort.

2. Tests for a good fitting shoe: (a) The heel should fit snugly. (b) The toe should be ¼ of an inch longer than your longest toe. (c) The shank—middle of the shoe—should be wide enough so your foot is not hanging over it at either side. (d) The front of the shoe should be broad enough so you can ripple the leather over the toes with your fingers. This is a better test than wiggling your toes, which you can do in almost any shoe. (e) Stand in the shoe on one foot—this is when most weight is expended onto the foot.

"Freedom of motion is essential nile walking. Wear nothing tight ound you. "There are lots of ways of walk- ng. Some people have to have a urpose or a destination, such as ooking at birds or picking berries. Others walk just for the walk's ake. Some people won't walk un- ess they have company. Others vill only walk alone. It depends n your own personality and what ind of walking you did when you vere growing up.

"Children often don't see the oint of walking, but if you show hem, it's something they will va- ue all their lives. I think we make delightful habits out of things we enjoyed as children. Interest them in walking by showing them the wild flowers and identifying them, or by hunting for berries and picking them."

HOW TO WALK FARTHER THAN YOU THOUGHT YOU COULD

(Aaron Sussman is coauthor of The Magic of Walking. He is a professional photographer, so walks a lot, particularly in the country. He came up with this technique to help a friend, stranded during a city transit strike.)

"Remember Tom Sawyer painting the fence? You don't paint a whole fence, you paint a little bit at a time. If you are going on a walk and feel you can't make such a long distance as the one planned, interrupt your consciousness of distance by focusing on something else. Concentrate on conversation—or your train of thought. This way you simply forget that you are walking such a distance. Nor do you get tired because you aren't aware you are supposed to be getting tired.

"Another tip is to try to walk as the Indians do—keep your feet parallel and quite close together, with your hands positioned so that the thumbs can brush your thighs as your arms swing."

Even the smallest Italian restaurant should be able to produce a good hearty minestrone or lasagne and an antipasto platter (although you might want to improve on this with a few choice things from an Italian grocery if the selection is limited). Italian groceries also sell the tiny bittersweet macaroons called amaretti and Italian bakeries make the luscious pastries called cannoli.

Your own touches: Put big ripe strawberries in goblets, sugar them lightly and pour on some of the red wine you are serving with the meal. Leave to soak during dinner.

Dolmathes (stuffed vine leaves), spanakopita (spinach pie), taramosalata (cod-roe dip), and moussaka are usually standard items on the menu of any Greek restaurant. The appetizers can be eaten cold and the moussaka improves with reheating. Kourabiedes is a cookie sold in Greek bakeries, but if you can't find it substitute any type of small almond cookie.

range on a large, lettuce-lined platter. Garnish with Greek Calamata olives (sold in bulk or bottles), sprinkle with crumbled feta cheese, and dress with a sharp vinaigrette sauce with a touch of oregano.

For the dessert, drain the syrup from canned figs and dilute with ouzo to taste. Pour syrup back over figs, chill and serve with yoghurt.

CHEESE AND CHARCUTERIE BUFFET

Selection of Sausages: various salamis, cervelat, mortadella, liver sausage, cappicola, Lebanon bologna, blood-and-tongue sausage, one hot sausage such as kielbasa, cotechino, or linguica
Baked Ham or Pâté Maison
Cheddar, Münster, Gruyère, and Limburger Cheese
Rye, Pumpernickel, and French Bread
Butter Mustards
Dill and Sweet-and-sour Pickles
Italian Sweet Pickled Peppers
Apples and Pears
To drink: a selection of beers

For your sausage selection, shop the supermarket and delicatessen cold-cuts counter and the ethnic stores. Pick mostly ready-to-eat types that need only to be sliced, plus one uncooked type (Polish kielbasa, Italian cotechino, Portuguese linguica) to poach, slice, and serve hot. Sausages are economical food. Teamed with bread they are very filling and a little goes a long way. You may, if you like, eliminate the more expensive ham or pâté. Arrange the meats and cheeses on big boards with slicing knives and let the guests help themselves. Have Dijon and German mustards, hot English mustard, and if you can find it in your local specialty-food shop or department-store food section the marvelous French moutarde de Meaux that contains cracked mustard seeds.

Fortune Cookies
To drink: green tea

You'll have to check the selection of take-out dishes at your local Chinese restaurant as these differ according to the style of cooking and the scope of the menu but this will give you some guidelines. Chinese food is the least expensive restaurant dining, provided you keep away from expensive foods like lobster, shrimp, and duck and choose chicken, pork, beef, and vegetarian dishes, which gives you lots of latitude. The rule is to have one dish per guest and the bigger your party, the more varied the menu. It doesn't matter if you repeat the same meat, provided the style of preparation is different.

Your own touches: While salad is not part of the structure of a Chinese meal, a salad of bean sprouts (which can be bought in Chinese groceries, health food stores, canned, or grown from mung beans), spiked with freshly grated ginger root and dressed with soy sauce and peanut or sesame seed oil, makes a deliciously piquant appetizer, instead of the usual egg rolls or barbecued spareribs.

For dessert, drain and combine canned mandarin oranges and litchis. Fortune cookies may sound like a cliché, but have you ever seen anyone who can resist breaking them open to read the cryptic message inside? That's part of the fun of a Chinese meal—like eating with chopsticks.

SALADE COMPOSÉE BUFFET

Selection of Salad Greens: Boston and romaine lettuce, escarole, watercress, spinach, arugula, chicory, endive
Selection of Fresh Vegetables: cherry tomatoes, cucumber, radishes, scallions, green peppers, red onion, mushrooms, avocado, carrots, zucchini, celery
Selection of Canned or Cooked Vegetables: pimientos, green beans, red kidney beans, chick peas, water chestnuts, potatoes
Selection of Meats and Fish: cold chicken and beef, canned tuna and anchovies, crumbled cooked bacon or bacon bits
Hard-cooked Eggs
Gruyère, Feta, and Blue Cheese
Grated Parmesan
Green and Black Olives Capers
Cornichons Fresh Herbs
Wine Vinegar Lemon Juice
Olive Oil
Salt, Pepper, Dijon Mustard
French Bread Butter
Apple Strudel or Apple Tart with Whipped Cream or Sour Cream
Wine: white carafe wine

Here you do most of the work—but all it involves is cleaning vegetables, opening cans, and arranging everything attractively in bowls or on platters on the buffet table, so each guest can make a selection of foods for a personally created salade composée, with dressing mixed to taste. A centerpiece of fresh herbs, arranged in their pots on a big clay saucer, would make a delightful edible decoration, to be snipped and added to the salads, but if you don't grow fresh herbs you could have a basket of Italian parsley, chives, and any other herbs available in the markets, such as tarragon, basil, or dill.

Most pastry shops make open-faced apple tart or apple strudel, or you can buy frozen strudel.

FRIED CHICKEN DINNER

Fried Chicken in a Basket
Remoulade, Andalouse, or Horseradish Sauce
Watercress
Finger Sandwiches of Pita, Tomato, Cucumber, and Basil
Cheesecake with Black and Green Grapes or Canned or Fresh Pineapple Fingers with Dark Rum
Wine: a lightly chilled red Beaujolais, Côte du Rhône, or California Zinfandel

In any part of the country you can pick up a fried chicken dinner at the nearest franchise. Even fins becs have rated the chicken acceptable to good, but the accompaniments leave something to be desired. With very little effort you can produce something more interesting and palatable.

Your own touches: Make a mayonnaise-based sauce to dip the chicken in, such as remoulade (to 1½ cups mayonnaise, add 1 tablespoon Dijon mustard, 2 tablespoons each chopped gherkins, capers, parsley, fresh tarragon—if dried, use 1 teaspoon—a minced garlic clove, and a touch of anchovy paste); Andalouse (to 2 cups mayonnaise, add ½ cup thick tomato sauce or tomato purée, ½ sweet red pepper, finely chopped, and 2 teaspoons chopped chives); or horseradish (to 2 cups mayonnaise, add 1 cup sour cream, ¼ cup lemon juice, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, and horseradish to taste).

Skip the greasy and calorie-loaded French fries and instead have a great big bowl of watercress (no dressing) to munch on and little sandwiches made of the pint-sized pita (the flat, round Middle East bread) split halfway through and filled with sliced tomato, sliced cucumber, a little crumbled feta cheese or grated Parmesan, and a leaf or two of fresh basil, if available.

For dessert, garnish the to supermarket frozen cheese with halved black and g grapes, or have fingers of fres canned pineapple to dip in cups (sake, Japanese tea, or d tasse cups) of dark rum.

TACO DINNER

Tortillas
Bowls of Fillings: shredded coo chicken and pork; chopped f chorizo sausage; chopped tuce; cooked ground b chopped onion; chopped, pee and seeded tomato; cubed M terey Jack or Cheddar che chopped or sliced canned chil
Taco Sauces Guacamo
Sour Cream and Chopped Bla Olives
Ranch Salad
Cream Cheese and Fruit Past (quince, guava, mango) with Saltine Crackers
To drink: beer

Tacos are rivaling pizza as Ame ca's favorite snack food, partic larly in the Western states. If y aren't in taco-stand country, t supermarket will supply a froz taco dinner consisting of the t tilla shells, seasoning mix for t ground beef, and a taco sauce. you can buy fresh or canned t tillas at a Spanish-American gr cery or specialty food shop (t canned type can be mail-ordere as can taco sauces and canne chiles). Heat the tortillas in t oven or fry them in oil until brow add fillings to taste, fold over, ar serve with taco sauces, guacamol and, untraditional but deliciou sour cream and chopped blac olives.

With tacos you might have ranch salad of drained canned re kidney beans, white beans, an chick peas combined with choppe onion, peeled, seeded, and choppe tomato, and finely chopped hc chiles, with a garlic-flavore vinaigrette sauce—or buy a bea salad at the delicatessen and ad chopped chile and garlic to it.

Cream cheese and fruit past with saltine crackers is a very eas traditional Mexican dessert—th fruit pastes are available canned i Spanish-American groceries, spe cialty food shops, and by mail they keep well once opened. ■

We guarantee your complete satisfaction in every respect ... or your money back!

Every year folks write to tell us how pleased their friends are with gifts from Harry and David. Our "secret"? It's the personal touch that's part of every gift we make. Harry and I grow our own fruit, bake our own cakes, put up our own preserves — even make our own baskets. If you could see the care with which our gifts are put together, you'd know why the quality is guaranteed.

Every one of our gifts is custom-made and packed by hand. Folks who won't settle for less know they can rely on Harry and me for gifts that are in perfect taste — and delivered to the right place, at the right time, in perfect condition. We guarantee it: you, and those to whom you send Harry and David gifts, must be completely satisfied in every respect, or we will promptly send a replacement gift or refund your money, whichever you prefer.

We do all the wrapping, addressing, even ship with your personal greetings at no extra cost — and get your gifts in the mail at the right time, whether it's one gift or 1,000. And you'll enjoy a wonderful carefree Christmas — basking in showers of thanks for months to come!

EASY TO ORDER Use the order blanks at right, or just send us your list. Enclose check or money order (no C.O.D.'s please). Tell us how to sign your greetings for each gift. All prices include delivery.

AT LAST! THE AMAZING ORIENTAL PLANT THAT HELPS WIPE AWAY UGLY CELLULITE IN JUST MINUTES A DAY!

MUST MAKE YOUR BODY SUPPLE AS A TEENAGER IN DAYS OR PAY NOTHING!

Nothing can banish ugly cellulite bumps except this treatment. Diets alone can't do it. Exercise alone can't do it. Even surgery can't do it.

Glamorous European beauties have cherished this astounding beauty secret for years. But, at last, we have discovered their secret and share it with you. Our "Loofah Pad" contains thousands of tiny "fingers" that work with our unique beautifying program that banishes beauty-robbing Cellulite in just minutes a day.

Only Minutes A Day

In a matter of days you'll have a younger, more glamorous looking body without strenuous dieting, rigorous exercise or nerve-shattering pills. And, you achieve this miracle in the privacy of your own home, for a tiny fraction of what it would cost to attend a European beauty salon.

Everything You Need In One Kit

When you mail the coupon, we will send you everything you need to wage your war on CELLULITE: Miracle Loofah Pad, complete beauty program, instructions showing you precisely the proper way to use it.

Sensual European Ladies Swear By It

They say the program turns your own bath into a full fledged European Health Spa. International magazines say the plan effectively attacks problem areas, as it creates a sensually smooth skin. Other authorities say Nothing can banish ugly Cellulite bumps except this treatment. Diets alone can't do it. Exercise can't do it. Even surgery can't do it!

CELLULITE is fatty deposits that have gone astray and are clinging to the most obvious parts of the woman's body. If left unattended, they create "turkey wattles," sagging jaw lines, flabby upper arms, ugly thighs, crocodile skin.

So send the coupon now. You have nothing to lose but your embarrassing bumps. The complete Cellulite kit will be rushed to you by return mail. Use it for 10 days. You must be positively delighted with the results, or return the proof of purchase slip for a full refund — no questions asked. Remember, this program is not available in stores anywhere.

The Fascinating Story of LOOFAH

Loofah belongs to the cucumber family and originated in India about 2000 years ago.

About 500 years ago, a Korean king, Sochong the Great, ordered his men to find a sponge strong enough to cleanse his body but gentle enough not to scratch his skin. It did not take very long for his men to find SUSEM! (Korean name for loofah).

He finally ordered loofah to become the royal bath sponge. The Japanese and Europeans later adopted it.

Many doctors recommend loofah for its ability to stimulate the skin while the juice of loofah soothes the body.

READ WHAT WORLD RENOWNED AUTHORITIES SAY ABOUT CELLULITE:

Famous Health Magazine

"During my residence in Paris, I was intrigued by . . . loofah, which, except in Europe, was not yet so much in vogue. The accompanying tag declared it excellent for cellulite, or peau d'orange — skin of an orange."

"I asked the pharmacist for an explanation of peau d'orange. He described the condition and the loofah, he said, was part of the massaging action needed to help break down and dissolve the fat accumulations."

A Best Selling Book On Cellulite

"Surface friction brings nourishments to the skin. Wet or dry, the friction rub is equally effective."

"Aside from helping to break down cellulite bulges, the dry friction rub leaves the skin so smooth that practically every Frenchwoman includes it as part of her daily beauty routine."

Banish Those Cellulite Bumps Forever

by Catherine Russek

"The loofah, a Swedish sponge or mitt, is an instrument of massage. This will smooth your skin, flaking off the dry outer layer and leaving you smooth as the proverbial baby."

"I lost 7½ lbs., 5⅝ inches off my waistline, added 1 inch to my bustline in 14 days..."

"No wonder I'm smiling again–I did it without rigid dieting or complicated exercises!"

(Says happy Julie O'Brien)

Julie O'Brien used our safe college-tested natural way to lose inches and pounds in days—without the use of dangerous pills, diuretics, amphetamines, rigid dieting or complicated exercises—and she keeps it off with the Plan, without giving up a single food she loves!

Here are the 6 reasons why you, like Julie, can start looking years slimmer...in 14 days...if you start using our '5' Minute Body Shaper Plan right away!

1. It concentrates its slimming action on your fatty areas; waist, hips, upper thighs — that give you an aging look. Because it works most of your muscles gracefully—not body part by body part—the Plan stimulates faster slimming action to help you start fashioning a more youthful looking figure in 14 days.

2. Simple to use. No disrobing. Attach it to any door knob, stretch out comfortably on the floor. Do one '5' Minute continuous, rhythmic, enjoyable exercise, twice daily, whenever you have the time, even while watching TV.

3. Designed to slim fatty problem areas. Choose from 4 different '5' Minute exercises, each created to help slim down the problem fatty deposit areas of your figure in 14 days.

4. No rigid dieting. We suggest you temporarily eat 20% less until you reach your normal weight, without giving up any of the foods you love—eat Ice Cream, Cakes, Pasta, whatever! (It's all in the guide).

5. Safer and saves time. No more running to gyms for complicated, exhausting workouts that can strain you. This simple '5' Minute Plan, that you do at home, leaves you refreshed.

6. Weighs only 10 ounces. Fits any wallet size case. Stores anywhere. Travels with you so you never have to miss a slimming session. Remember, it's the daily sessions that trim, shape, and fashion you a more youthful looking figure.

It's Fun With Results..."5" Minutes And Out.

THE SECRET WHY IT BEATS FASTING ALONE, MAKING YOUR FIGURE LOOK YEARS YOUNGER.

Fasting programs, when causing weight loss, unlike our plan usually burn off more active tissue (muscles) which can cause your skin to wrinkle, muscles to sag, and create dragging fatigue. Our Plan increases active tissue growth—through the use of the '5' Minute exerciser—while concentrating greater fat loss (by exercise and temporary 20 per cent food reduction), making you look years younger as you slim. Within the first '5' minutes you use the exerciser, you start burning off fat, speeding up your metabolism to help burn up stored calories, releasing excess water. Helps curb your appetite without suppressants. Increases energy and well being. It's so simple and enjoyable a Plan to follow, we guarantee you can stay with it, remaining slim without regaining those inches and pounds. It can put an end to your "gain-and-loss-cycles."

USE OUR '5' MINUTE BODY SHAPER PLAN FOR 14 DAYS AND WE GUARANTEE YOU THESE RESULTS:

"You Will Lose Inches and Pounds. Improve Your Vitality, Energy, Fitness, Posture, Work Off Body Tensions, Feel and Look Better and Younger — All To Your Satisfaction Within 14 Days If You Follow Our Instructions—Or Your $7.98 Will Be Refunded."

EXPERTS AND CUSTOMERS AGREE:
It's the no-nonsense way to shape up fast!

Scientific reports and many of our 600,000 customers inform us that sauna wraps, inflated belts, weighted belts and other 'effortless exercisers' are of little or no value in firming, shaping, and beautifying your figure. YOU MUST WORK OFF THE INCHES," experts say. We believe, and results prove, ours is the simplest, safest, most enjoyable Plan to do it.

Here's a sampling of what the customers who have shaped up on our Plan tell us happened to them: "I lost 25 pounds, 5½ inches off my waist in 14 days," G. G. "Lost 32 pounds, 6⅛ inches off my waist in 24 days," M. F. "I lost 7 pounds and 5½ inches off my waistline in 9 days." L. S.

START SHAPING UP NOW!

It is America's most successful body slimmer and shaper. Over 1,500,000 customers have purchased our '5' Minute Plan to slim down fast. Results are proven and some notarized. Our guarantee to you is in writing. Experts agree our plan works—and works fast. Now, can you think of any reason for not ordering your '5' Minute Body Shaper Plan and start slimming down today?

Satisfaction Guaranteed

Use our improved '5' Minute Body Shaper Plan for 14 days! See what it can do for you! If it is not what we say it is, simply return it to us, in good condition, for $7.98 refund."

Talking 'Patty Prayer' Doll

now I lay me down to sleep...

Kneels and says her bedtime prayer

Nothing to wind up—no string to pull. Whenever you want her to she says

"Now I lay me down to sleep,
I pray the Lord my soul to keep.
If I should die before I wake,
I pray the Lord my soul to take.
God bless Mommy . . . and Daddy, and make me a good girl, Amen."

Makes a beautiful gift!

Just press her tummy and Patty recites the entire children's bedtime prayer in her precious childlike voice. Almost 20 inches tall, she's soft and lovable and dressed in a silken nylon nightie. Under the nightie her body and arms are cloth covered foam. Hands and head are soft washable vinyl—her beautiful lifelike hair can be combed and styled. Patty's delightful voice comes from a miniature record player in her tummy. Open the zipper on her back to turn the record over and she sings "Brother John"! Operates on a single penlight battery (included). Money back refund if you (and your favorite little girl) are not perfectly delighted.

We're looking for people o write children's books."

you ever wanted to write and be ıblished this is your opportunity.

by Francis Gemme

Francis Gemme, a Founder of the Institute of Children's Literature, the President and Publisher of Gallery Books and former President of Young Reader's Press.

ced writers. There are over 150 rs of books for children and an 250 magazines, all of which need for writers.

now that many people could help need for children's writers if uld only get started. Are you one people? Do you have the urge to ıd the ambition to work at it but ıble to get professional training? ou tied to your home or job? s you lack confidence in your you ever read a children's story id, "I can do better than that"? ou ever deplored the lack of good erature for young readers? Do ve children? Do you want to do ing important with your life? Do ant the personal satisfaction and vards that come with writing for n? That very attitude may be the ıat you can do it, for the desire e must come first.

Stories only you can write.

e you learn to use the basic writing ques, writing for children may be than you think. Your personal ex- ces, fantasies, personality traits, bbies all lend themselves to good ts. Many of these subjects have vritten about—plainly and simply have been published. You prob- ıave within yourself many chil- stories that only you can write.

A new kind of school.

the Institute of Children's Litera- top writers and publishers have d together to create a professional to teach you to write for young en and for teenagers. They include like Lee Wyndham, a teacher and r of forty-eight books, including ng for Children and Teenagers, e Gramatky, author and illustrator any famous children's books like Toot, and John Ledes, President tor Honor Books and publisher of award-winning children's books. tal, these professional writers have shed hundreds and hundreds of s and magazine articles for young rs. They know how to write—how ıch—and how to help you get your ıg published.

Learning to write and to sell.

This course will train you step-by-step from the writing of the opening sentence through the polishing of a finished manuscript. Yes, you will have completed a manuscript suitable for submission to a publisher when you finish this course.

The success of this course has been demonstrated time and again by people who simply knew in their hearts that they could write in a way that would enrich children's reading experiences.

Your own instructor.

Because writing is a very personal experience, we believe that the teaching of writing must also be personalized. That is why, in addition to writing materials, textbooks, instruction, and assignments, you will receive personal guidance on every lesson from your own instructor.

The instructor chosen for you will be a professional writer who will remain with you throughout the course. He will show you how to use your personal feelings, experiences, imagination, and interests to write for children—in your spare time at home.

Work at your own pace.

A writing course is most effective when you can work at the time you feel most like working. With this course, there is no bell to end the class and no interruptions from other students. You and your instructor can work together at the pace most suitable for you. This flexible schedule allows more time for each student than is possible in a classroom situation.

You mail your completed work to your instructor who carefully reads and edits each assignment. He then writes you a long personal letter explaining in detail his corrections and makes specific recommendations. You receive professional advice and guidance while you work where you want—when you want.

The rewards.

Although many writers of children's books earn $10,000 to $15,000 and more a year, the benefits of a career in writing also include the challenge, the excitement, and the great satisfaction of doing something important with your life. When you complete this course, you will be a trained writer with a future. And what a future!

The market is enormous. Editors and publishers of children's literature are searching for talented writers.

Last year, more than 30 million children's books were published, producing total sales of over 170 million dollars! And over 250 periodicals for children with a combined circulation of over 60,000,000 were published. Books and magazine articles for children are frequently adapted for television and for the movies. In addition, there are twenty-six children's book clubs and a rapidly expanding children's paperback market.

Writing is truly satisfying only when your work is published and, for writers of children's literature, there have never been more publishers.

Will you take the first step?

You may be a teacher, be taking care of a home, or be a concerned grandparent. You may not even believe that you have the necessary background to become a successful writer. But, as an author, you will be judged solely on your ability to write—not on your age, sex, education, or previous writing experience.

For example, female authors appear on the best sellers list as frequently as do male authors and, in the field of children's literature, there are as many female editors as there are male editors.

Free test.

To find qualified men and women with an aptitude for writing, the Faculty and Consultants of the Institute have prepared a special Aptitude Test. It is offered free of charge and will be evaluated at no charge to you by members of our staff.

If you want to be a writer, send in the coupon below for this free test and for a free brochure which fully describes the Institute, our course, our faculty, the current publishing market for children's literature, and your new future. If you demonstrate an aptitude for writing, you will be eligible to enroll. Of course, there is no obligation.

Francis Gemme, Director

Institute of Children's Literature P99
Redding Ridge, Connecticut 06876

Yes, Mr. Gemme, I am interested in your program to help new writers. Please send me your free brochure and aptitude test right away. I understand that I am under no obligation whatsoever and that no salesman will call.

Bicentennial Bank 1776 1976

The engraving on the bank of Independence Hall is faithfully portrayed in fine detail. The full height of the bank is 10¾" and it weighs almost eight lbs.

Historical attention in 1976 will focus on Independence Hall Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, just as it did in 1876, the year of our nation's great Centennial Celebration. This famous building was the site of the first public reading of the Declaration of Independence on July 8, 1776.

Our faithful replica in iron was first cast almost a hundred years ago by the Enterprise Manufacturing Company of Philadelphia - in 1875, in preparation for the Centennial celebration. It is truly one of the most massive and interesting still banks ever created, weighs almost eight pounds, and holds in modern coinage more than $500 worth of silver! The exterior dimensions are: Height, 10¾"; Length 9½"; and Depth, 8".

The Bicentennial Bank is constructed of eight heavy iron pieces, each one individually sand-cast in precisely the manner of the 1875 original. All pieces lock securely together with three nuts and bolts. The tower is removed by releasing one bolt for retrieving coins.

As a constant reminder of our country's struggle for independence, and as a valued keepsake to pass down from generation to generation, possibly appreciating in value through the years, the Bicentennial Bank will be a prized possesion, far beyond the value of the usual commemorative.

An opportunity to collect International Silver's 13 Colonies Bicentennial Spoons

Take your first spoon FREE with purchase of two more

Here's a wonderful way to mark our nation's approaching Bicentennial. It's the 13 Original Colonies Bicentennial Commemorative Spoon Collection in heavy silverplate by the renowned International Silver Company.

Each spoon bears the Great Seal of a state that was one of the 13 original colonies, plus the state's name and date it entered the Union. The collection also includes a handsome Early American display rack in Salem-finish pine (comparable retail value: $7.50), sent at no extra cost upon completion of your collection.

The price of the spoons is just $2.50 each—modest indeed compared to the price of many other collectibles. And to start your set, you are invited to accept the first spoon free. (See details below). Offer expires June 30, 1976.

FOR PHONE ORDERS, call 800-243-3755 toll-free (in Connecticut, call collect 235-6383) and give us your charge card number.

TO ORDER BY MAIL, use this coupon.

CORDLESS TELEPHONE

A GREAT GIFT IDEA

Operates as any extension phone except it's cordless. You can take it anywhere, indoors or out. Pool, yard, basement, attic —anywhere within 300 feet of your home. Receive calls or dial out.

EASY TO INSTALL

Your Portaphone operates in conjunction with all regularly installed telephone equipment you already have. Installation takes 30 seconds

REAL COST IS $2.00 PER MONTH AND IT PAYS FOR ITSELF

If you divide the purchase price by the estimated 15-year useful life of the Portaphone, the cost is only $24.00 per year, or only $2.00 per month. It pays for itself by replacing an existing extension phone and eliminating another extension.

100% SOLID-STATE RELIABILITY

Portaphone is manufactured with 100% space-age solid-state circuitry. No moving parts to wear out. No tubes to replace. Designed to be service-free, it is guaranteed for 1 year.

REMOVE HAIR FOREVER

Perma Tweez is a simple electrolysis instrument that PERMANENTLY removes ugly hair from all areas of the face—such as the chin, upper lip, eyebrows. Embarrassing body hair can now be removed forever in the privacy of your boudoir. Arms and legs can be forever free of the inconvenience of constant hair removal. An exclusive U.S. patented safety feature allows you to do this without puncturing the skin!

AN EXPERT'S APPROVAL

Perma Tweez has been clinically tested by a university professor of dermatology and proven to be safe and effective. One of his patients had previously been tweezing hairs from her chin every day for 15 years. After treating herself with Perma Tweez, she has eliminated this time consuming chore for the rest of her life! Over 15 thousand instruments in use by doctors—over 500,000 in use by people like yourself.

Easy instructions make you expert in a few minutes. Save hundreds of dollars on salon electrolysis by doing it yourself.

Old-time Riverboat Playing Cards

There's a black and a green deck, both contained in a beautiful antique tin case. Each card is a bit thicker than normal—like those used on 1890 riverboats. The face cards are reproduced from 100-year-old artwork. So it's a real unusual set of cards. Twin deck in antique case $7.50. Single deck (specify black or green): $2.75. Postage included.

Grow Your Own

Amazing! Mystical!

The Leaf of Life is so amazing the Yogis of India believe that these mystical leaves possess the Secret of Life

Wherever a leaf falls, a new plant starts to grow on air, water, or soil.

Yes, the Leaf of Life can start to grow on air alone. New plants grow from the edges of each leaf

After it starts, put the leaf in a pot. The bigger the pot, the bigger the plant will grow — from one to six feet tall. You can have the size you want and it grows in sun or shade.

It blossoms with fragrant pink & lime bell-like flowers that look like jeweled, oriental lanterns.

The Leaf of Life makes a thoughtful gift, symbolic of wishing your friends a long life and happiness.

It comes with complete instructions and is easy to grow

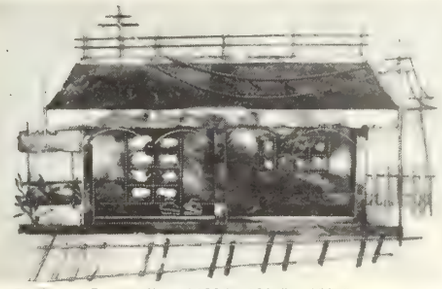
This Year's great new Decorating "Trend"

Handcrafted 3-Dimensional Metal Sculptures

Electroplated with beautiful Copper, then antiqued and color brushed by hand.

"Fisherman's Wharf" (#16020) 14" x 22"

"Victorian House" (#16021) 13¾" x 20"



"Railroad Station" (#16024) 13½" x 19½"

"Windmill" (#16022) 19¾" x 11½"

Romantic, nostalgic 3-dimensional metal wall sculptures are the very latest decorating trend, and are selling from about $60 up to $190 in better stores. The price tag on a similar piece to "Fisherman's Wharf" (shown at top of ad) is $160! And frankly, if immodestly, we feel our interpretation is prettier—cleaner in line, purer in execution. Each of our versions is guaranteed electroplated with Copper—cut, stamped, hammered, antiqued, welded and color-brushed all by hand and ready to hang. No two are exactly alike, and each is an original work of art. At only $14.99 apiece, they are bound to sell out fast. Specify, by number & name, items desired. Send check or m.o. to: Madison House Gifts, Dept. 10634, 4500 N.W. 135th St., Miami, Florida 33059. Add $1.50 postage & handling each. (N.Y. & Fla. residents add appropriate sales tax.)

How can the people of the 18th and 19th centuries enrich our lives today?

You will hear them, see them, understand them, through the pages of Early American Life and other programs of

The Early American Society

The Early American Society offers enriching experiences to those who wish to create a colonial-style home, or to those who wish simply to read the fascinating story of the lives of everyday Americans who lived between 1700 and 1850.

Early American Life, six times each year features articles on arts, crafts, antiques, restoration and historic travel.

Members may buy books at discounts up to 25% and participate in group travel and historical assemblies.

We'll give you projects for your workshop, recipes for the kitchen, and great ideas from young America. Annual dues: $8.00 after you have seen your first issue of Early American Life. Please use the coupon at right.

A BEAUTIFUL PORCELAIN TRIBUTE TO AMERICA'S GLORIOUS HERITAGE!

"Americana" Tripod Display Stand Also Available $1.49

ACTUAL SIZE 9½" IN DIAMETER

WHAT MORE UNFORGETTABLE way to say: "America, I Love You!" than to mount this inspirational commemorative plate in a place of honor on your wall!

Here is an heirloom that your family will cherish for generations to come. It is a strikingly beautiful plate of creamy white porcelain — with a richly resplendent 22K gold-fired rim. Each month of the historic Bicentennial Year of 1976 appears boldly and beautifully in red and blue. At the center, is a majestic American Eagle in blazing red-grasping a red, white and blue flag emblem in its talons.

Exclusive Design — Only from Spencer Gifts!

Surrounding the central eagle-and-flag motif, a beautiful and impressive commemorative Bicentennial inscription fittingly honors America's 200 anniversary. Our designer has combined and coordinated all these important elements with true artistry, in a design so original — it's copyrighted. Yes, it's ours exclusively. You won't be able to obtain this Bicentennial Calendar Plate anywhere but from Spencer Gifts!

Limited Edition! Never Again Available After Production Stops Order Now For Only $2.99

Orders yours today. Get several more as gifts for relatives and special friends with a sense of history and a love for the American dream! But hurry, because once we stop producing this limited-edition plate, we will not be able to honor any additional orders . . . and this Bicentennial Plate will never be available to you again!

For easier, more convenient display . . . this handsome 9½" Bicentennial Plate is fitted with a sturdy hook for hanging.

THICKER, STRONGER LONGER HAIR IN 5 TO 10 DAYS!

Scientific Laboratory Proof. New Protein Lotion is actually absorbed into the hair to reinforce, strengthen and thicken it up to 136% of original size. Reduces splitting and breakage; makes hair more stretchable. Growing Glory is a concentrated treatment for the hair of specially formulated natural protein, designed to be absorbed right into the hair. The illustration shows how the hair is swelled and made thicker by Growing Glory.

But, only if you try it will you see how wonderfully different it is. Growing Glory's active protein is absorbed right into the shaft of the hair so day by day your hair grows visibly thicker, fuller, more combable, more manageable, more flexible and stronger. Split ends heal — your hair resists breaking when combed or brushed. So it grows better and longer everyday! Pleasant — contains no alcohol or grease. You owe it to the beauty of your hair to try Growing Glory. Our money back guarantee protects you. Growing Glory must be better than any hair product you ever tried—must do everything we said it would do for you or we will cheerfully refund every cent you paid. Send just $3.95 for a generous two month supply. Please enclose 25¢ for postage and handling.

"ELIMINATE DUST"
WITH A
PORTA-FILTER
THE AMAZING PORTABLE AIR FILTERING UNIT

Traps all dust particles regardless of size, from Microscopic allergy producing pollen to bacteria and virus carrying house dust. Also collects lint from bedding, rugs and fabrics, tobacco smoke, as well as invisible grime and grease droplets from cooking before they stain walls, drapes and windows. Greatly reduces housekeeping chores and does the work of expensive electronic filters at a fraction of their cost. Also operates without sparking noise, radio and T.V. interference, or messy cleaning.

ONLY 8" X 10" X 10". WEIGHS ONLY 9 LBS. RUGGEDLY BUILT FOR ROUND THE CLOCK USAGE WHEN NECESSARY. PLACE ANYWHERE IN HOUSE —LOCATION IMMATERIAL. CAN BLOW AIR UP OR HORIZONTALLY.

HOW IT WORKS

A whisper quiet fan draws polluted air through two ordinary throw away type furnace filters located in the sides and expels the cleaned dust-free air through the opening in the third side. The filters are treated with Corsol, a dust catching adhesive. They are so easily replaced a child can do it. The unit filters over 100 CFM and is adequate to keep a 5 room house free of airborne dust. Simply plug in anywhere in the house near an electric receptacle. Two or more units are required for large homes or offices.

高島屋

Oshibana. Its possibilities are as endless as your imagination.

And it begins with dried leaves, ferns and flowers.

You press and seal them between sheets of beautifully textured paper. And decorate lampshades, make stationery, fashion a room divider, liven up a window.

The oshibana kit from Takashimaya introduces you to this ancient Japanese art of leaf and paper collage quickly and easily. It includes assorted papers, brushes, instruction booklet and a selection of dried, pressed leaves and ferns to start you off with.

Each kit $6.00 ppd. Add state and local taxes where necessary.

Now! Grow Longer, More Beautiful Nails in as Little as 5 to 7 Days even if right now your nails are too short to even manicure!

New wonder discovery is not a gelatin conditioner — not a false-nail-builder — not an ordinary nail hardener — but an incredible new formula that actually penetrates your nails . . . takes up where nature left off . . . promotes full beautiful growth as it helps your nails "drink" themselves longer, "drink" themselves stronger in just a matter of days.

Yes, if all your life it's just been impossible to ever grow long beautiful nails — then here's news of an exciting breakthrough that should absolutely thrill you.

Do you know that thanks to a recent laboratory development your nails can now be coaxed to actually "DRINK" THEMSELVES LONG? Yes, it's a fact — the main reason you've never been able to grow long beautiful nails is a lack of essential nutrients in your nails. This lack of liquid nutrients is what causes your nails to dry out, become weak and brittle, to break, crack, and split before they have a chance to reach full, beautiful size . . . and to stay long and beautiful all the time!

NOW! THRILL TO GLAMOROUS GROWTH IN JUST A MATTER OF DAYS!

But now comes news of a wondrous nutrient formula for the nails, called "Long 'n Strong" that actually penetrates into your nails and lets your nails "drink" in this vital amino "liquid diet" so important to long, strong growth. It does for your nails what your own system denies you: the ability to promote and maintain the growth of long magnificent nails FAST.

The result: Just one week from today your nails start to grow longer, stronger, more glamorous than you've ever seen them before. No cracking. No peeling. No chipped or broken nail tips due to lack of vital long-growth protein fortifiers.

Best of all, "Long 'n Strong" is so easy to use. Simply brush on and it penetrates into your nails. Then, like magic you'll see even the most embarrassing short and stubby nails actually "drink" in this new nail formula and grow forth longer, stronger, in less time than you ever dreamed possible.

SO FAST, that in just days you can actually measure the dramatic difference. SO FAST, that in less time than you've ever dreamed possible your nails should actually need cutting, filing, shaping — yes, a real beauty-parlor manicure for perhaps the first time in your entire life!

NOW! ENJOY MOVIE-STAR HANDS — END "SHORT-NAIL BLUES" FOREVER!

So why continue to be embarrassed by short, stubby nails when NOW it's so easy to grow long, glamorous nails with new wonder-formula "Long 'n Strong". Remember, you must see visible results in just days — longer, stronger, more beautiful nails — or it costs you nothing. So order today on guarantee of satisfaction or money back. Full 60-day supply only $2.98. Use handy no-risk coupon below.

CHRISTMAS WITHOUT LIGHTS

"Our last Christmas was a sad time for me and my family. The energy crisis and a family financial pinch kept us virtually in the dark. The electric lights were not hung in the hopes of saving on energy and on the electric bill. My neighbor asked me why I was so depressed. I told her my story. She took me by the hand . . . straight into her living room . . . there . . . standing majestically against the staircase was the most dazzling, shimmering, radiant Christmas tree I had ever seen. 100 snow white luminus icicles . . . a Winter-wonderland! Now . . . we'll never have to be in the dark again on Christmas."

The offer is limited. Send immediately for your 100 Luminus Icicles. 100 Luminus Icicles, with their own easy to use hanger, each a stunning 5" long. Absorbs light by day, glows warmly at night, indoors or out. Safe and durable for the little ones and will last a lifetime of Christmases.

cards, cash, and checks if you would keep it private.

When you are a visitor away from home and wish to entertain in your own right, check out with your own club to see if it has reciprocal privileges with a local club or arrange with friends to "borrow" their club, an exemplary way of handling an out-of-town parents' wedding rehearsal dinner.

If you are planning to use hotel facilities, a suite perhaps, give your hotel party your own touch and "do" some of the food yourself, shopping the nearest gourmet bazaar for crackers, cheese, and goodies of your choosing. Then order hors d'oeuvres typical of your own region, eschewing those ubiquitous, international nothings. Bring specialties from your part of the country to the party—Northwestern salmon, Downeast lobster, Southwestern Mexican tidbits and dips, Midwestern pasties.

Naturally the type of place you choose will determine the kind of party you give but for a memorable you-can't-do-it-yourself-at-home private party in a public place, give a good Chinese chef a free hand with a Chinese banquet, a rare treat. ■

Time to get ready for snowy days and indoor gardening

A great American shrub, redwood plant tubs, plants for connoisseurs, amaryllis bulbs for presents, a safe rotary snowplow, how to bring plants indoors, new type of plant mister, intimate garden designs

North Carolina rhododendron is a worldwide favorite

Early plant explorers in the Appalachian Mountains were overwhelmed at the sight of great expanses of rhododendrons that turned whole mountainsides pink in late spring. North Carolina's Catawba River flows through the area, so it was natural enough to name the plant Rhododendron catawbiense. Plants taken to Europe immediately caught the fancy of nurserymen and plant breeders.

A flower cluster of Catawba rhododendron, with a 6-foot-high plant of the modern hybrid, Scintillation.

The result of their selection a hybridization was a whole r race of shrubs, known ever si as Catawba hybrids. Hardy all way up into Canada, the Cataw are wind- and drought-resista long-lived evergreens with flow that range in color from pure wh to deep red. Modern, large-flo ered hybrids, like Scintillati left, have little of the Cataw strain in their ancestry, but reta the characteristic hardiness. O of the nation's leading rhododo dron nurseries is that of Warr and Susan Baldsiefen, on Lo Island, N.Y. Their catalogue actually a treatise on the growi of rhododendrons. The plants fered for sale are a selection of t very finest hardy varieties. Pri of the catalogue is $2, from Wa ren Baldsiefen, Box 88, Bellva N.Y. 10912.

Durable wooden plant tubs

The wooden water tanks on top of city apartment buildings are made of wood for a very good reason. The natural product is more resistant to the attacks of wind and weather, heat and frost, than any man-made substance. What could be more suitable for planting tubs, then, than natural redwood? The Rosenwach Co., of Brooklyn, N.Y., has specialized in water tanks for many years and has recently expanded its operations to include plant tubs. These have a solid, but eminently civilized, look not to be found in any other kind of plant-growing container. Planted with petunias, impatiens, verbena, or other annuals for the summer, they stay imperturbably in place through the winter and are ready for the next season's planting as soon as they unfreeze in the spring. The Rosenwach plant tubs have a range in size from 18 inches in diameter to 72 inches, and they are available in two depths: 18 inches and 2 feet. A 24-inch-diameter tub, 18 inches deep is priced at about $105 in nurseries, garden centers and lumberyards across the country.

A picture book for discriminating gardeners

Any gardener who appreciates plants that are a cut above the averag will find his mouth watering after just a few pages of Plants for Co noisseurs, by Peter Coats (Bobbs-Merrill, $17.95). This is a House Garden book, assembled by the garden editor of the British House Garden. Mr. Coats has a well-deserved reputation as a designer gardens in the modern style, and has put his talent to work in takin and selecting this handsome array of pictures. In each of the garden shown, it is the plants that are emphasized, and all have been chosen t make a spectacular display, whether as shrubs, vines, groundcover, o border plants. The photographs are in color and black-and-white, an Mr. Coats has lucid words of explanation about each. It would be har to imagine a more appropriate gift for a gardener's Christmas.

Amaryllis is ideal to give or get at Christmas

Potted up and growing, an amaryllis bulb will be gratefully received by th brown-thumber on your Christmas list—it's as foolproof as a growin thing can be. For the gardener who's just beginning to get the hang o things, the dry bulb with a sack of potting soil and a pretty pot will pu him on his mettle. To start an amaryllis, fill a 6-inch pot to within ½ inch of the brim with whatever potting mix may be handy. Set the bulb with the bottom half in the soil, water well, and place the whole thing in a dark, not-too-warm place until the sprouting leaf is a couple of inches high, then bring it into a warm, well-lighted spot, keep watering, and the flower will appear in short order. Amaryllis seldom need repotting and seem to do their best when the pot is crammed with roots.

ne to bring useplants in the winter

seplants that have been out- s all summer should be given a rough treatment before they're ght indoors again. Give them a good shaking to remove dead leaves and whatever debris may have accumulated during the warm months. Scrub the pots vigorously with a stiff brush and a strong solution of Clorox—don't overlook the bottoms —to eliminate moss and algae and clinging snails and slugs. Turn the hose on them—with the nozzle turned down to fine but with full pressure—to wash away aphids and spider mites. Then let them stand on a sheltered porch or patio for a week or so before they go indoors. During this time, look them over carefully for insect pests—particularly white fly—that may remain, and spray as many times as may be necessary to make sure they're clean and bug-free before the final move indoors.

Modern design applied to a plant mister

Master Mister, in a bold new design, is a practical and efficient sprayer for misting plants or applying foliar feeding. It operates with one hand, leaving the other free for turning leaves or shaking off accumulating drops of water. Made of plastic, with an orange-colored base and white top, it is practically unbreakable. Two sizes of Master Mister are imported by Dynamic Classics, Ltd.: The smaller one, which holds 20 ounces of liquid, sells for $4.95; the larger, with a capacity of 36 ounces, is priced at $5.95. They're available by mail from Dynamic Classics, Ltd., 307 Fifth Ave., New York, N.Y. 10016.

26 easy little gardens

Small gardens complement the way we live nowadays. Space is limited practically everywhere, and so is the time we have to spend on garden chores. Gardening in small compass means gardening with a strong personal flavor—the smaller you get the more important every detail becomes. House & Garden's 26 Easy Little Gardens (Viking, $15.95) provides really intimate garden designs —each complete within its strictly bounded space. Each is photographed in full color, and there are detailed layout and planting plans. Don't copy the plans exactly, though —let them be a springboard for your own imagination. For a copy, send $15.95 plus 45c for postage and handling to Condé Nast Books, P.O. Box 3308, Grand Central Station, New York, N.Y. 10017.

John Goddard the Second.
Descendant of a 200-year-old American.

Our reproduction of John Goddard's classic grandfather clock of the 1760's faithfully follows his original case design. Even to the style of the shell motif, the blocked door, fluted Doric quarter colonnettes, and pleasing proportions.

It also has a Moon Phase dial that recalls the days when farmers relied on them to schedule planting and harvesting. And a triple-chime movement that echoes the ancient cathedral chimes of Westminster, Whittington, and Winchester.

Each clock's personalized, too, with two solid brass plates, one engraved with a registration number, the other with the owner's name and the purchase date.

Til Lykke America!

The Bicentennial Plate by Bing & Grøndahl

Bing & Grøndahl congratulates America on its 200th birthday! And in honor of the occasion, this oldest producer of commemorative plates created this one-time only edition.

The focal point of this striking collectors' item is a magnificent reproduction of the American Bald Eagle. Circling this 9" plate are the names of the original 13 colonies—in rich 24kt. gold as are the stars, the Latin inscription and the two outer circles. And the entire motif is sculptured in relief and shaded with the famous underglaze blue that is the hallmark of Bing & Grøndahl.

Beautifully gift-packaged at $50.00, this American commemorative is a treasure. In more ways than one! Happy birthday, America! For the name of the store nearest you please write us. 225 Fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10010.

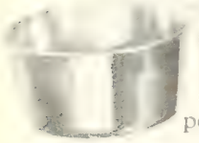
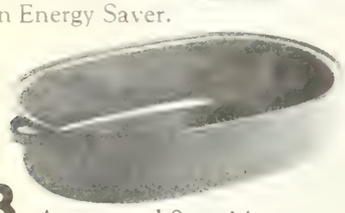
5 reasons your next dishwasher should be a KitchenAid.



1. A Soak Cycle to clean crusty pots and pans.

2. Fan-circulated, hot-air drying that's safe for fine china and good plastics. Plus an Energy Saver.



3. A patented 9-position upper rack that lets you load big or odd-shaped items many other dishwashers can't handle.

4. TriDura®, a 3-coat premium porcelain-on-steel interior that detergents can't fade and knives and forks can't scratch.

5. A heavy duty ½ hp motor that will stand up under hard daily use. So tough, it's warranted for 5 years. If the motor should fail during the first year, it will be repaired or replaced without charge; during the next four years you'd pay only for labor.

SUSAN WOOD, EMERICK PRONSON

ON THE COVER: Lined with a painted summer sky, a back-to-nature room where clouds, as close to fleece as a spray gun can make them, not only float across the ceiling, but also around the walls and on the floor. "Surrealism in the manner of Magritte," says designer Mario Lo Cicero, who lives in this cloudland. "It's an old apartment, about 1910. It needed airiness, vista, and a touch of abandon—something to get it off the ground. Hence the clouds, the sky, and splashes of mirror. But Christmas is always old-fashioned, with not just one tree, but four, one in each corner. No ornaments, nothing but sprayed-on snow, and lots of presents. Tubby, the cat, is waiting for hers."

Up top, waiting for theirs are Nina and Lisa Beattie, hanging a wreath trimmed with tiny handmade toys imported by their mother. Charming tree ornaments, they are to be had at Mrs. Beattie's boutique, The Children's Tree. For more seasonal spice, flip the page, and keep right on flipping.

The civilized way to pour spirits.

A living legend, Waterford enchants you whenever you pour from it.

An investment in art, Waterford rewards you as it grows in value.

Each decanter is a signed original, made by hand with heart.

In the ancient Irish city of Waterford, now as in centuries past, men struggle with all their breath to shape the fiery lead crystal to their will.

Each decanter is blown by mouth and cut wholly by hand, just the way Waterford museum pieces were created in the distant past

There may never be a more propitious time to invest in Waterford

Each decanter is well worth its present cost. (The ones on this page range from $68.50 to $75.75.)

Visit the Waterford Gallery at the important store in your area Or write for free color booklet. Waterford, 225 Fifth Avenue, New York 10010.

Among civilized gifts, Waterford rates a spirited hurrah.

CAN YOU RESIST A RESORT WHERE EVERY ROOM HAS A POOL-SIZED TUB?

Spectacular bath-bedroom at Habitation Leclerc, steps lead to bathing pool

How often have you arrived in a resort feeling that the most wonderful thing that could happen would be that you could sleep, sun bathe, and swim in total privacy, not going anywhere or seeing anyone—for days? More often than not, the resort establishes a rhythm that keeps you dancing to as frantic a tune as the city one you just left. Not in Haiti. At Habitation Leclerc, a cluster of stone and mortar villas that are situated step-style down a jungly hillside just above Port au Prince. It's a hotel without any big buildings, just a cobblestone path connecting these houses built in a French construction style of the 17th century. With a pool for every two or three villas, the idea was to give guests the opportunity of having what they wanted just at hand. A place to vanish into and not come out of until the idea of privacy became boring. In the meantime it is a privacy very rich in alternatives. A small kitchen serves two or three villas and from it comes breakfast and a light lunch. The adventure at breakfast time is the local Haitian fruit—mangoes, a pointed grapefruit, a large apricot that is good sliced and has the crispness of an apple and the subtle flavor of a melon. These plus oranges and bananas arrive in a big basket along with hot croissants and aromatic Haitian coffee. Decaffeinated, it has all of the taste and none of the punch of such a strong brew. Most people have breakfast on a walled-in sunporch that opens off the bedroom. Which means the bliss of a very private, all-over sunbath after breakfast. Lunch is served on a wrought-iron table set under some trees by the pool that is just outside one's door. An afternoon nap is a five-star event. The whir of an overhead fan catches the breezes as they surge through louvered windows that line the

WRAP UP CHRISTMAS

"Wrappings are as much a part of the gift as the gift. Choose them carefully, so they can be recycled in another person's life," says Robert Currie, Director of Visual Planning for Henri Bendel, N.Y. "Kraft paper is just right for personal sketches that add individuality and interest to a gift. The paper is durable enough to be framed later." Kraft paper is at large stationer's by the bolt, otherwise East House has it in four colors, by the roll, from $1.25 to $2. "Rice paper can be prefolded and a design 'imprinted' on it before it's used for wrapping," suggests Mr. Currie. "Handblocked Japanese papers are also strong enough

If you want to know how to use fabric to muffle sound, give light while shading a poor view, change a room's color from season to season, hide cracked walls, emphasize the form of furniture, visually bring down a ceiling or even soothe your psyche, read Jack Lenor Larsen's Fabrics for Interiors: A Guide for Architects, Designers and Consumers (Van Nostrand, Reinhold $14.95, $7.95 paper). Mr. Larsen and co-author Jeanne Weeks tell how to look for quality, discuss finishes. "When you put a

WARM WELCOME AT THE WHITE HOUSE

Mrs. Ford can turn a state dinner into a very fresh, unexpected evening. For the Shah of Iran, the White House had a marvelous outdoor feeling. Tubs of green trees lined the hallway leading to the dining room, green garlands decorated each chair and chandelier. Fresh lilies of the valley were on the tables; lily of the valley print on cloths, from Wamsutta sheets. Centerpieces, bronzes from the Corcoran. Designer David Jones looped candlesticks with greens.

Our sense of smell is immediate, accurate, and lasts longest of all the senses

THE HIDDEN POWER OF SCENT

There's nobody in the world like you. The clothes you wear, the house you live in, the tastes you have, the friends you choose—all these are ways of saying, "This is me." Sometimes, however, we all have doubts about our identity, about being appreciated, about being remembered. But maybe there's an easy and quite unmistakable way of saying "this is me" that you haven't thought of—right under your nose.

Identity is a problem for all forms of life—territorial imperatives and all that—and the most powerful way nature has found to prove identity is through smell. Antelopes have scent glands in their feet and leave distinctive tracks wherever they go; ants can smell out the differences between themselves and other ants; salmon remember the smell of the waters in which they were hatched in order to find their way back from the open sea for spawning.

What about us humans? We tend to dislike whatever smells we detect on ourselves and deodorize them out of existence. Our sense of smell gets little exercise, and in consequence we don't regard it as significant as sight or hearing.

But the remarkable fact is that the amount of the human brain devoted to olfaction is disproportionately large—much larger than the amount of brain devoted to vision, for instance. What a waste, you may say. But perhaps we use it more than we know; it's quite pos-

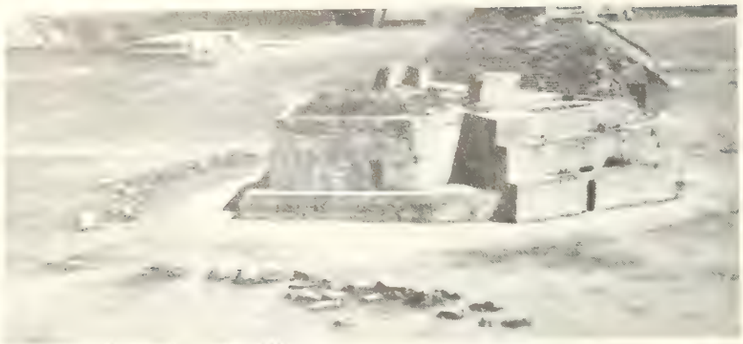
MEXICAN MARKETING



Ceremonial city of Monte Alban L. H. OTS

Oaxaca is a day's drive or a 40-minute flight south and west of Mexico City and worth the trip just for its Christmas ornaments. Fish and stars, men and cathedrals of woven straw, shiny tin birds and angels, saucy clay animals swirled in brilliant yarns—most of them less than 25¢—and pottery crèche figures in a variety of styles and sizes. You could easily spend a week bargaining in different daily markets in the villages around Oaxaca, it's such fun and there are so many different beautiful craft and folk art things—weaving, metal-work and the famous black pottery. But if you don't have a week, there are plenty of shops with good selections.

Equally worth the trip is the splendid regional museum, installed two years ago in the newly restored, beautifully proportioned 16th-century cloister of the church of Santo Domingo. On two levels around two courtyards are the restored convent kitchen, models reconstructing nearby archaeological sites at Monte Alban, Mitla, and Yagul, displays of Spanish colonial art, exhibits of the crafts and ways of life of the more than 400 Indian tribes in Oaxaca state, and, the great treasure, a room full of incredible Mixtec jewelry from Monte Alban.

Monte Alban on its hill, a sacred city since 700 B.C., is perhaps two miles from town. Buses go to it and to Mitla, with its unusual mosaics. Most people don't see Yagul and they should. But you need a car, the buses don't go there. Make a point of going very early in the morning or very late in the

NEW SHOP TALK—LOS ANGELES, PARIS

After three months' scouting and buying in Brazil, Peru, Egypt, France, and South Africa, Michael Taylor, Jimmy Wilson, and Perry House are back with treasures for their new shop. "We've had an incredible time. The shop has given us an excuse for travel. We even bought a Louis XIII marble staircase in France. It's three flights. Quite extraordinary. One thing about this shop though, we don't intend to limit ourselves," says Mr. Taylor. "We shall indulge in contemporary designs as well as unusual antiques from many eras. I am designing some new fabrics, which will be made in India."

From South America comes an extraordinary collection of minerals, rock crystals, some 6 feet high, weighing up to a ton. "I feel strongly about introducing them as pieces of sculpture in rooms and gardens." From Rome, some stunning new marquetry and bamboo furniture. The bed shown here is one of Mr. Taylor's own designs. "The poles are made from a very rare cactus that only grows in two places in the world. We got these in Mexico." Taylor, Wilson & House Ltd. is located at 8461 Melrose Place, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Over in Paris, Gilles St. Gilles has opened his new shop on the left bank at 9 Rue de Verneuil, in a wonderful old building with a cobbled courtyard. His marvelous modular seating is covered with canvas, linked with marine hardware, and filled with foam. You can link it together to make sofas, love seats, chaise longues, what you will, and George Tanier of New York will be distributing it. Part of the fun of the shop is the idea of it being an art gallery as well. "I want to show work by young unknown painters and artists," says Mr. St. Gilles. He hopes to have an opening with paintings by Jimmy Giebeler.

SEVEN LIVELY ARTS

Christmas reasons to love for all seasons. Exquisitely handcrafted figurines and plates for all your favorite collectors, all faultlessly executed in the tradition of excellence that is the hallmark of all giftware represented and imported by Hummelwerk.

The Art of Pewter Sculpture is nowhere expressed more eloquently than in each figurine created for this evocative creche depicting the Nativity.

The Art of Janet Robson "Flight Into Egypt" figurine group translated into a perfect pewter plate.

The Art of Charlot Byj and her uniquely precious way with children is portrayed in the 1975 2nd Limited Edition pewter plate, "A Child's Prayer."

The Art of W. Goebel in ceramic animal portraiture is exemplified in this new series of sculptures of the animal kingdom.

The Art of Crown Staffordshire is the centuries old English tradition of the perfection of the finest bone china in dozens of floral forms and shapes.

The Art of Michel Thomas "Les Petits" is the art of portraying the youth of today as they really are in their characteristic pursuits.

The Art of "M. I. Hummel" rendered by W. Goebel in both the ceramic handpainted "Ride Into Christmas" 1975 Annual bas relief plate and "M. I. Hummel" figurine.

ARE YOU CUT OUT FOR THIS?

One way to refresh boxes, trays, lampshades, screens, and even larger pieces of furniture is through decoupage. It gives things a new identity. The most ordinary "finds" from the attic or flea markets can be recycled this way and even turned into attractive Christmas presents. Decoupage—cutting out prints and using them to decorate surfaces—can be as absorbing as needlepoint. If you like doing things with your hands, Leslie Linsley's new book Decoupage Designs (Doubleday $4.95) not only gives you ideas for seventy-five projects, but also supplies you with twenty-five prints you can cut out and use.

DOWN-TO-EARTH TABLE

"I find great exhilaration in Japanese simplicity," says display designer Christine Maly. "I love their approach to art and architecture, a continuous elimination of things, getting back to the fundamentals. There's a serenity in it all that I really can't explain." For a special lunch table, she arranged celadon china on a lacquered brown table on straw mats with satin pillows. The table was one of eight at Tiffany planned by George O'Brien to show the work of young designers.

ENERGY FACTS ABOUT FIREPLACES

A masonry fireplace is a substantial thing. You can expect to spend from $1,000 to $3,000. You can expect to look long for a mason to build it. Ask for references, says Joseph Walas, builder of New York fireplaces. Insist on guarantees, listen to word-of-mouth—and don't pay until you are completely satisfied. Test it, he says, with a good three-log fire. Burning a newspaper is not a true test.

How wide, how tall, how deep should it be? In The Forgotten Art of Building a Good Fireplace ($2.50, Yankee, Inc., Dublin, N.H. 03444), Vrest Orton diagrams principles first propounded in 1795 by Sir Benjamin Thompson, Count Rumford, an expatriate American who, among other things, discovered heat convection currents and invented the first kitchen stove: make the back wall as wide as the fireplace is deep; the opening up to three times that width; and slant the back and sides. Very few modern fireplaces are built in these proportions—but Mr. Orton has one 42 inches high and 19 inches deep in his 1828 house, and he says it has always drawn beautifully.

A number of companies make metal fireplace forms—called zero clearance fireplaces because insulation and triple-wall construction allow you to set them right on the floor—for building in. They're light (400 pounds maximum) and need only put-together chimney section for smoke.

The forms cost from $270 to about $500. With chimney sections, hearth, installation, and finishing, the total can run from $600

ANITA LOOS AT 82 TALKS VITALITY

EDITOR'S NOTE: Anita Loos, legendary author and Hollywood screen writer, the petite brunette who wrote the hilarious Gentlemen Prefer Blondes and But Gentlemen Marry Brunettes continues to live the upbeat, distinctive lifestyle she has been used to since the 20s. Laughter runs through her conversation as easily as it does her books. This sense of humor and other factors she elaborates upon in this interview keep her up-to-date, vital, and very much alive.

Every day, Anita Loos gets up at 4 in the morning, has a cup of coffee, gets dressed, sits down on a chaise longue in a quiet part of her apartment, and spends the next 5 hours writing in long hand. At 9 she has breakfast. At 10, her secretary comes in to collect the handwritten sheets, and go over manuscripts. At about 11:30 (depending on what's on television worth watching) she exercises hectically for half an hour. After lunch Paulette Goddard may stop by and they'll take a long brisk walk right around Central Park. THE CHAIR PEOPLE

"I'D RATHER TUNE A YAMAHA."

—Francis Mehaffey, P.T.G., Claremont, California

"When you ask most any tuner about pianos, I'll bet like me he says he enjoys working on a Yamaha best.

"They don't need hours and hours of tinkering and regulation to make 'em sound right.

"When you work on a Yamaha you can see they use the finest materials, no matter what the cost. Like the pick of the finest Sitka spruce for the soundboards.

"Yamaha's scale designs are the best, too. They sound mellow without being mushy, and bright without being harsh.

"And when you're talking about modern piano design, Yamaha is the leader. They've got a great research department that's constantly experimenting, redesigning, and improving their instruments.

"The exclusive Yamaha Service Bond provides that every new Yamaha piano gets a complete regulation by a professional plus two free tunings.

"No wonder Yamaha produces the best instrument you can buy today for the money."

When there's a better piano to be made, Yamaha will make it.

We must not underestimate our sense of smell. It's immediate, it's accurate, and it lasts longest of the senses sible that humans have a smell aura just as we do a visual aura (as Beverly Russell showed in House & Garden, September, 1975). Animals do. It's just that it is so refined in humans that we are not conscious of it. Maybe smell is a signal exchanged between human beings just like visual and auditory ones.

Another highly unusual fact about our olfactory sense is pointed out by neuropathologist Dr. Fernando Aleu, founder and president of the U.S. subsidiary of Puig of Barcelona (makers of Paco Rabanne perfumes). "Olfaction travels to the brain more directly than any other sense," he says. "Olfactory nerves are in essence extensions of the brain through the membranes in the roof of the nose. This must cause an astonishingly strong impact, because when you associate a smell with a situation or place or person, the smell alone can retrieve the circumstance accurately, quickly, and totally. If you have spent one evening with a person who uses a perfume, or a man who smokes a certain kind of tobacco, for instance, the next time you smell it, you see that person, you hear his or her voice, you are there."

Furthermore, the smell works on you emotionally before you can identify it. A friend describes how she smelled a smell one day in an Army/Navy store and was immediately transported back to summer camp—the fires, the sounds, the foggy mornings in Maine, everything . . . It was only much later that she realized she had smelled felt printed with paint—the same used for merit badges at camp when she was growing up!

It is evident that we must not underestimate our sense of smell. It's immediate, it's accurate, and it lasts longest of the senses. What better way of saying "This is Me."?

"Fragrance works in many ways," says Dr. Aleu. "It can make an alien environment comfortable. I know a lady who travels a great deal, and she carries a perfume spray with her—with the perfume she always uses. Before going to bed in a strange place she sprays her bed with her own perfume—not because of the way the perfume, or the room, smells—but because it decreases the strangeness of the environment. If you do this, you will not worry about relaxing or getting to sleep. Wherever you are, you will feel at home."

The other way fragrance works is as your personal signature. "It's not a neon sign or broadcasting system," Dr. Aleu believes. "Avoid the overwhelming. Fragrance should not be the first thing you notice about a person. It is really the reward of closeness."

Creating an olfactory awareness is not a cosmetic thing, Dr. Aleu says, but an enhancement of life through the senses. To be sensitive to smell means that you are sensitive to sounds and sights and touch and flavors. Keep your antennae alert to new sense awareness, new engagements with the world around you.

"If a woman goes to the trouble to wear a particular scent, then it is obvious she is concerned about the impression she makes," declares Dr. Aleu. "If you feel good within yourself, then part of your total being should be your fragrance so that every time someone smells that fragrance, it will evoke you—for a whole lifetime. Isn't that rather a delightful thought?"

DR. ALEU'S TIPS ON WEARING PERFUME

1. Make allowances for your skin type. "Fragrances are blended for several qualities: lasting power, volatility, and the ingredients that make them recognizable. If you have very dry or very oily skin, this might affect the balance of these qualities, so that one part smells more or less than the others, therefore smells different on one person's skin than on another's. Test them yourself to find the right balance for your skin."

2. Put perfume in the right place. "What really affects perfume more than anything else is the temperature of the place where it is applied. If you apply perfume to your big toe, it will smell much less than if you apply it to your temple—because in your temple you have a very good blood supply, and the skin temperature is higher, thus promoting volatility. All the flexing surfaces (elbows, knees) and areas adjacent to pulses are good for perfume. If you have a very low body temperature, then perfume will smell much less on you."

3. Be loyal—to be remembered. "Stick to as few fragrances as possible as part of your aura, if you

BEAUTY AND HEALTH PRODUCTS NEW THIS MONTH IN THE STORES

For presents he'll love this Christmas—first off is a new plug-in shaving cream heater that fits right over the top of any standard brand or size of aerosol can. "Hot Shave Capsule" is cordless, has its own travel pouch, too. $14.99. By Clairol at department and drug stores everywhere . . . For tennis lovers the world over, there's a fresh, new fragrance called "40 Love." (At that score how can you lose?) It's a brisk, clear blend of essential oils of fruits and flowers like gardenia, bergamot, and marjolaine with oak moss and Peruvian balsam to add zest. By Jean Desprez. Eau de Cologne, from 2 ounces for $7.50 to 16 ounces, $27; After Shave, from 2 ounces for $7.50 to 8 ounces for $15.50. At Bonwit Teller and I. Magnin . . . After his exercising, sun-bathing, showering régimen, there's new "Body Rub." It's a creamy, lightly sandalwood scented lotion that helps combat dryness. From the Givenchy Gentlemen Collection in an 8-ounce glass bottle for $6.50 . . . If he prefers to unwind within the confines of the bath Aramis has a wonderful ceramic crock filled with bath grains (1¾ pounds worth) called "Muscle Soothing Soak" for $16.50. The crock would make a great planter after its contents have become a pleasant memory.

Everybody loves stocking stuffers on the giving as well as the receiving end . . . small practical presents add so much to the ease of a daily beauty routine: Try hairbrushes—choose from three natural boar's-bristle brushes, each backed in handsome amber colored acrylic. These are $9.95 each. There are smaller, larger, half-curved, or flat-backed brushes for thin, thick, wavy, or straight hair—each specially designed for a specific hair type to keep scalps healthy. From $6.50 to $14, all by Ogilvie. More brushes—this time a set of five make-up brushes each in a handsome bamboo stick handle. The set includes a loose-powder brush, lip-liner brush, eye-liner brush, eyelid-crease brush for powder shadows and an eye-shadow brush especially for water-based shadows. They come in a convenient plastic carrying case, too. $10. By Madeleine Mono at Henri Bendel. A new set of perfume sticks in easy, compact lipstick cases might be just right for younger girls on your shopping list—six easy-to-stroke-on fragrances like Sandalwood, Sweet Jasmine, or Orange Blossom to name three. They're only $1 each by Tussy. Break up a six-pack of crystal flacons filled with "Bal à Versailles" perfumed bath oil by Jean Desprez. Each vial holds slightly more than a third of an ounce, six for $50. Generous cakes of bath soap from Neutrogena . . . they're a whopping 5½ ounces each and called "Imperial," in a box of four. There's a clever plastic insert in the bottom of each cake to help prevent these rather large bars from slipping out of your hand or soap receptacle. $1.75 a cake.

Some presents come in such attractive, useful containers that they are as important as their contents—"Moon Drops" has some old-fashioned English tea and biscuit tins in a classic tapestry design of Ming jade, yellow, white, and sharp orange. "Moon Drops Milkbath" comes in a 12-ounce, octagonal pagoda-shaped tin you can fill with cotton balls or cookies. $12.50 by Revlon . . . Beautiful porcelains with floral designs hold soaps, powders, perfumed candles. A porcelain tabby with handpainted flowers down its back holds 10 ounces of "Blue Grass" and "Mémoire Chérie" dusting powder, each has a porcelain scoop. $20 by Elizabeth Arden. ■

LOOKING TO THE 1976 BICENTENNIAL CELEBRATION

A great American idea

By Dee Har

The Scottish Christmas Walk in Colonial Alexandria, Va.

In George Washington's hometown, a holiday gala with parading kilted bagpipers, flowing bowls, feasting, and a house tour

Christ Church, pipers in full panoply, kilted citizenry, tiny Scot piggyback

The first weekend in December the entire city of Alexandria, Va., has a fling with a glorious celebration called "The Scottish Christmas Walk." Tartaned pipers twirl through the streets of Old Town, 18th-century houses sparkle with the glow of Christmas cheer, a Scottish Advent Service is held at the Presbyterian Meeting House, roaring fires and hot spiced punch warm visitors at the open house at the Alexandria Community Y, and there is magic for every age—whether buying a big brown bag filled with boxwood branches for $2 (enough to make two wreaths at home), or watching patchwork puppets open wide the eyes of the young. It's getting your Christmas stocking early, and in Alexandria, they're Argyle.

Alexandria was not named for the grandeur that was Alexandria, Egypt, but rather for a canny Scot, John Alexander, who bought the land in 1670 for 600 pounds of tobacco. A city that was founded and flavored by the Scots, and also influenced by a great American with ideas—George Washington.

As a boy of seventeen our future first president helped survey the boundaries of Alexandria, and always considered it his hometown. Washington later maintained a townhouse for the convenience of visitors on their way to Mount Vernon, 10 miles away. And it was in Colonial Alexandria that he posted his mail, had his wife's prescriptions filled, voted, danced the minuet, drilled his first military command, and finally was eulogized at the Presbyterian Meeting House in 1799.

711 Prince St., built in 1749 as a "flounder house," so called because, like the eyes of that fish, it had windows only on one side. Thus was cut the English tax on window glass.

Behind the gaiety lies great communal pride

Ten years ago the Alexandria Community Y, now an independent organization not affiliated with the YWCA, inaugurated the Christmas Walk, a different theme every year. Five years ago it became Scottish to honor the founding fathers, and has remained Scottish ever since. The purpose is to raise funds for the organization's inner-city programs.

These programs include Pulse Point, for training youths for better jobs, the Head Start Day Care Center, the Fifty Plus Club for counseling senior citizens and providing recreation, and the "Matrons' Matrons" program at the Alexandria City Jail where tutoring, arts and crafts, and library facilities are offered to women prisoners awaiting trial. (The 1500 Y members are also able to take courses from chair caning to quilting to belly dancing—"veils, $3.")

The Scottish Christmas Walk has more and more visitors every year. It is sponsored this year by the Alexandria Community Y in cooperation with the Saint Andrew's Society, the City of Alexandria, the British Embassy, and the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Gerald R. Ford is the Honorary Chairman and the Patrons are Her Majesty's Ambassador Sir Peter Ramsbotham and Lady Ramsbotham.

Mrs. Philipp and Mrs. Elizabeth-Anne Campagna, Director of the Y, draw up the initial plans for the Walk. The President, Mrs. Arthur P. Siebold, then appoints a Chairman, who in turn appoints heads of committees—the Gala, the Open House at the Y, Christmas Greens, Collector's Corner, Bake Sale, Heather, Luncheon, Doll Houses, Banners, Children's Walk, Tour Houses, Advertising and Brochure Distribution. It never stops, and it is well worth it as any visitor to the Walk can readily see.

The drone of the bagpipe, sometimes a joyful jig, sometimes a battle hymn, will be heard early in the morning of Saturday, December 6th. It may just be unwinding from the night before as a Gala (tartan or black tie) will be held Friday to start the festival fling. (For information about tickets for this dancing evening write to the Alexandria Community Y, 602 Cameron St., Alexandria, Va., 22314.) Then at 10 AM Saturday it's everyone's parade. The Scottish Christmas Walk has begun.

Banners of the rampant Scottish Lion on fields of yellow, red, or green herald the way and line the route. Designed by Barbara Barrett Caples, they are printed by a volunteer team of silk screeners and made by the Parish Guild of St. Paul's Church, another community effort for the big day.

From the moment the first kilt twirls a corner the effect is dazzling. The brilliance of various tartans, the blare of marching bagpipes, and fifes and drums capture the crowds who walk, skip, and run alongside the marchers through the usually staid 18th-century streets of Old Town, the ancient section of Alexandria. And if you ask any of the visitors or townspeople if they are Scottish, the "ayes" would have it. For on this special day everyone is a Scot —by ancestry or inclination. A certain Scottish Fever takes over that is contagious.

The Walk starts at the Scotland House on South Washington St., led by the police color guard and escort. Next come the Saint Andrew's Pipes and Drums, five Scottish chieftains, who are the presidents of American branches of Scottish clans, Saint Andrew's president John Urquhart, and the Saint Andrew's Society members. Alexandria Community Y members join in the walking while Mayor and Mrs. Charles E. Beatley and Lady Ramsbotham follow in a classic car.

Alexandria's Pipe Band, the Annapolis Pipe and Drum Band and the Denny and Dunipace Band from Rockland, Md., stir the emotions with Scottish airs, while a calliope and a 35 bell carillon on wheels provide other melodies. New this year is the Seventy-First Regiment of Fraser's Highlanders from Annapolis, Md., originally a volunteer Scottish group recruited to fight for King George III in the Revolution.

Colonial patriots are represented as well by the Mount Vernon Guards, a fife and drum contingent dressed in Colonial uniforms, and the First Virginia Regiment of the Continental Line, an official Bicentennial regiment.

The route of the Scottish Christmas Walk goes up Washington St. to Cameron, right on Cameron past the Alexandria Community Y down Cameron to Fairfax, right on Fairfax to King, right to Royal and right to Market Square. There is a brief ceremony here followed by a program of pipes and drums.

Around 11 AM the Saint Andrew's Pipes and Drums in Glengarry caps and Ancient MacGregor tartans pipe the way to the Presbyterian Meeting House, 32 South Fairfax, for a Scottish Advent Service, while the Mount Vernon Guards and the American Eagle Girls' Fife and Drum Corps lead the children to Christ Church, Cameron and Columbus Sts., for a program of games, contests and the Patchwork Puppets.

A holiday luncheon will be served, for $6.50, in the new Old Town Holiday Inn, 400 block of King St. In addition there is a myriad of small delectable restaurants in Old Town.

The doors are open wide all day at the Alexandria Community Y (once the home of Frances Parkinson Keyes) with complimentary spiced punch served before a blazing hearth. A Collector's Corner offers books, gifts, cards, wrapping paper, and ribbon while a Bake Sale will have cookies, pies, breads, and cakes donated by 12 local churches. In the courtyard rhododendron, magnolia, English boxwood, and heather are sold, plus bags of bargain greens, all given by members and friends. Four houses will be decorated for Christmas. Admission is $1 each.

Just to wander around the streets of Old Town is to enjoy a gift of architecture. Unique here are the "flounder houses," with windows only on one side, like eyes on that flat fish. The unusual architecture developed when the first building lots were sold and buyers had to agree to build within two years. This requirement, plus the high English tax on window glass, inspired an ingenious builder, probably a Scot, to build in this style. For example, walk by 711 Prince St., Mrs. George E. Walker's residence, which first started as a "flounder" in 1749.

A special package for Christmas Walk visitors, all inclusive for $15, offers at 7 PM on Friday December 5 a candlelight tour of Old Town and a Christmas concert at 8 PM at Christ Church, followed by a sherry reception at the Robert E. Lee House, 607 Oronoco St. The tour continues on Saturday with the four decorated houses, an exhibition of trains and doll houses at Christ Church, as well as the 18th-century and Scottish crafts at St. Paul's Episcopal Church. The Alexandria Community Y will make hotel reservations. Call 703-549-0111, or write 603 Cameron St., Alexandria, Va., 22314. ■

There are many ways to make a Bloody Mary.
But there's only one way to make a Bloody Thomas.

A teaspoon of lemon juice. Or was it a tablespoon? A dash of this. Or was it a dash of that? The Bloody Mary. It has as many tastes as it has recipes.

But the Bloody Thomas. Ah, the Bloody Thomas. Easy to make. Zesty to taste. 3 parts of Snap-E-Tom®, the Mexican tomato cocktail made with green chiles and other good things. And one part vodka. Ice and stir, of course.

And then that first, cold, spicy sip. And you'll know why there's only one way to make a Bloody Thomas and only one way to describe it's taste. Delicious.

Available at supermarkets and many liquor stores

Bloody Thomas. The best Bloody Mary you'll ever taste.

A woman's laxative should be as gentle as she is.

And that's why so many women use Correctol, the woman's gentle laxative. Correctol's special formula combines a mild laxative with a softening agent. Its gentle overnight action helps you feel like yourself again. Correctol is gentle enough for use even after childbirth and during menstruation.

Correctol
The woman's gentle laxative.

walls. Even with these huge wooden louvers closed against the light, the cross ventilation is magnificent. The beds are large, low, and firm and covered with a batik spread. A little coil of incense keeps the air fragrant and also discourages bugs. Waking at twilight with the noises of the jungle picking up a decible or two, one glories in a place that has a coconut palm that wasn't cut down when the villa was built and now grows out through a hole in the roof at one end of the bedroom. Near the curving trunk of this palm the terra-cotta tile floor moves two steps down to a large bathing place the size of a wading pool. Sitting half submerged in this enormous bath, in a darkening room, one can look through the windows that border the bath down the hillside toward Port au Prince where lights are beginning to go on and stray dogs and a thousand faint radios make a dinnertime chorus. From this wonderful self-sufficient compound, one needn't stir even for dinner, which can be ordered from the resort's kitchen at the top of the hill where there's also a marvelous outdoor dining room with a roof supported by columns and lit by huge chandeliers. Besides Habitation Leclerc's own nightclub there are several others that Oliver Coquelin the resort's director and conceiver will know all about. He also knows all good local restaurants. One of them is Chez Gerard where if you order what he does you'll have tiny Haitian escargots or a coquille of tiny shrimp in a cheese sauce and then the local duck.

With a good night's sleep after a day of sun and swimming, one's curiosity rises back up to 100 percent. What about this country, the oldest black republic anywhere? Assembling the essentials of Haitian history makes one's stay more conscious. For instance, it was Columbus in 1492 who originally discovered the island of Hispaniola, which Haiti shares with Santo Domingo. Eventually the French took over and a French bishop arranged to import some African slaves to man the sugar plantations and in the midst of all this, the Arawak Indians, the island's original inhabitants, were wiped out. In 1791 came the first slave revolt led by a black general in the French army. Though it was only vaguely successful, later uprisings left the western side of the island in African hands. All this in an era when Haiti was one of the most successful of the French colonies. Napoleon's sister married a General LeClerc and came to live there and their house, what's left of it, is the architectural shell Habitation Leclerc is based on.

In 1957 a country doctor called François Duvalier was elected president and in 1964 he was made president for life, which was until 1971. His son Jean Claude is now president for life. Today the official language is French but the vernacular as well as the cooking is creole. The public religion is Catholic and the folk one is voodoo but the part visitors are permitted to see, usually dancing, has become a kind of folk theatre. The many Protestant missions are a wonderful source of crafts—embroidery, wood carving, basket weaving.

A taxi and driver cost $20 a day so there's no need to rent a car. With this rather happy-go-lucky arrangement, I spent a day running down handcraft leads and in the process visiting a mountain village that seemed almost Alpine except for all the jungle vegetation. In the early morning I went to the Iron Market in Port au Prince, which looks like a huge 1890s railway station. The miracle of the place is the look of a hundred different things stacked up to the point of falling over—fruits, baskets, colanders, strainers, hats, pots—some in stacks forty high. The same stacking principle that makes things from Mainland China look so beautiful in stacked displays in Bloomingdale's and Bendel's. So buy a stack of something and send it home. There are sandals in natural leather, huge cauldron baskets woven in different colored grasses and carved mahogany bowls and plates. The plates in particular are marvelous for summer barbecues, if not for steak then as good-looking place plates. A rule of thumb here is to bargain and pay half.

What many people have heard of when they come to Haiti is that there are marvelous summer clothes for men and women, made from chambray, denim, and muslin with wonderful embroideries. It's all there if you know how to go about it. Sometimes local designs are good but one gets the best results by taking a caftan or shirt that you like and having it copied with specific instructions about the design and color of the embroidery. The best places for this sort of thing are two shops, one run by Sue Seitz whose husband owns the Hotel Olofson where there are many attractive things already made up. The second is called Le Manoir. There I found some wonderful thickly wo white cotton fabric sold by bolt. Wonderful and inexpen for summer slipcovers. One also buy a bolt of the workm denim called "gros bleu." A d im garden smock with two flowers on each big skirt poc cost $13. A lightweight de caftan, also embroidered was $ Denim work shirts with coco buttons went for $4. There w white piqué sundresses also e broidered.

The information about what buy and where can be had at vivid best from Habitation L clerc's interior designer La Peabody who owns a wonder big Victorian house (photogra on page 6). The other thing peo want to take home from Haiti inexpensive, colorful Haitian and what one finds ranges all t way from the merely inexpensi to the really marvelous examp of folk art. The Musée D'A Haitien in the Champs de Ma is a good place to visit before goi to the Centre D'Art where pain ings by some of the best conter porary artists are for sale. Bo places focus on Haitian primitiv art, the museum's collection goi back thirty years and the Centr D'Art centering on today. Th work available when I was ther paralleled the range found in cor temporary art by American In dians. Some of it almost surrea with a color sense in the neo range, some very childlike wit a very, very primitive use or per spective where figures stack up i the air rather than moving bac into the distance. Some looked lik the very realistic school of Amer ican art generated by the WPA which usually had the life of the laborer as a topic. What appealed to me most that day was a tall three-panel screen in full fantasy that looked like something for a child's room or perhaps it was a Haitian Chagall. It cost $300, which was a lot of art for the price. The murals at the Episcopal Cathedral of the Saint Trinity are something not to miss. They show all the disciples as Haitians and Judas as a white man. The Cathedral also has a very good gift shop that sells straw purses and embroidered pillows. Next-door, a room of Haitian girls are sewing up baseballs by the dozens to send to the states.

The end of the day brought my driver and me to Kenscoff where all the mountain people bring their handwork and produce to market on Tuesdays and Fridays. Everywhere the Haitians are wearing for art-lovers, nature-lovers, theatre-lovers, food-lovers, lovers, and people who love to re

Herewith our annual reminder: A book makes a great Christmas present if you choose one dealing with a subject of particular interest to the person you're giving it to —or, perhaps, one that stands a good chance of getting him/her (or you) involved in an entirely new field. Some good bets:

FINE ART FINDS

Art Treasures of the Vatican (Prentice-Hall, $35 until Dec. 31; then $45), a lavish presentation of one of the most magnificent collections in the world . . . A World History of Art (Simon and Schuster, $29.95 until Dec. 31; then $35) by Gina Pischel—the development of painting, sculpture, architecture, and decorative arts from prehistoric times to the mid-20th century, with over 1,000 color illustrations . . . The Color Encyclopedia of World Art (Crown, $22.50 until Dec. 25; then $25) by Jay Jacobs—brief descriptions of the style and work of artists, sculptors, and architects from antiquity to the present.

Great art or no, cartoons have delighted the public for decades. Why? See The Art in Cartooning (Scribners, $14.95)—more than 300 drawings beginning with the 1890s and winding up with contemporary . . . or see The New Yorker Album of Drawings 1925-1975 (Viking, $15)—the very best (and you know how best that is) of the great New Yorker cartoons of the past fifty years, still fresh and hilarious.

And then, of course, there's Peanuts! Peanuts Jubilee (Holt, Rinehart & Winston, $29.95 until Dec. 31; then $35) celebrates twenty-five years of the world's most beloved comic strip. Big in size (15¼ by 11½), in scope (over 134 classic strips chosen by Charles M. Schulz, tracing the development of the strip) and, most of all, in heart. Mr. Schulz tells how he created the strip, the characters, how he gets ideas, how he writes and draws the strip and includes many of his photographs. To round it out—a complete Peanuts bibliography and chronology. Good grief! The quintessential Charlie Brown.

Great Architecture of the World (American Heritage, $30), edited by John Julius Norwich, traces the development of architectural styles throughout the world, from the Egyptian pyramids to the Sydney, Australia opera house . . . The World Guide to Antiquities (Crown, $19.95 until Dec. 31; then $25) by Seymour Kurtz offers the great ancient treasures of the world: arts, artifacts, temples, tombs, all superbly selected and illustrated.

Strictly contemporary, Decorative Art and Modern Interiors (Viking, $29.50), edited by Maria Schofield, has houses, shops, even a knockout Hall of Wedding Ceremonies in Nagoya, Japan, and also examples of the latest in furniture, fabrics, decorative accessories . . . Scandinavian Design (Farrar, Straus and Giroux, $35) by Eileene Harrison Beer, runs the gamut of Nordic design, from antiquities to the sleek, world-famous contemporary pieces.

The Oxford Companion to the Decorative Arts (Oxford Univ. Press, $39.95), edited by Harold Osborne, is a reference work whose purpose is "to provide an introduction to those arts made to serve a practical purpose but nevertheless prized for the quality of their workmanship and the beauty of their appearance."

A BOOK FOR A COOK

For the beginner cook, an excellent basic book is The Doubleday Cookbook (Doubleday, $12.95) by Jean Anderson and Elaine Hanna. Over 4,000 recipes that anyone can handle, plus sections on equipment, cooking terms, marketing and food-freezing tips, menu planning, table setting—just about anything anyone would want to know about buying, preparing, and presenting food.

The accomplished cook who delights in French cuisine will want to add A Paris Cook Book (Harper & Row, $12.95) by F. L. Stagg to her library. Mr. Stagg (for some of his recipes see House & Garden, July 1972), an Englishman who has lived for years in Paris includes dozens of recipes with secrets from his own kitchen adapted to the American kitchen. In A French Chef Cooks at Home (Simon and Schuster, $9.95), Jacques Pepin, former chef de cuisine to Charles de Gaulle and teacher of master chefs, offers the recipes he prepares in his own house.

Television's famous "Frenc chef," Julia Child, now gives u From Julia Child's Kitche (Knopf, $15), and everyone wh has enjoyed her show (where man of these recipes were demonstra ed) or used her previous book knows what to expect: step-by-ste no-nonsense recipes accompanie by brisk comments from Mrs Child. In addition to her Frenc recipes, Mrs. Child branches ou to other cuisines, including som traditional American dishes.

The Larousse Treasury o Country Cooking (Crown, $12.9 until Dec. 31; then $14.95) give 450 recipes from over 60 nation including such culinary offbeats a Hawaii, black Africa, Malaysia— hearty, nourishing foods easil prepared in the American kitche using readily available ingredients

Every cook wants the very bes equipment she can get her hand on, but doesn't always know wha it is or where to get it. To th rescue: The Cooks' Catalogu (Harper & Row, $15.95), whic describes over 4,000 items of nec essary and special kitchen equip ment and utensils. They are pic tured, priced, and sources given s you can find the nearest place t buy them. This unique book also has 200 recipes plus many bits o cooking folklore. James A. Beard and a panel of experts chose and evaluated the equipment.

The Joys of Wine (Abrams, $35 until Dec. 31; then $45) by Clifton Fadiman and Sam Aaron is an anthology of articles, both past and contemporary, about wine; a guide to choosing, storing, serving wine; a collection of photographs, paintings, sculptures, and artifacts dealing with wine; or, as the subtitle puts it "a storehouse of all needed information, instruction & wine intelligence."

A TRIO FOR ANTIQUES COLLECTORS

The Complete Color Encyclopedia of Antiques (Hawthorn, $37.50) is a valuable reference work for anyone bitten by the antiques bug—with over 1,000 illustrations and a text written by experts . . . More specialized, An Encyclopedia of Small Antiques (Harper & Row, $19.95 through Dec. 31; then $22.50) by James Mackay was compiled primarily for collectors with limited money to spend, limited space for display. It concentrates on small antiques of Northern America and Western Europe over the past three cen-

The Sunbeam Coffeemaster Coffeemaker gives you your kind of coffee every time.

Because Sunbeam's unique brewing syster and stainless steel tank deliver full coffee flavor every time.

Unlike other drip coffeemakers, Sunbeam has a unique brewing system that heats all the water before brewing to get that rich, coffee taste.

An easy-to-clean, stainless steel tank helps keep the coffee pure and clear.

The Sunbeam filter basket works with or without paper filters. A permanent polyester filter guards against coffee sediment.

Makes up to 10 full 5 oz. cups.

The Sunbeam warming unit keeps the coffee at the right serving temperature, about 185°.

Nothing makes coffee like a drip coffeemaker. Nobody makes one like Sunbeam.

klet,

The Pat Boone Family has four suggestions for inexpensive gifts that make inexpensive meals.

Slow cooked great tasting meals is an idea whose time has come. Again.

As the Boones have discovered, it's really an old-fashioned way to prepare sensational main dish meals from inexpensive meat and poultry. And it's all made possible with a new kitchen appliance: the slow cooker.

West Bend makes four different Slo-Cookers. One of them is just right for you. No matter which one you choose, you get a separate cooking element and cooker. That means easy cleanup, because unlike other slow cookers, the pot is immersible and dishwasher safe.

Three of the West Bend Slo-Cookers have a 5-setting, variable heat control so your food is slow cooked at exactly the right temperature. Not too much. Not too little.

For selection, design and cooking and cleaning convenience, you have to get up pretty early to beat a West Bend Slo-Cooker. They make great holiday gifts and one will make meal preparation a lot easier at your house during this busy holiday season.

You have to get up pretty early to beat West Bend... where craftsmen still care.

WYOMING

Every cook wants the best equipment she can get, but doesn't always know what it is or where to get it. Now there's a new book that solves the problem

turies . . . The Encyclopedia of Victoriana (Macmillan, $24.95 until Dec. 31; then $27.50), including both British and American decorative art, has chapters by 29 authorities on their particular subjects—furniture, silver, jewelry.

MISCELLANEOUS PLEASURES

The Landscape of Man (Viking, $35), by Geoffrey and Susan Jellicoe, shows how man, throughout the ages and the world, has molded his environment to express or symbolize ideas from prehistory to the present. About a fifth of the book is devoted to planning since 1945.

The Magnificent Continent (Rand McNally, $25 until Dec. 31; then $30) is a paean to the varied scenic wonders of North America—Alaska to Mexico—many of them familiar, some relatively unheralded, all, spectacularly illustrated, quite breathtaking.

Flowers: a Guide for Your Garden (Abrams, 2 volumes, $50), by Ippolito Pizzetti and Henry C. Cocker, includes over 300 separate genera with color plates selected from rare 18th- and 19th-century horticultural periodicals. Over 500 drawings identify species and varieties.

Needlepointers who reveled in Lou Gartner's first book now can have More Needlepoint Design (Morrow, A House & Garden Book, $16.95), a collection of 80 stunning needlepoint designs—a jaguar supine on a tree branch; pillows as shells, animals, baskets of fruits; rug designs—which you can transfer yourself to canvas.

For "birdmen" on your list: The Pleasure of Birds (Lippincott, $14.95) edited by Les Line—essays about birds and related subjects by the expected—ornithologist Roger Tory Peterson, naturalist Edwin Way Teale—and the unexpected—ex-drama critic Brooks Atkinson, fighter-aerialist-footballer-tympanist-whoknowswhatall George Plimpton. Illustrated with photographs from Audubon magazine.

FOR A GOOD READ

Books for theatre, movie, dance buffs: Musical Stages (Random House, $12.50). Richard Rodgers tells with affection and gentleness about his life, his association with lyricists Lorenz Hart and Oscar Hammerstein, his experiences with famous theatrical personages, and how all those wonderful melodies people will always be singing came to be written . . . Love or Nothing: The Life and Times of Ellen Terry (Scribners, $10) by Tom Prideaux is the biography of the great English actress and perforce also of her famous costar Sir Henry Irving. Her intriguing correspondence-only friendship with Shaw and her sometimes flamboyant relationships with other well-knowns of her era help spice up the book . . . Don't mistake Change Lobsters—and Dance (Macmillan, $8.95) for another creampuff autobiography of a glamour queen. It is Lilli Palmer's unusually well-written, unsparing account of her eventful life. She is particularly moving when telling what it was like to be a Jewish actress in Germany as Hitler came to power and how it felt to return after World War II and relate again to people whose political past she was uncertain of. Of course, there are also plenty of anecdotes about the famous—Garbo, Noel Coward, Rex Harrison (her husband), and a particularly touching one about an encounter with Helen Keller.

The serious student—and everyone who likes witty, literate writing for the theatre—will enjoy Bernard Shaw: Collected Plays with Their Prefaces (Dodd, Mead, 7 volumes, $15 each), which contains all fifty-two plays, their prefaces (many as famous as the play), and pertinent essays and program notes. All seven volumes would make a superpresent . . . Balletomanes have Ballet Guide (Dodd, Mead, $15) by Walter Terry, dean of American dance critics. Over 500 ballets, many, particularly the Russian ones, never before included in books, are described with historical background, cast listings, choreographic, musical, and scenic credits. A good glossary of ballet terms helps a neophyte know what a critic is talking about when he mentions, say, an echappé or pas de poisson.

A handful of books, any one of which, should please the most discerning reader: The Nature of Alexander (Pantheon, $15 until Dec. 31; then $17.95). Mary Renault, who has written two highly successful novels about Alexander the Great, here presents all the facts that are known, presumed, or likely ever to be known about this complex superhero. A highly readable book, profusely illustrated with photographs of places where events occurred and drawings and photographs of artifacts and sculptures of people involved in Alexander's dramatic life.

In Freedom at Midnight (Simon and Schuster, $12.50), Larry Collins and Dominique Lapierre have chosen as their point of departure the end of English rule in India. The protagonists, of course, are Gandhi and Mountbatton, but dozens of fascinating characters parade through this spellbinding bit of history.

Leakey's Luck (Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, $14.95), by Sonia Cole, is a biography of that extraordinary man—Louis Seymour Bazett Leakey—whose archaeological discoveries in Africa radically revised our whole conception of the age of man. He was a peppery, difficult, opinionated, stubborn, brilliant, lovable man—a true "oner" and his life, amazing adventures, and discoveries make a delightful story.

If you take Power! How to Get It, How to Use It (Random House, $8.95) by Michael Korda with the largest grain of salt possible, it is great fun; if you want to use it as a primer—watch out! Here are all the nasty little ploys and techniques you can use to push your way up the corporate ladder and to dominate your underlings once you've grasped some power. There are even ways to arrange your furniture to indicate your power—and where to stand for the most effect during an office party! It's all intriguing, at times hilarious, and in the final analysis just a little scary—there's always the chance that Korda may be right!

For culture watchers, an indispensible "document": The Philosophy of Andy Warhol (from A to B & Back Again) (Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, $7.95). A further chapter in the invention of Andy Warhol by Andy Warhol. Some real gems of observation in a lot of blue clay.

The virtues of a birchbark canoe in an aluminum age. How to build a bark canoe, exactly described and illustrated. The young man, not an Indian, who has revived this Indian craft to perfection—the fascinating ingredients of John McPhee's The Survival of the Bark Canoe (Farrar, Straus and Giroux, $7.95).

Autobiographical reflections rather than a conventional autobiography, Loren Eiseley's new book All the Strange Hours (Scribners, $9.95) is just what its subtitle says, "The Excavation of a Life." In some chapters the adventures are Dr. Eiseley's, in others he is a reflective observer and in all, an eloquent perceiver and celebrator of nature's "beauty, terror, and uncertainty." ■

The Original Littles© meet The Little Littles from The Schmid Collection of Hudson Pewter™

First. Schmid captured all the timeless appeal of childhood with the Original Littles and now Schmid brings you a new half-sized edition of these charming original sculptures. Though both of these enchanting creations by talented sculptress Walli Ortman share a common theme, the artist's treatment is preciously different. Dress Up measures 4″ high and is graced with copper-hued accent; Mommy's Clothes is 2″ tall and both sculptures are cast in genuine solid pewter by America's leading pewter specialists. You can take these little ladies home for just $30 and $15 respectively at fine stores. Write for the name of the one nearest you. Distributed exclusively by Schmid Brothers, Inc., Randolph, Massachusetts 02368.

Practical presents
you can order by mail

A pen that writes even upside down, at any angle, on glossy paper or photographs, at temperatures from 50 degrees below to 400 degrees above, even under water. Used on Apollo flights, it's checker-etched metal. "The Space Pen," # 121121, is $5, each refill $1.25, The Vermont Country Store.

Cocktail coasters with past—In some Parisian cafés, one knew the bill for a drink from the kind of coaster it came on. Reproductions of four, white ceramic bordered in different primary colors, $6.85 gift-wrapped from Propinquity.

A clever telephone call amplifier that, laid next to the phone receiver, is said to make it possible for anyone in the room to hear or be heard by the person at the other end of the line. You have your hands free. And the whole family can listen in on calls. Four inches tall, battery included. #NB259, $10 plus postage (2 lbs.) from Hammacher Schlemmer.

The snappiest way to dry the dishes, "Blue Willow" Irish linen towels in many shades of blue crisped with white. A pair is #6509C, $7.45 (add 35¢ for gift box), The Horchow Collection.

"To The King's Taste" adapts forty of Richard II's 14th-century recipes for modern cooking. The book alone (#R1) is $5.95, can also be ordered with six herbs common to medieval cookery, #R2, for $9.75. A handsome over-the-head apron of natural duckcloth is patterned in black with medieval woodcut designs of large-as-life cooking utensils. With terracotta piping and seven pockets, it's #T2 and $12.95. Both, the museum shop at The Metropolitan Museum of Art. Add $1.25 shipping per order.

FOR PARTIES AND PARTY PEOPLE

Breakfast sparkle à la Baccarat —a jewel of a covered crystal jam jar, 4 inches high. An almost Victorian, 6-sided design, with crystal spoon. It's #4517D from The Horchow Collection and $24.65. For gift box add 35¢.

The ice bucket brigade—Scale models of drums from British Commonwealth countries on the outside—each will keep 2½ pints of ice for five hours. The "drum" of the "1st B" The Royal Irish Fusiliers" is dark green with red. Of "The Honourable Artillery Company," navy. "The Buffs (Royal East Kent Reg't)" is mustard with red. And "The Queen's Reg't," black with white and red. "The Royal Air Force," gray with red. Metal exterior, white plastic interior and lid. Each $31 from Dunhill of London.

Frosty glasses take their contemporary pattern from craggy icebergs. 8-ounce Old Fashioned, 9-ounce highball, $6 each. 2-ounce jigger, $4.50. Open ice bucket, 5½ inches excluding handle, $19. "Feuerland" by Charlottenhütte. Imported by Hummelwerk. At Haus Edelweiss. Add $2 per order for shipping.

Be merry, Bicentennial style—As part of its "America the Beautiful" theme, Joske's has designed a contemporary eagle and embossed it on the rim of an Armetale metal service plate, etched it on glassware. The broad-rimmed service plate in the pewter-like alloy is $15 plus postage (2 lbs.). By Wilton Armetale. 10-ounce double Old Fashioneds and 15-ounce highballs are $2 each plus postage (½ lb. each) and a contemporary glass beer stein in a wooden box, $10 plus postage (1½ lbs.). At Joske's.

A pretty way to keep the soup course piping hot—covered soup bowls and plates in a contemporary shell pattern. By Fitz and Floyd. Bowl and plate together are $15.85 from Rich's.

Clipper ships for dessert: A reproduction of a Chinese export porcelain piece, the "Ship Plate" is a shallow white bowl with a ship flying the American flag on a green sea and, at the slightly crimped edge, a painted ribbon of royal blue and gold stars. 5½ inches in diameter, $18.50 (#F7) from the museum shop at The Metropolitan Museum of Art. Add $1.25 shipping per order.

Toast to '76 with a pewter punch cup—The "Jefferson Cup" a very simple unadorned shape (it has no handle) that looks very contemporary, would be equally suited for other libations. It's $6 plus postage (1 lb.). For nibbles or sauces, a traditional pewter porringer with a filigree handle is $22.50 plus postage (2 lbs.). Both by Kirk. From Woodward & Lothrop.

CHEER FOR THE HOSTS AND THE HOUSE

Heavenly, heavenly potpourri! Made by a new secret process that helps hold the petals' colors as well as their fragrance. Three totally natural fragrances—Jungle Paradise, Woodland Rose, and Bicentennial (a mixture of cloves, cinnamon, and spices)—in charming containers. Some selections: round open basket in two sizes—4 inches

Give the Potion of Love.

Amaretto di Saronno. Italy's rare liqueur of love in this beautiful new veloured gift box.

Historians tell us that in 1525 a young widow created the original Amaretto di Saronno and gave it as a gift of love to Bernardino Luini, the artist who immortalized her in a famous fresco in Saronno, Italy.

Her name is lost to history but what remains is the original Amaretto di Saronno with its intriguing taste and provocative bouquet.

We've even left a rose alongside our name as a reminder of how it all began 450 years ago.

Try Amaretto di Saronno tonight. In this very seasonal way.

The Bowl of Love

Stir ½ bottle of Amaretto di Saronno with each quart (non-alcoholic) egg nog in a punchbowl. Add ice cubes. Sprinkle crushed Amaretti cookies or nutmeg over the top.

in diameter, $9; 4½ inches in diameter, $11. Oval open basket 6 inches long, $16. Urn-shaped lidded basket 4½ inches high, also $16. Split bamboo cylinders in three sizes—4¼ inches high, $19; 9 inches high, $41.50; 11 inches high, $61.50. Round moss-covered basket 8 inches wide is $41.50. Shipping and gift-wrapping included. By Ronaldo Maia. From Bergdorf Goodman, New York (1st or 4th floor) or White Plains.

A "natural" wreath with a good cause—The "Della Robbia" wreath is natural spruce covered with pine cones, lotus and liquidambar pods, cypress, jacaranda, screw beans, eucalyptus, nut shells, winesap apples, and such, most in their natural colors. Each is one-of-a-kind. Large 30-inch wreath is $20.95; small, 20 inches, $12.95. Shipping anywhere in U.S., including Alaska and Hawaii, included. Proceeds cover a third of the cost of Boys Republic, a home and school founded in 1907 for disadvantaged boys, who help gather materials for the wreaths. From Boys Republic, Chino, Cal. 91710.

The snappiest turtle makes flower-arranging a snap—his contemporary, chrome-rimmed shell has a transparent "honeycomb" dome that keeps short-stemmed flowers perfectly placed. 8 inches long. $22.05 from Sakowitz.

If you love "tortoise" bamboo you'll love this floor magazine rack painted a deep dark ox blood. Made in Italy, it's $66.50 from Strawbridge & Clothier.

A Christmas present to remember, a mahogany corner chair and stool that commemorate the Bicentennial—handsome yet graceful, with 1776 and 1976 painted in faint "gold" on the sides of both. Damask upholstery on both has the Federal eagle woven in, comes in Colonial red, antique white, or Federal blue. Chair, $200 plus shipping (40 lbs.). Stool, $100 plus shipping (20 lbs.). By Hickory Chair. The Trend Shop at L.S. Ayres.

For a warm white Christmas, a dreamy white cashmere throw 6 feet long! With thicker white yarn crisscrossing it throughout, knotted fringe at either end. 54 inches wide. $117.05 from Sakowitz.

Pouffy Oriental-style quilted bedspreads with one-of-a-kind embroideries. King-sized silk ones about $350 to $600 each, custom pillows $95 to $250 each at Harold's Place. King-sized silk spread is $350, queen-sized batik one $250 at A Thousand Flowers. By Julian Falk.

A delicate but monumental abstract sculpture for walls, "The Peacock" looks like an autumn tree seen from the air. Of antiqued copper-toned metal, 46 by 45 by 8 inches, it's about $170 plus shipping (20 lbs.). To see this and more tabletop and wall sculptures from about $20 to $200 write for free brochure from Artisan House, Los Angeles, Cal. 90026. This December you can see selected Artisan House sculptures ("The Peacock" can be special-ordered) at The Trend Shop at L.S. Ayres.

LIBERATING PRESENTS FOR MEN—WOMEN MIGHT LIKE THEM TOO

Backgammon, move over. Here comes "Counterstrike"—a two-player dice game you need luck and skill to win. After the basic moves are mastered, a game takes about 15 minutes. Many subtle ties—and a doubling die to raise the stakes—for experts. Attaché case board, dice cups, checker-like counters, international as well as beginners' abbreviated rules. $50 from Essex Game Co.

A pushbutton corkscrew designed to be as effortless and safe as possible. A carbon dioxide cartridge (as in home soda siphons) supplies "pull" power, not you. No carbon dioxide gets into bottle. "Mister Maximum" with 1 cartridge, $13.25, Gifts for Men.

Is there anything more welcome during holiday dinners than the right cutlery to do the job? The "Triple Crown" carving set—fork, knife, sharpening steel, brown laminated wood handles, stainless steel blades—is about $31.50. By Case Cutlery at stores across the country.

Donald Dawkins rejects pulleys 1/1000th-inch out of round. After all, who wants a grandfather clock that gains two minutes every month?

Dawkins, master machinist, supervises the production of every one of the 166 metal parts made on this machine for a Herschede grandfather clock.

He knows the peculiar ways of machining brass and steel, as a chef knows the limits of butter and flour.

In an age of mass-produced mediocrity, Dawkins is something of a rarity. He insists upon, and gets, perfection from the machinists who tend lathes under his demanding eye.

The two words he hates most are "good enough". Clockmaking is no profession for the slovenly.

Herschede is the only American clockmaker manufacturing movements for grandfather clocks. Others import cheap movements from abroad. We trust Don Dawkins because we know how meticulous his standards are.

Herschede

within 30 miles. Spiral-bound, 26 pages. Works north of latitude 25° North. #8587, $7.95, L.L. Bean.

Long live the crackers: The "Brisker" electric breadbox dehumidifies as it stores—crackers, cereal, potato chips, and popcorn keep fresh, salt and pepper flowing. For home (115-volt AC model) or boat or camper (32-, 12-, and 6-volt DC models). In polished chrome or satin copper finish, 18¾ by 11 by 11 inches. Any model is $31.45 east of the Rockies, $32.95 west of the Rockies from the manufacturer. By Brisker Products.

HANDSOME CRAFTS TO COLLECT, NEW PROJECTS TO DO

Romantically Art Nouveau—A handblown goblet, flower-shaped. While still hot the clear glass cup was decorated with scallop upon scallop of "gold," then a broad scallop of cobalt blue. Made in America today, about 10½ inches tall, each varies slightly because it's handcrafted. Each $52.10 (#6540E) from The Horchow Collection. For gift box add 35¢.

Beautiful freeblown glass is rarely made today, but the museum shop at The Philadelphia Museum of Art has found craftsmen to reproduce some South Jersey glass for it. Particularly striking is a green "feathered" pitcher 6¾ inches high, $47.50.

If someone loves searching out native history and art "The Original Oldstone Rubbing Kit" is the start of an inexpensive and portable hobby. Wax rubbing done properly on well-preserved carvings—gravestones, historic markers, coins, even fossils, and manhole covers—shouldn't damage them and gives you full-sized reproductions. Kit ($8.50) tells how, has five 24-by-36-inch sheets white rubbing paper, black and brown wax, tape, cleaning brush, sturdy black cardboard tube-case. Smaller child's rubbing kit ($3) has four colored waxes, no tube-case. Pamphlet on New England gravestone carvings with fold-out map of 200 sites is $2.25. Colored, "silver," "gold" waxes, white and black paper sold separately. From Oldstone Enterprises. (By the way, The Museum of The City of New York plans to give a wax rubbing course next year.)

At a loss for a present for a do-it-yourselfer—something that won't break the bank and that you won't have to give yourself away for asking "what model . . . do you have?" The T-50 staple gun by Arrow does many do-it-yourself jobs in a fraction of the time. All steel, compression spring drives staples (from ¼ to 9/16 of an inch) into hardwoods, plywoods, even soft metals. About $16 at hardware stores across the country.

LONG PLAYING PRESENTS FOR CHILDREN

New or accomplished guitarists will love the variety of folk and classical guitars by Yamaha. There are even two folk guitars with amplifier pickups and a folk and a classical three-quarter-sized guitar for young musicians. About $86 to $261 at Yamaha dealers.

On Abracadabra Alley—color-changing handkerchiefs, a Svengali card deck, Chinese laundry ticket trick—all the props a young magician needs to do 102 tricks. With illustrated instructions. Magic Set is #54-23-649-7 and $15.95 plus $1.66 shipping. Cute-as-a-button doll carriage—a natural-colored wicker basket on wheels with a ruffle-edged yellow and white gingham-checked folding canopy. 16 inches high, with turned wooden legs, rubberized wheels. #52-10-186-5 and $49.95 plus $2.25 shipping. Both from F.A.O. Schwarz.

Coloring books with history between the lines—Seven amusing ones: on Shakespearean characters, dinosaurs, American or British soldiers of the American Revolution (two books), great women in history, or a Chaucer coloring book with tear-out record of a Middle English reading (all $2.50 each), flags of the American Revolution ($1), plus bright-colored Revolutionary helmets to cut out and wear ($2.95 for each of 2 books). Posters to color, 23 by 35 inches—of Bottom in A Midsummer Night's Dream, Bach, the young Mozart, dinosaurs, and such, $1 each or 7 for $5. Add 25¢ shipping on all orders. By mail from Bellerophon Books. ■

The not-so-accessible Beaulieu and how to find it.

There's a kind of community of Beaulieu-lovers who speak for us. Thus, there are always more people who want Beaulieu than there are bottles of our wine.

Won't you bear with us? As a matter of fact, this year we're fortunate enough to have a bit more to go around so there's a greater likelihood that Beaulieu is at your wine merchant. Of course, when you're dining out chances are you'll find us on the wine list at superlative restaurants.

Do remember that our beautiful Napa Valley vineyards are small, our grapes are pedigreed, and our Estate and Vintage-bottled wines are perhaps the most fastidious in the land. If it weren't so we'd surely be more accessible.

Antiques

By Louise Ade Boger

AMERICAN EMPIRE TABL

Is this table American or European? Does it have any particular style name? And when was it made? H.C.D.—Laceyville, Pa.
Your notably fine example of an American Empire style pier table was made in New York City about 1825-1830. The stenciled decoration that appears on the frieze has been applied under the mahogany finish, which protects the decoration from wear.

POTTERY MARK

From this mark, can you identify my platter? Why does it say "opaque"? A.K.—Mullin, Tex.
The mark on your platter was used at Sarreguemines (French spelling) or Saargemünd (German), a principal town on the Saar River in Alsace-Lorraine, where, because of the fine quality clays of the Saar Basin, a considerable manufacture of pottery and porcelain has been carried on since the end of the 18th century. "Opaque" indicates your dishes are pottery; porcelain is translucent.

PARTON PAINTING

My painting is by the artist Ernes Parton. Can you tell me abou him? O.D.M.—Irvington, N.J
Ernest Parton, American Schoo artist, was born in Hudson, N.Y. in 1845 and died in London i 1933. He studied in England an exhibited his landscapes at th Royal Academy, London; and th National Academy of Design, Nev York. His painting, "The Waning of the Year" is in the National Gal lery in London.

SETH THOMAS CLOCK

My clock says "made by Seth Thomas Clock Co. expressly fo L.B. Price Co." Can you explain this? M.E.W.—Winfield, Kans
It is a premium model made by Seth Thomas just for the L.B Price Co. These clocks were no ordinarily shown in the Thomas catalogue, as each special order was apparently modified to differ from the normal models. Yours is a take-off on the college series of clocks (Yale, Harvard, etc.) and I presume was made about 1905-1910.

ICTORIAN CANDLESTICK ıere were my candlesticks de? What is their style?
E.G.—Huntingdon Valley, Pa.

Hodd & Sons, English silver ınufacturers, made your plated ver candlesticks, perhaps about 1870s. In England, after out 1765, the styles of silver ndlesticks followed the Neo-ıssical designs of architect Rob- Adam. Your type of candle-ck with a columnar shaft and rinthian style capital was much vored in the late 18th century.

ROYAL WORCESTER PLATE
From the mark, can you tell who made my plate?
C.L.G.—Braintree, Mass.

Your plate was made by Royal Worcester, England, in 1879. The asymmetrical floral design in overglaze enamels reveals a subtle rhythm and richness reminiscent of Japanese Nabeshima.

REVIVED ROCOCO CHAIR
I would like to know where my armchair was made, about how old it is, and anything you can tell me about its style.
B.B.S.—Chicago, Ill.

Your parlor armchair of the balloon-back type is in the Revived Rococo or Victorian Louis XV style. The chair was made in the United States about the middle of the 19th century. A well-proportioned frame combined with a discreet use of carved ornament gives your chair an agreeable character.

STAFFORDSHIRE CHOCOLATE POT

This chocolate pot is part of the loan exhibit "Not Dutch but Behave as Such" featuring Gaudy Dutch at the annual Delaware Antiques Show, sponsored by the Junior Board of the Delaware Division, Wilmington Medical Center. The show is held December 4-6 at the Wilcastle Center, Pennsylvania Avenue, Wilmington, Del.

The House Fixer

All wood spiral stair

Factory-manufactured to your requirements, the "Futura" is a prebuilt staircase; it is trucked already assembled, ready for installation. The spiral form, a great saver of floor space, has steps and balusters of 1½-inch red oak (square or turned) around a 4-inch-round oak center post with a steel core. Minimum diameter for stair is 4 feet; exact height from finished floor of one level to finished floor of the next must be provided in ordering the stair. Laminated 1½-by-2¼-inch oak handrail requires well hole 3 inches wider than stair for clearance. Taney Supply & Lumber Corp., Taneytown, Md. 21787.

Incandescent-fluorescent lamp

A fluorescent lamp bulb that lights color in rooms as accurately as an incandescent bulb does is available for your houses. Costing only about 40 percent as much to operate as an incandescent bulb of the same size would, it is 2½ times as efficient as standard incandescents and will last from 10 to 16 times as long. In addition to providing true color, the incandescent-fluorescent saves both electrical energy and operating costs. Available in sizes from 15 to 96 inches long, the tubular bulbs range in price from $2.60 to $7.75. GTE Sylvania, Inc., Endicott St., Danvers, Mass. 01923.

Window greenhouse

Ready-made, in one piece, the "Flora-Gro" window garden is a rectangular unit 17 inches high, 24 wide, 16 deep. Designed to fit all double-hung windows, it is made from a sheet of 3/16-inch-thick bronze-tinted acrylic plastic. The transparent acrylic permits unimpeded display of household plants and fosters growth by screening out burning sun rays. Lightweight (5 pounds), it is durable, with resistance to weathering from rain, sun, dust, and pollution. Seamless and jointless, it won't leak, but water drainage is provided at the unit's base. The greenhouse must be protected from fire, however it is combustible. Priced fr $34.95 to $39.95. Perkasie Ind tries, 50 E. Spruce St., Perka Pa. 18944.

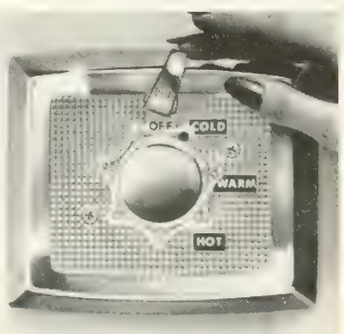
Safety valve for baths



To avoid sudden jets of scalding water or an icy deluge caused by variations in water pressure, you can now get a new balanced pressure valve for single-handle bath or shower faucets. Because the Sentinel Mark II valve must be turned off in the Cold position, and the water temperature is dialed from cold to warm to hot—and back—it cannot be turned on scalding hot. An added safety feature included is the adjustable Temperature Limit Stop (it is standard on all models), which can be set so that the control handle will not turn to the highest temperature. A lever to control water volume is available for the faceplate and the valve automatically reduces water flow to a minimum when water is shut off, saving both water and fuel. Shower valve comes in 32 models with acrylic or metal handles. List prices from approximately $50. Speakman Co., P.O. Box 191, Wilmington, Del. 19899.

Bakir...the dignified fragrance with animal instincts.

Frankly, Bakir™ is a seductive fragrance.

Bakir has instincts that are clearly animal. Sensuously animal.

Bakir beguiles. Bakir arouses the libido. Bakir encourages the ego.

Bakir says things that are almost impossible to say. And it says them easily... and candidly.

If this were the sum and substance of Bakir, it would still be a truly remarkable advance in the perfumer's art.

But, Bakir is more than a provocateur.

Bakir is respectable. Polite enough for a lady to wear in the most polite society.

Bakir has dignity. Bakir is correct...cordial...chaste.

Bakir is thoroughly feminine. Bakir is even demure and shy.

Christmas in Nature

Our world is like a cluttered room—too many things, too many distractions, not enough light. We're losing contact with our deeper selves, our faith.

So let us pause, this Christmas, and turn to the source of all life—nature. "All that live must die, passing through nature to eternity."

> Through nature, perhaps, we can strip away > the tinsel of our busy lives and regain > our basic humanity, our health, our equilibrium.
> By this conscious act of stopping the world, > of returning to the source, we'll find time > to enjoy the affection and tenderness > that bind families together at Christmas.

Our belief in values will be strengthened—and what is good in us will come forth, renewed, bringing happiness to all human beings.

To Christmas with love–

How to have a back-to-nature

Christmas [illegible]. In the driveway, doors are swung wide, revealing a tree trimmed with presents and standing in a farm wagon. In the house, more Christmas (see page 75). High on six-year-old Derek Murphy's door, a wreath decorated by his sister Ginny, with candy and bows, angels she made, and a mouse that fits neatly in a walnut shell (except for a long dangly tail). For a peek inside Derek's door, turn the page.

Christmas at home

Back-to-nature Christmas

The warmth of a big old-fashioned family Christmas

A delight for children is a Christmas tree of their very own—like the one Mr. and Mrs. Francis R. Murphy set up in the playroom, right. Their seven children trim the tree themselves, with miles of popcorn and cranberries, and little dolls dressed as angels for the holidays. The family tree, where the presents are opened, stands in the library, above. Interior design by Chuck Winslow.

In the living room, below, full of poinsettias and overflow presents, after-dinner coffee is served on the glass coffee table with a Bûche-de-Noël baked by Mrs. Murphy.

READLE

Mrs. Murphy's Christmas countdown

July 1: Begin shopping (none too early for a family with seven children).

December 15: Decorate house —everything but the trees.

December 20: Tree-trimming party. Eggnog and Christmas cookies baked by Ginny.

Week of the 20th: A cocktail party, plus a bridge-club lunch.

Christmas Eve: Big family buffet of lasagne, pasta carbonara, salad; pecan and mince pies.

Christmas Day: Open presents; traditional turkey-and-trimmings dinner, with flaming plum pudding and Bûche-de-Noël.

Back-to-nature Christmas

The fragrance and beauty of a fresh green tree

If nature has a favorite tree for Christmas, surely her choice must be a forest evergreen, untrimmed and untinseled—a Christmas tree pure and simple. Here, not one but three beautiful balsams, looking as if they've just arrived by horse-drawn sleigh from grandmother's woods, stand serenely in the simplest of settings: the studio of artist Larry Laslo, who clears the room for dancing at holiday parties. The only light on party night comes from white votive candles on the painted floor, a curvy design by Daniel C. Baldwin that keeps the dancers whirling. Each tree stands in its own galvanized washbucket inside a big wooden tub, and is wired for stability from four places spaced along its trunk to holes punched (with hammer and nail) in the rim of the bucket. A formula of two cups light corn syrup and four teaspoons Clorox bleach thoroughly mixed with a gallon hot water helps keep trees fresh (House & Garden's tree authority explains that the bleach helps keep the vital sap channels clear so the trees can feed on the syrup-sugar, their favorite Christmas feast).

Across the swirly floor from the Christmas trees, the fireplace, above, contains a set of antlers instead of a flame ("A room filled with dancers is warm enough"). On the mantel, two wooden tubs painted blue to match the hearth hold huge bouquets of evergreen boughs—white pine, cedar, blue spruce, and balsam—prettily lit by white votives.

BEADLE

How to put a floor in a holiday whirl—with paint

Sand off old finish. Draw design to scale; transfer to floor with pencil (use nail-and-string compass for curves). Use enamel paint—brush edges, fill in with roller. When dry, coat with polyurethane. Paint and polyurethane labels give number of coats and drying times: When dry, add trees and music—and dance!

Tree-trimmings children can make themselves

Tiny baskets: Fill with star flowers, miniature fruits, small toys, or gum drops on toothpicks—all anchored with florists' clay. Tie a narrow ribbon on handle. Birds' nests: Mold 1½-inch balls of excelsior into nest shapes; brush with white glue, spray-stain if desired. Add birds on pin bases and beads for eggs. Ribbons: Cut plain and fancy ribbons into 6-inch lengths. Loop in bows, wire together at centers, leave ends for wiring to tree.

How to twine a grapevine wreath

Gather vines when still pliable—as soon as they've dropped their leaves. Drive four to six stakes into the ground in a circle; wind vines around stakes, interweaving them to make a good solid wreath. With twine, lash vines together at four places, tucking in loose ends (as vines dry, they will stay put). Attach with wire a variety of small kitchen presents (set of measuring spoons, cookie cutters, tin molds, ladles, scoops, and a nutmeg grater), some dried seed pods, and berries. Finish it with a big gingham bow.

Back-to-nature Christmas

Handmade presents that double the treat

Presents with secret surprises make Christmas giving twice the treat. One idea: a big sewing basket, left, filled with tiny handmade toys, all strung for hanging on the tree. The secret is the wrapping: toys are bundled in calico squares—enough to make a full-sized quilt. Designed by Diana Beattie; wrapped by her daughters Nina and Lisa; to buy at Cache-Cache. Another idea is the grapevine wreath, above (in New England tradition, to be given to newlyweds for their back door), hung with useful kitchen presents along with biscuits for birds.

A family of dolls, below, can be ordered with hair and eyes patterned after any family you specify. Their family secret: stuffings of dried soup makings. Dolls and wreath by Judy Wilkinson. Everything, including makings for tree-trimming ideas, at The Children's Tree.

SUSAN WOOD

Back-to-nature Christmas

Holiday decorations gathered from the outdoors

As sturdy as the Scot who built it in 1810, Bartleman's House in Old Town, Alexandria, Va., is filled with the wee treasures of nature to garland and to greet Christmas. House and halls are decked with pine cones, walnuts, chestnuts, and boughs of evergreens collected from the Virginia and Maryland countryside. One of the Christmas trees is a 12-foot tepee of dried snowballs and wild swamp grass, all gathered in the fall. This house, ready for Christmas, will be open to the public on the Scottish Walk in Alexandria (see page 22). Now snug and splendid, it was merely a shell when purchased by Delbert N. Ellis and Shelton W. Oddland in 1962. They gradually restored the house, replacing parts of it, adding furniture, and rescuing it from a century of neglect (the house had also been used as a barber shop and even a warehouse). And the canny, thrifty Scot who built it more than a century ago would surely approve of using nature's gifts to help cheer and celebrate Christmas.

The façade of Bartleman's House, above, is as traditional as an old Christmas card. But the interior, like Christmas itself, is filled with surprises. Right: Mixed nuts and mixed candlesticks with generous artichokes standing in for Scottish thistle. The swag of pine cones and nuts rests against the original pine mantel. Far right: A graceful garland of evergreen held high by clusters of Christmas lemons and oranges. In every window, a white pine wreath swings by a long red velvet ribbon.

How to make a nut-and-pine-cone swag

Shape chicken wire to form swag, broadening it at the center. Wire back seam securely. With silicone glue, attach a base of chestnuts. Because glue is soft but firm, you can keep building layers without waiting for glue to dry. Next glue on several kinds of pine cones and nuts. Attach to mantel with strong velour ribbons crossed and tied.

Christmas cookies

Cream 2 cups soft butter with a cup of sugar. Blend in an egg, 2 teaspoons vanilla, and gradually 4½ cups sifted flour. Cover, refrigerate 2 hours. Roll one-fourth dough at a time to ⅛-inch thick. Cut cookies, bake on greased baking sheet 6 to 9 minutes at 375°. Icing: Beat 2 egg whites, ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar, a dash of salt until stiff, add 2 teaspoons vanilla. Gradually beat in 3 cups confectioners sugar until peaks form. Divide into five bowls; color four. "I like thick icing," says Lisa. "Gena and Cham add silver-ball designs."

How to be your own china designer

Find a good ceramic shop that will sell you supplies, show you how to use them, and fire your finished work. The Giobbis work with Sybil Cooper in New York; other shops can be found across the country. Begin with white bisque—fired plates, cups, bowls. Paint with ceramic colors, then take your wares back to be fired, glazed, refired. Mrs. Giobbi uses her china every day—and it all goes safely through the dishwasher.

Things to make, to bake, to decorate

Children have a knack for Christmas: Give them an array of enticing materials and a lot of table space, and they might turn out anything from cookies to handpainted dinner plates. Gena, Lisa, and Cham Giobbi do. They design their own Christmas packages, too, wrapping them in shiny white paper, decorating them with felt-tipped pens: "It's a warm friendly way to show you really care," says Gena, sixteen. Lisa, fourteen, is in charge of cookie baking, and, with her mother Elinor, bakes the bread, left, as well: The brown loaves are topped with white-bread angels, trees, and stars molded by hand; the white loaves with brown ones. The children also help put up vegetables from their father's garden (Ed Giobbi is an artist and a published cook). This year's bumper crops were tomatoes and cabbage, "so everyone gets sauerkraut for Christmas." Canned goods and bread go into colored paper sacks to be given as presents.

There are as many ways to decorate a Christmas tree as there are Christmases to enjoy. This page: A tree that seems to float above the city outside on a terrace. No colors—just white, silver and gold, giving a magic view from interior designer Edward Benesch's living room. Opposite page, top row, left: A tree that goes right down to the floor (you chop the bottom off), covered with carved animals, papier mâché angels and fruits, Chinese jade birds, and candy canes, all collected by decorator Michael Lynch from Mexico, Nepal, South America, and elsewhere. Center: Vegetables and fruit get a new role in life—string beans, lady-apples, pears, peppers, and an eggplant on top, wrapped in silverfoil and looking like works of art. Add colored candles, suggests designer Karl Springer. Right: 14-foot-high tree in Mr. and Mrs. Richard Maltby's converted barn. Richard covered dummy boxes with fabric and doilies with glitter to trim them, then added 30-year-old strings of tiny gold balls. Up the stairs, a train of poinsettias—and admiring children. Center page, left: Tree in a basket—specially grown espalier pyracantha trimmed by nature! Tree trained by florist David Jones. Center: A growing tree (how to replant, see page 178). Right: Tree with glitter and ornaments, garland with ribbons, wreath with Mexican paper flowers, mini-tree covered with objects found in Chinatown, candelabra with greenery and ribbons—all the homemade inspiration of Nancy Goslee Power of design firm, Goslee & Moore. Bottom row, left: Memories of a Swedish Christmas; traditional straw tree ornaments and goats beneath, the childhood collection of Mrs. Paul Ramos—also the wood house and figures. Center: A tree of discipline and perfect beauty—white, silver and turquoise, the colors repeated in the gift wrapping beneath the tree. The doves and peacocks were found by Mr. and Mrs. Dell Tenney in a Connecticut nursery. Right: Christmas cookie made by the Giobbi children. (For recipe and more cookies, page 66.)

Angels cut from House & Garden, cardboard-mounted

Raised in Hawaii, where Christmas is always sun and surfing, Connie Olguin plunges into the holiday season in New York with extra special enthusiasm. Her glorious silvery tree is decked with original decorations from all over the world. House & Garden provided inspiration for some new ones. Pages from the December '74 issue showing close-ups of the angels on the Metropolitan Museum of Art's tree suggested an idea for cardboard cut-out figures. To make: Cut out whole page of magazine, spray with waterproof hair spray to prevent print from smudging. Glue page to cardboard (Connie uses shirt boards from the Chinese laundry). Let dry. Connie, a graphic designer, is used to working with a razor, but suggests scissors for the less experienced person.

Welcome to Christmas

Welcome to the kitchen

Full of firelight, music, and wonderful food, the kitchen is the holiday gathering place in a restored 18th-century tavern turned into a comfortable house. With a Christmas tree in every room, the house becomes the center of festivities to which the whole community contributes.

DAVID'S CHEESE CAKE

CRUST:

- 10 ounces graham cracker crumbs
- ½ cup sugar
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon
- ⅛ teaspoon ginger
- 1½ sticks butter

Blend completely. Cover sides and bottom of a 9-by-5-inch loose-bottom pan.

FILLING:

- 4½ 8-ounce packages cream cheese
- 1½ cups sugar
- 6 eggs
- 1½ teaspoons vanilla

Blend together and beat 10 to 15 minutes until very creamy (cheese creams more easily if you add it alternately with eggs). Pour custard into pan. Bake 40 minutes at 375°. Let cool 1 hour.

TOPPING:

- 1½ pints sour cream
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Blend together, pour on cooled cake. Bake 10 more minutes at 425°. Remove from oven and refrigerate 24 hours. Decorate with assorted jams or fruits in patchwork designs or poured through waxed-paper stencils.

Lunch is served in the former mud-room, left, paved with brick and slate and now glassed in on three sides. Above the table, a hanging Christmas tree made of velour ribbon and greens on a wire frame, and trimmed with rather blowsy bread-dough angels. A step up is the kitchen, its natural wood counter is used here as a sideboard.

BEADLE

Christmas at Mechlin's Tavern officially commences with a "Tavern Buffet," an open house for 150 or so friends and neighbors who bring homebaked bread, handmade ornaments and decorations, and presents they make for one another each year. "We send invitations instead of Christmas cards," say hosts C. F. Brasch and Raphael Sullivan, who have painstakingly restored the tavern and turned it into a livable house filled with authentic American furniture and collections. Both celebrated cooks in the community, they provide poached snapper, soups, wonderful desserts. All during the Christmas season, the house is lit only by candles and firelight. For menus and recipes for this and other of their holiday parties, please turn to Wine & Food, page 101.

INGREDIENTS

pastry dough for two-crust, 9-inch pie
¾ cup water
6 cups sliced apples
1½ cups raw cranberries
2 cups sugar
¼ cup cornstarch
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup chopped walnuts
4 tablespoons butter
milk, nutmeg, and sugar for top

METHOD

Roll out half the dough, line a 9-inch pie pan. In a large saucepan combine water, apples, and cranberries. Bring to the boil, simmer 5 minutes. Add sugar, cornstarch, cinnamon, and walnuts. Cook until mixture thickens and boils. Pile mixture into pie plate, dot with butter.

Roll out remaining dough and cut into strips. Arrange in a lattice design over filling and seal to bottom pastry. Brush top with milk; sprinkle with sugar and nutmeg. Bake at 400° for 50 minutes or until golden.

DAVID BAILEY

The real James Herriot—a rare photograph of the elusive author who manages to hide his identity and preserve his privacy although his books are read by millions

EDITOR'S NOTE: A pen name effectively conceals the true identity of the author of the best-selling All Creatures Great and Small and All Things Bright and Beautiful. But James Herriot is indeed the veterinary surgeon who travels all over the Yorkshire hills and dales, and the incidents he so vividly describes are real-life encounters. When David Bailey went to find him and take the photograph, above, especially for House & Garden, he followed him around the local cattle and sheep farms one day. "People are living there as they might have done 100 years ago," he reports. "Nothing in the North of England changes very much. It's still very primitive. Herriot is treated like a local squire, lives a very simple life—his son James shares his veterinary practice. He seems outwardly untouched by his fame and success and goes everywhere with his two dogs, Dan and Hector, in the back of the car." Hector, eleven, is the Jack Russell terrier in his arms, above. Brought up in Scotland, where New Year's is more important than Christmas, James Herriot has always spent the Christmas holiday working. Last Christmas morning, in fact, he recalls "making a dozen visits." Despite persuasive invitations "to stay for a Christmas drink or two," he tries to be home by early afternoon, so he can unwrap his presents in a family get-together around the tree, and follow with a traditional English Christmas dinner. "We never have anything extraordinary, we just like to eat. . . ." He adds: "I love Christmas in Yorkshire. There is a tremendous feeling of good will and excitement and festivity. Very often we'll have lots of snow, this adds to the spirit and makes it seem all the more traditional." For House & Garden readers, James Herriot has written about a very memorable Christmas experience.

The Best CHRISTMAS PRESENT

By James Herriot

My memories of Christmas will always be bound up with a certain little cat.

I first saw her when I was called to see one of Mrs. Ainsworth's dogs and I looked in some surprise at the furry black creature sitting before the fire.

"I didn't know you had a cat," I said.

The lady smiled. "We haven't, this is Debbie."

"Debbie?"

"Yes, at least that's what we call her. She's a stray. Comes here two or three times a week and we give her some food. I don't know where she lives but I believe she spends a lot of her time around one of the farms along the road."

"Do you ever get the feeling she wants to stay with you?"

"No." Mrs. Ainsworth shook her head. "She's a timid little thing. Just creeps in, has some food, then flits away. There's something so appealing about her but she doesn't seem to want to let me or anybody into her life."

I looked again at the little cat. "But she isn't just having food today."

"That's right. It's a funny thing but every now and again she slips through here into the lounge and sits by the fire for a few minutes. It's as though she were giving herself a treat."

"Yes . . . I see what you mean." There was no doubt there was something unusual in the attitude of the little animal. She was sitting bolt upright on the thick rug, which lay before the fireplace in which the coals glowed and flamed. She made no effort to curl up or wash herself or do anything other than gaze quietly ahead. And there was something in the dusty black of her coat, the half-wild scrawny look of her that gave me a clue. This was a special event in her life, a rare and wonderful thing; she was lapping up a comfort undreamed of in her daily existence.

As I watched, she turned, crept soundlessly from the room and was gone.

"That's always the way with Debbie," Mrs. Ainsworth laughed. "She never stays more than ten minutes or so, then she's off."

She was a plumpish, pleasant-faced woman in her forties and the kind of client veterinary surgeons dream of; well off, generous, and the owner of three cosseted basset hounds. And it only needed the habitually mournful expressions of one of the dogs to deepen a little and I was round there post-haste. Today one of the bassets had raised its paw and scratched its ear a couple of times and that was enough to send its mistress scurrying to the phone in great alarm.

So that my visits to the Ainsworth home were frequent but undemanding and I had ample opportunity to look out for the little cat, which had intrigued me. On one occasion I spotted her nibbling daintily from a saucer at the kitchen door. As I watched she turned and almost floated on light footsteps into the hall then through the lounge door.

The three bassets were already in residence, draped snoring on the fireside rug, but they seemed to be used to Debbie because two of them sniffed her in a bored manner and the third merely cocked a sleepy eye at her before flopping back on the rich pile.

Debbie sat among them in her usual posture; upright, intent, gazing absorbedly into the glowing coals. This time I tried to make friends with her. I approached her carefully but she leaned away as I stretched out my hand. However, by patient wheedling and soft talk I managed to touch her and gently stroked her cheek with one finger. There was a moment when she responded by putting her head on one side and rubbing back against my hand but soon she was ready to leave. Once outside the house she darted quickly along the road then through a gap in a hedge and the last I saw was the little black figure flitting over the rain-swept grass of a field.

"I wonder where she goes," I murmured half to myself.

Mrs. Ainsworth appeared at my elbow. "That's something we've never been able to find out."

It must have been nearly three months before I heard from Mrs. Ainsworth and in fact I had begun to wonder at the bassets' long symptomless run when she came on the phone.

It was Christmas morning and she was apologetic. "Mr. Herriot, I'm so sorry to bother you today of all days. I should think you want a rest at Christmas like anybody else." But her natural politeness could not hide the distress in her voice.

"Please don't worry about that," I said. "Which one is it this time?"

"It's not one of the dogs. It's . . . Debbie."

"Debbie? She's at your house now?"

"Yes . . . but there's something wrong. Please come quickly."

Driving through the marketplace I thought again that Darrowby on Christmas Day was like Dickens come to life; the empty square with the snow thick on the cobbles and hanging from the eaves of the fretted lines of roofs, the shops closed and the colored lights of the Christmas trees winking at the windows of the clustering houses, warmly inviting against the cold white bulk of the fells behind.

Mrs. Ainsworth's home was lavishly decorated with tinsel and holly, rows of drinks stood on the sideboard and the rich aroma of turkey and sage-and-onion stuffing wafted from the kitchen. But her eyes were full of pain as she led me through to the lounge.

Debbie was there all right, but this time everything was different. She wasn't sitting upright in her usual position; she was stretched quite motionless on her side, and huddled close to her lay a tiny black kitten.

I looked down in bewilderment. "What's happened here?"

"It's the strangest thing," Mrs. Ainsworth replied. "I haven't seen her for several weeks, then she came in about two hours ago—sort of staggered into the kitchen, and she was carrying the kitten in her mouth. She took it through to the lounge and laid it on the rug and at first I was amused. But I could see all was not well because she sat as she usually does, but for a long time—over an hour—then she lay down like this and she hasn't moved."

I knelt on the rug and passed my hand over Debbie's neck and ribs. She was thinner than ever, her fur dirty and mud-caked. She did not resist as I gently opened her mouth. The tongue and mucous membranes were abnormally pale and the lips ice-cold against my fingers. When I pulled down her eyelid and saw the dead white conjunctiva a knell sounded in my mind.

I palpitated the abdomen with a grim certainty as to what I would find and there was no surprise, only a dull sadness as my fingers closed around a hard lobulated mass deep among the viscera. Massive lymphosarcoma. Terminal and hopeless. I put my stethoscope on her heart and listened to the increasingly faint, rapid beat. Then I straightened up and sat on the rug looking sightlessly into the fireplace, feeling the warmth of the flames on my face.

Mrs. Ainsworth's voice seemed to come from afar. "Is she ill, Mr. Herriot?"

I hesitated. "Yes . . . yes, I'm afraid so. She has a malignant growth." I stood up. "There's absolutely nothing I can do. I'm sorry."

"Oh!" Her hand went to her mouth and she looked at me wide-eyed. When at last she spoke her voice trembled. "Well, you must put her to sleep immediately. It's the only thing to do. We can't let her suffer."

"Mrs. Ainsworth," I said. "There's no need. She's dying now—in a coma—far beyond suffering."

She turned quickly away from me and was very still as she fought with her emotions. Then she gave up the struggle and dropped on her knees beside Debbie.

"Oh poor little thing!" she sobbed and stroked the cat's head again and again as the tears fell unchecked on the matted fur. "What she must have come through. I feel I ought to have done more for her."

For a few moments I was silent, feeling her sorrow, so discordant among the bright seasonal colors of this festive room. Then I spoke gently.

"Nobody could have done more than you," I said. "Nobody could have been kinder."

"But I'd rather have kept her here—in comfort. It must have been terrible out there in the cold when she was so (Continued on page 182)

The amazing makeover of a narrow cabin

A NEW SEE-THROUGH HOUSE

An old 11-foot-wide mountain cabin, reshingled, wrapped with decks to double its living space, opened up with glass

There once was a hunting cabin in the Catskills with lots of bedrooms upstairs, one long living room downstairs with a fireplace at each end. The outside was white clapboard; roof, green asphalt shingles. It was typical of carpenter-built vacation houses 60 years ago. The creative, country-loving couple who bought it recently "in terrible condition" decided to update. In the remodeling, architect Keith Kroeger stripped the cabin right down to basic frame and foundations. On went a handsome rustic wrapping of hand-split cedar shakes, all over the sides and roof. Window openings were expanded and lined up back and front, and in went big glass pocket doors to give the house a wonderful, see-through transparency. Upstairs rooms have balconies so that these sliding windows offer, along with a view, a taste of the outdoors. Trees "come in" yet the house itself is a protective, cozy retreat from nature, with interior walls sheathed in fir (even in the bathrooms). Just about all that remains of the original building are the dimensions (it's still only 11 feet wide) and the great round stone chimneys "too beautiful for words, like pieces of primitive sculpture," says Mr. Kroeger. Because the house is small (the new layout has two bedrooms, two baths, two tiny living rooms and a kitchen-dining room in between, and two circular stairways connecting the floors), architect Keith Kroeger developed outdoor living spaces. "In fact," he adds, "there is now more space outside than inside." Trees were left in place where they didn't obstruct the view, Douglas fir wood decks built sympathetically around them.

WRAPAROUND DECKS FOR TWICE THE SPACE, TWICE THE VIEW

With wooden decks, the house gained a third story at the back, which is now partly car parking space and storage, but also includes a laundry room. Surrounding the house Mr. Kroeger laid great flagstones hauled from the nearby wood; he built stairways of railroad ties (recycled from the local railroad yard) filled in with gravel. "The whole thing has a unity because we used materials from around the area. It is a very tactile, sensual place, there is the richness of wood, the beams inside. The owners thought of it as a folly, a complete contrast to the city." Each room has its own individually controlled electric heater set into the floor. The remodeling is an inspiration to anyone finding a run-down, country building that looks almost too dilapidated to renovate. "My first recommendation was to tear it down," declared Mr. Kroeger frankly. "But the owners insisted they wanted to start living there in a few months. I drew up plans and fed drawings to a local contractor as fast as I could. One thing about old houses, they are often built on perfect sites. I couldn't have picked a better spot if I'd tried."

How to welcome Songbirds

the joy of a winter garden

Goldfinches on a basket of sunflowe seeds, right, rufous-sided towhee attracted by feeder and a peanut bu mixture in a tea strainer, opposite p and brown thrasher enjoying a Chris pie, opposite below, are among the hundreds of birds Maibelle Dickey Hodgins has photographed in her Atlanta garden since she put up her feeder twelve years ago. (Her camer is a Honeywell Pentax Spotmatic wit a 300 mm telephoto lens.) Mrs. Hod writes and lectures on birds and gar has received the Garden Club of Georgia's highest award, is an American Rose Society Judge.

BY MARYBETH WESTON

Birds are the best of guests. They are cheerful at breakfast, and sing for their supper. Birds are the colorful flowers of winter gardens. Some are the original jet set, summering perhaps in Canada, wintering in Brazil, but not a bit snobbish about dallying on stopovers at your backyard feeder, then tidying-up around the garden before flying on. Other birds are year-round good neighbors; they clean up weed seeds and over-wintering insects and dispatch garden pests by the multitude in spring and summer. In cities, too, birds can be observed eating, drinking, being merry in their courtship, house-hunting, and nesting (they are devoted, tireless parents). You feel closer to nature when you are close to birds' days and ways.

HOLIDAY FOOD AND DRINK

A Christmas tree for birds

A decorated evergreen or deciduous tree near a window can bring very special carolers to your garden at Christmas. Ideas:

Strings of gumdrops, cranberries, popcorn, grapes, unshelled peanuts, raisins, dates, apple slices, dried apricots, figs.

Stale doughnuts or cookies on ribbons.

Uncooked slices of suet (the fat cut off beef or pork) cookie-cut into stars, frozen, hung on ribbons.

Sprigs of holly and hawthorn berries and dried or frozen out-of-season treats such as crabapples and autumn olive.

Pine-cones wired for hanging then dabbed with peanut butter or dipped in melted suet and birdseed. In Atlanta Mrs. Hodgins wraps these in plastic bags decked with holly for bird-loving friends.

Walnut half-shells, coconut shells, orange and grapefruit cups, and recycled L'eggs stocking containers filled with acorns, rose hips, fruit, melon seed, rice, nuts.

Apples and popcorn balls with dowels pushed through for perching.

Suet bells shaped in double recycled paper cups, unwrapped and strung upside down with a cherry clapper.

Holiday smorgasbord

Share leftovers, a dieter's downfall but a bird's delight: cocktail fruit, cheese and crackers, toast and jelly, potato chips, pecan pie, fruit cake, cookies, salted and unsalted nuts. Remember, fresh water is needed daily though snow is a water substitute.

Birds' Christmas pie

Chop or grind beef suet. Melt if desired in a double boiler or covered pan in a 300-degree oven. Mix with equal amount of cornmeal, flour, bread crumbs, and/or stale bread to texture of stiff dough. Add raisins, seeds. Pack into aluminum foil pie pan and refrigerate until firm. Garnish with seeds and American holly.

Long-lasting all-winter suet cakes

To 1 pound melted suet (strained, meat-free) add 1 pound cornmeal plus 1 pound sunflower seeds, 1 cup oatmeal, 1 cup dried currants or raisins, ½ cup pecans or walnuts, ½ cup coarse bran. Pour into recycled tuna cans, paper or plastic containers. Thick mixtures do not require refrigeration in cool seasons.

Birds' peanut butter pudding

Mix 2 cups suet or bacon drippings, 2 cups cornmeal, 1 cup peanut butter, ½ cup water. Some bird lovers have been told peanut butter chokes birds. Most authorities today say not so, especially not when mixed.

A GLORIOUS GREEN AND SILVER GARDEN

This is a garden that glistens in sunlight, glimmers in moonlight, seems crystalline-cool in summer, magic through much of the year. Adelma G. Simmons grows and sells herbs, many of them gray, and had often used clouds of silvery artemisias as a foil to make familiar foliage that much greener. But not until last year did she decide "to come out with a hoe and sketch this garden in the ground" and set out in its sunny well-drained soil her collection—over 70 varieties—of the horticultural family silver. The half-moon beds are edged with brick. A path of crushed marble chips is overlaid with fine gray granite. Each bed holds tight clusters of plants that range from silver white to frosty blue and green. "A tight planting is more attractive in the early stages of a garden." Each leaf wears a coat resembling felt, wool, velvet, wax, or silk—nature's protection from the wind and drought of the plants' arid native habitats. Mrs. Simmons describes many of the plants, their colors and fragrance, in her most recent book, Herb Gardens of Delight (Hawthorn). For her plant list, send a self-addressed stamped envelope to Caprilands Herb Farm, Coventry, Conn.

Decorating and house linked to nature

Looking as though it grew out of the earth, this weekend retreat was once a tiny stone-walled cottage. To make the space comfortable for himself, and to make room for friends, architect and interior designer Manfred Ibel took walls out, raised the roof, and added windows and beams—always respectful of the natural lines of the landscape. Inside this extended space, a new collection of Korean furniture introduced by Baker in 1975—inspired by the Korean Yi Dynasty, with simple lines and natural materials that blend perfectly with the surroundings. For instance, the armless sofas and ottoman, upholstered in natural Haitian cotton, opposite page, and the olive ash burl, maple and brass trimmed cocktail table. Spectacular chest, far right, is a reproduction of antique Korean piece. Consistent with this theme, but not part of the collection, is Baker's glass-topped dining table, above.

The house, with all its levels and angles, nestles comfortably at the foot of a hill, surrounded by trees. "It just grew," says Manfred Ibel, "out of the existing conditions of nature." The back of the house, bottom left, has a new stone roof over the added-on kitchen. For the chimney (of a fireplace that works both sides, facing both kitchen and living room), Mr. Ibel found stones that matched the original walls. He heightened the roof, following the lines of the hill, to make space for a 15-by-12-foot sleeping loft, opposite page, with big glass sliding windows—for a view better than a tapestry, changing with the seasons. The bathroom, above, is on the ground floor, with glass doors so you can't tell where indoors ends and outside begins. The sunken bath is surrounded by earth-colored tiles. "It's like a hole scooped out of the earth," says Mr. Ibel. The tile table serves both as partition and radiator enclosure. Natural colors predominate indoors, so that as the colors outside change, the interior keeps in harmony.

OXYGEN

■ BY CAROLINE SEEBOH

Discoveries you should know about now—how to make sure you are getting enough and the right quality—its healing powers—its bond with vitamin E—how we consume it and abuse it—from doctors, biologists, biochemists, and aerobic experts.

The natural energy giver—the key to health, strength, your very life

Once upon a time, there was no oxygen. It took millions of years, until green plants began to develop with photosynthetic cells, for the earth to begin to breathe. Today, we take for granted our oxygen just as we take for granted that the sun will rise tomorrow. Yet with the ever-increasing anxiety about air pollution and the erosion of our natural resources, plus new discoveries in the field of anaerobes (organisms that live without oxygen), and, just as important, the continual research into nutrition and the quality of the foods we eat, suddenly oxygen has become more than just something to breathe—it's a key to health, strength, and the lives of future generations.

GETTING ENOUGH OXYGEN—AND THE RIGHT QUALITY

Doctors and biologists are generally agreed that there is enough oxygen around in the atmosphere to cope with our needs—and to spare. "Oxygen is not a major worry for us," says Dr. Lewis Thomas, "unless we let fly with enough nuclear explosives to kill off the green cells in the sea; if we do that, of course, we are in for strangling."

Our present atmosphere is an oxidizing one (except for places like Lake Tanganyika, the Black Sea, and the Dead Sea), and oxygen production is probably higher now than it has ever been. However, it is speculated that as hydrogen escapes from the earth, oxygen will tend to burn everything up and convert all the exposed carbon to carbon dioxide. The atmosphere at this stage would then be composed of carbon dioxide and nitrogen—and all life would cease. This is not in the forseeable future, however! If, of course, we persistently destroy the present sources of oxygen (by pesticides, cutting down trees, polluting the waters, etc.), then we are putting future generations in jeopardy.

"It is hard to feel affection for something as totally impersonal as the atmosphere, and yet there it is, as much a part and product of life as wine or bread. Taken all in all, the sky is a miraculous achievement. It works, and for what it is designed to accomplish, it is as infallible as anything in nature."

—Dr. Lewis Thomas, "Lives of a Cell"

Most of the oxygen produced by microorganisms and green plants eventually diffuses into the entire atmosphere in about the same amount all over—so wherever you live, you need not worry about getting enough oxygen. The problem of urban living is not that you might not get enough oxygen, but that the air you breathe is full of pollutants mixed in with the oxygen, such as carbon monoxide, sulphur oxide, and other pollutants, that do the damage.

"There are only two places where you might run short of oxygen," explains biochemist Dr. A. Karim Ahm staff scientist for the Natural Resources Defense Co cil. "One is at very high altitude, where the air is v rarefied and there is less oxygen available to your lun When mountaineers climb high peaks, they take suppl of oxygen. And at the Olympic Games in Mexico City very high altitude city), people were concerned ab the athletes' oxygen supply. Too little oxygen can permanently damage brain cells, by the way—it is that vital to us.

"The other place where you might run short of oxygen is in a building that's on fire. Fire produces a lot of carbon monoxide and carbon dioxide, and in an enclosed room with very little ventilation, you might have problems with oxygen supply."

Too much oxygen, however, is just as dangerous as too little oxygen. "Oxygen serves as an excellent source of biologi energy," says Dr. Daniel L. Gilbert, Head, Section Cellular Biophysics, National Institute of Neurologi Diseases, Bethesda, Md., at an Oxygen Symposium ported in the journal, Anesthesiology. "However, it al destroys life. Increasing the oxygen tension will increa the available energy for the biological process to t maximum. But as the oxygen tension increases, more the cellular constituents will be destroyed." Increas oxygen pressures can impair the nerve impulse—in fa Dr. Gilbert points out that oxygen 'pollution' of the mosphere by photosynthesis actually inhibits mosqu breeding.

In other words, using too much oxygen you mig "burn out" too fast. Dr. Gilbert suggests that the agi process might be caused by the body's defences again oxygen toxicity no longer working as well. "Perhaps he says, "the longevity of plants can be explained part by possession of antioxidants." (See opposite pa for the importance of vitamin E as an antioxidant.)

WHAT IS OXYGE

Oxygen is a colorless, odor tasteless gas. It occurs naturally as one of the chie constituents of the atmosp The major source of oxyger is marine algae, organisms that live in all the waters of earth. The other main sour is growing vegetation—pla trees—that absorbs carbon dioxide, assimilating the ca and "expelling" the oxygen the atmosphere for us to breathe.

HOW OXYGEN CAN HEAL

We have seen that too much oxygen can destroy cells but given in the right dosage it has healing propertie Doctors have observed that healing of skin wounds faster than normal in divers, who live under a high pre sure below sea level, and therefore have more oxyge eir bloodstream than under normal circumstances. observation was confirmed in a recent study on ani- s conducted by Dr. J. Niinikoski at the University of ku. Dr. Niinikoski applied oxygen to the animals' nds and found that as long as the oxygen doses were efully controlled, healing was indeed accelerated.

nother dramatic new medical development has been ne field of anaerobic bacteriology. These bacteria, ch do not grow in the presence of oxygen, live on the , in the mouth, and in the intestinal tract. For in- ce, about 99.9 percent of bacteria in the lower in- nal tract are anaerobic. In fact, in the human body, anaerobic bacteria far outnumber aerobic ones. "We d to think that most of the intestinal bacteria were d," explains Dr. Lillian Holdeman of the Anaerobe oratory, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State Uni- ity. "But now that we know how to grow them, we w that they are alive and are anaerobes. Most of the teria that live with us are 'good' bacteria. However, e can and do cause infection. The bacteria that se some kinds of food poisoning [botulism] and teta- for instance, are anaerobic." Dr. Holdeman says the treatment of certain types of disease with hyper- c oxygen (oxygen under more than atmospheric ssure) is effective in some infections.

he anaerobic bacteria in the mouth, superficially an kely site for organisms that cannot stand oxygen, live nicroenvironments' such as between the teeth and is, where there is no oxygen. An oxygen-type therapy been found very effective in this area, particularly familiar treatment with hydrogen peroxide. Hydrogen oxide is toxic for most bacteria. However, some bac- a produce an enzyme that will de-nature the toxic oxide. The anaerobic bacteria do not produce this yme, however. The peroxide is also a good cleanser wounds, and is also flexible in reaching inaccessible as around the teeth.

totally new type of oxygen treatment has just been ounced as a result of clinical studies by doctors at University of Miami School of Medicine, Columbia versity's School of Public Health and Administrative dicine, and at Philadelphia's Temple University ool of Dentistry—an antiseptic gel that releases oxy- in the mouth, over a period of up to five minutes or e, thus making the oxygenation more effective. The manufactured by Reed and Carnrick, comes in a e and is available without a prescription.

XYGEN AND VITAMIN E— HE NATURAL MARRIAGE

min E naturally exists in vegetable products such as aturated fats and oils, whole grain, and wheat germ ainly for the purpose of reacting with oxygen. What pens is explained by biochemist Dr. A. Karim Ahmed. nen unsaturated chemical bonds [in fats and oils] ct with oxygen they form a certain type of compound gives a strange taste. We call it 'rancid,' and are iliar with such a taste in butter or meat. This is be- se the reaction creates peroxide-like molecules, sing rancidity.

Now this rancidity is not good for you. These per- de molecules get into your bloodstream and burst or upt the membrane of your red blood cells very easily. happens too much, and you destroy your red blood s, you can become anemic.

We have a very good example of this. When the as- nauts were going on their various flights, they were ced in a chamber of high oxygen tension—so they l far more oxygen in their bloodstream than under mal circumstances. When they came back, it was nd they were all anemic—not from iron deficiency, because the blood cells were disrupting. [There was much oxygen without control from anti-oxidants, sing rancidity—disruption of the blood cells—ane- .] So it was decided to add vitamin E to the astro- uts' diet to see if it would counteract this problem. The t astronauts with this new dietary regime were the ee who went to the moon—and when they came back, the first time, the astronauts were found not to be emic!

"It has been discovered, in studies done recently at M.I.T. and the University of California, that vitamin E plays a vital role in this area—because vitamin E binds oxygen in such a way that the oxygen is then unable to react with these unsaturated chemical bonds.

"There is a second problem relating to rancid fats in the human body. Within the cells of most human bodies there are other membranous structures called lysosomes, which contain digestive enzymes. When a cell is ready to die, the membrane bursts open, releasing these enzymes, and the entire cell is destroyed. Now if you have too much rancid fat in your body, it attacks these lysosome membranes, allowing the enzymes to escape, thus causing premature death to the cell. This is really what apparently happens in the aging process.

"So you see how crucial vitamin E is, to prevent this process of rancidity and premature aging. And the problem today is that many cooking oils are processed in such a way that the vitamin E is destroyed. White flour and white bread contain virtually no vitamin E. Yet nature provided vitamin E as a protective mechanism. The problem is even more serious as so many people eat refined foods—and also choose unsaturated fats, which, without an antioxidant such as vitamin E, may cause damage. Indeed, some reputable biochemists not only suggest that people with this kind of diet supplement it with vitamin E, but also feel that the recommended daily allowance of vitamin E is far too low."

HOW YOU CAN PRESERVE OXYGEN

1. Live with plants. As plants supply oxygen, a houseful of plants will ensure a fresh supply—but the earth's atmosphere is already so richly oxygenated that this is not necessary for health. The life cycle of plants is such that in daylight they make their own food, absorbing carbon dioxide and releasing oxygen (a process called photosynthesis). But at night they do not perform this action, instead release carbon dioxide—and no oxygen. Again, however, the atmosphere is so rich in oxygen that unless you sleep in a huge jungle of plants, with no ventilation whatsoever, there is no danger to your oxygen supply at night.

2. Keep the oxygen clean. It is not the amount of oxygen you need worry about, but keeping it clean—uncontaminated by other polluting gases that do so much harm. Cars contribute to air pollution more than almost anything else—so try to use public transport more and your car less. Industrial pollution is equally damaging: Support the Clean Air Act amendments and make sure your local officials are following up the legal requirements on air pollution in your area.

AEROBIC EXERCISES

"Aerobic" means "with oxygen." When you apply it to a system of exercise, it means an exercise that is vigorous enough and lasts long enough to increase the efficiency of your aerobic system, that is your oxygen delivering system—heart, lungs, and blood vessels. "So if you do exercise vigorously and regularly, such as dancing," says Jacki Sorensen, director of Aerobic Dancing in New York and a clinic staff member of the President's Council on Physical Fitness and (Continued on page 98)

LAURA ARCHERA HUXLEY'S OXYGEN EXERCISE

In her new book, Between Heaven and Earth (Farrar, Straus & Giroux, $8.95), Laura Archera Huxley provides a splendid oxygen breathing exercise. "To get more oxygen, we must make a place for it. Only by emptying our lungs can we make this place and we achieve this by exhaling completely. When we exhale incompletely, which is most of the time, we retain stale air in our lungs and bronchial tubes. The precious space we need for oxygen is filled with carbon dioxide . . . So exhale—press with your hand underneath the ribs and the abdomen until you are sure all the old air is out. When you are empty, you can almost massage your inner vital organs—liver, spleen, intestines—while remaining empty a little longer than it seems possible. Don't worry about inhaling! Nature will do that for you. Do this before getting up in the morning and again when in bed at night. Repeat this breathing three times during the day, especially before and after demanding work or disturbing situations."

Sports, "what you are doing is strengthening your heart to pump more blood with each stroke, so that it's delivering more oxygen with each stroke, which means you have more energy—to do more each day and have more fun.

"If you start jumping around, your muscles will send a message to the heart that they need more oxygen—which means you must breathe more, and the heart must pump faster to deliver the oxygen. In aerobic dancing, you start off with a walk-dance. At the end you take your heart rate, and stay within the limits that are safe for you. When you progress to the jog-dance, you will find your heart rate is the same but you can do more. This means you have increased the efficiency of your heart so that although it's pumping at the same rate, more oxygen is being delivered with each stroke. The same happens with the run-dance.

"Heart rate, oxygen consumption and calorie consumption are all related. If you take your heart rate, that tells you how much oxygen you are consuming, and also how many calories you are burning up. For instance, the body expends 5 calories for every liter of oxygen it uses. So if you dance, using 2 liters of oxygen a minute, in 30 minutes you will use a total of 60 liters—which means 300 calories during that time. An additional benefit for all who exercise vigorously is the calorie expenditure that goes on immediately afterward. During this period you would burn more calories than during normal resting. For as long as 6 hours following a 28-minute run, for instance, the average person could expect to burn as much as twice the calories resting afterward than if he hadn't run."

LOOKING AFTER THE OZONE

Ozone is present in the stratosphere, a section of the atmosphere about 7 miles above the earth's surface. It is formed by the action of sunlight on oxygen gas. It acts like a blanket, protecting us from the sun's ultraviolet rays. It's as though we were incubated. This equilibrium has been established over centuries—but as ozone is now being perturbed by sourc other than natural breakdov processes (for example by the tric oxide emanating from nucle bomb explosions and from supe sonic jet transports) further esca of low-wave, ultraviolet light th is normal takes place, and this biologically dangerous.

One of the most hotly contest threats to the ozone, unfortunat ly, turns out to be one of the mo common household objects—t aerosol spray. "Many sprays co tain fluorocarbon gases, which se into the atmosphere," explains D Ahmed. "Some gases are solub with water, or get washed away rain, and so on—fluorocarbo are inert substances, thus they not react with other substance they are not soluble, nor do th get washed away, so the only oth place they can go is up—by currents into the stratospher There, something happens: at certain altitude, the fluorocarb molecules stop being inert and b come very active with other mo cules and break down the ozo layer. It is predicted that there w be a long term loss of ozone fro this situation, and an increased ri of ultraviolet radiation."

Studies come in every day co firming this gloomy picture. T Federal Government is holdi hearings on the subject. Last mon Oregon became the first state enact a bill banning fluorocarb aerosols, effective March 1, 197 But the most dramatic news is th consumers are obviously taking a tion; manufacturers of produc sold in aerosol cans are rushi out with new containers that not use the suspect fluorocarb propellant—so much so that t editor of an advertising agency newsletter has given up trying count them. "It is difficult to pe ceive that when you are sprayi an antiperspirant in your bathroo you are endangering the health everyone in the world," says D Russel W. Peterson, Chairman the White House Council on E vironmental Quality. If everyo understood a little more about ox gen and what it means to our live then surely there would be trouble at all in seeing exact what Dr. Peterson means!

Celebrate—and stay slim

Light party drinks made with herbs, fruit juices and wines, plus light-handed ways with spirits

By Doris Tobi

Teas and tisanes—infusions of herbs and dried wildflowers—are wonderfully restorative to body and spirits, and usually zero in calories. Sip a cup while preparing seasonal culinary treats. Or serve an herbed tea or tisane as an invigorating meal starter.

ELEGANT BUBBLY

Delightful to the eye and palate and a winner in the slimdown race.

Ingredients

2 bottles (a fifth each) California Sauterne, chilled
2 bottles brut champagne, chilled
1 orange, thinly sliced, then halved
1 lemon, thinly sliced, then halved

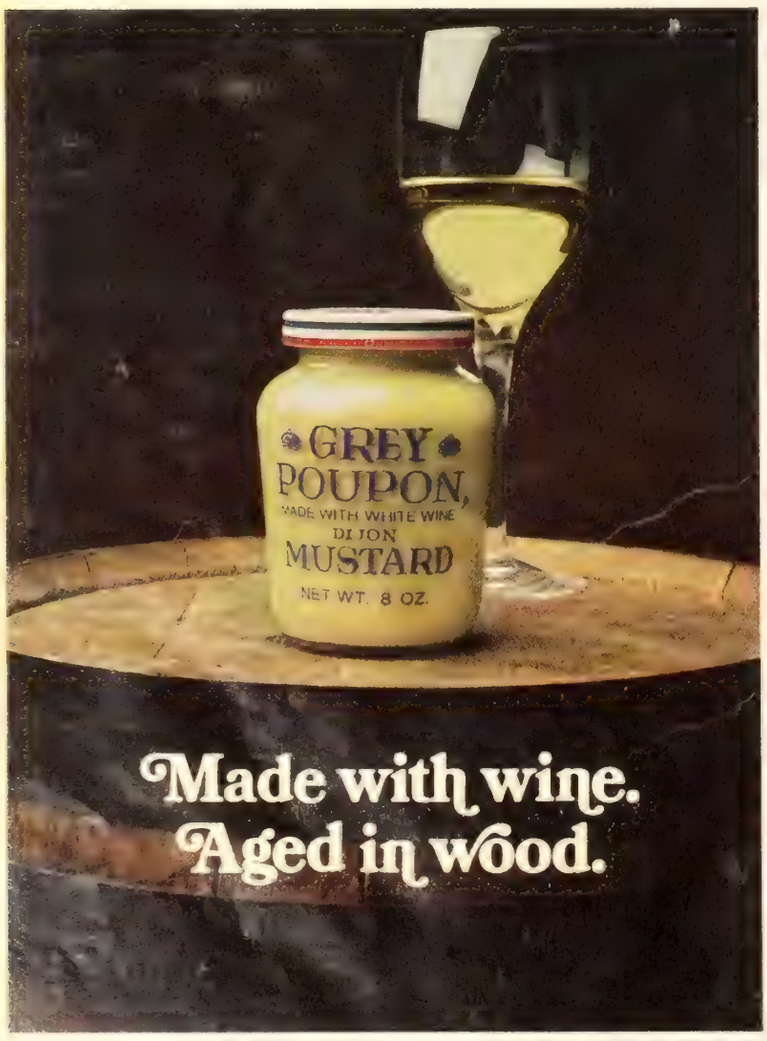
Method

Float a block of ice in a beautiful punch bowl and add the Sauterne, then the champagne. Add the slices of orange and lemon.

Serve in flute or tulip champagne glasses. Add an orange or lemon slice half to each glass. Serves 24.

YERBA MATE

An unusual tea—Yerba maté—is especially appropriate at Christmas, as it's made from dried holly leaves. The plant grows wild in Paraguay, Brazil, and Argentina, and is extremely popular in South America. Brew the maté as you would tea. Add lemon or a few cloves, cinnamon, or allspice for interesting flavor. Maté is available at herb and spice and health shops.



TISANE AMERICAINE

Michel Guérard serves his own tisane, a concoction of herbs, pine needles, heather flowers, and the like, at his famous spa at Eugénie-les-Bains, as an apéritif. Here is a Sateside version, made with native herbs.

Ingredients

3 teaspoons dried clover blossoms
2 teaspoons dried marigold flowers
1 teaspoon lemon balm
¼ teaspoon borage
3 cups water, brought to a boil lemon slices

Method

Place herbs in teapot, pour boiling water over them, and let the tea steep 5 minutes. Strain and pour into small mugs or teacups and serve with a slice of lemon.

The tea may be chilled and served in juice glasses, a slice of lemon to each.

Bits of fruits—apple, pineapple, orange, grapefruit—may be added after steeping. Serves 4.

MOLLY'S PITCHER

Fruity and kicky

Ingredients

1 cup (1 9-ounce can) pineapple tidbits, drained, but reserve 2 tablespoons of the pineapple liquid
2 fresh tangerines, peeled, white membrane removed, and segmented
12 ounces blended rye whiskey
6 ounces peach brandy
14 ounces 7-Up fresh mint leaves

Method

In an old-fashioned, quart-sized pottery or pewter pitcher, put drained pineapple tidbits, pineapple liquid, and tangerine. Add whiskey and brandy. Stir and let stand at room temperature 1-2 hours to macerate.

When ready to serve, add ice cubes and 7-Up. Stir and pour into pewter mugs, with a few pieces of pineapple to each. Top with a sprig of mint. Serves 6-8.

TEA A LA CASABLANCA

Minty, invigorating—exotic

Ingredients

8 teaspoons green tea, or 8 teabags
⅛ pound spearmint leaves, dried
1 quart water, brought to the boil
½ cup sugar or equivalent sugar substitute

Method

Place tea and spearmint leav in a large teapot or pitcher. Po boiling water over the leaves a steep 3 to 5 minutes. Add sug or sugar substitute, if desire Strain into porcelain teacu and serve at once. Serves 6.

Pretty bubbly—and very much a la mode.

Ingredients

block of ice
1 quart orange juice, chilled
1 large grapefruit, peeled, seeded, and cut into small segments
2 or 3 oranges, peeled, seeded, and segmented
1 magnum sparkling white wine (such as Kriter or Blanc de Blancs), chilled
1 quart carbonated water

Method

Float a block of ice in a beaut ful large punch bowl. Add th orange juice and fruit segment

Add the sparkling white win and carbonated water. Serve a once in coupe champagne glass es with a piece or two of seg mented fruit in each. Serves 2

HOT AND SPICY CIDER

This may be prepared several days in advance, a definite advantage this bustling holiday season.

Ingredients

2 quarts sweet cider
4 3-inch sticks of cinnamon
1 tablespoon whole cloves
1 teaspoon ground ginger
½ teaspoon allspice or 10 cloves
6 pieces of orange zest, about 3 inches by ¼-inch wide, plus more for garnish

Method

Place cider, spices, and orange zest in large pot and bring to the boil. Lower flame at once, simmer, covered, 30 minutes. Cool.

Strain and pour into covered container. Refrigerate overnight, or 2 to 3 days.

When ready to serve, heat to the boiling point and serve piping hot in ceramic mugs. Add a curl of fresh orange zest to each mug. Serves 20-24.

BICENTENNIAL PUNCH

Naturally sweetened native American wine gives it a natural lift

Ingredients

10 teaspoons leaf tea or 10 teabags
1 quart cold water
½ cup fresh lemon juice, strained
1 bottle (a fifth) Concord, Catawba, or other fruity American wine
2 quarts diet ginger ale grapes, to garnish

Method

Prepare extra-strong tea by steeping tea leaves or bags in boiling water and transferring to teapot or bowl. Cool and transfer to festive holiday punch bowl. Add lemon juice and wine.

Float a block of ice in the bowl. When ready to serve, add ginger ale and serve in stemmed coupe glasses, with 2 to 3 fresh blue-black Concord, jet-black Ribiers, or red-purple Emperor grapes to each glass. About 20 servings.

more succulent on toast with jam than butter. Lee's eye opener was tea and sliced tomatoes and herbs on toast. And of course there were eggs and cereal, sausages and kippers for those who wanted them.

Lunch on Christmas day was a smorgasbord—very late because the morning was taken up by Roland making the rounds of the farm homes with his son, Tony, to wish everyone season's greetings. Lee took advantage of the comparative peace and quiet to hold court in the "new kitchen" while she got the turkey ready for the even later dinner.

Half the fun of a Muddles Green Christmas was talking in the kitchen, drinking in the kitchen, getting in Lee's way in the kitchen, kidding in the kitchen. And this pattern included a tribe of cats, two dogs, all the guests, plus Patsy, barefooted even in winter, helping Lee organize the food while the ambiance took care of itself with everywhere log fires.

Guests and hosts would make mysterious expeditions to Aladdin's Cave with armfuls of gaily wrapped secrets to spread under and in front of the tree—not to be touched until after lunch. The pile was enormous as there were always a dozen guests and plenty of kids. "One Christmas there were seventeen houseguests, and the living room became a dorm," Lee remembers.

The Christmas smorgasbord presented soused herring, fennel slices in lemon juice and oil, stuffed eggs, mushrooms à la grecque, fish and liver pâtés, prawns and smoked salmon, a small sliced ham, cauliflower with pink mayonnaise, céleris rémoulade, rice salad, carrots râpées, fruit salad, and cheese. As an out-of-season touch, Lee is up to such tricks as producing Summer Pudding she froze months before, for dessert, or herb butter from herbs she grew in her garden and froze.

Lunch was washed down with champagne, but as the spread was progressively demolished, both adults' and children's increasing impatience about what was under the tree took precedence over interest in food and drink. The rule was that everyone could pick out a gift; as long as it was for someone else. Because of the crowd on the receiving end, this exotic, wonderful ceremony of distribution went on all afternoon to the "oohs" and "ahhs" of the audience. Piles of wrapping soon hid the floor, misplaced unwrapped presents got lost, the log fire would flare up as a paper was thrust in to get rid of it, kids screamed with delight.

One grand present was sometimes held back to make a climax. Once it was a horse for Georgina, led stomping and whinnying into the kitchen, much to its astonishment. Another was a bicycle for Claudia. Once she found a typewriter that turned out be for Georgina when she was expecting one herself. It was a near disaster until hers was unearthed from the pile to everyone's relief.

The final wrapper removed, Roland led an expedition of warmly wrapped, "gumbooted" overeaters around the sticky clay on his farm to admire the milch herd and absorb some much needed fresh air and post prandial exercise. Back to the living room's log fire for drinks, tea, and Patsy's cake. Guests and host were nothing if not articulate, being artists, writers, publishers, creative talents of various persuasions, and conversation, always interesting, rarely flagged.

Roland, as master of ceremonies, would summon the guests to the dining room, seating them according to some private and pleasing protocol of his own. Lee's Christmas dinner that followed was inventive and always delicious. The turkey stuffing was green rice and pistou instead of the usual spiced breadcrumbs or chestnuts. Vegetables ("anything but Brussels sprouts") were purées of carrots and parsnips mixed, or celeriac and potato, or green-beans and potato. "The most important thing about mixed purées," Lee says, "is to cook the vegetables separately before mixing them to preserve their individual flavors.

"I have to serve plum-pudding," Lee complains, "filled with rings, and small silver coins, and other luck pieces, or the kids would go on strike. But I refuse to eat the stuff, so I l lemon sorbet as well. My br butter I tint blue with food c ing to get away from that re less red and green of Chris Anything to make things no tirely ordinary-Christmasy still keeping a touch of tion." One Christmas Lee's tery sorbet was made with Cola! Dinner winds up nuts, fruit and Baxter's Chi Figs (Chinoiserie candy, i can imagine it), and the we of ridiculous hats produced enormous Christmas cra that have been waiting sta on the table like cordwoo impress the younger set, opulent knicknacks and fo cards inside to make laugh.

"We always have tons of died fruit that no one eats, turn that into soufflés, or st into pears, or bake it into a s Nesselrode." All this went a hurricane of French w and brandy and liqueurs to f you off. The dining room festooned with tinsel and h its red tile floor contrasting ly with the surrealistic s painted in the fireplace by host.

Boxing Day was set asid cold turkey and recovery. ple go for long strolls on Downs, or explore the pr toric "Long Man" etched in hills nearby. Friends and ne bors come to visit, and "the always a hunt to watch."

The first Saturday after Ch mas is Bell Ringing Day in N dles Green. If piled high in a soufflé dish with a collar around until set, the edges can be plastered with candied fruit chunks, too.

Ingredients

5 eggs, separated
⅔ cup confectioners' sugar, sifted
½ cup rum or any good liqueur except mint, or use vanilla
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
2 cups cream, whipped, plus more for decorating
3 tablespoons candied fruit, finely chopped, per layer of mousse, plus whole ones for decorating cognac

Method

Beat egg yolks in blender with sugar. Add rum or flavoring.

Soften gelatin in the cold water and dissolve over low heat. Add to yolks. Fold in the whipped cream. Whip egg whites stiff and fold into mixture.

Soak candied fruit in cognac. Pour a layer of mousse into a serving bowl or dish and sprinkle with the soaked fruit. Alternate layers of mousse and fruit ending with a layer of mousse. Chill in the refrigerator.

Just before serving, decorate with piped, whipped cream and more candied fruit.

NESSELRODE NUMBER II

Ingredients

2 egg whites
pinch salt
¼ cup sugar
1 cup cream, whipped
¼ cup Grand Marnier or similar liqueur liqueur-soaked candied fruit berry purée

Method

Beat egg whites, salt, and sugar until stiff. Fold in whipped cream and liqueur. Assemble as in first recipe but freeze for a few hours.

Unmold and serve the nesselrode with a sauce, preferably a purée of berries.

PATSY'S CAKE

Ingredients

1 cup butter
1 cup sugar
4 eggs
4 drops vanilla
2 cups self-rising flour strawberry jam or whipped cream confectioners' sugar

Method

Cream butter, add sugar, and cream well together. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add vanilla. Gently fold in flour. Pour into two 8-inch greased and floured cake tins. Bake at 375° for 25 minutes. Fill with jam or whipped cream or both. Dust with confectioners' sugar.

The new Early American collection from Case gives you a beautiful feeling of the good old days. And it lets you enjoy the same painstaking craftsmanship that Case has been putting into knives for more than a century.

For example, we put at least 75 hand operations in each one of Case's nine Early Americans. Notice how the tang extends the full length of the handle for extra strength. And how the handles are natural walnut for natural beauty, impregnated with acrylic to resist grease and moisture absorption.

And how the blades are glaze-finished surgical steel with edges as sharp as the edges we used to put on our straight razors.

DATE NUT LOAF

From Deborah Brown

Ingredients

1 8-ounce package dates, pitted and cut in small pieces
3 tablespoons butter
1½ cups boiling water
2½ cups all-purpose flour, sifted
1½ cups sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 egg
1 cup nuts, chopped
1 teaspoon vanilla

Method

Put dates and butter in a large bowl and pour boiling water over. Let stand at room temperature until cool.

In a bowl, sift together flour, sugar, salt, and baking soda. Add flour mixture, egg, nuts, and vanilla to date mixture. Blend thoroughly.

Spoon into eight 4½-by-2½-by-1½-inch greased and floured loaf pans.

Bake at 325° for 35 minutes or until done. Turn out onto wire racks and cool thoroughly.

To store, wrap in waxed paper, then in foil. Cake freezes well. Makes 8 small loaves.

Ingredients

2½ cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
⅓ cup butter
1¼ cups sugar
2 tablespoons lemon zest, grated
2 eggs
1 cup milk
⅓ cup lemon juice

Method

Preheat oven to 325°. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, set aside.

In a bowl, cream butter with 1 cup sugar and 1 tablespoon lemon zest. Add eggs one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add dry ingredients and milk alternately half at a time, stirring just until smooth.

Pour into a greased 9-by-5-by-3-inch loaf pan and smooth top. Bake 60-70 minutes or until tester comes out clean.

Just before end of baking time, in a saucepan, combine lemon juice, remaining zest, and ¼ cup sugar. Heat slowly until sugar dissolves, stirring constantly. Pour evenly over bread immediately after taking it out of the oven.

Cool in pan on rack for 30 minutes. Carefully remove from pan and cool on rack for 2-4 hours more before slicing.

Note: If you want a slightly tart taste, leave out a few tablespoons of sugar.

ALEXANDRIA CAKES

From Ann Dedman, a dessert caterer in New York City

Ingredients

1 pound butter
1 cup sugar
4 cups all-purpose flour, unsifted grated zest of 1 lemon, or more if desired currant jelly or seeded raspberry jam confectioners' sugar
lemon juice, strained

Method

Using pastry cutter or two knives, cut butter into sugar, flour, and lemon zest until thoroughly blended. It will have the texture of small peas.

Form into ball and divide into 3 parts. Pat each firmly into 3 ungreased 9-inch-round baking tins or 2 cookie sheets (this will make a much thinner cookie). Bake at 375° for 25 minutes or until golden brown. Do not overbake. Turn out of pans immediately and cool on wire racks.

To serve, spread cookie base with jelly or jam. Then glaze over with confectioners' sugar moistened with enough lemon juice to allow glaze to drip in patterns on cookies. Makes 3 large cookies.

DATE CAKE

From Mrs. Virgil Cook

Ingredients

1 teaspoon baking soda
1 cup boiling water
1 cup dates, chopped
1 cup brown sugar, plus 5 tablespoons
¼ cup butter, plus 2 tablespoons
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ cup nuts, chopped
5 tablespoons cream

Method

In a bowl, add baking soda and boiling water to dates, mix, and let stand.

In a separate bowl, cream 1 cup brown sugar and ¼ cup butter. Add egg and vanilla and beat well. Add salt, flour, baking powder to creamed mixture. Mix well. Fold in date mixture and nuts.

Pour into a greased 8-inch-square pan. Bake at 350° for 35 minutes. Cool.

In a saucepan boil together the remaining brown sugar, butter, and the cream for 3 minutes. Cool. Spread topping on cake and cut into serving pieces.

MINCEMEAT

From Home Made by Sandra Oddo (Atheneum)

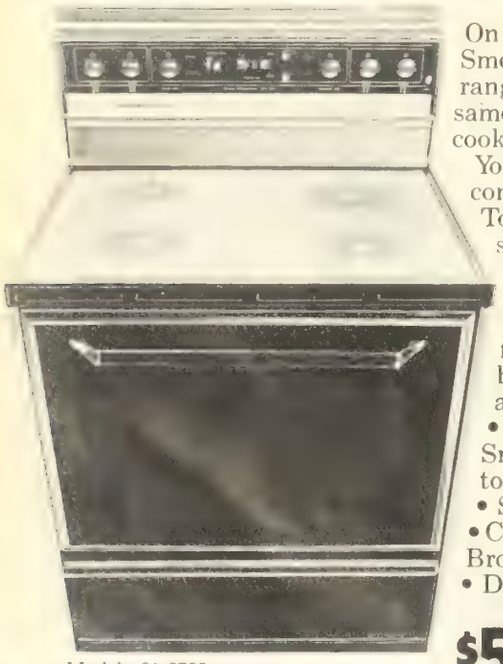
Ingredients

2 pounds beef, boiled, cooled, and chopped fine (beef can be leftovers from stock-making chopped by hand)
1 pound beef suet, minced
5 pounds apples, peeled, cored, and chopped
2 pounds raisins, chopped

THE BEST THING ABOUT THIS SMOOTH TOP IS THE TAPPAN UNDER IT.



On the surface, all Smooth Top electric ranges may look the same. But they don't all cook the same.

You may like the ease and convenience of Smooth Top cooking, but be sure to look under the hood. Compare the features, the quality, and the price. You'll find you can't do better than a Tappan—any way you look at it.

- Ceramic one-piece Smooth Top that's easy to clean
- Self-Cleaning Oven
- Convenient Waist-High Broiler
- Digital Clock Timer

CAFE BRULOT

Traditional in New Orleans' homes and restaurants, this flaming olio of coffee, cognac, liqueur, and spices is a dramatic ending to a holiday dinner party.

Ingredients

zest of 1 orange, cut into julienne strips zest of 1 lemon, cut into julienne strips
2 cinnamon sticks, about 3 inches long
15 whole cloves
1 teaspoon sugar per cup (optional)
2 cups cognac or brandy
1 cup orange liqueur
4 cups strong black coffee

Method

Place orange and lemon strips, cinnamon, cloves, and sugar in a chafing dish over low flame. Combine cognac and orange liqueur in a saucepan and warm. Ignite cognac-liqueur mixture and pour flaming, over the ingredients in the chafing dish. Add the coffee, stirring with a long-handled spoon until the flames ebb. Ladle into demitasse cups. Serve at once to 18.

Individual spritzers are great because they combine low-calorie wines with no-calorie club soda. They should be served in tall, slim glasses, tinkling with ice.

SANTA'S SPRITZER

Pour into a glass 4 ounces of dry red wine, such as California Zinfandel or Cabernet Sauvignon, add ice and carbonated water. Top with a trio of seasonal fresh grapes.

SNOWTIME SPRITZER

Pour into a glass 2 ounces vodka or gin. Add 4 ounces unsweetened grapefruit juice. Fill the glass with diet ginger ale or 7-Up. Garnish it with a segment of fresh grapefruit.

CHECK THE NAME The true Crock-Pot slow electric stoneware cooker is made only by Rival. It's the original slow cooker, the one that started the big swing to slow cooking. Other cookers use names and designs to imitate ours, but no other cooker is a true Crock-Pot!

LOOK INSIDE The true Crock-Pot is made of thick stoneware, never glass or metal. Only thick stoneware can hold the low heat required for true Crock-Pot cooking.

Electric elements around the sides evenly heat the stoneware to about 200° (300° on high) so there's no concentrated heat in the base. That's the secret of true slow cooking. It means you can simmer stews, roasts, chicken, soups and casseroles for 8, 10 or 12 hours without stirring, timing or tending. The Crock-Pot "cooks all day while the cook's away." For about 4¢.

CHECK THE COOKBOOK Every regular Crock-Pot brings its own 84-page Cookbook with over 180 recipes...from main dishes to sauces, vegetables, even breads and cakes.

CHECK FOR THE GOOD HOUSEKEEPING SEAL

Then give (or hint for) the original Crock-Pot slow cooker. Four sizes in choice of Avocado, Flame or Harvest Gold.

TEUTONIC WINE SPRITZER

Pour into a glass 4 ounces Moselle or Rhine wine, add plenty of ice, and fill with club soda. Garnish with defrosted frozen whole strawberries.

ROSE SPRITZER

Pour into a glass 6 ounces of California rosé, add ice and club soda. Place a thin round of unpeeled cucumber near the rim of the glass.

RUBESCENT TISANE

A zingy tomato and herb soup, to start off
a holiday meal in style

Ingredients

6 cups tomato juice
1 14-ounce can beef bouillon
1 small onion, grated
3 stalks celery, very finely minced juice of 1 large lemon, strained
¼ teaspoon basil, dried
¼ teaspoon savory, dried
¼ teaspoon parsley, dried
¼ teaspoon salt
freshly ground pepper to taste
1 green pepper, chopped coarsely

Method

Place all ingredients except green pepper in a saucepan and simmer over low flame 20 minutes.

Serve hot in ceramic mugs. Sprinkle the tisane with chopped pepper for seasonal color effect. Serves 10.

SLIMDOWN WASSAIL BOWL

Here's a slimdown version of the traditional Wassail Bowl.
The sugar and egg yolks have been omitted and the usual baked apples' additional calorie count pared down by using thin slices of raw apple instead. This makes a festive Wassail Bowl, surprisingly satisfying and elegant to serve.

Ingredients

1 teaspoon nutmeg, ground
2 teaspoons ginger, ground
1 teaspoon cinnamon, ground
8 whole cloves
1 cup water
4 bottles dry sherry
12 egg whites
3 unpeeled eating apples, cored and sliced

Method

Mix the spices with the water and add to a 5-quart kettle or pot together with the sherry. Bring to a boil, lower flame, and simmer 20 minutes.

Beat the egg whites in a huge, 10-quart bowl. Remove hot, spiced sherry from fire and, using a ladle, gradually add to the beaten egg whites, beating with a wire whisk after each addition, until thoroughly blended.

Transfer to a large holiday punch bowl and serve at once with a slice of apple to about 20.

Note: The mixture has a tendency to separate after a half hour, so use at once. For a smaller group, halve the recipe.

KNICKERBOCKER PEGLEG PUNCH

A heady brew, this—so ladle with caution—no more than 3 ounces to a cup—and plenty of ice.

Ingredients

10 teaspoons loose tea or 10 teabags
2 quarts boiling water
1 12-ounce jar orange marmalade
12 ounces cold water
1 bottle (a fifth) rye whiskey, Southern Comfort, or bourbon
1 bottle cognac or brandy
1 bottle medium-dry Madeira, (Verdelho or Rainwater) superfine sugar, optional
4 medium oranges, pitted and thinly sliced

Method

Steep tea in boiling water 3-5 minutes, until very strong. Spoon marmalade into a saucepan, add cold water, and simmer, stirring, until marmalade is melted. Pour into the hot tea, stir to blend, cool.

To assemble the punch, float a large block of ice, or several trays of ice cubes in a large, festively colored holiday punch bowl. Add whiskey, cognac, Madeira, and the marmalade-spiked tea. Let stand an hour before serving. Taste. You may wish to add a small scoop of superfine sugar. Float the orange slices atop and ladle into punch cups, adding additional ice and an orange slice to each. Serves about 45.

CAFE MEPHISTO

Hot and spicy, with a whisper of anisette.

Ingredients

1 teaspoon cardamom seeds, finely crushed
3 cinnamon sticks, about 3 inches long
10 whole cloves
8 allspice berries
6 cups strong black coffee
½ cup cognac or brandy
¼ cup anisette

Method

Add spices to freshly brewed black coffee and steep 1 hour.

In a separate pan, warm cognac or brandy and anisette for about 5 minutes to burn off the alcohol. Add to coffee. Reheat coffee over low flame.

Strain coffee into a heated coffee server and serve in demitasse cups to 16. Pass a bowl of sugar for those who like theirs hot and sweet.

5 MINUTES—TWICE DAILY FOR 14 DAYS, THAT'S ALL THE TIME WE ASK... and we guarantee you will start looking years slimmer—and that's only your beautiful beginning!

INGENIOUSLY SIMPLE

No complicated exercises. No rigid diets. Without disrobing, do one simple, pleasant, rhythmic "5" minute exercise twice daily, lying comfortably on your back, whenever you have the time during the day or evening (even while watching TV). Because it activates your major muscle groups at one time, it instantly starts its concentrated slimming, firming, and shaping action on your total figure.

AMAZINGLY EFFECTIVE

The Figure Shaper action concentrates mainly on your waistline, hipline, and upper thighs... the areas that emphasize an aged body look when you're overweight. It even helps firm up your bustline. By speeding up your metabolism, it helps burn up stored calories, releasing excess water, curbing your appetite without suppressants. You'll increase your energy factor, vigor, and well being... and we guarantee you'll see results in 3 days... start looking years slimmer in 14 days!

SAY GOODBYE TO RIGID DIETING— EAT ANYTHING YOU WANT (JUST 20% LESS)

With the Figure Shaper Plan, there's no need to give up any of the foods you love or subject yourself to rigid dieting. Just cut down about 20% of your food intake (without giving up any of the "goodies" you love) until you reach your normal weight. After that, the "5" Minute Figure Shaper exercise done twice daily will help keep you firm, slim, and shapely... and it can put an end to your "weight-loss-gain" cycles without any further reductions in food intake—no dieting!

IT'S COMPLETELY TESTED

It's Medically Tested, Fitness Expert tested... and they all agree: It's the safest, simplest figure shaping plan you can use to slim down and shape up your figure quickly. It follows the physical and physiological laws accepted by the medical and fitness professions in slimming, shaping, and helping to revitalize your figure. That's why we can make this broad no-nonsense guarantee...

OUR UNDENIABLE GUARANTEE

"You can stop dreaming NOW... with our '5' Minute Figure Shaper Plan! Use it for 14 days, and if you don't start to lose inches and pounds, improve your vitality, fitness, posture, work off body tensions, feel and look slimmer... to your satisfaction... return the Figure Shaper Plan for your $7.98 refund. No questions asked!"

SLIMMING RESULTS THAT STAY

After reaching your normal weight, one "5" minute exercise twice daily, at your convenience... without any further reduction of food or dieting, will help keep you slim and shapely. It can also help break your "weight-loss-gain" cycles for good.

STOP DREAMING AND DO IT NOW!

Use America's most successful figure slimming and shaping plan. Over 600,000 customers have chosen our "5" Minute Figure Shaper Plan to slim down fast. Results are proved. Some have lost as much as 15 pounds and 5 waistline inches in 14 days!

Of course, results vary, but we guarantee you will get the results you want if you follow our instructions, or your $7.98 will be refunded. Shouldn't you "wake-up" now and start to make your dreams of a beautiful figure come true?

How does a girl begin to look like this?

Give us 2 hours and 20 minutes to lose 5-12 pounds, and 2-4 waistline inches... and that's just the beginning!

The Figure Shaper Weighs 10 ounces. Fits any wallet size pocket or purse.

TM

Yes, I Want To Stop Dreaming.

I want to see real results. You promise that I will begin to see my figure shaping dreams come true in 14 days. Remember, I'm trying your scientifically tested and proved "5" Minute Figure Shaper Plan at no risk. If I'm not completely satisfied with the pounds and inches I've lost in 2 weeks, I will return the exerciser and booklet in good condition for my $7.98 refund.... no questions asked!

HOW DO YOU FEEL?

Sexy? Romantic? Happy? Sad? Angry?...Whatever your mood!

NOW...THE NEW PASSION STONE™ RING WILL REVEAL YOUR INNER FEELINGS

IT'S BRAND NEW! A FUN RING!

ON YOUR FINGER...BEFORE YOUR EYES, IT CHANGES FROM COLOR TO COLOR... DRAMATICALLY REVEALING YOUR WARMEST OR COLDEST INNER FEELINGS...

Guaranteed to amaze and amuse you and your friends ...even strangers. It's an original Stewart Frost creation.

ONLY $9.95 EACH

• Stone is imported Austrian Crystal • Man's ring is a handsome, bold setting and the woman's ring is an exquisite Florentine setting • Both settings are Silver-Tone finish • Only $9.95 each including gift box.

• Both settings also available in 18K Heavy White Gold Electroplate for only $14.95 each. See special offer in order form below. All rings are beautifully gift boxed.

IS it any wonder the Passion Stone is taking America by storm. There's never been anything like it before. It's a beautiful, expensive looking piece of jewelry. It's a fascinating conversation piece. It's an ever-changing barometer of how you really feel.

Just think of your friends reactions when they see your ring change color. Imagine the response when you're with someone who brings out the best in you —and your ring turns a deep violet-blue!

Yes, for the first time ever, you can have a beautiful woman's ring, a handsome man's ring that will make your friends eyes light up when your Passion Stone reveals your innermost thoughts, tells the exact state of your mind.

A FUN RING IN THE BEDROOM, AT DINNER, THE OFFICE OR AT A PARTY!

Now you can test your loved one in the bedroom or your friends and aquaintances at an intimate dinner, at the office or a party. Just have them try on your Passion Stone ring (even if it doesn't fit). Watch their amazement and delight as the Passion Stone changes color in minutes, revealing their inner mood. Each deep seated inner feeling will be reflected by a change of color in your Passion Stone ring. You can be the life of any group or party . . . or if you prefer you can keep your Passion Stone Ring your own deep secret . . . your very own personal advisor of your true inner feelings.

HOW THE PASSION STONE'S LIVING COLORS WORK

Now, you're probably wondering how it works, how it's possible for a stone to be any of eight different colors, with each color an almost perfect reflection of your feelings?

Whatever your mood may be, happy or sad, gay or depressed, your body gives off an energy signal in the form of heat. The Passion Stone, a brilliant crystal, specially treated (with a rare secret ingredient) to be acutely sensitive to this energy. So in minutes, it changes from one color to another that they say corresponds almost exactly to the way you feel.

WHAT THE COLOR'S REVEAL

Each of the Passion Stone's eight vivid colors approximates the color of a natural gem — onyx, amber, topaz, jade, emerald, turquoise, lapis and sapphire. Based on Average temperature range of normal individuals, it's assumed that the color change will reveal the results of chart below

YOUR MOOD*	THE COLOR OF THE STONE	THE STONE THAT IT RESEMBLES
You're tense, undergoing mental strain, working too hard	Black	Onyx
You're upset, feeling anxious	Reddish-Brown	Amber
You're betwixt and between, unsettled	Golden Yellow	Topaz
You're feeling okay, active and involved	Light Green to Bright Green	Jade to Emerald
You're relaxed, feel fine	Blue Green	Turquoise
You're really at ease with good vibrations	Bright Blue	Lapis
You're at your best, satisfied and passionate	Violet Blue	Sapphire

Not a cheap adjustable... but a fashionable ring sized just for you in beautiful silver tone finish.

COMPARES WITH ANY FINE JEWELRY

As you can see, the Passion Stone is more than a fascinating piece of jewelry, more than just the most unusual ring you've ever owned.

We believe it could actually be a guide to your enjoying a happier, richer, more satisfying life!

It's true, you see, that we often hide our innermost thoughts from ourselves. Lose touch with the way we really feel. But it's hard to hide your real feelings from the Passion Stone. So, the Passion Stone can put you in touch with your real feelings, give you valuable insights into your moods and the way your mind works. It may even reveal the people and things that turn you on or set you off.

SPECIAL LOW PRICE

Right now the Passion Stone rings are not available in any stores. For now, we just want as many people as possible to know about the Passion Stone so it will really be popular when it goes on sale in the stores. Therefore, because you're dealing direct, with no middleman, you can get a Passion Stone ring for far, far less than you would expect to pay in a fine department store. In fact, on this introductory offer, the cost for the lovely woman's ring, the bold and handsome man's ring, is an amazing low $9.95. That's right, at least $35 less than the department store price could be. And all we ask in return is that you tell your friends about your ring . . . show them the amazing way it changes color to reflect your real innermost feelings.

But, please, we must ask that you order right now. Quantities are definitely limited now and orders will be filled on a first-come, first-served basis. Fill in and return the coupon below . . . TODAY!

YOUR DOUBLE GUARANTEE

GUARANTEE #1: You must be absolutely delighted with your Passion Stone ring. Your friends, everyone you know must believe it's a fine piece of jewelry as well as a fascinating one or return it to us within 10 days for a refund.

GUARANTEE #2: Your Passion Stone must reveal your innermost feelings, put you in closer touch with the way you really feel than ever before or return your ring within 10 days for a complete refund or cancellation of all charges.

IF YOU DON'T KNOW YOUR RING SIZE:

1. Cut a narrow strip of paper about 3 inches long and ½ inch wide. 2. Wrap strip around the finger you want to wear the ring on. 3. Make a mark on the strip as in the illustration above. 4. Write your name on the strip and mail it with your order.

The Incredible Giant Ti Plant

Guaranteed to grow or free replacement.

In Hawaii the Giant Ti Plant grows up to 12 feet tall. You can grow yours from 1 to 8 feet ...and higher. With lush leaves up to 2 feet long. Hawaiian legend says the Giant Ti brings the greatest blessings to those who raise them. It tells us of one woman who actually became a millionaire. The legend also contains the story of a Hawaiian fisherman who lived to the ripe old age of 123. Maybe the Giant will bring blessings to you. The Incredible Giant Ti grows from a log in sun or shade. Put the Giant in water and, magically, it sprouts. Then place it in a pot. The larger the pot, the larger the Giant Ti. Available in both red or green leaves. It makes a unique gift. For friends. Or for yourself.

If tweezing your brows and applying eye makeup makes you frantic . . . Fret no more!!!

A noted eye doctor was approached by a woman who complained that without her glasses she can't see what she is doing, and with her glasses she can't do what she is seeing. Knowing that no available magnifying mirror can give a strong image without distortion, the doctor hand-ground prescription lenses and silvered them to provide a distortion-free focusing mirror. Our optically perfect "Magic Focus" standing mirror has a flexible, brass, "goose-neck" arm for hands-free grooming. White frame and base blend with every decor. To tuck in your purse for quick touch-ups, order our lovely white & gold compact (not shown). It's double faced, with plain and Magic Focus mirrors. With either model, you'll see clearly and sharply WITHOUT YOUR GLASSES regardless of your prescription or need for bifocals. A necessity for contact lens wearers. Cost of 4" diameter standing Mirror is $14.95 plus $1.50 postage. Compact is $5.00; 2 for $9.50. Add 50¢ postage. You'll be amazed with the results. Satisfaction guaranteed.

GODDESS 'BAST'
Egypt 665 B.C.

PRECIOUS MUSEUM ARTIFACTS FOR YOUR PRIVATE GALLERY — OFFICE — GIFTING

The cat-headed Goddess 'Bast' was the patron deity of the city of Bubastis and the protector of women. She is shown in many forms, as a woman with a cat's head, as a cat with kittens, or as a large cat with earrings as in this splendid example. This specimen is in bronze, 6½ inches tall, on a black base, the original in the Cincinnati Art Museum. A good subject for a beginning, or a striking addition.

Grow Your Own

Amazing! Mystical!

The Leaf of Life is so amazing the Yogis of India believe that these mystical leaves possess the Secret of Life.

Wherever a leaf falls, a new plant starts to grow . . . on air, water, or soil.

Yes, the Leaf of Life can start to grow on air alone. New plants grow from the edges of each leaf.

After it starts, put the leaf in a pot. The bigger the pot, the bigger the plant will grow — from one to six feet tall. You can have the size you want and it grows in sun or shade.

It blossoms with fragrant pink & lime bell-like flowers that look like jeweled, oriental lanterns.

The Leaf of Life makes a thoughtful gift, symbolic of wishing your friends a long life and happiness.

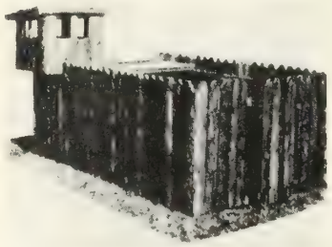
LIFELIKE DRAWING

Send photo or snapshot to this skilled artist and receive a 16" by 20" illustration. Ready to frame, rendered in black graphite on quality white paper. A departure from the stereotype photo. $19.50; two, $29.50. Ppd. Similis, Dept. C, 2562 San Anselmo, San Diego, CA 92019.

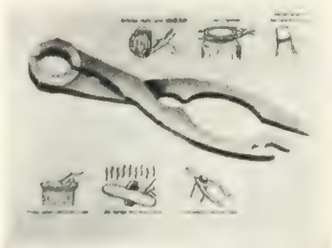


ALL-WEATHER FUN FORT

Sturdy all-weather real Cedar wood fort, that will last for generations. It's a big 5′ by 6′ by 5′ with swinging gate, firing platform, blockhouse and ladder. Easy assembly. Lasts for generations. $54.95 F.O.B. Cedar Products, HG12, Box 84, No. Baldwin, NY 11510.

FROM THE NECK UP

Apply makeup any time, any where. Handy 5" mirror hangs lightly from your neck as well as on a wall. Regular on one side, magnifying on the other. Sturdy steel frame stands on dresser too. $2.98 plus 45c post. Anthony Enterprises, HG12, 556 Mission St., San Francisco, CA 94105.



ALL-WEATHER FRIEND

Tool that does everything but complain: it cracks nuts or ice, unscrews tops; use it as pliers, screwdriver, wrench, hammer. Polished cast metal instrument is 8" l. $2.98 plus 35c post. Free catalogue. Tradewind Gifts, HG12, 18 Lake Shore, RD2, Brookfield, CT 06804.

ALL IS VANITY

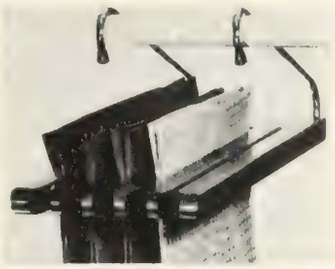
A controversial picture. Optical illusion shows a beautiful woman at a vanity table but with a change of perspective the scene shows a grotesque skull looking into the mirror. Ready for framing. 8" by 12" picture $1.75 ppd. Illusion, HG12, 306 Busse Hwy, Park Ridge, IL 60068.

MONEY, MONEY

Fat "coink" 'piggy bank covered with fake silvery coins so real looking one might try to pluck one off, but they're molded on. Bank can be filled and emptied as often as you like. 6" by 4". $1.98 plus $1 post. Cadlyn's, Dept. HGB12, 2077 New York Ave., Huntington Sta., NY 11746.

CLOSET TREASURE

Now hers and his file neatly in the sliding slack rack! It eliminates five different hangers. Trousers and slacks insert or remove without taking rack out. Cherry, chrome-plated hanger. $6.98; two for $12.98. Add 95c post. Ferry House, Inc., HG12, Briarcliff Manor, NY 10510.



BERUFFLED BEAUTIES

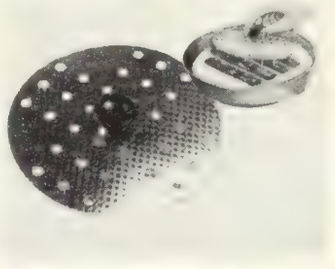
NO MORE CURLS

Now you can have crunchy bacon —minus the curls. Bacon press keeps bacon flat while conducting heat for evenly-cooked crispy meat. Fits any round pan 9" or larger. For draining grease, too. $1.29 plus 30c post. Anthony Enterprises, HG11, 556 Mission St., San Francisco, CA 94105.



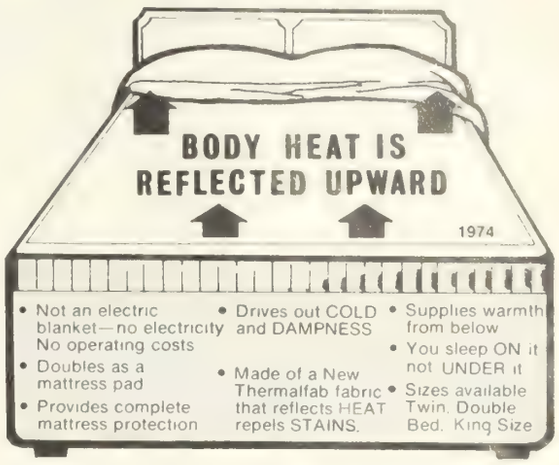
EYE MAKEUP AID

Two-in-one mirror lets you see to apply cosmetics without any glasses in the way. One side is regular mirror, the other has triple-strength magnifier with special lens. In a pearl white compact. $3.98 plus 50c post. Contempo, HG12, 1701 Highway 35, Neptune, NJ 07753.

Save Energy! Save Heat! Non-Electric Bed Warmer

THE HEAT SHEET

Gives you soothing warmth and comfort in bed instantly—without wires, plugs, electricity!



- Not an electric blanket—no electricity No operating costs
- Doubles as a mattress pad
- Provides complete mattress protection
- Drives out COLD and DAMPNESS
- Made of a New Thermalfab fabric that reflects HEAT repels STAINS.
- Supplies warmth from below
- You sleep ON it not UNDER it
- Sizes available Twin. Double Bed. King Size

A NEW SENSATION IN BED!!!

Now soothing warmth and comfort in bed—without electricity Just crawl into your bed and feel it warm up instantly from your own reflected body heat. This new principle of bed warming is made possible by HEAT SHEET. Not an electric blanket—no electricity. HEAT SHEET is made of a miracle fabric called "THERMALFAB". Reflects your body's own heat upward to warm you rather than allowing your own heat to be lost downward through the mattress. No bulky blankets needed. You awake relaxed, refreshed. Drives out cold & dampness. Cuts costly night time fuel bills.

HELPS SOOTHE ACHES AND PAINS

Place HEAT SHEET between the mattress and the bottom sheet and you'll enjoy a delightful new sleeping sensation. No annoying overheating. 100% safe, lightweight, portable. HEAT SHEET doubles as a mattress pad, completely protects the mattress from stains. Positively the most comfortable, convenient, and economical way to sleep anywhere!

Look for satellite spheres or the multi-perch Droll Yankee cylinders that hang on branches or brackets. A windowsill feeder or tray 5 feet above ground appeals to many birds. Rims on trays help keep seed from blowing or scattering. Roofs and hoppers give some protection in bad weather and make daily replenishing less necessary. Birds that like to eat on the ground—mourning doves, cardinals, most towhees, and sparrows—need remembering, too. Eastern bluebirds need special accommodations where they can eat cornbread, raisins, and other small fruits in peace from aggressive birds. They like a glass or mesh box they can enter through a 1½-inch opening, the same size doorway they need for their houses. For the many birds that like suet, put it in a mesh cage or box (even the plastic kind tomatoes come in) nailed or wired to a tree. Or tamp suet into holes in special hanging logs, or stuff it in string mesh bags, the kind oranges and bulbs come in. Q. For a regular feeding program, what foods are best to buy? A. Sunflower and thistle seeds are extra choice: use in swinging feeders. Cheaper cracked corn and mixed bird seed please many. Tip: Seed is least expensive in large bags sold at feed, hardware, and garden stores. Large bags can be kept handy and safe in garages or even outdoors if you use a metal, not plastic, trash can with a secure lid. Keep indoor supplies in handsome crocks or buckets by a door or window near the feeder, plus a handy can or scoop. Q. Are any foods bad for birds? A. The Audubon Society warns against fermented sweet water (below) and against dry shredded coconut, which can swell when eaten. Birds rarely eat any sort of spoiled food, but if feeders and bird baths are not cleaned regularly there might be trouble. Note: A recirculating fountain does not meet the need for clean fresh water daily.

Q. Ideally, where should feeders be placed? A. In a sunny spot protected from wind and near branches or grillwork birds can escape to. Q. Should weekenders feed the birds that share their country property? Will they starve when we're away? A. Any supplemental food benefits birds and if they arrive at your door when you arrive they clearly fend for themselves in your absence. Enjoy your brief time together. Q. Should someone who plans to take a winter vacation start a daily feeding program? A. Birds will manage if several people in a neighborhood are feeding them regularly, but isolated country dwellers should be careful about serious interruptions. On any holiday ask a neighbor to feed and water the birds as well as pets and plants. Q. We have a new bird feeder and no birds yet. Why? A. Be patient. One little bird will soon tell all. An unroofed open tray is easiest for birds to see. Set out a few pieces of white bread. A telegraphed invitation to chickadees, woodpeckers, nuthatches, others, is a piece of suet—plain, chopped, or mixed. A big piece no ambitious bird can carry off is best for all. Q. How can we avoid attracting birds such as house sparrows and starlings? A. Difficult, but you may keep them at separate tables and different levels. House (English) sparrows (the ones dressed in black bibs for gorging in style but whose cheeps are monotonous and whose libido is a scandal—they nest up to four times a year) are clever. They are often the first to find a new feeder. If it is close to a window, rap the pane with a magazine when they try to land. House sparrows like bread crumbs and table scraps, which you might offer at an alternate feeder. To rid a garden of starlings, cut out all food but sunflower seed, which they cannot hull. Q. Any suggestions for a garden too small and informal for a standing birdbath? A. A small boulder with a hollow, sloping inward ½-to-2 inches-deep, is ideal. A sloping hollow dug in earth can easily be rough-paved, for a good grip, with 1 part cement to 4 parts sand. Birds also like a preening rock set in the middle. Q. What can be done to keep the birds' water from freezing? A. A shallow Pyrex pie dish painted black on the outside will retain heat from the sun and can even be set in a bird bath. Safe immersible warming tubes, attached to insulated outdoor extension cords, and even plug-in baths, are available at garden centers and by mail. Q. If we entice birds will we end up tempting the cat? A. Keep cats indoors at least during birds' key feeding periods—daybreak and dusk. Place feeders and baths away from any overhanging jumping place, but near escape branches or brambles in case of surprise. Even one or two tragedies a year will be outweighed by the many birds whose lives you benefit. Q. Our feeder on a pole feeds mostly squirrels. What to do? A. The feeder should be at least 5 feet high. Grease the pole with safe petroleum jelly or axle grease, or add a funnel-shaped baffle just under the tray. Where rooftop or tree branches give squirrels a good springboard (10 feet or closer), tempt the rascals with cracked corn scattered elsewhere. An excellent new book, A Complete Guide to Bird Feeding by John V. Dennis (Knopf, $10) shows how to hang old phonograph records to foil squirrels. Q. Won't seeds or grains scattered on the ground soon spoil or sprout? A. Birds waste little if properly fed. Foods covered by snow are simply in cold storage. If seeds or seed hulls become thick on the ground, sweep or rake them away. A few may sprout but you can always pull or mow them. Transplant sunflower seedlings to better soil (more on sunflowers in Gardener's Notes page 178), and by late summer you can harvest new seeds for next winter's banqueting.

Christmas Gifts to Share with Birds

Save for spring nesting season: shredded paper, excelsior, yarn, and string (cut into 4-to-8-inch strips). Save wooden crates for making feeders or bird houses or roosting boxes. Bird houses have the holes high, for nest below. Roosting boxes have holes low, and staggered dowels up high for perching. Collect neighbors' discarded Christmas trees to create a brush fence or haven for ground-nesting birds.

Birds pick-me-up drink

Sweet water for quick energy: Boil and cool 3 to 4 parts water to 1 part sugar. Add a little red food coloring to attract hummingbirds. Sweet water also aids orioles and migrating warblers, and can be stored in the refrigerator. Caution: Always empty and rinse vials or bowls or citrus cups before replenishing. Because of fermentation, sweetened water should be used up within 2 days or discarded. Fermented drinks can cause birds, like people, to have liver ailments.

stacks of things on their heads—stacks of baskets one inside the next; stacks of baskets with vegetables inside, artichokes, lettuce, cabbages, others are filled with bananas, oranges, and fruits completely unrecognizable to me. The flowers are unbelievably beautiful—a huge old-fashioned bunch beautifully arranged and wrapped in big green leaves and fern to hold in the moisture and freshness—they cost a few pennies and will last only a day as most of them are wildflowers. The Baptist Mission shop in Kenscoff sells muumuus and caftans and some marvelous bone bracelets that are three for $5.

Habitation Leclerc rates: Continental plan—$55 per person, per day, double occupancy. Modified American Plan—$62.50 per person. From December 15 until April 4.

There are several Haitian tourist bureaus in this country and Canada, one in Rockefeller Center, another on La Salle St. in Chicago, and others in Miami Beach, Montreal, and Puerto Rico. American Airlines flies nonstop from New York every day and Pan American and Air France fly nonstop from Miami. In addition, U.S. Government printing offices throughout this country publish a 30¢ folder giving background on Haiti. It is invaluable. ■ afternoon when it's cool and pleasant. Yagul is a reasonably small city beautifully situated overlooking the valley, with its defenses higher up the hill. You feel that people have been looking out over that valley for thousands of years. It has the aura of an immensely ancient place. And in one of its recently excavated limestone caves they've found corn that's about 12,000 years old.

Oaxaca is well supplied with hotels, among them the small, spotless, friendly Plaza, built around a courtyard one level up and a few steps from the main square, the Zocalo. Even if you stay elsewhere you may wish to consult its "information wall," which has folders on everything to do and see in the area including the dates, locations and specialties of all the local markets.

Garden books to give for Christmas

Sunflowers for the birds. Living Christmas trees to plan pot and all. Symposium in Georgia. Poinsettias in basket

Kansas's gift to the birds

Bees and artists love sunflowers. And, if the bees do their work of fertilization properly, so do the birds, come winter. Most of the sunflower seeds we buy for bird feeding come from Canada or the Soviet Union, but the plant is as distinctively American as corn or squash. Its botanical name is Helianthus annuus, and it grows everywhere in the Midwest, where it is usually called Kansas sunflower. Improved varieties, with their tremendous seed heads, are extremely easy to grow. In fact, the biggest problem involved in growing large-headed sunflowers is keeping the heavy flower heads out of the mud long enough for them to mature. This usually means staking with some kind of husky support as the flowers begin to fill out. Varieties with flowers in clusters are probably best, as they stand up by themselves, become dense enough to act as a screen, and are excellent cut flowers. To grow well, sunflowers need nothing more than a sandy, well-drained soil and all-day sunshine. Seed heads may be harvested when the green bracts around the rim turn brown and dry. Ch dren usually enjoy the task of ru bing the dry seeds from the di and pouring them into containe If seeds are well dried ahead time, they may be stored in a tight containers, which should so be mouseproof—unless, that you want to feed mice, too.

Bright yellow sunflowers are much favored by summertime artis who also find fascination in the geometric arrangement of seed

Living Christmas trees to plant, pot and all

Nurserymen these days are making great improvements in living Christmas trees. Instead of the formerly ubiquitous spruce, they are now growing a wide range of evergreens, including some that are rarities—Aleppo pine, for instance. The nurseries are also paying more attention to how the trees are prepared in advance for the homeowner, growing them in containers that are easy to handle and also attractive to look at. A pioneer in this field is the Boething Treeland Nursery Company of Woodland Hills, Cal. This nursery is growing Christmas trees in papier-mâché tubs so that they may be planted outdoors, tub and all, without disturbing roots. When a tree in this kind of container is set in the ground, the pot should be slashed in several places to hasten its decay, and any rim that stands above ground should be cut off, so it cannot draw moisture from the soil. Trees in burlap should be treated the same way, pushing the fabric down around the root ball and burying it.

At Treeland Nursery, Christmas trees grow in paper pots before being shipped.

Christmas symposiur in Georgia

The climate of Pine Mountain, Geo gia, is about as favorable as cou be asked for by either plants or pe ple. That's why the place has been favorite resort for both summer ar winter visitors. Not so incidentall Callaway Gardens is another prim reason for the popularity of Pin Mountain. Year-round displays outdoor and indoor plantings, in cluding a fabulous vegetable ga den, give garden-minded visitor ample reason for visiting the ga dens. At the winter holiday seasor Callaway Gardens goes all out b staging a Christmas Symposium. I 1975, this will span two full days— December 12 and 13—and there will be talks and demonstrations that emphasize Christmas decora tions. You can obtain full informa tion about the symposium by writing to the Ida Cason Callaway Founda tion, Education Department, Pine Mountain, Ga. 31822. The Callaway Foundation also has a long list of color sound movies and 35mm slide shows that are available for use by garden clubs or other groups. Information on subject matter and how to go about obtaining the films is available from the same address.

Holiday harvest of garden books

Wildflowers of Eastern America, by John E. Klimas and James A. Cunningham, and Wildflowers of Western America by Robert T. Orr and Margaret C. Orr (Knopf, $17.50 each). Between them, they cover the U.S. with exact, easy-to-read descriptions of the plants, clear color photographs to make identification positive.

Good Bugs and Bad Bugs in Your Garden by Dorothy Childs Hogner, illustrated by Grambs Miller (Crowell, $5.50). A book for children, but no gardener, from tyro to professional, could fail to learn from it. Every insect a gardener might encounter is described and shown in a drawing. What each does, and what, if anything, the gardener should do about them, is also explained.

The Avant Gardener by Thomas and Betty Powell (Houghton Mifflin, $12.95; $6.95 paperback). A selection from the Powells' newsletters of the same name on every imaginable subject related to gardening.

The Private Lives of Orchids by Hilda Simon (Lippincott, $15). One of the largest, and certainly the most varied of plant families is that of the orchids. All are fascinating, particularly in ways they reproduce. Miss Simon takes the orchid genera one by one, describes each, shows it in a line drawing and details of its reproductive mechanism. Even the nonfancier of orchids will be fascinated.

The Terrace Gardener's Handbook by Linda Yang (Doubleday, $8.95). City dwellers with any outdoor space are forever worrying about what to do with the terrace, patio, or whatever. Miss Yang, a city gardener, has personal experience of all this, and writes most entertainingly about it. She visited and studied many other city gardens and uses them as illustrations of how various terrace problems may be solved.

The New York Times Book of Vegetable Gardening by Joan Lee Faust (Quadrangle/New York Times, $9.95). There could hardly be a better way of getting started planning next year's vegetable garden than with this book. There are more vegetables here than the average home gardener has heard of, with instructions for growing and using them.

House & Garden's 26 Easy Little Gardens (Viking, $15.95). In selecting these gardens, House & Garden's editors have kept in mind that most of us find our gardening restricted to the confines of a tiny house lot or even tinier backyard. Each may be taken as a model for other small-scale gardens. Each is shown in color; each has a plan of the layout. At bookstores or Condé Nast Books, P.O. Box 3308, Grand Central Station, New York, N.Y. 10017 (add 45¢ for handling and postage).

Poinsettia hanging baskets

The traditional Christmas gift plant has a new look this year. Cascades of long-lasting blooms grow not just from the top of the 10-inch pot, right, but from holes in the sides as well. The red bracts produced by the circle of plants under the conventional crest obscure the strawberry-jar technique, and the impact of this new form in hanging baskets, centerpieces, and for fern stands is dazzling, see page 68. New and in limited supply this year, the baskets vary in size, range from $25 to $75, and should be ordered for Christmas by early December from your florist or a Teleflora affiliate. Masses of these plants will be displayed in Los Angeles at the Broadway Plaza November 28-January 1, and in Dallas at Neiman-Marcus, November 9-January 1. The Paul Ecke Poinsettia Ranch, Encinitas, Cal. 91506, developed, grows, and sells them. Paul Ecke Jr. advises that this new cascading poinsettia needs the same care as the familiar ones he and his father have made so popular: Lots of daylight (but not wilting sun), a thorough watering when the soil feels dry to the touch, low 60s temperature at night and low 70s by day, and protection from drafts. To keep a poinsettia growing as a shapely green houseplant after the red bracts fade, cut leggy stalks back to three joints, cut down on water, and withhold fertilizer until new shoots appear in spring and summer. Continue to pinch back till the plants are compact and bushy.

length mirror, and you could really see where you were wrong. By the time she straightened you out, you had got hold of yourself."

Never a sportswoman or game enthusiast Miss Loos believes some sports can sap your strength. Golf just makes you old. "It's a waste of mind," she goes on. "The same amount of walking down Madison Avenue with an interest in the shops would do a lot more good."

Mental input is definitely reenergizing. To keep the stimulation flowing be ruthless about boring people. "I'm a terrible snob but I won't waste two minutes on anybody who isn't intelligent, amusing, or diverting in some way. I daily fight off anybody who is giving in to self-indulgence."

About five years ago in Vienna a doctor asked Miss Loos what she took in the way of alcohol and when she said nothing, he suggested everybody needed a bit of a boost now and then. So now she has a glass of white wine at night before dinner, which seems to act like a cup of coffee and gives a burst of energy. As for food: "I was born with a terrific indifference to food," she says. "I suppose I've missed a lot of enjoyment but in another way I think it's terribly healthy." Too much food and too little thinking—these are the things that slow you down insists Miss Loos. "Lillian Gish, Helen Hayes, and I have been friends since we were girls. We all live the same lifestyle and we're all in there swinging. Self-reliant, independent, doing our own thinking, always exercising the mind."

desperately ill—I daren't think about it. And having kittens, too—I . . . I wonder how many she did have?"

I shrugged. "I don't suppose we'll ever know. Maybe just this one. It happens sometimes. And she brought it to you, didn't she?"

"Yes . . . that's right . . . she did . . . she did." Mrs. Ainsworth reached out and lifted the bedraggled black morsel. She smoothed her finger along the muddy fur and the tiny mouth opened in a soundless meow. "Isn't it strange? She was dying and she brought her kitten here. And on Christmas Day."

I bent and put my hand on Debbie's heart. There was no beat.

I looked up. "I'm afraid she's gone." I lifted the small body, almost feather light, wrapped it in the sheet, which had been spread on the rug and took it to the car.

When I came back, Mrs. Ainsworth was still stroking the kitten. The tears had dried on her cheeks and she was bright-eyed as she looked at me.

"I've never had a cat before," she said.

I smiled. "Well, it looks as though you've got one now."

And she certainly had. That kitten grew rapidly into a sleek handsome cat with a boisterous nature, which earned him the name of Buster. In every way he was the opposite of his timid little mother. Not for him the privations of the secret outdoor life; he stalked the rich carpets of the Ainsworth home like a king and the ornate collar he always wore added something more to his presence.

On my visits I watched his development with delight, but the occasion that stays in my mind was the following Christmas Day, a year from his arrival.

I was out on my rounds as usual. I can't remember when I haven't had to work on Christmas Day because the animals have never got round to recognizing it as a holiday; but with the passage of the years the vague resentment I used to feel has been replaced by philosophical acceptance. After all, as I tramped around the hillside barns in the frosty air I was working up a better appetite for my turkey than all the millions lying in bed or slumped by the fire; and this was aided by the innumerable apéritifs I received from the hospitable farmers.

I was on my way home, bathed in a rosy glow. I had consumed several whiskies—the kind the inexpert Yorkshiremen pour as though it were ginger ale—and I had finished with a glass of old Mrs. Earnshaw's rhubarb wine, which had seared its way straight to my toenails. I heard the cry as I was passing Mrs. Ainsworth's.

"Merry Christmas, Mr. Herriot!" She was letting a visitor out of the front door and she waved at me gaily. "Come in and have a drink to warm you up."

I didn't need warming up but I pulled in to the curb without hesitation. In the house there was all the festive cheer of last year and the same glorious whiff of sage-and-onion, which set my gastric juices surging. But there was not the sorrow; there was Buster.

He was darting up to each of the dogs in turn, ears pricked, eyes blazing with devilment, dabbing a paw at them then streaking away.

Mrs. Ainsworth laughed. "You know, he plagues the life out of them. Gives them no peace."

She was right. To the bassets, Buster's arrival was rather like the intrusion of an irreverent outsider into an exclusive London club. For a long time they had led a life of measured grace; regular sedate walks with their mistress, superb food in ample quantities, and long snoring sessions on the rugs and armchairs. Their days followed one upon another in unruffled calm. And then came Buster.

He was dancing up to the youngest dog again, sideways this time, head on one side, goading him. When he started boxing with both paws it was too much even for the basset. He dropped his dignity and rolled over with the cat in a brief wrestling match.

"I want to show you something." Mrs. Ainsworth lifted a hard rubber ball from the sideboard and went out to the garden followed by Buster. She threw the ball across the lawn and the cat bounded after it over the frosted grass, the muscles rippling under the black sheen of his coat. He seized the ball in his teeth, brought it back to his mistress, dropped it at her feet, and waited expectantly. She threw it and he brought it back again.

I gasped incredulously. A feline retriever!

The bassets looked on disdainfully. Nothing would ever have induced them to chase a ball, but Buster did it again and again as though he would never tire of it.

Mrs. Ainsworth turned to me. "Have you ever seen anything like that?"

"No," I replied. "I never have. He is a most remarkable cat."

She snatched Buster from his play and we went back into the house where she held him close to her face, laughing as the big cat purred and arched himself ecstatically against her cheek.

Looking at him, a picture of health and contentment, my mind went back to his mother. Was it too much to think that that dying little creature with the last of her strength had carried her kitten to the only haven of comfort and warmth she had ever known in the hope that it would be cared for there? Maybe it was.

But it seemed I wasn't the only one with such fancies. Mrs. Ainsworth turned to me and though she was smiling her eyes were wistful.

"Debbie would be pleased," she said.

I nodded. "Yes she would . . . it was just a year ago today she brought him, wasn't it?"

"That's right." She hugged Buster to her again. "The best Christmas present I ever had." ■ to $1,000—but you can save a third to half of that by installing it yourself. About half their customers do, according to a Heatilator spokesman. A professional can do it in four hours. Installed as directed, most have smoke-free guarantees. Replacement parts are available.

"For Santa Claus," says a Majestic spokesman, "we've even got a rooftop chimney housing that looks like brick."

STANDING FREE

The most economical way to have a hearth-fire is in a freestanding fireplace. Units cost from $175 to about $400. A whole installation might be as little as $300. Most sit right on the floor, with some form of hearth to catch accidental sparks.

WHERE THERE'S FIRE—IS THERE HEAT?

It's the nature of things that are hot to rise, and it's the nature of chimneys to facilitate that rise—and so, the cheery stone fireplace sends 90 percent of its heat straight up the chimney. A built-in fireplace with some kind of air circulating system can cut the great escape to 80 or 85 percent. Freestanding fireplaces put more heat into the room because their hot metal sides radiate. Even so, more than 60 percent of their heat warms the great outdoors. Wood stoves do better, mostly because they burn wood more completely.

So what's the point? A fireplace is a temporary back-up system in case power fails. Possibly for that reason 49 percent of new houses have them, according to the Bureau of the Census. If you can cut your own wood, fireplaces can cut fuel bills. And besides, for toasting marshmallows, hanging Christmas stockings, and warming toes and hearts, there's really nothing like a good fire.

PLAYING SAFE

Keep your chimney clean. Wood smoke deposits soot and flammable creosote on chimney walls. It builds up, eventually creating real fire dangers. The chimney should be cleaned every two years if it's used often, according to Joseph Walas. Professional cleaners will check with a weight to make sure the flue is clear, then will block the opening to keep soot out of the room and clean the chimney with a set of expanding wire brushes pulled through it several times. It's a messy job, but you can do it yourself using tire chains on a rope (swish them around vigorously) or branches (drop a rope down the chimney, tie on several upside down, haul them up; repeat). A vacuum cleaning will not do it. Do not drop bricks down to clean it. They're too close to the size of many flues and if they stick—how can Santa get down? ■
